SUBJECT: THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INTERNAL SECURITY

Re SAC Letter 60-5 dated January 26, 1960, and Little Rock letter dated December 19, 1960.

For the Bureau's information, Mr. [redacted] of the Arkansas Real Estate Association, 414 Pyramid Life Building, Little Rock, Arkansas, contacted the Little Rock Office on January 27, 1961, for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the SAC and to advise him of the activities of this society in the Little Rock area.

Mr. [redacted] stated that he had read ROBERT WELCH'S book commonly referred to as "The Blue Book" and stated that he was conversant with the background of WELCH personally.

He said that the purpose of this organization, so far as he is concerned, is to fight Communism. According to [redacted] this organization was formed in Arkansas with a local chapter first being started in Little Rock during the summer of 1960. Subsequently, he said two chapters were formed at Searcy and Benton, Arkansas, with meetings being held monthly. He said that the dues for male members are $2.00 a month and for wives or ladies, $1.00 a month.

b7C

[redacted] advised that WELCH tells the organization what to do about fighting Communism. He said the current program of the organization is the impeachment of United States Supreme Court Chief Justice EARL WARREN. He said the organization nationally currently has about 200,000 members and has a goal of having more than a million members.

Mr. [redacted] said that he was very disturbed over the fact that the magazine The American Mercury cannot be found anywhere in the Little Rock area on the newsstands; that a member of this society has indicated the local distributor said the reason for the magazine not being available is that there is no demand for it. While on the other hand, the paper bound book "Inherit the Wind", which he described as the brainwashing technique utilized by Communism was very accessible on the Little Rock newsstands. [redacted] indicated that they were going to contact the local distributor for periodicals to look into how this situation came about.

[redacted] The following documents were made available by which are being furnished to the Bureau for its information:

(1) Six page memorandum to the Board of Deacons and Elders, First Presbyterian Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma, from [redacted] Lay Member of the First Presbyterian Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma. b6 b7C

(3) Booklet entitled ~~"~~Why People Become Communists" published by American Opinion, Belmont 78, Massachusetts.

(4) One page appeal entitled ~~"~~This is a Plea on Bended Knee."

[redacted] stated that he wished the FBI to have these documents as an indication of the type of activities and interests of the organization.

[redacted] was specifically questioned as to whether the organization had any other purposes other than to fight Communism and he said it had none.

EARL WARREN:

Ike's Worst Appointment

Harold Lord Varney

WHEN, in September, 1953, the announcement of Earl Warren's appointment as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States came over the wires, most grass-roots Americans were disposed to feel that the President had made a good appointment. Nobody outside California knew much about the new Chief Justice's views, but it was assumed, as the President himself remarked, that they were "moderate." What was more important, Governor Warren was gifted with a warm smile; as even Menshikov has discovered, the American people have always had an incurable weakness for a smiler. The Governor's publicity handlers had put across the stereotype of an unassuming, down-to-earth, folksy man, and the American people were ready to buy it. Not a legal giant like Stone or Hughes or Taft, Warren was expected to be a good—if not a great—Chief Justice.

The aftermath has been a sickening revelation. Only four and a half years after his appointment, Warren is appraised by millions of Americans as probably the worst Chief Justice in history. A professed Republican, he has demonstrated to his party that an Eisenhower Supreme Court can be more despicable than the much disparaged courts of a Roosevelt or a Truman. In his brief term of service, Warren and the Democratic Justices with

MEMORANDUM

To Board of Deacons and Elders
First Presbyterian Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma

Tulsa, Oklahoma
April 20, 1960

In view of the serious charges now being leveled against the organization known as the National Council of Churches, the question arises: Should our church continue its financial support without further question?

Like most church members, I have heretofore taken for granted that the top association of our leading Christian churches would always be above reproach. However the Air Force Manual incident has disclosed a very disturbing situation, which has put the National Council of Churches on trial before the court of public opinion. It seems logical therefore to inform ourselves as to the nature of the organization we are supporting - its history, its activities, its personnel.

This memorandum would be much too long if a review of all the mass of material which has been carefully analyzed by me over the past several weeks was included. But please be assured that my purpose has been to learn the truth without prejudice.

My research covered the reading of many bulletins issued by committees of Congress, speeches of well informed Congressmen as published in the Congressional Record, and also a mass of published reports, pamphlets, etc., both pro and con. I made a trip to Wichita, Kansas, especially to interview the pastor of the largest Baptist church in Kansas to learn first hand why that church by vote of its congregation withdrew its support of the National Council. I have held several L.D. conversations with prominent personages in Washington, D.C., in my effort to learn the whole truth.

After more than six weeks of intensive investigation, I am forced to the conclusion that there is far more to this situation than first meets the eye or appears on the surface, and that it is far too serious a matter to be lightly dismissed. We must not forget the fact that we are actually at war with a ruthless enemy that is determined to "bury us" as he has so successfully buried by DEATH or SLAVERY, millions of our brothers.

It is not conclusive to say "Surely the leaders of our top church association are too smart and faithful to the cause of Christ to harbor any of His enemies or in any way lend aid and comfort to them." We cannot forget that the astute Secretary of State, Dean Acheson could not believe that his good friend Alger Hiss was an enemy agent. Nor can we forget that Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenbergers escaped detection until after their dirty work had been accomplished. It is folly to assume that the enemy would not make use of the National Council of Churches if it could do so to accomplish its purposes.

Vampires sustain themselves by sucking blood out of their victims. The lamprey eel attaches itself to the body of a healthy fish and sucks its substance therefrom. In like manner these communist "MASTERS OF DECEIT" suck their financial support out of the poor fish to whom they attach themselves. Their favorite method is to form a FRONT with a high sounding title and solicit funds from the unwary to promote a seemingly good cause. They also worm their way into already existing organizations and bore from within for their sustenance.

Are the following circumstances creditable evidence that some Masters of Deceit are, or have been, at work on, or within, the body of the National Council of Churches?

EXHIBIT I - A booklet published in 1957 by and at the expense of the National Council of Churches included a "Reading List" of recommended books and authors. That list has scattered within it as recommended authors the names of many well known communist or communist front supporters. For example, nine of the recommended books from one single author were written by the notorious Lamgston Hughes. The same man wrote the song for the Eighth Convention of the Communist Party, U.S.A., the first lines of which are:

"Put one more S in the U.S.A. To make it Soviet.
One more S in the U.S.A. Oh, we'll live to see it yet."

Is it possible that some of my contribution to my own church is being sucked through the NCC into the financial support of this man by the sale of his books? Unbelievable, but there it is!

EXHIBIT II - The present active Communist "Peace Offensive" has been exposed by the House Un-American Activities Committee as a "Campaign to Disarm and Defeat the United States." It named among the FRONT organizations in this "peace" campaign the "Committee for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact." It also disclosed the names of the five men who initiated the formation of that FRONT. One of them is the present president of the National Council of Churches, Edwin T. Dahlberg.

EXHIBIT III - In July 1954 the National Council of Churches accepted a donation of $200,000.00 in cash from Walter Reuther's organization, whereupon one of Reuther's men, Albert Whitehouse, was named a vice-president of the National Council of Churches. What did Walter Reuther get for his money? Could there be any payola involved in the fact that the NCC saw fit then to issue an entire pamphlet attacking the whole principle of the Right-to-Work Laws. This pamphlet was made wide use of by labor leaders all over the land in their fight against Right-to-Work legislation. This is the same Walter Reuther who, while in Russia, wrote back to a friend in America to "Carry on the fight for a Soviet America."

EXHIBIT IV - At a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, in November 1958, the Fifth World Order Study Conference of the NCC adopted a resolution in favor of the diplomatic recognition of Red China by the United States and the seating of that government in the United Nations. (That would increase the Soviet voting power against us.)

An active vice-president, (then and now) of the National Council of Churches, Bishop Bromley Oxnam, was the keynote speaker. He and 88 other officers and staff members of the NCC dominated that conference and issued the pronouncement as being the unanimous vote of all the delegates. There were many protests to no avail. Subsequently a committee of five prominent Christian gentlemen took a poll of 50,000 ministers all over America and found that over 80% of them are opposed to any such recognition. Those gentlemen were Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Norman Vincent Peal, Bishops Corson and Welch of the Methodist Church, and Congressman Walter Judd, a former Missionary of China.

The Communist Press was jubilant over their success at Cleveland, for the recognition of Red China by our government has been one of the major goals of the Communist Conspiracy for many years. The "Worker" in its issue of Nov. 30, 1958 carried the headline, "38 million Protestants Tell Ike: Recognize China!"

Many other exhibits could be cited if space permitted, which would show how pronouncements from the leaders of the National Council have frequently followed the "Party Line" and have well served the communist conspiracy.

Re. The National Council of Churches:

At this point it may be well to check into the history, activities and present personnel of the National Council, and to that end, I am enclosing a copy of a booklet issued by the Southern Presbyterian Journal. The contents of this booklet were well substantiated by my checking many other references in the public library. A careful reading of it at this point will make more understandable that which follows:

Re. The Air Force Manual:

The Air Force conducts a training course of instructions to its cadets, the better to qualify them as efficient guardians of our national security. In order to alert these cadets to the communist menace, a portion of the training manual issued in January, this year, contained a chapter entitled "Communism and Religion."

After reading that chapter carefully, its purpose was unmistakable, viz: To warn the student that he should be prepared to find communist activity in every field of human endeavor, even including the field of religion, where he would least expect it.

The original manual is no longer available, but attached hereto is a reprint of the pertinent parts of it, and it is suggested that the first and last paragraphs, which I have circled with blue pencil, be read first. What lies between these two paragraphs was obviously presented as examples to show how insidious communist activities have already wormed their way into our highest church organization.

In early February this year, when I read in my morning newspaper, that the National Council of Churches had summarily demanded retraction and apologies from an agency of our government which was designed specifically to guard our National security, without first offering any evidence to refute the charges this thought went through my mind:

> "What would one think of the captain of the Queen Mary, if while in the middle of the Atlantic, with a full load of passengers, upon receiving an urgent warning from the government that aboard his ship was a bunch of fanatics, determined and ready either to take over his ship or scuttle it, he did nothing but demand the withdrawal of the warning and require an apology from those who sent it?

From such an action it would be logical to conclude that the Captain was either stupid, incompetent, or in cahoots with the conspirators!

Upon receipt of that same sort of a demand from the Captain of the good ship NCC, Congressman Walker, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee requested the ship's Captain to come and review the evidence upon which the warning was based and to present anything that would refute it. Mr. Walker's request was ignored, but instead immediately a campaign of smear and ridicule was launched against Mr. Walker, as well as against any and all others who dared question the infallibility of the high priests of the National Council of Churches.

It is obvious from the nature of the press releases and the articles that are appearing in certain publications (including the Presbyterian Life) that the leaders of the NCC are making a great effort to discredit and belittle the Un-American Activities Committee. That in itself well serves the communist conspiracy, for to do just that has long been a prime objective of the conspirators.

On February 27th under an UPI report, the newspapers carried the story of how six prominent Protestant leaders at the NCC Convention, then being held in Oklahoma City, had signed a telegram to Chairman Walker which demanded in the name of 60 million Protestants, that he retract and apologize for his untrue statements which he had made in support of the truth of the Air Force Manual testimony. That telegram in effect was publicly calling Mr. Walker a liar! That tactic again followed the well known communist pattern of "immediately smear and vilify personally any man that opposes you". It was that telegram which became the "spark that disturbed my clod".

It shocked me to discover that the first two names on that telegram were those of the two top leaders in our own Presbyterian national organization, viz; Eugene Carson Blake, formerly a president of the National Council of Churches, but now our Stated Clerk, and Rev. Arthur Miller, our present Moderator.

At this point I decided to dig into this matter and find the answer to the question put to us by Dr. Kirkland in his memorandum of March 13th, viz: "Is it true or false that the Council has been infiltrated by some persons or opinions which are communistic or lean toward it?"

From a careful study of the evidence available I cannot escape the conclusion it is a well established fact that numerous persons within the official family of the National Council of Churches, have been and still are giving aid and comfort to the communist conspiracy, by affiliating themselves with notorious Communist Front Organizations.

A recent flagrant case in point, involved one of the most active Vice-Presidents of the NCC, wherein he insisted upon aiding that tried and convicted Communist, Carl Braden, stage a "Communist Front Sponsored" meeting as late as on January 31st this year in the Asbury Methodist Church in Washington, D.C. He did this even after he had been fully advised as to the character of the organization with which he was affiliating himself.

"BY THEIR FRUITS YE SHALL KNOW THEM."

In 2 Corinthians 11-13 (According to the Revised Standard Version) it is written, "For such men are false apostles, deceitful workmen, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. So it is not strange if his servants also disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds."

SOME UNANSWERED QUESTIONS:

Why did the National Council sponsor the issuance of the "Revised Standard Version" of the Bible, when we already had good modern translations available? Why did it include among the 95 men it employed to produce this Version, so many "Fellow Travellers", i.e. men whose records showed them to have been affiliated with not one but many Red Front organizations? Is it possible that we have already reached the stage in America where we cannot find 95 qualified scholars to do this sort of a job, without having to include 30 who have aided the communist conspiracy?

Why did the Council maintain ownership of the copyright title to this Standard Version, unless it was to provide a fabulous income from royalties which would make the small leadership group, (including the Fellow Travellers) free and independent of the opinions of the 38 million church members that give them their prestige?

The arrogance displayed by this small leadership group, now in control of the National Council of Churches, in this Air Force Manual incident, in claiming that they speak the united mind of all of us, is becoming more and more repugnant to vast numbers of Christian ministers and laymen.

Dr. Daniel Poling, one of America's most eminent Christian leaders, stated in an editorial in the May 1959 issue of the Christian Herald,

> "In sorrow, we must conclude that the N.C.C. has steadily become a social action body almost to the exclusion of the evangelical and evangelistic emphasis and program."

To which should be added that so long as the N.C.C. would direct its efforts toward the relief of human suffering in the area of Christian Charity and Service, it would command our respect and support, but when under that cloak of deceit it lends the prestige of its good name to further the cause of conspirators who are dedicated to the ultimate destruction of all religious organizations, it is high time we Christians took notice of it.

WHAT EFFECT IS IT HAVING?

J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil Company, and one of the outstanding leaders of our Presbyterian laymen, who was the chairman of the original Lay Committee that raised $600,000.00 to finance the founding of the National Council of Churches, addressed the recent Chicago meeting of Presbyterian Men. He said,

> "The activities of the National Council of Churches is seriously hurting the Presbyterian pocketbook". He told them that the top hierarchy of the Presbyterian Church is having more trouble than ever in history, raising money to keep itself and its missionary program going and that the reason for the trouble is the fact that it insists upon affiliating itself with the National Council of Churches."

That is the national effect, but what of our local situation? In the March 22nd issue of the Tulsa Tribune there was published a letter that I am convinced reflects the attitude of more people than we know about. I do not know who wrote it, but I have heard several responsible men voice the same reaction. It reads as follows:

> "AIR RESERVE TRAINING MANUAL
> Editor, The Tribune:
> "The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. officially sponsored the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Of the 95 persons who served in this project, 30 have been affiliated with pro-Communist fronts, projects, and publications." This quote is from an Air Reserve Center Training Manual-NR. 45-0050-INCR.V-Vol. 7.
> In a city the size of Tulsa, with practically all of the larger churches belonging to and supporting the National Council of Churches of Christ, why hasn't this accusation been denied, proven wrong, and action thus taken? Or, if it is true, why are our major churches supporting such an organization?
> Every American who attends a church affiliated with the National Council of Churches of Christ should demand an acceptable explanation of this controversy. If our citizens continue to close their eyes to this type of situation, no one need fear a third world war or the threat of being bombed. The Communists will soon be able to assume control from inside America. It is complacency of this sort which our leaders are constantly warning us about.
> I attend one of Tulsa's largest churches which supports the National Council of Churches of Christ. If an adequate explanation is not offered--even though I have gone to this church for years and am deeply attached to it--I will be forced by my own conscience to begin attending services elsewhere. I refuse to support and aid the Communist party with its mutiny in America!
> Tulsa
> M.H."

The above letter is typical of the flood of letters and telegrams which have reached Chairman Walker within the past few weeks. They are evidence that in fact the leaders of the Council are on trial before the court of public opinion.

These men cannot restore lost confidence by resorting to the tactics they are now using, viz; applying the epithet "hate mongering church destroyers" to any and all who question their actions or pronouncements. They are using that old forensic trick of misleading the gullible by setting up straw men and then shooting them down to distract attention from the real issue.

A good example of that type of deceptive and devious argument is displayed in an article published in the March 26th issue of our own Presbyterian Life magazine on page 17. The straw men it sets up therein reads.....

> "Inasmuch as, the manual and a preceeding 1955 security indoctrination manual contain as official statements certain libelous and untrue accusations, against the whole body of Protestant clergymen, against the Churches of the United States, and against the National Council of Churches as an organization of many of those churches."....etc. etc.

The wording of that premise is so obviously a distortion of the statements made in the Manual, that only a "MASTER OF DECEIT" could have written it. The Air Force Manual made no such blanket accusation against the whole body of Presbyterian clergymen, against the churches of the United States, or against the National Council of Churches as an organization.

The writers of that distortion well knew that by publishing it in the Presbyterian Life magazine it would be read by thousands of good Presbyterians who would have had no opportunity to read the Manual. So on the face of it, a clever fraud has been perpetrated on thousands of unsuspecting church members. This also fits perfectly into the pattern of deception, which a true follower of Christ must abhor.

Rep. Gordon H. Scherer of Ohio, for eight years a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee puts it thus:

> "Every time we have inquired into the attempts of Communists or Communist-Fronters to worm their way into churches, the committee has been bitterly attacked and charged with investigating religion - with opposing churches - with interfering with religious freedom in violation of the Constitution..... Instead of bitterly resenting this committee, these good people should join hand in hand with us in what I believe is, and should be, a mutual objective, namely to better understand the nature of the communist techniques and objectives insofar as religion and the church are concerned and to strengthen our religious institutions so that they can become an even greater bulwark against the most deadly enemy, not only of free men, but also of the church itself."

A mere handful of delegates to that Cleveland convention ten years ago took their whole denominations into the National Council, without ever submitting their actions to the individual churches for approval or ratification.

It now appears that under its present leadership this well intentioned organization has become "a powerful political lobby for socialism, hiding behind the facade of a Christian name and enjoying the tax-exemption of a church institution". Its present leaders are in command of its tremendous income from the pockets of millions of unsuspecting good people, together with the powerful prestige from the position it assumes of being their spokesman, a perfect medium to propogate communist ideology. No wonder that its leaders so easily intimidated the politicians and the Pentagon officials as they did in this Air Force Manual incident.

Surely the leaders of any organization calling itself Christian should keep themselves above reproach but from the foregoing it is obvious that within the group now in control of the National Council of Churches there are some who have brought that organization into disrepute by associating themselves with Red Front activities.

These men, doubtless, are among those so well described by the chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee in a recent speech. He said:

> "There is an influential hard core in the leadership circles of this Nation - who simply do not or will not understand that communism is communism, and that Communists are Communists. They do not recognize the plain obvious fact that the Soviet Union and its satelites, together with Red China, with almost a billion people in its orbit, are at war with the free world and that the United States of America is the principal target. It is a war which has already cost us billions of our treasury and the blood of our youth. It is a total war involving force, subversion, diplomatic deceit, psychological maneuvers and intrigue by every device of which devilish minds are capable. It is a war in which there can be no compromise. It is a war in which we face either victory or slavery or death."

The question now before you officials of the First Presbyterian Church of Tulsa, Oklahoma is: Shall you continue to include in the budget of our church an item in cash to be sent to and spent by those in control of the N.C.C. as they may see fit, without question; or shall this church take advantage of a splendid opportunity to "stand up and be counted".

Our pastor, [redacted] in the splendid sermon on Communism which he gave us in November 1958, said:

> "We shall never defeat Communism by sitting quietly in the middle of the road. Victory will come only when men and women face life as it is and say in the daily market place 'I am utterly Christs'. We need to stand up and be counted in America's great struggle against Communism."

The Rev. Harris, Chaplain of the U. S. Senate, told the Daughters of the American Revolution just a few days ago (April 22, 1960) that "Churchmen who advocate admitting Red China into the United Nations are blind and gullible". He also told them that a survey of churchmen in a group to which he belongs, i.e. the Committee of One Million, showed nine to one against admission of Red China into the United Nations.

In spite of the fact that 80 to 90 percent of the ministers of our land appear to be in opposition to the pronouncement made by the small coterie in command of the National Council, that group persists in pressuring Congress to do just what the Communists want, viz., accept Red China into the family of nations, so it can join its vote with that of the Kremlin against us. b6 b7C

In view of the recent actions of those in control of the Council wherein they have tried to suppress, belittle and ridicule any and all who question their activities, and in view of the fact that many among them still persist in affiliating themselves with Red Front activities, and so often slant their pronouncements in the direction pleasing to the Communist Conspirators. it is logical to conclude that the present management of the Council is in the hands of men unworthy of our further confidence.

Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty, and "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing". Our Master did not hesitate to throw out of the temple those He found therein who were desecrating it.

Do we have the courage to withdraw our support as did the First Baptist Church of Wichita, or will we continue to be led like a bunch of sheep to our own slaughter? That decision is up to you, the official members of our church, to make.

Sincerely submitted

ReBulet 1/27/61.

On the afternoon of 1/31/61 the instructions contained in ref Bulet were carried out in a personal interview with Mr. T. COLEMAN ANDREWS, JR.

He appeared to be pleased and satisfied with the information furnished.

Regarding the source of his statement that the Ninth Naval District considers the Society to be subversive, Mr. ANDREWS said that he had received a letter from a friend of his, whom he did not identify. He gathered that this statement was based on a report his friend had seen from the Ninth Naval District, as his correspondent, in turn, has a friend attached thereto. Mr. ANDREWS stated that his father, T. COLEMAN ANDREWS, SR., is a personal acquaintance with the new Secretary of the Navy and that he intends through this channel to obtain further data regarding this Naval characterization.

I have the impression after this interview that ANDREWS intends to proceed with his activities in this Society.

She stated that the John Birch Society in that community was fighting this plan pertaining to mental health.

She enclosed a copy of the January 12, 1961 issue of the Cody (Wyo.) Enterprise which contains many letters supporting the Park County (Wyo.) Mental Health Association and defending the activities of that association from attacks from the Cody "cell" of the John Birch Society.

On January 18, 1961, [redacted] Welfare Department, Cody, voluntarily furnished the following information to SA [redacted]

The John Birch Society at Cody meets monthly in various private homes of members. They call their groups "cells" and they advocate the elimination of Federal income tax and the abolition of any organization which supports the mental health program. The Cody "cell" is made up of only

No investigation of Edward R. Murrow has been made by the Bureau. He has received both favorable and unfavorable comments by the communist press on his TV programs. Re: "The Beat Majority" - Ed Murrow

Dear Sir: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

I have meant to write you for some time with reference to the above BRAINWASHING program that was aired recently.

As evidenced by our recent "election", I would say that if there is a beat majority, and there is, it is the good American people stretched from sea to sea within our borders and certainly not the leftists concentrated in our big cities.

Mr. Edward R. Murrow's vituperative and twisted interpretation of the actions of Mr. Ervin, the gentleman from Oklahoma, who was brave enough to cast his electoral vote for Messrs. Byrd and Goldwater, was the most revolting display of fraud I have ever seen over the media of T. V.

I believe now that the author of "Red Star

DATE: February 1, 1961

SUBJECT: ALLEGATIONS REGARDING COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE
INFORMATION CONCERNING - (INTERNAL SECURITY)

The Department by memorandum 1-12-61 requested to be advised if the Bureau has any information regarding allegations made by Revilo P. Oliver in the October, 1959, edition of the "American Opinion" in article captioned "A Review of Reviews" that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (DHEW) was infiltrated by communists.

Oliver contended (1) that between 70% and 80% of the responsible officers in the DHEW are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy, (2) that a Congressional investigation would disclose such falsifications of travel records as to create presumptive proof that some members of the Department really serve as communist couriers, (3) that a campaign is under way within the DHEW to purge it of all employees suspected of anticommunist tendencies. The Department suggested the Bureau may wish to ascertain from Oliver the basis for his statements regarding the DHEW.

The "American Opinion" is an anticommunist publication published by the John Birch Society which has not been investigated by the Bureau. This organization was founded by Robert Welch in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958. Welch in the past has attacked former President Eisenhower and his administration in his writings. The Bureau has conducted no investigation of Revilo P. Oliver and Bureau files contain no identifiable derogatory information regarding him. He is a professor at the University of Illinois and has made allegations in the past that the Government of this country is "shot through" with communists. The Bureau has had limited cordial correspondence with him.

ORIGINAL COPY FILED IN 65-45027

Memo Baumgardner to Belmont
RE: ALLEGATIONS REGARDING COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE
65-45027

In March, 1959, he stated that 1/3 of the top echelon of the communist conspiracy in this country are in the DHEW and stated Herbert Philbrick, a former FBI informant, was his source.

Herbert Philbrick, a former informant of the Boston Office, has been contacted regarding Oliver's statements and has advised he has never given Oliver any information concerning communist infiltration of the DHEW, that he knows no one in this Department and has had no information concerning communist activity in the United States Government since at least 1944. Philbrick considers Oliver to be an extremist in anticommunist feelings and violently anti-Semitic. The Boston Office has advised there is no record of any statement regarding the DHEW in its files emanating from Philbrick. Through a review of the Bureau Security Index cards, it was determined that no employees of the DHEW are included in the Security Index.

OBSERVATIONS:

It is not felt we should contact Oliver regarding his unfounded allegations regarding the DHEW as such contact would serve no worthwhile purpose and may encourage him to continue to make these unfounded allegations against this Department.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the Department be advised that Herbert Philbrick, a former Bureau informant has disclaimed furnishing Oliver any information regarding the DHEW, that it is not believed any contact with Oliver regarding these unfounded allegations would serve any worthwhile purpose and that no further inquiry is being made in this matter in the absence of a specific request from the Department.

See P-3

2. That the attached letter in line with the above be transmitted to the Department.

I think we should take a closer look at the John Birch Society. If it publishes such a publication it is suspect

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I wish to convey to you my sincere respect and admiration for your long and determined fight against subversive forces here in America, and for all you have done to alert us to this imminent danger. I read with great interest your report entitled "Communist Target....Youth" and have also seen the film "Operation Abolition" of the S. F. student riots. If your report and this film fail to convince the American people that there is a definite plot to subvert our youth, then I am inclined to wonder if they can be convinced. Others besides yourself have done all in their power to make us aware of this internal danger and still all too many of us remained asleep. Have we already overslept? I wonder.....

Everywhere we turn we can see the constant erosion of our American traditions and principles. We see our Constitution being ignored, men bent on the destruction of individual responsibility and freedom, and materialism undermining our morals. We see our public officials not only abuse their authority but lie, deceive and use any ruse to obtain their goals. This line of thought and action is contrary to our basic American ideals, and yet is seems to be both a condoned and an accepted practice. This is especially true with Forest Service personnel, as we have had occasion to note. And now we are experiencing attacks on two of our strongest bulwarks against subversion in this country, the F. B. I. and H. U. A.C. The conspirators must feel quite secure to become so brazen. In my humble opinion it is sheer stupidity that we have not long ago outlawed the Communist Party.

As you know, everyday more Americans are realizing the danger that exists internally and are forming organizations to inform others, and to oppose measures which will infringe on our Constitutional rights, American sovereignty and security. I feel these organizations can do a great deal of good, however, they do present a problem. The enemies ways are so subtle, devious and insidious it is often quite difficult for the average person to distinguish between a truly patriotic group and one which is not. Several months ago I joined the John Birch Society, Belmont, Mass. After reading their material, hearing tapes and etc. I honestly believe this to be a society dedicated to protecting our freedoms and American form of government. If however, I have formed the wrong opinion I would sincerely appreciate it if you would inform me of my error in judgement.

In closing I again wish to express my gratitude to you and your organization. It is indeed gratifying to have someone in whom we can place our trust.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have long since been interested in knowing how to fight Communists movements in our country and in our Government, I have always wanted to do something, take a part in some movement, but have never had a real good oppertunity to be of any assistance, until last night.

I attended a meeting of the "John Birch Society" and wittnessed several films as narrated by a, Mr. Robert H. W. Welch, Jr. These films were very convincing and interesting, and along the line of thinking of the average American, I think, but it could be as communistic as anything else in your files, with that pink fringe, if it isn't handled correctly. I know you have had a flood of these request, I don't want to join something that isn't good. Do you have anything to say about Welch and the "John Birch Society". Would it be worthy of a good Honest Citizens time and effort, because I will be giving them some good time, will invite friends to join the movement and ask their help. I need to know, before I jump, and you or your department, I'll believe.

If possible, I would like information that was presented as evidence against Chief Justice Earl Warrenn, as an aid to the communists movement in our country, I understand that another of the Supreme Court Justice's did make formal charges against Mr. Warren, and as of this date, the proceedings to prosecute or impeach him, has not and will not come to trial. It was common gossip across the country that he was implicated in their activities, and if it is true that charges have been filed against him, are we so entangled already, that nothing can be done with these kind of people.

I would also like informations on how America or Americans aided in the fall & distruction of Poland, into the hands of the communists.

I need something that I can read and quote from as I talk and work, I don't want to go into this with my friends half cocked, and if I don't choose to work with Mr. Welch and his cause, I'll get me a soap box and burn this typewriter up with letters of my own. 62-104401-6

Dear Mr. Hoover:

If possible, I would appreciate very much receiving your comments, opinion, approval, disapproval or letter of noncommittance regarding any information you have on The John Birch Society, Inc. of Belmont, Massachusetts.

It is an active study group designed to become informed of the threat of communist conspiracy and action that can be taken to thwart it.

We have started a small Chapter of the Society here in [redacted] and have met with criticism for being radicals and even a remark that perhaps we were communist affiliated.

Since these people cannot be reasoned with, perhaps they can be shown. This is why I would appreciate receiving any remarks you may have regarding the FBI's knowledge of the Society, if you do offer that sort of information.

Also at our last meeting we were told that we could receive informational pamphlets from the FBI upon request. Would you please send any of these to us, and if there is a subscription rate we will be glad to oblige.

I hope you have time to let me know about the above and Thank you for any help you may have.

Sincerely,

Mrs. [redacted]

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of January 25, 1961, has been received, and I want to thank you sincerely for your thoughtful message of confidence in the work being done by the FBI.

In response to your inquiry, it is a pleasure to enclose publications which offer my suggestions as to how you and other young people like you can help keep our country safe from the destructive forces which threaten us. There is no provision whereby this Bureau can offer assistance or suggestions in organizing a group such as you described, but I believe the material forwarded will offer you ways in which you can take effective action in combating communism.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I would first like to say that the American people owe you so much for your life-time of service to our country. We need many more men like you in these troubled times.

Second, my parents belong to an organization which is fighting our greatest menace - Communism. It is the John Birch Society. I believe, though, that it is an adult organization.

Would it be possible for you to send me some literature on how I, as a teen-ager, could start a "Youth against Communism" organization? As things look now, there isn't much time left to fight the sly Communists. I want to be able to live as an in dividual when I grow up and this would be quite impossible to do under a Communist dictatorship.

Yours very sincerely,

The John Birch Society was organized by Robert Welch in December, 1958, at Indianapolis, Indiana. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches in many parts of the country. Welch was quite critical of former President Eisenhower and his administration. SAC Letter 60-5 calls this organization to the attention of the field and instructs them that any information on their activities should be reported to the Bureau.

I have just completed reading your book, 'Masters of Deciet,' and have seen the Film Strip, 'Communism on the Map.' I plan to continue a study to inform myself on this threat to our existance.

I have discovered an action group who are fighting Communism called the John Birch Society. Before enrolling in their program of writing letters to our Congressmen etc I felt it prudent to know the status of this Society based on findings your office undoubtedly has.

Is it cleared by the F.B.I. and is it a good way for a private citizen to fight the Communist threat?

Dear Mr Hoover,

As a naturalized American Citizen and one who loves this Country and no wish to ever belong or be dominated by another, I am bringing a great problem to you which has troubled me a little. I certainly do not wish to be confused or do anything that may not meet with your approval knowing you and the F. B. I. are the watch dog of America.

I would like your opinion if you think I would be serving my wonderful Country by joining the John Birch Society. This is a local chapter and was formed a little over a year ago. The society has not sought publicity and the membership is by invitation only. I have been asked to join as a member. Before doing so and going to a meeting to be held early in February, I would appreciate hearing from you.

My only idea of joining this Society is to fight this Communist conspiracy creeping into our society, schools and churches.

I was very happy at the idea of joining until I read in the local paper 22/1/61 that Robert Welch of Belmont. Mass wrote a confidential document that our great States Man and former President Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy. I have spoken to several members of the John Birch Society but who had not read the book "The Politician" and not one could believe such a dreadful accusation and did not wish to believe such a thing and more over do not agree with its founders idea that ex-President Eisenhower is a Communist.

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING -
INTERNAL SECURITY

REC-98 EX-108

Re Charlotte airtels 7/21 and 27/60.

On 2/1/61, Mrs. [redacted], Charlotte, N. C., telephone [redacted] personally appeared at the Charlotte Office at which time she advised SA [redacted] that her purpose was to ascertain whether captioned organization was a legitimate and non-subversive organization. She was advised the FBI's jurisdiction and responsibilities did not extend to furnishing evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of an organization or individual.

She pointed out that she had attended several meetings of the John Birch Society which were being held in a room at the downtown public library, Charlotte, and had attended the last meeting on 1/30/61. She said that she was not aware of the identity of the persons who were in charge of the local organization but that they claimed to be an anti-Communist group. At the meetings they referred a great deal to the "Dan Smoot Report" who was reportedly a former FBI Agent (SAC Letter 59-17 dated 3/24/59, contains information regarding Dan Smoot Report). Also at the meeting on 1/30/61, which was attended by approximately 30 persons, there was a debate and discussion concerning dividing the group into smaller units and the formation of other small groups or units. Several individuals raised their hand indicating they would attempt to organize a small group or cell.

EX. - 113 62-109101-632

Mrs. [redacted] advised she was concerned about the complacency of the American public regarding the communist menace and that she desired to participate fully in captioned organization to fight Communism, provided the organization was actually an anti-Communist organization. She pointed out she had no reason to doubt this but wanted to make sure that it was non-subversive before joining and participating in the activities.

(1) May 1960 issue of "American Opinion" concerning "The Bang - Jensen Tragedy", which is apparently published by ROBERT H. W. WELCH, JR., founder of the John Birch Society.

(2) Testimony of Dr. FREDERICK CHARLES SCHWARZ, Executive Director, Christian Anti-Communist Crusade before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on 5/29/57.

(3) Booklet entitled "Why People Become Communists" published by "American Opinion"

Mrs. [redacted] advised that she and her husband at that time planned to join this organization and that if any information was received indicating that the organization was subversive, she would thereafter contact the Charlotte Office.

For the additional information of the Bureau, since the submission of referenced Charlotte airtel, two other individuals have contacted the Charlotte Office regarding captioned organization and have indicated they have attended meetings at the Charlotte Public Library. They likewise desired to know whether there was any information indicating that the organization had any subversive contacts.

STAFF CONSULTATION

The following consultation by the staff of the Committee on Un-American Activities was held at 2:55 p. m., Wednesday, May 29, 1957, in room 226, Old House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Staff members present: Richard Arens, director; William F. Heimlich, consultant, and Richard S. Weil, staff member.

Mr. Arens. Dr. Schwarz, will you raise your right hand and be sworn by Mrs. Eduora Bernard, the notary public.

Mrs. Bernard. Do you solemnly swear that the testimony you are about to give in this hearing will be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

Dr. Schwarz. I do.

TESTIMONY OF DR. FREDERICK CHARLES SCHWARZ, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CHRISTIAN ANTI-COMMUNIST CRUSADE

Mr. Arens. Kindly identify yourself by name, residence, and occupation.

Dr. Schwarz. My name is Frederick Charles Schwarz, S-C-H-W-A-R-Z. My official home address is 142 Concord Road. Concord. Sydney. New South Wales.

human nature, perfect human character, and populate the entire earth with a new quality of personality infinitely superior to any that history has ever known. The appeal that attracts the young student is almost a religious appeal that his life can be utilized for the regeneration of all mankind.

Mr. Arens. Would you care to elaborate on that theme, Doctor?

Dr. Schwarz. When you ask the Communist a simple question: "How are you going to change human nature?" they would answer with one word, and that word is "science." "We are scientists. Science has changed the material world. Science has changed the world of agriculture. Science has changed the world of animal husbandry. We can use science to change human nature itself."

This sounds very appealing. You can understand how this sounds to a young student infatuated with the techniques of science. To participate in using science for its greatest achievement is a seductive vision.

However, to be scientific you must follow scientific laws, and communism then proceeds to give it three scientific laws. These laws are as follows:

The first one is "There is no God." They are proudly, unashamedly atheistic in theory and in practice. When they deny God, they simultaneously deny every virtue and every value that originates with God. They deny moral law. They deny absolute standards of truth and righteousness. An entire civilized code of moral and ethical values is destroyed so that they are free to erect in their place new moral and ethical standards as the occasion demands.

impulses, gives of his best for the general well-being, ar out of the abundance thus created retains only his ov personal needs. Farewell anger, lust and greed, env malice and strife, pestilence and war; enter golden, cor panionable, co-operative brotherhood; mankind will li together in the glorious day of communism that h dawned on the earth.

Mr. Arens. Doctor, may I pose this question: Ho to the Communist mind, is this world of goodness and plenty and of unselfishness and love, consistent with tl program which we see in effect in Communist regime a program of bloodshed, of deceit, of inhumanity, ar the like?

Dr. Schwarz. It is the justification for it all. You s the goals. To sacrifice one or two generations is not a ve big price to pay for such a glorious goal from their poi of view.

The Communists are confronted with this pro lem: When they conquer the world, they are left wi those people who have been brought up in the ca talist environment. They have had their experience It has formed their character and personality. Na urally, if you leave the babies and the children wi them, they will impress that character and perso ality upon them, so the Communists are confronte with a problem of what to do with the adults established character and personality once they ha conquered the world.

Being thoroughly materialist scientists, they d not hesitate. They say they have no alternativ Naturally, they must dispose of these classes. To the it is not murder. Murder is a bourgeois term whic class of mankind, and the reactionary bourgeois class. The waging of this war is the great duty of all class-conscious proletarians; the future is the triumph of the proletarian class. The Communist Party is the brain of the proletarian class, and the war that manifests itself within a state is a conflict between the Communist Party and the state government until the Communist Party destroys and conquers that state. Once that is done, it manifests itself in the international realm in a state of war between those countries that have been conquered by the Communists and where their power is established and those countries as yet unconquered. The basis of Communist policy is the existence of the class war. To them it is a fact of being.

So within this framework every act which advances their triumph is righteous. Every statement that helps their cause is true.

Mr. Arens. They overlooked the Christian philosophy.

Dr. Schwarz. They wiped it out entirely.

Mr. Arens. The philosophy that the end never justifies the means.

Dr. Schwarz. The end creates the means. Any act, however brutal, and no matter how many people are killed, that advances the Communist conquest, is a peaceful act.

Within this framework of ideology and morality, no Communist can tell a lie in the interests of communism because by definition, if it is in the interest of communism, it is the truth. A person is only a material machine and truth is merely a set of electronic impulses that circulate within his brain. The ultimate truth is the will of the Com-

there was no manifestation of it whatsoever. If anything, their tears on behalf of the Rosenbergs flowed more freely. Their agony became more intense. To us they were utter hypocrites, but not to themselves. The execution of the Rosenbergs was an act that would retard Communist world conquest. Therefore, it was an evil act. Therefore, the Rosenbergs were guiltless. Therefore, the evidence against them was perjury. Therefore, those who gave the evidence were perjurers and criminals. Therefore, every progressive and moral proletarian heart must be emotionally disturbed because of this dreadful and evil act perpetrated with cruelty, brutality, and injustice. On the other hand, the arrest and execution of the Czechoslovak Jews would advance Communist world conquest; it would please the Arabs; it would set the stage for Communist influence in the Near East, which we see coming to fruition today.

It was an act in the interest of world conquest by communism; therefore, it was a good act. Therefore, they were guilty. Therefore, they were criminals. Therefore, the evidence against them was true. Therefore, every progressive heart must feel a sense of elation and rejoicing that justice triumphed with their death.

Mr. Weil. I think the theory behind that is excellent. But the evidence we have today seems to point to the fact that the Communists wanted the Rosenbergs executed, as a matter of fact, because they felt the Rosenbergs alive might be witnesses against the Communist apparatus. That bears out the impression of hypocrisy.

Dr. Schwarz. There is nothing inconsistent in their terms of its recruitment of students, the organization of these students into the Communist Party and the scientific exploitation of group needs, grievances and ambitions to advance their party to power. The goal of communism is conquest, not conversion. They convert a few and conquer the many.

Mr. Arens. It is our information, Doctor, that there are in the world today approximately 25 million Communists. Is there any cohesive force that is opposing them?

Dr. Schwarz. Unfortunately, no.

Mr. Arens. Is there any monolithic force of any comparable size?

Dr. Schwarz. Uunfortunately, I know of none. I know of no monolithic, conscious, dedicated, directive force to oppose them. What is needed, and that brings us to a second point—

Mr. Arens. I would like to ask you, before you get to your second point, if there is a fallacy in undertaking to appraise the strength of the world Communist movement in terms of numbers?

Dr. Schwarz. A very definite fallacy involved.

Mr. Arens. Why?

Dr. Schwarz. Because it is trying to determine the validity of the hull of the boat by relating the area of the holes to the area which is sound. One hole can sink the ship. Communism is the theory of the disciplined few controlling and directing the rest. One person in a sensitive position can control, manipulate, and if necessary, destroy thousands of others.

Mr. Arens. To use this illustration of your boat, you

I am informed by Indians that the majority of Christians in India vote Communist. The reason they vote Communist is not because they approve of Communist theories, they haven't the faintest idea what they are. They vote Communist because the Communists sent a very fine young student to their village with glorious magazines showing them how much their life will be improved under communism.

Mr. Weil. What do we do; send more magazines?

Dr. Schwarz. Not so fast. First the Communists had to win the student who takes the magazines. We need an ideological offensive. That is what I am trying to do. I am an evangelical Christian and there are evangelical Christians in India. We have a basis of fellowship. Communism threatens us both. By personal association and contact we can build the understanding of the Communist danger. We have the tools that can help them convey the message to other Christians and the Indian people. It is much better that they should do it. We can help them. Our material advantage can now be effectively used when dedicated freedom-loving people, encouraged by our love, equipped by our support, carry the message of the value of the individual and the spiritual heritage of man, interpreted in the light of their specific faith, motivated by the dynamics of their conviction, when they carry this message and the corollary of the Communist threat to their own nationals.

Mr. Arens. On the basis of your worldwide tours, background and experience, what is your appraisal of the progress of internal communism as opposed to the forces of freedom at the present time?

Dr. Schwarz. I regret to say that, by every standard test, the Communists have been making terrifying progress; and they are winning and we are losing.

"Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?"

Patrick Henry

"By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made those heroes dare
To die, and leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Thou too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate! . . .
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, — are all with thee.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair; the event is in the hands of God.

George Washington

To The President-Elect:

You stand exactly at the supreme crisis, up to this date, of all human history.

That crisis has been long in the making. The struggle is not between two philosophies of economics, of government, or even of life itself. For the philosophy of Communism is but the cloak of a conspiracy. The struggle is between a small but worldwide esoteric clan, which seeks to enslave all of mankind for its own demonic purposes, and the rest of us, who wish to escape that enslavement.

In sheer numbers we have more than ninety-five percent of the human race on our side. But through long planning over decades, and to some extent even over centuries, the enemy now has in its grasp most of the reins and mechanics of power throughout the world. And this enemy has no slightest concern about the cost of its victory. Not only are the conspirators willing to see every truth denied, every humanitarian instinct betrayed, every noble tradition destroyed, every divine faith uprooted, in the achievement of their ends. They actively promote and use this destruction of man's whole spiritual inheritance, as a means of establishing their ruthless tyranny.

The Communists have now infiltrated so insidiously and so far into the organizational frameworks of all human activity that they consider total victory both imminent and assured. The innate strength of the United States remains, despite all of the erosion of that strength which the Communists have so patiently contrived, as the one serious obstacle still to be overcome. And now the Communists are freely predicting that the United States and its people have only one hundred more months of freedom. The hundred months, you will note, are just about coextensive with your expected two terms of office. And there is little doubt that the final decision of this struggle, affecting man's whole life and history for many future generations, will be reached during these next eight years.

In fact, the balance of power is already in your hands. The future of our country and of our civilization may be yours to decide. Those of us who "know the score" are well aware of how much easier it would be for you quietly to join the conspirators, add the full force of the presidency to the strength they already have, and make treason so prosper that "none dare call it treason." Thus you might readily emerge in due time as yourself the top man in a one-world socialist government, kept in power by the brutality of Communist police. The other course is to use the power of the presidency to reassert our nation's already fading independence, and to reestablish its influence on the side of individual freedom and national freedom everywhere. To follow that path is now much more difficult and more dangerous, even for the President of the United States. But it is not yet quite too late for such a purpose to prevail.

When the true history of the Twentieth Century comes to be written your name will loom large on its middle pages. Those pages may record that under your complaisant opportunism, during the years 1961 through 1968, all resistance to tyranny, in the United States and throughout the world, was completely crushed. Or it may read that, by your incessant labor and courage and determination, you were able to save for your children and their children some semblance of the glorious country and humane civilization which you yourself had inherited.

Which course those pages will record is up to you. May God help you to decide aright.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter and enclosures were received on January 31, 1961.

Although I would like very much to be of service, information in FBI files is confidential and available for official use only, due to a regulation of the Department of Justice.

With reference to the leaflet you forwarded from the Cinema Educational Guild, Inc., I can inform you that this leaflet has been brought to our attention in the past, and you will note that it contains a statement that the procommunist records of the individuals named within are documented in the files of "other Government investigating Agencies." I can assure you that the Cinema Educational Guild, Inc., and its national director, Myron C. Fagan, have never had access to information in our files in the preparation of material by that group.

I also want to take this occasion to point out that the statement attributed to me in the other brochure you forwarded is an excerpt from a statement I made on March 26, 1947, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. I am enclosing a copy of this statement, and the excerpt in question appears on page 12. I know that you will realize when you read this passage in context that I was not making reference to any particular organization or religious denomination.

The Cinema Educational Guild is alleged an anti-communist group which has been responsible for the distribution of many sensational-type pamphlets, and its national director, Myron C. Various of his publications are entitled "Red Stars Number One, Two, Three," etc.

affiliated and the National Council of Churches. For a number of years allegations have been made by a number of people, including some clergymen, to the effect that the National Council of the Churches of Christ (NCC) has been infiltrated by communists. Although we have never conducted an investigation of the NCCC, as such, we have kept abreast of the efforts of the Communist Party, USA, (CPUSA) to infiltrate this organization through our over-all investigations of the CPUSA and communist efforts to infiltrate mass-type organizations. It does not appear from the information we have developed that the CPUSA is dictating the policies of the NCCC today. (100-58069)

MR. DECKER - MR. BELMONT
HOUSE COMM ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES
"OPERATION ABOLITION" FILM

Bufiles reflect that Reverend Lee C. Moorehead by letter to the Bureau dated 4-26-47 inquired concerning a communist front organization. Bulet to Moorehead 5-17-47 pointed out the confidential nature of our files and that no information could be furnished. In addition, by letter dated 4-21-60 to former Vice President Nixon, Moorehead requested the Vice President's evaluation of the charges against the National Council of the Churches of Christ (NCCC) in an Air Force Manual linking communism with U. S. churches. At the request of former Vice President Nixon's office, the Bureau prepared a suggested reply to Reverend Moorehead stating, in effect, that the Vice President did not have at hand the material used in the preparation of this Manual and, therefore, was unable to afford Reverend Moorehead an evaluation.

OBSERVATION

It is quite apparent that Harold Martin and the John Birch Society are attempting to involve the Bureau and the Director personally in the controversy concerning this film. We certainly should not allow ourselves to be placed in a position where an organization of the character of the John Birch Society can use statements attributed to the Bureau or to the Director to support its position in this or any other matter. This organization would not hesitate to twist any statement by the Bureau to conform with its extremist position.

I thought to join the only real ACTION anti-communist group I know of - the John Birch Society, whose basic stated aims pretty well parallel my own.

Over the past several months I have heard some very alarming claims against this organization. They boil down to these: that the group is "communist-inspired", "led by communists", "communist infiltrated."

I MUST KNOW whether I can trust the leadership of this organization and I do not know where else to get the truth if not from you. Will you help me?

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

The Director requested that we take a closer look at the John Birch Society (JBS) for if it publishes such a publication as "American Opinion," it is suspect.

We have never investigated JBS nor its founder, Robert H. Welch, Jr.

BACKGROUND CONCERNING THE SOCIETY

JBS was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in 12-58 by Robert H. Welch, Jr., a candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of JBS as "less government, more responsibility and a better world." Chapters of JBS have come into existence in various parts of the country as part of Welch's anticommunist campaign.

BACKGROUND AND ACTIVITY OF WELCH

Bufiles disclose Welch resides in Belmont, Massachusetts, and has an office in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he is an officer and director of the James O. Welch Company, candy manufacturer. He is editor of "American Opinion," which he publishes on an irregular basis and which contains many anticommunist articles. Bufiles do not contain any information of a subversive nature concerning Welch. In 1959 we received information Welch was initiating an anticommunist campaign and was to establish ostensible communist front groups, which in reality would be anticommunist groups, thereby causing disruption to the Communist Party (CP). We have not received any information Welch has established such groups. Welch authored a book entitled "The Politician," which he did not have published but had a limited number of copies printed, which he sent to friends who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed it was a vicious attack on the political beliefs of President Eisenhower and, by innuendo, alluded to President Eisenhower as being procommunist. We disseminated pertinent portions of the book to the White House and the Attorney General in 2-59.

Bufiles indicate Welch is obsessed with his fight against communism and in carrying out his anticommunist campaign. In an article "The Wrong Way to Fight Reds" by Jack Mabley in the 1-30-61 issue of the "Chicago Daily News," a Chicago, Illinois, daily newspaper, Mabley comments on Welch and the Society. Mabley states Welch, by his own words, is absolute boss of the Society and quotes Welch as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss." Mabley sums up his article by stating the communist threat in this country is real enough; the country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the communist evil; but "the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work."

A review of "American Opinion" discloses that among those individuals listed on its Editorial Advisory Committee are such anti-communist crusaders as Clarence Manion, former Dean, University of Notre Dame Law School; Adolphe Menjou, the movie actor; and General A. C. Wedemeyer. One of the associate editors of "American Opinion" is J. B. Matthews, the former Executive Secretary of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA).

It is noted the July-August, 1958, issue of "American Opinion" listed "Masters of Deceit" as recommended reading material. In 8-60 we received information the latest monthly bulletin of JBS requested all members to write the Director expressing their congratulations on his report as contained in the HCUA booklet "Communist Target - Youth."

BUREAU ACTION

Due to the controversial nature of Welch and JBS we alerted the field to background information concerning Welch and JBS by SAC Letters 59-13 (F) dated 3-10-59 and 60-5 (C) dated 1-26-60. The field has been instructed no investigation of JBS should be conducted but the Bureau was particularly interested in any efforts by subversive elements to take over or use JBS or its chapters. The field was instructed to keep the Bureau advised of all pertinent information regarding this matter. Since that time the field has advised of numerous chapters of JBS having been formed in various cities throughout the country and the identities of individuals active in such chapters. We have been closely watching the activities of JBS through the information supplied by the field. However, to date no information has been received indicating subversive elements have infiltrated or taken over any chapters of JBS. Also, no information has been received indicating JBS is operating as a "hate" group or that its activities warrant investigation by the Bureau. To conduct any investigation of this anticommunist group could possibly cause embarrassment to the Bureau as most of the people active in the chapters of JBS are community leaders, leading businessmen and respected citizens. Some also appear to be crackpots.

RECOMMENDATION

In order to give us a better insight into JBS and "American Opinion," there is attached for approval and transmittal an airtel instructing Boston to check appropriate sources and records to determine facts concerning the incorporation of JBS, its incorporators, its credit rating, the circulation of "American Opinion," et cetera.

Re: The John Birch Society organization

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It is with fearful apprehension over the communist conspiracy hanging so ominously over our country that I address this inquiry to you and to your great agency. This inquiry concerns the John Birch organization whose professed endeavor is to rid the United States of communism, and this organization is being favorably received by some of the town's leading citizens.

Last night, I attended a filmed two-hour lecture by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., Editor of American Opinion, who spoke for the John Birch club, and whose alarming expose of communist infiltration into the heart of our federal government and whose explicit accusations against such Americans as James Roosevelt, Christain Herter, and Walter Reuther in furthering the communist menace either directly or indirectly shook me out of my habitual American complacency. At the conclusion of the meeting, your book Masters of Deceit was on display for sale, which I might add, I bought and am now busily engaged in reading.

I would like to do something to aid my country at this fateful time, but, due to other clubs I have heard about that were later proven to be communist infested, I hesitate to join without first investigating. Has this organization been checked for its communistic content by the FBI, and if so, please give me your recommendation.

She later wrote that she had joined the Society and wrote to the Director congratulating him on his article "Communist Target--Youth." This letter was cordially acknowledged and she was sent communism reprints. Material being sent later is: Communist Target-Youth, Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality and 17th National Convention CP, USA & Introduction March, 1960 LEB.

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I belong to a study group that is dedicated to the preservation of constitutional government. The other night we showed the film entitled "Operation Abolition." As a suggestion for further action, it was mentioned that every effort should be made on our part to show this film in the junior high schools and senior high schools. Than I mentioned that it would be ever so much more effective if in addition to showing the film we could distribute to the students a copy of your report entitled "Communist Target Youth."

b7C

I have written you several times before and have received copies of other pieces of literature that have been most helpful, i.e., Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality, Communism - The Bitter Enemy of Religion, An Analysis of the 17th National Convention of the Communist Party, U.S.A. in addition to Communist Target Youth. I am now asking if these publications are available in quantities, and if so what is the price? There is another report of yours that we need entitled "Pulpits Primary Targets."

If there are any additional reports that you think might be helpful, please advise. Thank you.

Re SAC Letter 59-13 (F), dated March 10, 1959; SAC Letter 60-5 (C), dated January 26, 1960, and mylet to Bureau, February 10, 1961, entitled, "JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC. SM - C". b6 b7C

On February 10, 1961, Mr. [redacted] Electrical Contractor and self-styled anti-Communist, who resides at [redacted] Champaign, Illinois, advised SA [redacted] as follows:

He met WELCH in Chicago, Illinois, at the Senator BARRY GOLDWATER Rally during the summer of 1960. WELCH, who is an ardent supporter of GOLDWATER, helped finance the rally and was one of the speakers. During the fall of 1960, [redacted] received a personal letter from WELCH inviting him to attend a two-day seminar in Chicago to discuss the John Birch Society. [redacted] however, did not attend and has refused to join the Society. He described WELCH as a very intelligent and dedicated anti-Communist but an extremist in his views and public statements. b6 b7C

[redacted] advised that the John Birch Society is active in the Champaign-Urbana area at present as a result of a national campaign during the course of which paid organizers have been hired. He identified the leading figures locally as [redacted] at the University of Illinois, his wife, [redacted] and [redacted] a local attorney in Urbana, Illinois. [redacted] said that [redacted] told him recently that he was devoting himself full time to promoting the Society locally and that he intended to see to it that it became a highly disciplined organization.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of February 4, with enclosures, and appreciate the interest which prompted your communication.

Although I would like to be of service to you, the jurisdiction and responsibilities of the FBI do not extend to furnishing evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I hope you will not infer either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the individuals and organizations named in your letter.

I have always felt the House Committee on Un-American Activities makes a contribution in its public disclosure of the forces that menace America. The American communists have naturally directed their venom at the Committee's efforts in behalf of this Nation. The FBI has, of course, also drawn vehement attacks from this source. The work that the Committee has performed, and is performing, serves as a guide for sincere groups dedicated to the exposure of communist activities.

I can assure you that my associates and I will continue to devote all our energies to meeting our responsibilities connected with the internal security of the United States and will cooperate within our authority with all other Federal agencies having responsibilities in this area.

NOTE: Bufiles show [redacted] called the San Francisco Office on 5-15-60 to protest brutality in the San Francisco demonstrations and asked that the FBI conduct investigation.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches over the various parts of the country. Our field offices have been alerted to watch its activities inasmuch as its head, Robert Welch, indicated at one time that he thought a group having the appearance of a front organization might be effective in attracting true subversives. Welch has bitterly attacked former President Eisenhower's administration in the past in connection with his writings.

Correspondent forwarded an editorial from the Santa Barbara News-Press in which members of the John Birch Society were criticized for their current letter-writing activity aimed at the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren. "Letters to the Editor" of the same newspaper which the correspondent forwarded contained criticism of the John Birch Society and Robert Welch for their attacks on former President Eisenhower and the Supreme Court and described the organization as fascist.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director F.B.I.
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

About two weeks ago Santa Barbara News Press published a comprehensive article on John Birch Society and its spokesman, Mr. Welch. At the same time. the Adult Education is sposoring a series of ten lectures on communism by Dr. Peter Merken, who teaches Political Science at the college in Santa Barbara.

All this started a commotion here and especially after Mr. Welch speach at a meeting which drew 1200 people who paid $1.00 each for admission. The debate between Mr. Welch and Mr. Taft on T.V. added some more fuel to the contraversy and a number of people wrote letters to the editor pro and contra Mr. Welch and John Birch Society. I am enclosing a few clippings as an illustration.

I am very much interested to knoy, and your early reply will be greatly appreciated, regarding this society, Mr. Welch, teaching about communism..

With your permission, may I ask these questions:

1. Is John Birch a subversive and an unamerican organization?
2. Should good, decent americans join and support it?
3. Is Mr. Welch really a good american and are his actions and speaches good for America and the people?
4. Would you call Mr. Welch a fascist?
5. Is John Birch Society a fascist organization?
6. Would you say that some undisclosed people are behind this society?
7. Is it possible that this ϕ is being stirred by communists in order to create disunity among american people? Is is not a fact that communists like to provoke disunity and trouble among people of our countr y?
8. Is it not possible and, perhaps, likely, that communists will create such and organization in order to be able to infiltrate into government and businesses as "good americans"?
9. Do youagree with me that F.B.I. under your leadership is fully capable and is much better qualified to combat communism in this country and that together with C.I.A. under leadership of Mr. Allan Dulles , can do a better job without interference of other organizations?
10. And while on the subject, doe The House Unamerican Activities Committee help or hinder your work and the work of C.I.A?
11. The zionists were accused here of being unamerican and pro communists . Is there any truth in this ?

I want to thank you very much for whatever questions you can answer.

Very respectfully yours,

[redacted]

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Just a few words about myself. I came to this country by my own choice in July 1922 (for which you cannot blame me). I am jewish and has been either a member or in sympathy with the zionist movemenet and the jewish aspirations for a state, especially after Hitler's murdering of six million jews. I was born and lived in Russia until Oct. 1st 1922 when our family left, or shall I say escaped from Leningrad (at that time Petrograd), where I studied law and where my father was imprisoned for being a business man.

I am one of those americans who having a little money did not put "invest" them in stocks in order not to , as I call it, sell american dollar short.

The action of The Ford Motor Company in investing over $300,000,000.00 in England at the time when we are loosing gold so rapidly and when our Government aasked Ford not to transfer so many dollars abroad, in my opinion is certainly unpatriotic , if not unamerican.

I am a man who at the age of 44½ volunteered to serve in the army about six months after we were at war, but was turned down.
I thought that you should know something about me before answering my letter.

ENCLOSURE

Remarks Not Made Audible

Editor, News-Press: The News-Press reported Thursday evening that I "apparently was disagreeing with Dr. Merkl's remarks in his first lecture of January 11" at the last session on Communism at Recreation Center.

This is absolutely correct! I challenged Dr. Merkl on his statements made in his letter to the News-Press wherein he denied that he had said "20 to 30 per cent of the Americans are 'off their rocker' because of their extreme Nationalism." He made several other remarks at this meeting which could be challenged also.

The "loud protests" which your reporter described about my speechmaking are erroneous. The protests were from people who could not hear the remarks and questions I set forth and furthermore, Mr. Selmer Vake, Dr. Merkl's moderator, who in past meetings has shunted aside questions with "We will take them up later!", was not inclined to disclose my remarks and questions over the public address system.

I have no intention of creating a spectacle or starting a disturbance at these meetings, which can be very informative if handled right. However I do dislike to be publicly called a "misquoter" and I accused Dr. Merkl of not telling the truth. I asked him to step to the microphone and deny this but he was not inclined to do so and sat silently in his chair.

It was not in my perogative to ask for the microphone to make myself heard. My questions were directed at Dr. Merkl and if he did not choose to answer them, that is his privilege. And if Selmer Wake did not care to repeat them to the audience, that is also his privilege. This is their "show," not mine!

to detect it, we are unable to do anything to prevent its damage until its too late. That is what is happening to us today with Communism.

We are being influenced in our thinking so subtly that we are not even aware it is happening to us—and when we do become aware of it, it may be too late to do anything to stop Communism from killing our free way of life.

Too many of us think of Communism as a relatively harmless political group who, though they have made mistakes, truly want to live in peace and harmony—and they do—on their terms—under their rule!

Mrs. L. E. Fowler wrote (see News-Press, Jan. 25) that we are distorting the movement of Communism by showing a film "Nightmare in Red" in which just the violence of this group was depicted. Mrs. Fowler goes on to say that if we were to show a movie of the U.S. depicting just the violence of our times we would have the same distorted type of impression. Mrs. Fowler has failed to see that the brutalities presented by this picture of Russia were committed under the direction of one group—the Communists—while the various brutalities that she spoke of in America were committed by various groups (KKK, gangsters, bigots, mobs, etc.). Certainly not under the direction of Democracy. If one truly wants to get an accurate appraisal of Communism then he must be informed of the vicious tactics that Communism uses to enable them to take over the world as is their goal—and he

In reference to Thursday's "Something To Ponder at Length" might I add my queries? Why are they always just out of your size in the shoe style you've chosen from the store window? And if you are over 5 feet tall your knees don't quite merge under the restaurant counter? And how about the fact that the tallest man in town invariably is seated in front of you at the theater? And what size is supposed to fit under a full-sized blanket? To top it all—even if you are lucky enough to be named "U Nu", you can't win because no coupon has ever allowed room for "Santa Barbara". Difference Between Left, Right in U.S.

Editor, News-Press: In a letter which you caption "Kinship of Reactionary Right and Radical Left" your correspondent, Vernon Nash, delineates what he regards as important similarities between leftists and rightists. Some of these similarities may be real in European politics but the scene with which we are concerned is not Europe. In the United States there is a difference between the extreme left and the extreme right so great and so obvious it would seem it could only have been ignored intentionally by a political student as discerning as Mr. Nash.

The extreme left in this country, i.e. the Communists and those who aid and abet them, conspire to overthrow the world's greatest republic, by force and violence if necessary. The extreme right fights for the preservation of our democratic form of government, also by force and violence if necessary.

The middle of the road is a good place to be in normal times and under normal conditions but the times and conditions are not normal. There is a fire on the left side of the street and the conflagration has driven thousands of concerned Americans who used to walk down the middle to the right side where their names may be read on the rolls of those organizations dedicated to preserving American Democracy.

Since the Communist Party is illegal in the United States the names of those who started the fire and now fan the flames are less well known to the reading public. The Reds like it that way.

It Happened To Germany

Editor, News-Press: Thank you for exposing the secretive, anti-democratic group operating in this area under the slogan of fighting Communism.

I can remember only too well the beginning of just such a group in Germany in the early 1920s. In my position as a supervisor in a hydro-electric project in Bavaria, 30 kilometers distance from Hitler's birthplace, Braunau (Austria), I had the opportunity to carry on a conversation with this charlatan, as I analysed him from the very start.

It is very striking to me, what a great similarity prevails between the methods of the Nazis and the present Birch movement. Hitler's speeches to the workers in the camp were not taken very seriously, but considered rather amusing. This was the beginning of one of the great tragic episodes of mankind. Even today I am still unable to conceive how it was possible that the decent and otherwise intelligent German people did not forsee the effect of this mass psychosis. When they finally woke up, it was too late.

Says Critics Uninformed

Editor, News-Press: I am not a member of the John Birch Society although I am well acquainted with the Society and with its intents and purposes, and I would like to state that in my opinion it is an organization any patriotic American would be proud to join. It cannot be denied that Mr. Welch's statement relative to President Eisenhower was most unfortunate as well as unwise. However, any thinking person who takes the time to look into the work of the Society will readily agree that to condemn this organization because of a statement made by an individual is little short of stupidity. One cannot help but wonder if those who have taken such a vitriolic attitude toward the John Birch Society have expended as much effort in alerting the American people to the dangers of the Communist conspiracy. This is precisely what the Society is doing, plus a good deal more, and it is doing it magnificently. To say, as one writer recently wrote, that the News-Press "performed a real service in alerting the community to its dangerous activity" is to smear a group about which this person obviously knows nothing. To what "dangerous activity" is she referring? Anyone who is sincerely concerned over this matter and who will take the time can find out just how "dangerous" these activities are by stopping in at the American Opinion Library, 132 E. Canon Perdido St. Information about the Society is available to all. Facts speak louder than words so in all fairness let's be sure that we get them.

Editor, News-Press: A recent letter to your paper from Mrs. Mildred Waaser asks to what useful purpose may old or discarded Christmas cards be put. To anyone with this problem, may I suggest they be sent to Rev. Peter Caironil Cherukunnu Post Office, Carnanore District, Karala State, India. This is an Indian mission with a constant struggle even to meet the ordinary expenses involved in looking after 400 untouchable orphans. The cards will be reconditioned and sold to help feed the mission's sick and hungry.

Elderly Citizens Should Be Welcomed

Editor, News-Press: One of the important developments of this decade is the rapid growth of co-operative retirement homes for the elderly. Homes large and small are springing up in every state of the Union. They are sponsored by labor unions, lodges, professional groups, churches and others. Many of us have not given this trend much thought because we were not directly affected by it. The movement has however reached such proportions that all of us are aware of it and are anxious to know how it concerns us.

Few locations in the United States offer more natural attraction for these homes than Southern California, and in particular the Santa Barbara area. Some of these homes have already located here and without doubt many others will follow. What shall be our attitude toward these senior citizens who seek to live among us? Shall we be hostile? Neutral? Or shall we welcome and encourage these potential residents? A consideration of some known facts about these elderly citizens will, we believe, lead to the conclusion that they are much to be desired as citizens of our community. As these people live among us they contribute their fair share to the prosperity of the local merchants and many of the community services. Each citizen spends a part of his income for food clothing, drugs, entertainments.

Among the elderly are no criminals. No addition to the local police force is necessary. They do not take employment away from the older residents. They drive comparatively few cars, thus add nothing to the crowded traffic of our streets. There are no children, hence no new schools have to be built with this increase in population. Many of them are of substantial wealth and contribute their fair share of tax money.

In this group of elderly citizens are many men and women of high intelligence, specialized training and wide experience. The cultural average is high. They will add much to the better living of our community. Churches lodges, and many other service groups will benefit by their addition to our community.

Our favored city will be wise to put forth every possible effort to encourage the sponsors of homes for the elderly to consider Santa Barbara as their location. We will indeed be fortunate if we can attract more of these very desirable citizens.

Like Deadly Gas Attack

Editor, News-Press: Perhaps the most pitiful way of being killed is with carbon monoxide gas. Being unable must believe them when they say that they will do anything to reach their goal. We must be on guard at all times, lest we, and our children, be seduced into trusting the Communists and their beliefs.

It is tragic that we must live our lives in suspicion but is that not better than losing them in trust?

Conspirators' Real Purpose

Editor, News-Press: Hearty congratulations on the great public service you have performed in showing up the Robert Welch conspiracy in its true colors. No demagogue who vilifies our Presidents, our Supreme Court Justices and our most prominent Americans is fit to lead a campaign against our Communist enemies and traitors. Especially when his stated idea of a fine government is that of the dictator Trujillo.

Welch and his activists have done our community a great deal of harm. They have spread the whole gamut of Fascist doctrine with insidious Fascist techniques. They demand obedience without questions.

That this should have happened to Santa Barbara, of all places, is like something out of a bad dream — a plot from "Twilight Zone."

These conspirators talk against Communism. Their real purpose is to destroy our free American system. They have infiltrated too far. They should be cleared out of those places where they stand to win iron crosses for disseminating ideologies which have placed too many Americans under wood or stone.

Improve Our Advertising

Editor, News-Press: I hope that the editors got a chance to view California Reports on Channel 4 Sunday afternoon, as it covered the Peace Corps possibilities abroad. It also brought out, not only the disadvantages to this type of proposal, but the fact that as far as out and out advertising of this country goes, the Soviet Union spends 30 dollars to our every one, going through the USIS group. It also brought out the fact that it is shocking to see how many Americans, be they tourists or businessmen or diplomats, know so little about the basic principles and history of their own country, and the lack of sufficient education on this score. Let us hope that this lack can be improved, as recommended by the legislative proposal of the Citizens Committee on Education in this state.

LOCAL OPERATION

'Hothouse' Device Business Formed

Two native sons of Santa Barbara, an insurance agent and a rental agency manager, are turning a pastime of making miniature "hothouses" into a part-time, national mail order business.

Howard A. Gammill, a life insurance agent, and George Williams, manager of a Goleta rental agency, with the help of their wives, Bernice and Marva, have set up a little operation at 33-A La Patera Ln., Goleta.

SLIP STARTER

In a small building the group has set up the assembly and shipping operations for their "Sure/Root" plastic slip starter. Talisman Enterprises, Post Office Box 307, Goleta, as they call their business, is equipped to handle 1,000 units a month.

"Using our Sure/Root slip starter hothouse, you can get practically any cutting to root and grow," Gammill says. "The cuttings are inserted in the upper tray of the slip starter in an expanded mica rooting medium. This can be used inside or out of doors, since the clear plastic cover attracts the sun and makes it sweat, creating an ideal environment. Moisture comes up automatically from the well in the bottom half through a wick."

The device has not failed the pair yet in their experiments during the past few years, Gammill says. After six to eight weeks, they have been able to take the cuttings of almost any plant or flower and make growing plants of them, to be transplanted into pots or the ground.

"This is the most fun and satisfaction that I've had with almost any hobby," Gammill adds. "And George and I have been in amateur theatricals, the Players Club and other activities since the days when we were in school together here."

Recommended Reading for The John Birch Society

Editor's note: This editorial was published Sunday in the Los Angeles Times, the greatest conservative newspaper in the West. The News-Press subscribes completely to the viewpoint expressed.

The Times has received a shower of letters lately demanding the impeachment of the chief justice of the United States. Many of these letters have textual clues to a common source of inspiration, a source which has a high emotional voltage but a very low charge of Constitutional information and plain common sense.

In the first place, an impeachment is not a removal of an officer of the United States; it is the voting of a formal charge against him by the House of Representatives. If such a charge is voted, the Senate, sitting as a sort of jury, hears the case against the accused officer, and votes him guilty or innocent by a simple majority. If the accused is found guilty, he is automatically removed from office.

Now, on what charge would the House hold Chief Justice Warren for trial? The Constitution lists "Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors" as impeachable offenses. Some of the letter-writers mention "treason." They should go to the Constitution and read Section 3 of Article III and learn that treason against the United States is a carefully defined crime which does not encompass the popularity or unpopularity of the opinions of the chief justice or the associate justices.

The fact is that these letter-writers think that impeachment is simply a procedure for getting rid of an official with whom they disagree.

We have not always agreed with the opinions of Chief Justice Warren's Supreme Court. It has split some very fine hairs in matters concerning the liberties of Communist conspirators. Its law has occasionally irritated the eminent doctors of the American Bar Assn. But it does not commit treason or any other high crime or even misdemeanor by disagreeing with some of us. If this were ground for impeachment and conviction we should have been throwing justices out of the court right and left ever since John Marshall disagreed so violently with a great many members of the legislative branch of the government, not to mention a President or two.

The letter-writers ought to know, also, that they do not change a court of nine drastically by getting rid of the chief justice. As the chief he has an unquestioned power of persuasion, but he cannot command the opinions of his eight associates, and very often does not. Chief Justice Warren has on at least one occasion been criticized for a court action in which he did not participate because he had been governor of California when the case originated in this state.

The opinion for which he has been most fanatically criticized (with cries for impeachment) is that in the school desegregation case. He arrived at it with some curious circumlocutions—or so some of the legal experts think—but the point to remember is that his eight associates concurred in it. Any one of the justices would have come to the same conclusion even if he had not followed the chief justice's route.

Do the letter-writers want to impeach the whole court or any specific majority of it for disagreeing with them?

We suggest that they suspend letter-writing for a while and apply themselves to the study of civics. And also to the tolerance of opinions that do not agree with theirs.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

My husband and I are members of the John Birch Society which is under increasing newspaper attacks in the Chicago area and elsewhere.

We have found John Birch members to be loyal, well-informed American citizens who are sacrificing time, money --and in some cases--their jobs, in their fight against communists.

Gentlemen:

A few nights ago, I chanced to attend a meeting of the John Birch Society. I came away not only shocked, but also disgusted at the way that we as patriotic Americans are letting our way of life and democratic goverment be swallowed up by this terrible disease--Communism.

After a few days of some very serious thinking, I for one believe it's time that we rise to cause and start fighting for what we think and know is right.

I would appreciate hearing any comments that the Bureau may be able to furnish me on this John Birch Society. If it is set up for the purpose it's suppose to represent and not that of some communist movement, then I want to do my part and become an active member of the organization. However, I will not make this move until I have had some word from your department on this subject.

Sincerely yours,

NOTE: Bufiles contain no information identifiable with correspondent. It is noted that correspondent mentioned a film "Movement Abolition" which undoubtedly refers to "Operation Abolition." She also made reference to a publication called "Your Opinion," which is probably, "American Opinion," an anticommunist publication distributed by the John Birch Society. She enclosed a clipping of an article by Jack Mabley which appeared in the 1-30-61 issue of the Chicago Daily News, and which was highly critical of the John Birch Society. It is noted that this same article has been brought to the Bureau's attention before. The John Birch Society was organized by Robert Welch in December, 1958, at Indianapolis, Indiana. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches in many parts of the country. Welch was quite critical of former President Eisenhower and his Administration. SAC Letter 60-5 calls this organization to the attention of the field and instructs them that any information on their activities should be reported to the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am confused and I was hoping that you might help me. A few weeks ago my husband and I saw the movie "Movement Abolition". This was the first time that we heard of the John Birch Society and we thought how wonderful to have organizations of this type to fight communism. Since that time I have read many many hearings of the House of Un-American Activities, copies of the Congressional Record put out by the Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation and at least four books besides your own on communism.

But my faith has been shattered. Jack Mabley of the Chicago Daily News has been running articles ridiculing the John Birch Society. One of these articles I have enclosed. It was printed Monday, January 30. How can the John Birch Society be a good organization? Or is it just Mr. Welch?

Then in another publication, I believe it is called "Your Opinion" there was an article against Romulo Betancourt that said he was a communist. In the February Readers' Digest there is an article stating he is one of the worst enemies of communism.

What should we believe? Who should we believe? If you can help me I would sincerely appreciate it.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

The Wrong Way To Fight Reds

Birch Society Is Recruiting

BY JACK MABLEY

THE John Birch Society is going to Chicago area churches chambers of commerce and civic organizations, to recruit members.

"Come, join us in the fight against Communists," members plead.

Jack Mabley's Story

Inasmuch as 99.9999 per cent of us are anti-Communist, they obviously have something to sell. But the conscientious citizens asks, "Is this the best way to fight communism? What is the John Birch Society?"

Since I am asked this often, because I wrote two columns about it last July, I will tell what I know about the society.

Group Founded In Indianapolis

It was founded in Indianapolis in 1958 by a group of businessmen led by Robert Welch, a former candy manufacturer of Boston.

Welch, by his own words, is the absolute boss of the society, which was named after a U.S. Army captain murdered by Chinese Reds.

This organization must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss," says Welch, and he is it.

WELCH HAS written a privately printed book called "The Politician." It was circulated only among the top, trusted leaders of the John Birch Society.

It is impossible for an ordinary member to see a copy of the book, or even get acknowledgment that it exists. I have read it, and will vouch that it exists.

In the book, Welch calls Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and a Communist.

He says that John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Chief Justice Earl Warren and former defense secretary Neil McElroy and most of the leaders of the Eisenhower administration, are or were part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

Some Excerpts From the Book

This is from Welch's book: "While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems ti put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

He says of Mr. Eisenhower: ". . . there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

WE REPRINT these words only because they are totally idiotic and because people who are asked to follow Welch are not aware of what really is in in his mind.

The Communist threat in this country is real enough. The country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the Communist evil.

But the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work.

(Mabley is on WBBM nightly at 8.)

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of February 6 with enclosures and I appreciate your expressions of support for the comments I made in defense of the FBI in my recent letter to the editor of "The Arkansas Democrat." It is my hope that my remarks corrected any false impressions formed by readers of the article which had previously appeared in the newspaper containing completely erroneous information about the responsibility of the FBI and the manner in which we perform our duties.

In view of your concern, I am sending some material regarding the threat of communism which you may find of value.

NOTE: Bufiles contain no derogatory information regarding [redacted] and no record of prior correspondence with him. In an article which appeared in "The Arkansas Democrat" on 12-26 60 Dr. Joseph B. Hunter, Executive Secretary, Arkansas Council of Churches viciously attacked the Director, FBI, House Committee on Un-American Activities and the film, "Operation Abolition," alleging that the FBI and the HCUA had conspired to foment the San Francisco demonstrations in order to obtain the controversial film. He said "After all, the FBI is just a secret police network which infringes on the individual rights of man."

The John Birch Society was founded by Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts, and is allegedly an anticommunist organization. Welch has in the past been critical of President Eisenhower and his administration. We are now making inquiry regarding the group. Mention of the John Birch Society ignored intentionally in this letter.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It was certainly gratifying to read your letter in "Our Reader's Views" column of the Arkansas Democrat in the February 6, 1961 issue. Congratulations on your effective answer. Many of us in this area are grateful to you for taking the time to make this reply.

I feel certain you have heard of The John Birch Society. We have three chapters in Arkansas, one of which is in Little Rock. We are dedicated business men to combat communism. As you know, Mr. Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts is the head of this Society.

Our chapter here was only formed last September but since our membership is growing quickly as well as our activities, I decided to make sure your able and efficient agent in charge in Little Rock, Mr. J. J. Casper, was acquainted with this society. I made an appointment with him about ten days ago and he was very gracious in allowing me sufficient time to bring to his attention the activities of this society.

I am enclosing copies of two or three letters I have written that may be of interest to you. Again thank you very much for your letter to the Arkansas Democrat.

Yours truly,

ARKANSAS GAZETTE 12-31-60.

In Defense of The Family Farm

To the Editor of the Gazette:

We keep reading in the papers, we keep hearing speakers argue about the small farmers should get big, get out or get on relief. The young men and women should go to California. Ma and Pa should move to town and ask for a handout. Before the family splits up and leaves the little farm, they should tear down the barn, burn the smoke house and destroy the family home. Seems the little home places are unsightly. They do something or other to the go-getters' up-and-coming ego.

The argument seems to be that the Arkansas landscape looks better grown up in grave yard grass, persimmon and sassafras sprouts; must be the best thing to do; Any way we Arkansas people are doing it. We lost population during the 1950's. We are losing two more Congressmen. Some cheerful prophet claims we will lose population all the 1960's.

We spend $3,000 sending a boy or girl through high school. Graduation day we tell the graduates goodbye. We tell them we have no jobs for them in Arkansas. We lose our $3,000 investment. We lose nearly all that are smart enough to read a road map.

Not long ago we traveled through the lovely Arkansas hills. Way back over yonder on a side road we met a family. Guess they lived so far back they had not read the papers or heard the up-and-coming speakers.

The little hill and valley farm where they lived was a pretty spot. A sparkling stream meandered across the grass-covered pasture. A small herd of good dairy cattle lazed under the sugar maples. Corn, cotton, soy beans and sorghum cane were contoured around the ridges. The well kept home and farm buildings brightened the countryside.

Two lovely teenage girls were nursemaids to house bulging with Arkansas fryers. A big strapping crooked-nosed young man cleaned the cow barn. We learned that the nose was crooked in an agricultural college football game.

Pa worked the half acre irrigated truck patch. Ma was busy stuffing the deep freeze with fresh garden vegetables. Grandma headed the pretty flower garden.

Grandpa said he had homesteaded the place years ago. He talked while shelling corn for the fattening hogs. He said he had heard the get-big or get-out story years ago. He all but tried it. Said he once had an offer to move to California and punch a time clock, fight traffic, pay rent and eat from tin cans.

We thought grandpa had some pretty good ideas. He said there where small farmers could make a good independent living. Said they could not get filthy rich. Could not make the fight clubs, belong to the country club, drive a Cadillac or wear a tuxedo.

As we drove on down the road we could not think of many people driving up to a time clock in a Cadillac.

Honest John Pride,
Kanis Road.

'Operation Abolition'

To the Editor of the Gazette:

In reference to the debate to which Mrs. Lippman has challenged Dr. J. B. Hunter, through the other L. R. newspaper, I believe the public is entitled to the truth about the San Francisco riot film "Operation Abolition" and the National Council of Churches. A debate should bring forth the truth.

Dr. Hunter is Executive Secretary of the Arkansas Council of Churches which is affiliated with the NCC. Why is it so important to Dr. Hunter that the film not be shown? What does he have to lose if it is shown? If showing the film can in any way aid the fight against Communism, what is wrong with showing it?

I believe Dr. Hunter has been misled by the NCC. It is not conclusive to say that surely the leaders of our top church organization are too smart to be outwitted into lending aid to our enemies. We cannot forget that the astute Secretary of State, Dean Acheson could not believe that his good friend Alger Hiss was an enemy agent. Nor can we forget Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenbergs escaping detection until after their dirty work was accomplished. It is folly to assume that the enemy would not make use of the National Council of Churches if it could do so to accomplish its purposes.

O. D. Hatfield Jr.
Little Rock.

Illiteracy Campaign

To the Editor of the Gazette:

The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce will deserve a vote of thanks from many adults who cannot read or write if the plan is suited for the largest number of viewers.

Most adults with first, second or third grade learning have to be at work between 5 and 6 in the mornings. The families with five or six children to feed and clothe can't miss an hour of work every day just to get a little education.

I wonder if the persons involved in this program know about the conditions and needs of the poor class of working people.

The 96-film series for so-called functional illiterates in my opinion might be a big disappointment. If the film is shown about 7 in the morning it will be seen by perhaps one-fourth of the people who need the learning.

What can be done to help the thousands who can't see the program? Perhaps a survey on how many could view the film in the mornings or perhaps at night.

I sincerely hope that this problem is understood and can be worked out. The state of Arkansas owes this much to its people.

The poor class of people pay taxes and revenue just as the rich do and I think that when educational learning is to be had the poor class of people should have access to it.

Peggy Davis.
Little Rock.

Arkadelphia

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Recently one of Arkansas's two big Sunday papers carried a statement that Arkansas's "Arkadelphia" is the "only one in the world." However, the current U. S. Official Postal Guide shows another village of that name in Cullman County, Ala., having some three hundred population.

Dear Senator Fulbright:

I am grateful to you for taking the time to write your letter of December 1 in reply to my letters of November 18 and 21. Almost daily I have planned to reply concerning the question of admitting Red China to the United Nations but I desired to have additional information so as to understand your statement "that Red China's admission to the United Nations is probably inevitable."

I have been meeting with a group of citizens of this county twice each month for discussion on the advances accomplished by Communists. From these discussions we conclude that Russia must gain control of the United Nations to "take over" the United States. We have observed that the vote tabulations on controversies before the United Nations shows a gain for the Russian position.

We do not think, and we are certain you will agree, there is no doubt that Red China, if admitted, would vote with Russia. So, we further conclude that to admit Red China would give Russia additional strength in the United Nations, therefore, we violently object to Red China's admission to the United Nations.

You may be interested to know that our group consists of over thirty persons and the foregoing conclusions are unanimous.

I am sure you are personally acquainted with many of our members. They are not all wealthy and they are not all poor. Most of them own their own businesses, one with employees totaling 131. One person probably has no financial statement at all. Another is worth over four million dollars. So, you see, I feel this is a rather good cross section of public opinion.

We have arranged for the showing of "Communism on the Map" to over 5,000 people in Pulaski County. A tremendous interest has arisen and is spreading in this area to move forward quickly to stop socialistic and communistic trends. There is an element of conservatism arising in this county and I believe in many other counties. Only last Sunday I attended an Executive Committee Meeting of the American Legion composed of approximately twenty persons and when a discussion on communism began everyone wanted the floor at once to tell how violently he was opposed to this trend and what he thought the American Legion should do about it.

As you know from reading our newspapers the American Legion has shown the film "Operation Abolition" many many times. Only two people have objected to the film being shown. Yet the newspapers have proclaimed it controversial. Of course, this makes good "news" but it has helped interest the public in seeing the film.

Back to the rise of conservatism, I predict that this trend is going to sweep the country but Arkansas will be among the first. There are similar study groups in Benton and Searcy; one is being formed now in Hot Springs and Fort Smith. Waves of conservatives are going to splash the polls in Arkansas so fast and so strong that no person will stand against it.

Among these conservatives there is no segregation issue. It has been replaced with a dedicated interest in fighting socialism and communism. You may feel that I am speaking the words of only one person, but I know you will recognize from the letterhead that I am connected with a state-wide organization. A major portion of my duties consists of traveling Arkansas and corresponding with people throughout the state. In this way I am able to keep in touch with their thinking.

Enclosed is a list of the "Enemy's Program for 1961." Please note particularly number seven. I feel certain you did not intend to leave the impression that Red China should be admitted to the United Nations now merely because you thought it was inevitable that she would be admitted, because I know that you make decisions based upon facts and sound reasoning. You have an enviable record as a scholar and a statesman and you just do not form opinions based on such flimsy reasoning. My greatest hope is that you have the benefit of your constituents thinking back home. I realize that as Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee you are charged with a responsibility to the United States as a whole and that there is considerable pressure from many quarters. But, there are decisions you must make affecting our freedom and freedom should take priority over all pressures from liberals and socialists. Regardless of responsibilities to the full nation the people of Arkansas can continue you in your Chairmanship or they can revoke it.

We think it is time that our representatives in Congress begin to stand up and be counted instead of being swept down stream just to keep in good standing with some of the liberals.

I wish to belatedly convey my admiration for the tremendous sacrifice you made on several occasions in connection with civil rights legislation. Of these sacrifices, I particularly commend you for participating in the filibuster which was undoubtedly arduous.

Please accept my apologies for writing such a long letter, but I cannot think of anything that could be omitted. I recognize that you have far more things to study and read than you can possibly cover but please let me ask one question. Do you consider our views right or wrong and if wrong, please tell us why.

Respectfully yours,

P. S. I have just read a news item in today's issue of the Arkansas Gazette in the upper right hand corner of page 7A which states you favor repeal of the "Connally Amendment." I can hardly believe this is true. We think to repeal the Connally Amendment would be just as disastrous as to admit Red China, or more so.

January 27, 1961.

Mr. J. N. Heiskell
%Arkansas Gazette
3rd and Louisiana St.
Little Rock, Ark.

Dear Mr. Heiskell,

Your twisted editorial entitled "The Principle Supporting Hunter and Rozzell" on Jan. 25th completely missed the issue. The issue is not freedom of speech. No one I know has said Hunter and Rozzell had no freedom to speak. They were not arrested for having spoken.

Here is the issue: Just because someone disagrees with ones views on patriotic matters is no sign he is a communist. However, if your neighbor plows the ground, sows seeds, harvests and sells his crop, attends farmers' meetings, talks farming, walks and dresses like a farmer and opposes legislation designed to hurt the farmers, then, if he is not a farmer, WHAT IS HE?

Likewise, if someone hob-nobs with Communist fellow-travelers (Oxnam, Sockman and Dahlberg of the National Council of Churches), attends their meetings, talks their language, encourages aid to their cause, denounces American traditions, follows the plan of the party, opposes legislation designed to curb their activities and objects to films designed to awaken Americans to the threat of communism, if he is not a communist fellow traveler, WHAT IS HE?

Plans for the socialization of America were laid long ago, probably before you were born. These plans call for the take over thru 4 main channels, religion, government, labor organizations and education. Success has exceeded all expectations.

You call Congressman Alford's proposals insufferable, but you have not investigated the persons objecting and probably not even seen the film. You are the one who is insufferable. Although you probably did not actually write the editorial, I know none are published without crossing your desk, so you are just as guilty.

One of your poor, downtrodden abused lads said, and you printed it in your newspaper on Dec. 21, 1960, that he had spent a week in New Jersey last summer with the American Friends Service Committee. I bet you have not even taken the time to investigate that organization. Earlier it was labeled subversive, then the label was removed and now it is under investigation again. There is additional activities of this organization that would knock your eyes out, but I am pledged not to reveal them.

As to your other so clean, lilly-white Gazette-protected lad, you are really stooping below sea level to defend him. Another L. R. newspaper published his 3 "front" connections on or about Jan. 4, 1961, but there are more. He admits his views on "Operation Abolition" are based on what he heard at a meeting of the N. C. C. in Dec., 1960 at San Francisco. In 1960 the President of NCC was Edwin T. Dahlberg. Other NCC big wigs are Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam and Ralph W. Sockman.

Dahlberg was one of the petitioners on behalf of the Rosenbergs and Morton Sobell and if you agree with the views and activities of those dark reds, you are red yourself. Sockman has twenty affiliations with organizations which promote the Communist line, Dahlberg has 21 and Oxnam, bless his heart, has 45. Now what do you think of the 4th paragraph of this letter.

So, you see, you should have obtained some facts before you made a weak half-hearted defense of the National Council of Churches. Things are not always what they seem. Why don't you get the facts before you write an editorial like that with slanted and damaging remarks about a man much better educated and a much more dedicated American than you.

And another thing, you criticize others on matters concerning the film, but you have not had the guts to take a stand on it. Why don't you come forth and state that the film should not be shown, if that is what you think? I suggest you see it first, however.

You do not have the loyalty and courage your son, Carrick had. If he was here now, and knew what you were doing, he would take the pink out of your collar and quick, because he was 100% American.

I am not requesting you publish this letter because I do not think you have the courage. If you do publish it, I don't think you will publish it in full. If you do publish it in full, I think you will add an editor's note. If you do publish it in full and add an editor's note, I think you will twist the facts again and fail to face the "real" issue. Your Heiskellism makes me sick.

I have had my name in the paper before and I have no desire to have it published again, so if you do hage the guts to publish this, aign it ANTI-HEISKELL.

Perhaps I have been too mean. If mso, I am sorry. But, I firmly believe no one else has heretofore dared "tell you off" either by personal letter or in person.

If I have accomplished nothing more than to awaken you, it will be a valuable contribution to freedom. Millions of other U. S. citizens also need to be awakened. As the owner of a newspaper, why not help awaken them? It would surely put a star in your crown with Him who shall have all the Glory.

Happy New Year to All

Another year is behind us, we have welcomed in a new one. And the praise and dispraise of old 1960 might be summed up with this quotation:

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was a season of light, it was a winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going to Heaven, we were all going the other way."

That isn't quoted from anybody now living. It was written by Charles Dickens of the year 1775, as the first paragraph of his "Tale of Two Cities."

There has never been agreement on whether any year, any time, was good or bad. In the gaudiest booms not everybody prospered. For some, business was only fair, or poor. Some had reverses and misfortunes.

That was true for 1960. The over-all nation-wide picture has been a bustling scene of high employment, production, earnings and trade. But there also have been unemployment, lags in farming and dull spots in some industries and businesses.

These adverse factors became more pronounced in the latter months of the year.

Generally, Arkansas, like the nation, has had a good year. Our farm income, though below that of 1959, is at a healthy high. Employment continued through most of the year its upward swing from the 1958 national slump. We've notched up an array of new industries and expansions in plants we had.

Our state economy, in spite of sore spots, is vigorous and sound. Since that is also true nationally, Arkansas can look forward hopefully to 1961.

A huge amount of new strength has been built into Arkansas and the nation's economy in the past 15 years, with greater productive capacity, skills and wealth. And for generations Americans have proved the winning qualities of resourcefulness and optimism.

We can step with a confident stride into 1961.

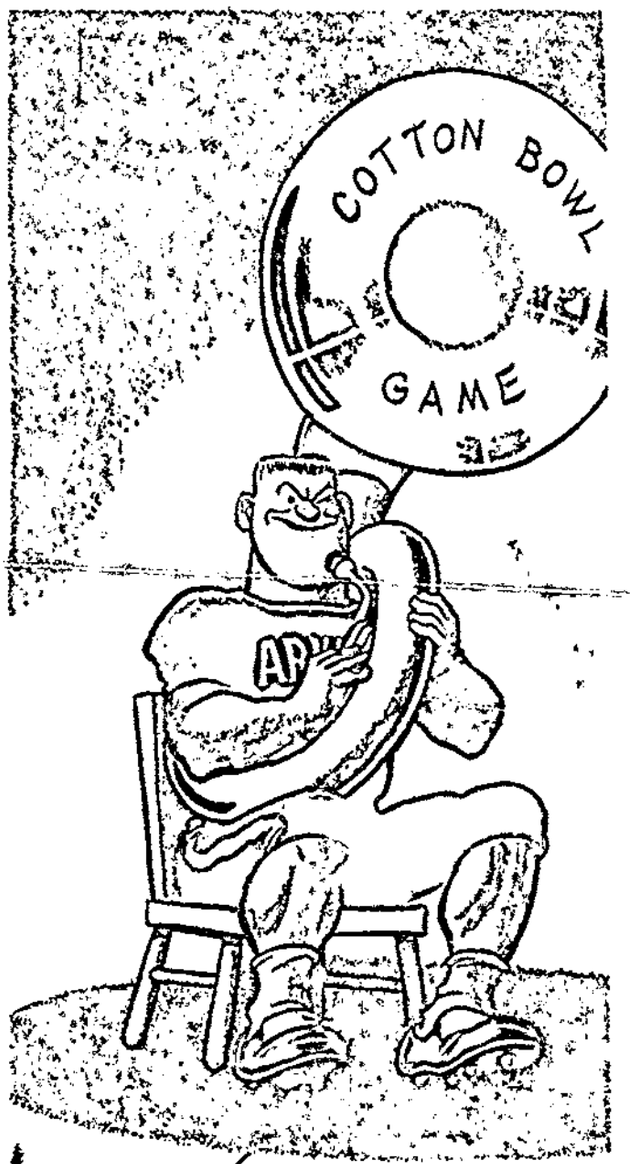
Progress to an Exciting Goal

Take a look with your imagination at the Arkansas River as it will be when the Army Engineers have transformed it from a menace of destructive floods to an asset. The whole character of the river will be changed.

It will be a series of lakes, bluish in color, its floods controlled, its banks stable, a highway for barges, an attractive site for industries, with enlivened cities along its banks and a playground for boating and fishing.

This shape of pleasant things to come was given clearer form in the Democrat last week, with a summary of the work done as reported by the Army Engineers. Of particular interest was the progress noted on the Keystone Dam and Reservoir above Tulsa, the Eufaula Dam and Reservoir on the Canadian River in Oklahoma and the Dardanelle Lock and Dam in Arkansas. For these projects are key features.

That was brought out in a talk at Pine Bluff in August 1959 by Brig. Gen. William Whipple of the Army Engineers' Southwestern Division. Briefly, he said:



The Keystone and Eufaula reservoirs are critically important. For while they will control only one-third of the river flow above Dardanelle, they will control three-quarters of the river's vast load of sediment.

And these reservoirs must be completed, to cut off the fouling sediment carried downstream before the Dardanelle dam can be closed along with other dams on the lower flow of the river.

The Army Engineers' report showed that the Keystone work is 29 per cent done, and the Eufaula project is 21 per cent completed. The Dardanelle Lock and Dam is further behind—12 per cent of the work done.

There were other cheering items. This great boon for Arkansas is in sight, yet still in the initial stages. Earnest, enthusiastic public support is needed to hasten the great day when the task will be finished.

Let's Start Off the Year on a Big Note

Our Readers' Vie

(To our readers: This is your column. You are invited to use it as an open forum for discussing matters of general interest. You may use a pen name or initials if you wish, but we must have your name and address as warrant of good faith.—The Editor.)

Urges a Debate

Dear Editor: Dedicated Americanists (anti-Communists) are enthused about the awakening of the complacents of the San Francisco riot film, "Operation Abolition." Yet Dr. J. B. Hunter opposes the film being shown.

Dr. Hunter is executive secretary of the Arkansas Council of Churches which is affiliated with the National Council of Churches.

If I were a Communist, one of the vehicles I would use to impose my will on the American people would be through a national church organization.

At a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, November 1958, the Fifth World Order Study Conference of the National Council of Churches adopted a resolution in favor of the recognition of Red China and her seating in the United Nations. Apparently, this vote was railroaded, because a later poll of 50,000 ministers throughout America revealed that 80 per cent of them were opposed to any such recognition.

At a meeting of the National Council of Churches in December at San Francisco, a speaker criticized the film unfavorably. The Washington Post, in an editorial criticized the film unfavorably. Everybody knows where the Washington Post stands, and it isn't for conservatism.

Mrs. Alfred Lippman Jr. has challenged Dr Hunter to a debate. Let us have the debate, please, have it open to the public and let us find out through Dr. Hunter where our Arkansas Council of Churches stands. It may be that the state organization should discontinue its affiliation with the national.

If the Arkansas council is run by the national, then maybe the Arkansas council should be investigated. I know of two specific churches that have already dropped membership in the Arkansas Council of Churches.

O. D. HADFIELD JR.
Little Rock.

Un-American Activities

Dear Editor. Just what is so terrible about the Un-American Activities Committee? Why should it be abolished as some liberals are advocating?

If the House committee has acted unfairly that can be corrected. Members of committees of Congress are subject to congressional censure. That is the way to make the members of the committee hew the line.

Regardless of what we might

They Say Today:

"If I were a Communist, one of the vehicles I would use to impose my will on the American people would be through a national church organization." (O. D. Hadfield Jr.)

"Members of committees of Congress are subject to congressional censure." (G. W. J.)

Our Readers' Views

Answerable at All Times

Dear Editor: I have just had the opportunity to read the article entitled "House Committee, FBI Blasted for 'Propaganda'" which appeared in the Dec. 23, 1960, issue of your paper.

Anyone who would accept that the FBI and the House Committee on Un-American Activities is together and subpoenaed a group of persons, hired a film company and then went out to Hollywood to make a propaganda movie in an effort to help the HCUA get their financial appropriations" is guilty of creating fabrications fabricated. The FBI, as the investigative arm of the Department of Justice, is in the executive branch of the government; and our operations have no connection whatsoever with those of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is a part of the legislative branch. The film, "Operation Abolition," was sponsored and distributed by the legislative committee, and the FBI was not involved in any way in its preparation.

The record of the Bureau as a fact-finding investigative agency will also be a matter

They Say Today:

"Every agent in the FBI is completely dedicated to protecting and preserving these rights and privileges granted under the Bill of Rights." (J. Edgar Hoover)

"We (the States Rights Party) respect one religion as much as the other." (Chas. P. L. Bishop) of individual rights speaks clearly for itself. The FBI is answerable at all times to the Attorney General and to the courts, the Congress and the people of the United States. Year after year, convictions are returned against approximately 97 per cent of the persons who are brought to trial in FBI cases.

The man quoted in your article, however, charges "the FBI is just a secret police network which infringes on the individual rights of man." That is base deceit. Every agent in the FBI is completely dedicated to protecting and preserving those rights and privileges granted under the Bill of Rights.

This same individual is quoted in the article as feeling that communism is not a threat to the United States. In this statement he betrays an abysmal blindness toward the true danger of communism — a type of blindness which makes the FBI's work in protecting America's internal security infinitely more difficult.

Balanced against the false claims of misinformed persons, as well as the Communists and their dupes and sympathizers, are these irrefutable facts: (1) the Communist Party, USA, contains the largest subversive organization in the United States; (2) the Communist Party now, as in the past, is an integral arm of the international Marxist conspiracy; (3) the Communist Party's reins never have been in the hands of more ardently pro-Soviet elements than they are today — in fact, the party's top national leader, Gus Hall, is a Moscow-trained convict.

J. EDGAR HOOVER,
Washington, D.C.

States Rights Party

Dear Editor: In answer to your article in the Jan. 21 Democrat about the Thunderbolt, a newspaper of the National States Rights Party being distributed to the Senate and House, I want to thank you for not calling the Thunderbolt a hate sheet. The Thunderbolt only stated facts.

The first step to take should be the abolition of all forms of anti-Semitism. It must be made plain that we are not anti-Semitic.

We are not anti-Semitic in the religious sense of the word either. We respect one religion as much as the other.

We are for states rights. We are fighting for the preservation of our constitutional government and state sovereignty.

REV. C. L. BISHOP,
Little Rock.

President Kennedy's word to his "team" is "giddap!"

The Principle Supporting Hunter and Rozzell

IT IS EASY to understand why the executive committee of the Little Rock Ministerial Association has moved to the public defense of Dr. Joseph B. Hunter, the minister who incurred the wrath of some professional anti-Communists when he dared to criticize the Operation Abolition movie.

The committee apparently has passed no judgment on the film itself, and neither, incidentally, have we. But the proposal made by Congressman Alford, that Dr. Hunter be questioned by the House Committee on UnAmerican Activities, was truly insufferable in its threat to freedom of speech.

Ministers, as men whose calling makes them more than ordinarily sensitive to injustice, could hardly fail to react against the Alford idea.

The committee, moreover, could not have been oblivious to the continuing effort which has been made in recent years to razzle the clergy by casting doubt on the clergy's judgment and loyalty. This sinister movement has been directed, first of all, at the National Council of Churches. Only last year a diatribe against the Council written by a Tulsa evangelist was incorporated, incredibly, in an Air Force training manual. Across the country, ministers have come to recognize that the pulpit is a prime target of the enemies of free speech.

WE WOULD commend the Little Rock Ministerial Association for its recognition of the main issue in the controversy swirling around the movie. Individual rights have been assailed in the Hunter case, and in a similar attempt to vacillate against Forrest Rozzell, the educator who as a citizen opposed feeding he said the film employed.

The move against Rozzell is equally benighted. Delegates to an American Legion district meeting at Hot Springs called for an investigation of Mr. Rozzell's opposition to the film and for his removal as head of the Arkansas Education Association. The proposed investigation would seem superfluous if Mr. Rozzell were scheduled, as the Legion district proposed, to be removed anyway. In any event the effort to purge Rozzell is one of those actions that do the Legion no credit but which, alas, have not been uncommon in the record of Legion units about the country.

It was encouraging to note that Robert L. Parson, a Legion Post commander here, protested the move against Rozzell. Even so, the protest was muted by the announcement at the State Legion headquarters that Mr. Parson spoke only for himself.

Mr. Rozzell is perfectly entitled to hold his views on the Operation Abolition film and to express them when he sees fit. We trust the AEA will be as stalwart in its support of Mr. Rozzell as the Ministerial Association has been in its support of Dr. Hunter. The issue is precisely the same

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I Have been approached concerning membership in the John Birch Society, headed by Mr. Robert Welch, with headquarters at Belmont, Mass.

From what I have learned from some of the local members and from reading some of the Society's literature, they seem to be a sincere group which is dedicated to fighting communism and encouraging constitutional government in the United States. However, I would appreciate receiving your opinion of this organization before I enter wholeheartedly in their effort.

May I also say that I am now in the process of reading your book "Masters of Deceit". I wish that this book could be assigned as required reading for every high school and college student in our beloved nation, and even more ideally, in every nation.

Dear Sir:

A movie concerning Communism in the United States is currently being shown in this area. I do not know the name of it but have been advised that it is connected with the "John Birch Society" and a man named Robert Welch.

I would appreciate receiving any information concerning both the John Birch Society and Robert Welch that would help me in determining if they are bona fide crusaders against Communism in our Country - or alarmists - or just what.

As a born-again-Christian, I cannot afford to be apathetic about such things; but ignorance certainly would appear to be apathy to an outsider.

I am also interested in knowing where I can get a copy of your book "Masters of Deceit" as I understand it has been taken off the book-stands.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have recently come in contact with a John Birch Society, founded by Mr. Robert Welch, with headquarters in Belmont, Mass. The stated purpose of thos organization is to carry on a militant fight against communism. Many of the aspects of this group fit perfectly characteristics of communist front organizations as stated in your book, "Masters of Deceit". Could you tell me if this group has been investigatd and what information your files may contain on the John Birch Society.

I am particularly interested in any information you may have bearing on the Society's finances. It seems to me that their membership fees and book-selling efforts must create a very sizable income. I have not heard of any open efforts made that could explain how this money is used.

If it is a legitimate organization, I am very much in sympathy with their avowed purposes and would like to be active in their efforts. If any doubts exist about this group I would appreciate your recommendation of any other group that deserves support in the fight against communism.

NOTE ON YELLOW:

Correspondent has become concerned with American reaction to the threat of communism and requests answers to a number of questions. She refers to the fact that the Methodist Federation for Social Action has been cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a communist activity and inquires why this has not been made public in every Methodist church. She states Francis J. McConnell and G. Bromley Oxnam have allegedly been associated with communist front organizations and asks if they are today members of communist fronts. She also requests to be advised if there are any communists in the National Council of the Churches of Christ and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and whether there are any Federal laws prohibiting out-of-state persons from coming into a state to stir up trouble. She also inquires if the John Birch Society has the blessings of the FBI, will the FBI one day have the "go-ahead" to round up all communists, and whether anything can be done about the communists as long as there are laws to protect them. Bufiles contain no identifiable data concerning the correspondent.

In view of the broad nature of her numerous requests, it is believed the above reply will best serve the interests of the Bureau.

Bufiles reveal that both Bishop Francis J. McConnell and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Methodist Church have in the past been associated with a number of communist front organizations. They have not been investigated by the Bureau. (62-101302, 100-49640)

The National Council of the Churches of Christ has not been investigated by the Bureau. We have kept abreast of the efforts of the Communist Party to infiltrate it through our over-all investigations of the Communist Party, USA. It does not appear that the policies of this organization are being dictated by the Communist Party. (100-50869)

The communist infiltration of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is the subject of a current Bureau investigation.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anti-communist organization with chapters throughout the country and has not been investigated by the Bureau. It has in the past been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower.

The following items of literature were furnished to the correspondent:

1. "One Nation's Response to Communism."
2. "What You Can do to Fight Communism and Preserve America."
3. "The Communists Are After Our Minds."
4. "Red Goals and Christian Ideals."
5. "Communism: The Bitter Enemy of Religion."
6. "God and Country or Communism?"

John Birch Society

Dear Sir:

I first became interested in communism in 1947 when an astute history professor at Duke University required that his students learn The Communist Manifesto frontwards, backwards, and inside out. He insisted that perhaps in his life time and most certainly in ours, that America would find herself in a life and death struggle with the men who have dedicated themselves to the task of transforming the words of the Manifesto into deeds. I don't suppose any of us at the time realized the truth of which he spoke but he made history, past, present, and future a fascinating experience for all.

I have been deeply concerned with the Ammerican re-action to the threat of communism and since I have been teaching an adult Methodist Sunday School class that concern has turned into sheer alarm and frustration. The in - filtration of communist doctrine into the churches of our country is appalling.

Can you help me find the answers to the following questions ? Any help that you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

1. According to the Congressional Committee on Un -American Activities the Methodist Federation for Social Action is " among the more conspicuous front for Communist activity in the field of relief,assistance,and welfare work .. A statement in their Social Service Bulletin No. 8,1932 admits cooperation with the Communists." If this is so why has it not been made public in every Methodist Church in America ? Methodist ministers claim there is nothing to it - yet our literature is filled with left-wing propaganda week after week.

2. Francis J. McConnell with 27 past communist affiliations and G. Bromley Oxnam with 11 past communist affiliations have tremenduous influence through the National Council of Churches and through our Methodist literature. (there are many others also) They are too intelligent to be just tools in the hands of the Communists. Are they today members of Communist Fronts ?

3. The National Council of Churches is one of the most un-democratic organizations in the world. No church member (with the exception of the Baptists) is asked if he wants to join. The hierarchy of the church joins for him and then he foots the bill. Are there any known Communists in the N.C.C. ? Here is one Methodist they don't represent.

EX-114 REC-69 FEB 20 1961

4. I am a native of Ohio and since moving to S.C. in 1944 I have found the integration problem to be much more complex than just [redacted]m of one or two children going to a certain school. I'm sure the Communists have taken advantage of the situation to aggravate racial strife. Are there any known

CORRESPONDENCE

Communists in the NAACP ? Or are they too smart to let them carry cards ?

5. Is there no federal law which pro-hibits out of state people from coming into a state and deliberately stirring up trouble? Nearly 100 % of the present chaos is started by non residents of the state.It would be far better if they would clean up their own back yards . .

6. Does the John Birch Society have the blessings of the FBI in its work?

7. Is there any hope that one day the government will give the FBI the go-ahead to round up all card carrying Communists and deal with them as the traitors which they are ?

8.Is there really any thing that can be done as long as there are laws to protect the enemy and further their cause?

As I see it, the Communists have eaten through the soft part of the apple and are now gnawing at the very core - the faith this country was founded upon and the faith that has enabled men to give their lives that America might stay free. The N.C.C., preachers, and teachers are sowing the seeds of doubt about the Christian Faith. They have re-written the Bible to suit their needs and are advocating one world with a universal religion that will make " wide the gate and broad the way" to everlasting life. I wonder if any of them have read the Book of John lately. " And ye shall know the truth,and the truth shall make you free. ...I am the way, the truth and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

I almost forgot Jesus was only a poor teacher and the Book of John wasn't written by John anyhow. Or was it ?

May God bless you and all who seek the truth with you.

Sincerely,

Mrs. [redacted]

NOTE: Correspondent is not identifiable in Bufiles. The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches over the various parts of the country. Our field offices have been alerted to watch its activities inasmuch as its head, Robert Welch, indicated at one time that he thought a group having the appearance of a front organization might be effective in attracting true subversives. Welch has, in the past, also attacked President Eisenhower and his Administration in his writings.

Dear Sir:

My colleague and I have been exposed to the problem of the Communist infiltration in this country. The problem is: how to combat this organization.

I expressed a desire to join an Anti-Communist organization. To this, my colleague answered as follows:

"Which organization?"
"Is the one you choose reputable?"
(My reference was to the John Birch Society)
"Why isn't there advertising of this organization on radio, newspapers, and T.V.?"
"Is it advisable to have people attend these meetings on a membership-only basis?"

Explanation: A person cannot attend these meetings without being accompanied by a member of the society.

We would appreciate your personal comment (along with any other information) on this organization at your earliest convenience.

Yours truly,

Rebuairtel to Boston dated 2/8/61.

Enclosed are five copies of a letterhead memorandum entitled "The John Birch Society, Inc." and five copies of a letterhead memorandum entitled "American Opinion," a publication of Robert Welch, Inc., for possible dissemination by the Bureau. No dissemination is being made locally, by the Boston Office.

The investigation was conducted by SA DARREL B. CURRIE at Boston and Belmont, Mass. on 2/10, 14 and 15/61.

The source who furnished information on 2/14/61 was ARTHUR FLYNN, Postmaster, Belmont, Mass.

As pointed out in Boslet to the Bureau dated 9/2/59 captioned "ROBERT H. W. WELCH, INC., INFORMATION CONCERNING, INTERNAL SECURITY," HERBERT A. PHILBRICK had stated that he was a "home" member of the John Birch Society. A separate lead is being set out to contact PHILBRICK at Rye Beach, N. H. for any current information regarding the number of John Birch chapters now functioning, and for any other pertinent data concerning this matter. The Bureau will be advised concerning this at a later date as PHILBRICK is currently on a speaking engagement on the West Coast.

Files of the Boston Office contained background information on only two of the Incorporators of "The John Birch Society; Inc.," namely, ROBERT W. WELCH, JR. and ELLEN DOUGLAS (GHOKER) SNOW. The information on WELCH has been set forth in the letterhead. It is to be noted that records at the Credit Bureau of Greater Boston, Inc.,

This is a Massachusetts corporation formed January 13, 1956. Authorized capital 1,000 shares of preferred stock and 5,000 shares of common stock. At incorporation date there were 1,003 shares of the common stock issued, of which 1,001 shares were held by Robert Welch, President and Treasurer.

Robert H. Welch, Jr. was born in North Carolina in 1899 and is married. He is Vice President of James O. Welch Co., Inc., Candy Manufacturers, Cambridge, Massachusetts. He was actively engaged in that corporation from 1935 and continues to be active in an advisory capacity. In a financial statement of June 30, 1957 the corporation showed a tangible net worth of $1,951,936 and a good financial condition. Welch is also an officer of five corporations affiliated with James O. Welch Co., Inc., which corporations act as sales organizations for the manufacturing concern. At the present time Welch devotes nearly all his time to the subject business.

Miss Lovett is employed here as Editor and Secretary.

Mrs. Snow, a housewife, also assists on a part time basis.

The periodical published by the subject was originally called "One Man's Opinion." However, the name of the publication was changed in February, 1958 to "American Opinion."

Operation - Location

Publishes the "American Opinion" and is an anti-communistic periodical. Annual subscriptions are sold at the rate of $5 per year to individuals in the United States and abroad. There are 11 issues published annually. The only advertising solicited is from book and magazine publishers. Two regular employees. The actual printing is done by others.

Headquarters located on the first floor of this modern two-storied concrete block and brick office building located on a main thoroughfare, commercial section.

Financial Information

On March 24, 1959 Robert H. Welch, Jr. declined a financial statement. He did say that the corporation had sufficient funds available to meet its trade obligations and other operating expenses.

"AMERICAN OPINION"

No volume figures were given but there are estimated to be between 5,000 and 6,000 subscribers to this publication with the annual volume probably $25,000 or better.

The extent of the capital investment and the overall condition could not be definitely determined. Operations are believed to be breaking even at best with the corporation being financed by advances from Welch. He is considered to be of independent means.

The following is from a Dun and Bradstreet report dated September 26, 1960:

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

On December 21, 1959, Mr. Robert W. Welch, Jr. stated that there were chapters of the John Birch Society in 15 different states.

G. BACKGROUND DATA CONCERNING INCORPORATORS

The following information concerns Robert W. Welch, Jr.

Records of the Harvard Law School, Alumni Records Office, Cambridge, Massachusetts, reflect that Robert H. W. Welch, Jr. was at Harvard Law School from 1919 to 1921 and received no degree. He received his A. B. degree from the University of North Carolina in 1916 and, as of both 1948 and 1953, was Vice President in charge of Sales and Advertising for the James O. Welch Company, Candy Manufacturers, 810 Main Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The 35th Reunion Report of the Harvard Law School, Class of 1922, published in 1957, in addition to information set out above, reflects that he married Marian Frobert in 1922 and had two sons, [redacted] and [redacted] It also showed that he was in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland during World War I and during World War II was on the Advisory Commission of the Office of Price Administration. In addition, from 1951 to 1954, he was a member of the Belmont, Massachusetts School Committee and had served as a Director of several small businesses and one bank. From 1951 to 1957, he was a Director of the National Association of Manufacturers, being its Vice President from 1955 to 1957. The report listed two publications by Mr. Welch: "May God Forgive Us" (1952) and "Life of John Birch" (1954).

Volume 4 of "Who's Who in New England," dated 1948, sets forth the following additional information:

Mr. Welch was born in Edenton, North Carolina, December 1, 1899. He was a founder of the Oxford Candy Company in 1922 and its Sales Manager in 1935. From 1940 to the time of publication, he had been Vice President and Director of Sales and Advertising of the James O. Welch Company, Cambridge, Massachusetts. As of the date of publication, he is shown as a member of the Board of Directors of Robert Welch Publishing Company; Chairman of the Board of the Washington Commission of the National Association of Candy Manufacturers; a member of the Board of Directors of the United Prison Association, and during World War II was a member of the Office of Price Administration Committee for the candy industry. He is shown to be the recipient of the Kettle Award by the candy industry in 1947 and a member of the Massachusetts Chess Federation (Board of Directors, 1940-1944).

Mr. Welch is shown as a Republican and lists his clubs as: Harvard (Boston and New York), Skating (Boston), Oakley Country (Board of Directors). He is author of "Road to Salesmanship" (1941) and has contributed articles to business publications. He is further shown as a public speaker on business, economic and social conditions. His home address is shown as 43 Fletcher Road, Belmont, Massachusetts, and his office as 810 Main Street, Cambridge 39, Massachusetts.

Personnel at the office of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Probation, Suffolk County Courthouse, Boston, Massachusetts, a central repository for criminal and traffic conviction records within the Commonwealth, advised that they were unable to locate any records identifiable with the names of the Incorporators.

Personnel at the Credit Bureau of Greater Boston, Inc. advised that they were unable to locate any record for the following Incorporators:

Marian Frobert Welch

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter dated February 10, 1961, has been received.

Although I would like to be of service, the functions and responsibilities of the FBI as a Federal investigative agency do not extend to furnishing evaluations or drawing conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication, or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you, and I hope you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I do feel strongly that citizens can be of aid to their country in combating communism if they alert themselves to its exact nature and prevalence in our society today. I am enclosing publications which offer my suggestions as to how we all can take effective action in this regard. I am unable to further advise you along the lines you mentioned.

With reference to the question you raised concerning chain letters, it is suggested that you may wish to correspond with the Inspector General, Post Office Department, Pennsylvania Avenue between Twelfth and Thirteenth Streets, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

No doubt you are acquainted with the John Birch Society of Belmont, Massachusetts. This group makes sober statements concerning communist infiltration into our government and suggests that Moscow itself has been directing much of our policy through her agents. I think especially of the January 1960 booklet, entitled, "May God Forgive Us!" In this the policies of Dean Acheson, among others, are portrayed as sympathetic toward Russia.

Would your findings lead you to believe that infiltration has been that successful? If so, do you believe that an informed public exerting pressure could remedy the situation?

I would also appreciate your advice on my plan of action. Together with a group which I hope to influence, I would request editors of magazines and newspapers to print these revealing facts. Next we would send to all of our acquaintances informative chain letters. I am correct, am I not, that chain letters are legal if money or merchandise is not involved? We would urge the reader to request that the communist party be made illegal and that thorough investigations be made in every area, the federal government, in particular. Finally, I would like to request, if it is wise, that all influential pro-communists be somehow taken out of society for the remainder of the cold-or hot war.

I very much appreciate your attention given to this. Thank you.

Sincerely,

NOTE (cont.)

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches over the various parts of the country. Our field offices have been alerted to watch its activities inasmuch as its head, Robert Welch, indicated at one time that he thought a group having the appearance of a front organization might be effective in attracting true subversives. Welch has, in the past, also attacked President Eisenhower and his Administration in his writings.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

I have received your letter dated February 9, 1961, and your interest in communicating with me is indeed appreciated.

While I would like to be of assistance to you, the jurisdiction and responsibilities of the FBI do not extend to furnishing evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, organization or publication. Furthermore, a regulation of the Department of Justice prohibits the disclosure of information in our files to other than appropriate agencies in the executive branch of the Federal Government.

I am precluded, therefore, from furnishing the information you have requested; however, you should not infer that we do or do not have such information in our files.

In view of your interest in the menace of communism, I am enclosing some literature available for general distribution by the FBI which you may like to read.

Sincerely yours,

John Edgar Hoover
Director

NOTE ON YELLOW:

Correspondent inquires whether the John Birch Society is a pro-American organization and whether showing the films "Operation Abolition" and "Communism on the Map" plays into the hands of the communists. She also asks if it is true that Mrs. A. Jegalova is the Chief of the Secondary Education Division of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) and if it is true she was the former Chief of the Inspection Division of the Soviet Ministry of Education and is a Russian communist. Bufiles contain no identifiable data concerning the correspondent.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anti-communist group with chapters throughout the United States. It has in the past been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower.

"Operation Abolition" is the film distributed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities relating to the riots at the hearings in San Francisco in May, 1960. We follow the policy of not commenting on this film.

The film "Communism on the Map" was prepared by the National Education Program at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas. Dr. George S. Benson, who is on the Bureau's Special Correspondents' List and on whom we have no derogatory information, is President of the National Education Program. The Bureau has borrowed this film from the Navy and it was reviewed by us on December 23, 1960. The Bureau does not believe this is the type of material which should be used or endorsed by the FBI.

On the basis of information furnished, Mrs. A. Jegalova cannot be identified in Bufiles. There is no allegation that she is in the United States and it should be noted that the headquarters of UNESCO is in Paris, France.

The following items of literature were sent to the correspondent:

1. "Communist Target - Youth."
2. "What You Can do to Fight Communism and Preserve America."
3. "America - Freedom's Champion."
4. "One Nation's Response to Communism."
5. "Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality."

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am in need of answers to several questions of great importance to me, and many friends. It is difficult in this day to know the right person to whom one should turn. We feel your answers will be unbiased and in the best interests of our country.

My questions:

1. We are interested in the John Birch Society. Is this, in your opinion a truly pro-American society?

2. Is it true that the chief of the secondary education division of UNESCO of the United Nations is Mrs. A. Jegalova? Is it true she was the former chief of the Inspection Division of the Soviet Ministry of Education, and that she is a Russian Communist?

3. Have you viewed the film "Communism on the Map" and "Operation Abolition"? Is it true we are 'playing into the hands of the Communists' by showing these films, as many 'intellectuals' would have us believe?

I have not previously written to a government official of high office, other than my congresswoman, and perhaps the format of this letter is not appropriate, however the desire for honest answers is quite sincere.

Please accept my gratitude for your consideration of these problems.

Sincerely,

Re Seattle airtels 1-13-61, 2-6-61 and Seattle letter dated 2-20-61 captioned "Robert A. Welch, Jr., Information Concerning, (Internal Security), The John Birch Society."

A review of referenced material indicates that the Seattle Office was in a position to institute counter-intelligence measures during the visit of Richard Morford in the territory covered by the Seattle Office. It is noted in Seattle letter dated 2-20-61 relative to the activities of the John Birch Society in the vicinity of Bellingham, Washington, that the managing editor of the "Bellingham Herald" is characterized as very cooperative with the Seattle Office. It is obvious that such a relationship could have been effectively used in connection with a counterintelligence proposal if Seattle had been alert to this possibility.

You are instructed to use a greater degree of alertness in the future in order that such opportunities will be fully explored and utilized.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Re Seattle letter 1/23/61 relative to activities of The John Birch Society in the vicinity of Bellingham, Washington.

On 2/3/61 RICHARD MORFORD of the National Council For American-Soviet Friendship, was the principal speaker at a meeting in Bellingham, Washington, sponsored by the Aftermath Club. On the morning of 2/3/61, our Resident Agent at Bellingham was contacted by LEE ADAMSON, Organizer for a local chapter of The John Birch Society, who advised that he and a group of local citizens, presumably members of The John Birch Society, were going to attend the meeting at which MORFORD was scheduled to speak. ADAMSON asked if the FBI had any suggestions as to what his group might do at the meeting, or should refrain from doing. He was, of course, informed that we would make no comments or suggestions regarding such a question.

Subsequent to this meeting of the Aftermath Club, informants and sources have told us that the group led by ADAMSON was equal or greater in number than the pro-Communist adherents and that ADAMSON's group succeeded in dominating the question-and-answer period after MORFORD's speech. Informants have also told us that members of ADAMSON's group were observed outside the building where the meeting was held, apparently recording the identity of persons and/or the automobile license numbers of individuals who attended the meeting.

In this same regard, the Managing Editor of the "Bellingham Herald," a local newspaper of general circulation, advised that he has received correspondence from members of The John Birch Society subsequent to the MORFORD speech on 2/3/61 criticizing the Herald for not covering this speech. The Managing Editor has stated that the correspondence he received from members of The John Birch Society has taken the attitude that the Herald did the community a disservice in failing to alert the people to the Communist implications of MORFORD's appearance. The Managing Editor, who is very cooperative with this office, explained that his attitude has always been that the FBI is capable of dealing with the Communists and he feels that any activist citizen groups might be more of a hindrance than a help in the fight against Communists.

This is being furnished to the Bureau for the purpose of indicating the extent of the activities of The John Birch Society in the vicinity of Bellingham, Washington.

Reference is made to previous correspondence concerning The John Birch Society (JBS) and its founder, Robert H. Welch, Jr.

You are instructed to check appropriate established sources and records to determine the facts concerning the incorporation of JBS, its incorporators, its aims and purposes, its financial position, its credit rating and the number of chapters it has throughout the country. You should determine sufficient background data concerning the incorporators in order that they can be readily identifiable in the files of your office and the Bureau. You should furnish a summary of the information in your files concerning each incorporator.

You are also to determine background data concerning the formation or incorporation of "American Opinion," which is published by Welch in Belmont, Massachusetts, its financial standing, its credit rating, the size of its circulation and the manner in which it is distributed throughout the country.

The above is to be handled in such a manner that no one will get the impression we are investigating Welch, JBS or "American Opinion." This matter is to receive expeditious attention. The desired data should be forwarded to reach the Bureau by 2/18/61 without fail.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of February 14, 1961, with enclosure, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

The film, "Operation Abolition," is sponsored and distributed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and this Bureau had no connection with its preparation. As a matter of policy, I cannot, therefore, make any recommendation with respect to it. May I suggest that you consider directing your inquiry to the Committee which is located in Room 225, Old House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C. Enclosed is some material dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest.

CORRESPONDENCE

From the Chicago Daily News, Jan. 30, 1961

THE WRONG WAY TO FIGHT REDS

Birch Society Is Recruiting

By

Jack Mabley

The John Birch Society is going to Chicago area churches, chambers of commerce and civic organization, to recruit members.

"Come, join us in the fight against Communists," members plead.

Inasmuch as 99.9999 percent of us are anti-Communist, they obviously have something to sell. But the conscientious citizens ask, "Is this the best way to fight communism? What is the John Birch Society?"

Since I am asked this often, because I wrote two columns about it last July, I will tell what I know about the society.

GROUP FOUNDED IN INDIANAPOLIS

It was founded in Indianapolis in 1958 by a group of businessmen led by Robert Welch, a former candy manufacturer of Boston.

Welch, by his own words, is the absolute boss of the society, which was named after a U.S. Army Captain murdered by Chinese Reds.

This organization must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss," says Welch, and he is it.

Welch has written a privately printed book called "The Politican." It was circulated only among the top, trusted leaders of the John Birch Society.

It is impossible for an ordinary member to see a copy of the book, or even get acknowledgment that it exists. I have read it, and will vouch that it exists.

In the book, Welch calls Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and a Communist.

He says that John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Chief Justice Earl Warren and former defense secretary Neil McElroy and most of the leaders of the Eisenhower administration, are or were part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

SOME EXCERPTS FROM THE BOOK

This is from Welch's book: "While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct."

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

He says of Mr. Eisenhower: ". . .there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

We reprint these words only because they are totaly idiotic and because people who are asked to follow Welch are not aware of what really is in his mind.

The Communist threat in this country is real enough. The country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the Communist evil.

But the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work.

Mr. [redacted] advised that The John Birch Society claims to be an organization interested in combating Communism through educational programs and by urging members to write their Congressmen to support legislation considered to be helpful in the fight against Communism.

Mr. [redacted] advised that the organization appeared to be pro-American in every respect but he wanted to check with the FBI to ascertain if the organization had been cited by the Government as a subversive organization. He was advised of the confidential nature of FBI files and was referred to the Department of Justice for information concerning organizations cited by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Any additional information received by this office concerning the formation and activity of this organization will be furnished to the Bureau. No investigation is being conducted by this office.

One copy of this letter is being furnished to the El Paso Office for information inasmuch as it appears the organizer of the Oklahoma City chapter of this organization resides in Odessa, Texas, or possibly organized a chapter of The John Birch Society in Odessa.

He stated that this movie concerned The John Birch Society, and the entire showing consisted of a talk by the organizer of this Society on how it operated. He said the Society appeared to have been organized in Boston, Massachusetts, by a man named JOHN or JOSEPH WELSH (ph.). TEXAS

[redacted] said WELSH (ph.) explained the menace of Communism and that the purpose of the Society was to combat Communism through the use of the "cell" system. WELSH (ph.) explained there would be 20 members to a "cell" and if more than 20 people joined in a community, additional "cells" would be organized. He said the members were required to read approximately 100 books, publications, and articles dealing with the menace of Communism, and one of the books mentioned as required reading was Masters of Deceit by J. MEMBER- SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

On 19 January 1961, [redacted] Captain (MC), [redacted] Pediatric Clinic, Brooke General Hospital (BGH), Brooke Army Medical Center (BAMC), Fort Sam Houston, Texas (FSHT), with residence at [redacted] San Antonio, Texas, was interviewed in his office concerning the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. [redacted] stated that he was a member of this organization and was active in recruiting members among the officer personnel of FSHT. He added that he had contacted personnel in the Security and Intelligence Division of BAMC, FSHT, in order to interest them in the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. He denied that the organization was a political movement but insisted that the primary aim of the membership was to combat the spread of Communism in the United States. [redacted] stated that originally he and his friends formed a discussion group and then searched for some worthy cause to sponsor, eventually joining the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. He claimed that this unit of the SOCIETY now had approximately forty (40) members but they planned to split into two separate units. [redacted] claimed that there were several groups already organized in Texas and mentioned Dallas and Austin as examples. He added that there were other units already in existence in San Antonio. [redacted] is anxious to organize all anti-communits and stated that membership is open to all who want to fight communism, but did admit that the other objectives of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY are to uphold State's Rights, demand less governmental control and to return the government to individual citizens. He explained that the principal aim of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY is to prevent the establishment of a socialistic state in the United States because socialism is only one step away from communism. S-1 8(4)

CONFIDENTIAL

[redacted] stated that he has been a member of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY for two months, that the group holds meetings once a month and that the membership dues amont to two dollars per month. The group has a definite program to fight communism and engages in letter writing campaigns to warn of the spread of communism. As examples of the work being done by the SOCIETY, [redacted] offered the following: On 14 January 1961, the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade held a mass meeting at the North Star Mall in San Antonio, Texas, to protest against the spread of communism. This group was led by one of the leaders (name unknown) of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. A nationwide letter campaign was recently concluded which allegedly influenced Representative JAMES ROOSEVELT, of California, in deciding against introducing legislation in Congress which would abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities. During this campaign, ROOSEVELT was warned that if he introduced this legislation, he would be a prime target of the SOCIETY in the next congressional campaign. The current objective of the SOCIETY is to lead the fight for the impeachment of Chief Justice EARL WARREN who is considered by the SOCIETY to be a communist sympathizer.

According to [redacted] the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY was formed by ROBERT H. WELCH, Belmont, Massachusetts. It was named after JOHN BIRCH, a US Army Captain and son of a Methodist Minister, who was killed in China in 1946 because of his opposition to the so-called "Agrarian Reformers." He was one of the first to realize that these reformers were communists and reported this to the U. S. State

[redacted] explained that the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY publishes a magazine American Opinion and intends to print the names of all known communists and communist sympathizers in the United States. [redacted] estimated that there were approximately 120 communists in San Antonio, Texas, but did not know any of them by name. He insisted that it was time that the average person took active interest in the fight against communism and stopped leaving it up to the Federal Government. Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter postmarked February 11, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

I wish to point out that the FBI as an investigative agency of the Federal Government does not make evaluations or draw conclusions regarding organizations. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry. I am unable to offer a source where you could obtain the information you are seeking.

Sincerely yours,

John Edgar Hoover

NOTE: No record could be located in Bufiles identifiable with correspondent. Correspondent's name could not be verified in telephone directory. It appears from correspondent's first paragraph that he has read a letter from the Director to some other individual concerning the John Birch Society, and for this reason the entire "files evaluations acknowledgement" is not being given. The John Birch Society, an anticommunist group was formed by Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts. He has been openly critical of President Eisenhower's administration.

I realize the responsibilities of the F. B. I. does not extend to furnishing the character or integrity of organizations. But how does an individual find out whether or not an organization is subversive. The organization in question is The John Birch Society.

It has been highly praised as an anti-communist organization by people of respectable position. Will you please let me know how this organization stands in your records. I do not intend to do anything until I hear from you.

The John Burch Society has recently come to my attention in our community. A film presentation of a lecture by its founder, Mr. Welch, has been shown depicting the reality of the communist influence in this country. Recognizing that communistic influences work in devious ways, I would appreciate having your opinion as to the John Burch Society and its founder, Mr. Welch, so that I may make a decision as to whether I would consider becoming a part of its program.

DEAR MR. HOOVER:

THERE ARE MANY PATRIOTIC GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS SPRINGING UP ALL OVER AMERICA. AS AMERICANS EVERYWHERE BEGIN TO REALIZE THE REAL DANGERS WE FACE THEY NATURALLY WANT TO JOIN SUCH ORGANIZATIONS.

I BELIEVE MANY OF THESE GROUPS ARE WELL MEANING AND HAVE GOOD CAUSES. STILL OTHERS WANT TO TAKE TIME, MONEY AND EFFORTS AWAY FROM PEOPLE WHO MIGHT OTHERWISE FIND THEIR WAY INTO PATRIOTIC GROUPS THAT ARE REALLY ACCOMPLISHING SOMETHING TOWARDS FIGHTING THE COMMUNIST CONSPIRACY.

I WANT TO JOIN WITH OTHERS IN A CONCERTED EFFORT TO DEFEAT COMMUNISM. BUT I WANT TO MAKE MY EFFORTS COUNT, FOR TIME IS SHORT.

ONE GROUP BEGINNING TO GATHER A REAL HEAD OF STEAM HERE IN THE SHREVEPORT AREA IS THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY OF BELMONT 78, MASSACHUSETTS. MR. ROBERT WELCH IS FOUNDER AND LEADER OF THE SOCIETY. ALL THE FACTS THAT HAVE BEEN GIVEN ME ABOUT THE SOCIETY HAVE BEEN VERY FAVORABLE.

WOULD IT BE POSSIBLE FOR YOUR DEPARTMENT TO GIVE ME ANY INFORMATION ON THE SOCIETY? IN THIS DAY WHEN AMERICANS CANNOT TELL IF WHITE IS REALLY WHITE, OR PINK IS REALLY RED,, THANK GOD WE STILL HAVE A FEW PEOPLE IN WHICH WE CAN TRUST AND HAVE FAITH. YOU ARE ONE OF THESE FEW.

YOUR COMPLIANCE WITH THE ABOVE REQUEST, IF AT ALL POSSIBLE, WILL BE APPRECIATED VERY MUCH.

MR. SHIRLEY PALMER - BALL
146 SAINT MATTHEWS AVENUE
LOUISVILLE 7, KENTUCKY
INQUIRY RE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

On the morning of February 24, 1961, above-named individual called the Bureau from Louisville, Kentucky, and was referred to SA Thomas F. Mitchell of the Crime Research Section. Mr. Palmer - Ball identified himself as Vice-President of the Palmer Asbestos and Rubber Corporation in Louisville and a volunteer coordinator in the Louisville area for the John Birch Society.

Mr. Palmer - Ball advised that recently the Louisville Courier-Journal ran an article "smearing" the society. He said that last Sunday the newspaper, over its radio station in Louisville, WHAS, continued what appears to be a definite attack on the society by presenting a radio program entitled, "Moral Side of the News." Guests on this program were four ministers of the Louisville area who attacked the society stating that it was a fascist organization and could be compared with the Hitler movement.

Mr. Palmer - Ball further stated that he feels the society itself could withstand such a smear attack, but he is anxious to launch a counter offense on behalf of the society in order to protect the individuals working for the society in Louisville. In connection with his counterattack, Mr. Palmer - Ball stated he planned on using the facilities of the weekly newspaper, "Voice of Saint Matthews," published in Saint Matthews, Kentucky, with a circulation of about 6,000.

Mr. Palmer - Ball requested that the Director, if possible, send him a letter setting forth his knowledge of the John Birch Society and its aims. He added that if the Director could not furnish him such a letter, he would appreciate any suggestions the FBI might make as to how such a smear attack could be fought.

Re: Mr. Shirley Palmer - Ball

There is no record in Bureau files identifiable with this individual. The John Birch Society has been the subject of numerous inquiries received at the Bureau. Founded by Mr. Robert Welch, of Belmont, Mass., it is allegedly an anti-communist organization, but Welch has stated that it might take on the appearance of the "front" in order to attract true subversives. Welch has been openly critical of former President Eisenhower, and in his book, "The Politician" in a vicious attack on Eisenhower, he accused the President of being a dupe of the communists.

Mr. Palmer - Ball was advised that the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication, or individual. The Director, therefore, would be unable to help but that no inference should be drawn from this fact either that we do or do not have data in our files regarding this society.

Domestic Intelligence Division advised that early in February on the Director's instructions a limited inquiry was initiated into the John Birch Society. Boston has been instructed to obtain from established sources information concerning the corporation, its officials, and sources of income.

With regard to the Louisville Courier-Journal our relations with this paper have been very spotty with both favorable and unfavorable editorials. In December, 1958, they were extremely critical of the Director's response to unfavorable criticism. At that time they ran a scandalous cartoon with the caption, "Thou shalt not criticize the FBI."

Bureau material has been made available to Dr. Frederick C. Schwarz and others affiliated with the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade. Sullivan to Belmont memo of 9-22-60 indicates that when a representative of the Bureau spoke before the Dallas Freedom Forum in September (which sponsored a school on communism at that time directed by Dr. Schwarz,) the Agent commented that Schwarz made several "pitches" for articles in a book he had written on communism and his publications were displayed. Neither he nor his organization has been investigated by the Bureau.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Because of the tremendous strides Communism is making, in line with its boastful threats to our country, we are immensely interested to know what we can do to sanely further the cause of freedom and the preservation of our republic.

We have recently been introduced to several groups, among them the John Birch Society, which purports to be anti-Communist, and to all appearances seems to be such. However, their accusations regarding a large number of public officials seems possibly exaggerated.

The groups' suggested reading, which we have done, includes Dr. Schwarz' Staff Consultation with the House Unamerican Activities Committee dated Wed., May 29, 1957, Report of American Bar Association Special Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy, and Objectives published by American Opinion, Belmont 78, Mass., and other similar pamphlets. We are wondering if we are following the right course.

Have you any suggestions as to what groups might be loyal, certainly not fanatical, and of course not "counter" anti-Communism.

We are exceedingly anxious to do whatever we can to prevent the advancement of the unGodly, inhuman Communistic cause and to enlighten our unwary fellow citizens. Therefore, we would appreciate any information or suggestions whatever regarding what Americans can do for America in these treacherous times.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

My husband and I have just returned home from a P. T. A. meeting at which a former air force officer spoke on communist infiltration in the various institutions of our society.

We have considered ourselves adequately informed about events which occur but after listening tonight to General Lee, we realized that we, too, are evidently very naive and are failing to recognize the influence which Communism is spreading over us.

One patron asked what all of us could do about these dangers, other than being well-informed. General Lee mentioned the John Birch Society. We are interested yet we know nothing about it. Is this society working in the best interests of our country? Would the time and money invested be of real value or is there some other way in which we could be helpful?

I am a high school teacher and my husband is an engineer in the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Helium Activity. We are Caucasian, Christians, university graduates, forty-eight years old; have two children, a modest income and a great desire to do something. I'm frightened.

Birch & Society. We are interested yet we know nothing about it. Is this society working in the best interests of our country? Would the time and money invested be of real value or is there some other way in which we could be helpful?

I am a high school teacher and my husband is an engineer in the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Helium Activity. We are Caucasian, Christians, university graduates, forty-eight years old, have two children, a modest income and a great desire to do something. I'm frightened.

Dear Sir,

I am working to the limit of my capabilities toward helping to make the public aware of the communist menace. I donate my time to this effort, I am a coordinator of the John Birch Society and cooperate with anyone who is genuine in their efforts to help destroy this menance. I have quite a number of your pieces of literature on this subject and want you to know that I feel you to be the only real bulwark that this country left to fight this thing. You seem to be the one man in the United States who the average American will believe.

I want to buy 2500 copies of a bulletin that you put out on March 1, 1960 " To All Law Enforcement Officials " fourr pages in all.

I feel that I can do more good with the average American with this one bulletin to get him where he will listen to this problem, than any other single piece that I have. I want to reiterate that I want to buy these, the number is too many to ask for for free.

I am making talks to any groups who will listen, and I am finding many who will listen. I have several planned in the near future and will appreciate it if these or a substantial part may be sent right away.

REC- 55 62-104401-688

Many thanks for your past cooperation , and may God keep you safe and bless you for the work you are doing.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of February 18, 1961, and your generous expression of confidence in the FBI is indeed appreciated.

Your endeavors to alert the people of your area to the menace of communism are most encouraging. I have always felt that private citizens acting through their civic, labor, religious, educational and similar organizations, constitute one of the most effective weapons for overcoming the Communist Party.

In response to your request, I am forwarding, under separate cover, at no cost, 2500 copies of the publication you mentioned.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

Here in Wichita we are being told by the John Birch Society that our churches and schools are being greatly influenced by Communists. We can expect no guidance from the government since it has been thoroughly infiltrated, including the office of the president and the Supreme Court. Your books, pamphlets, and speeches, are quoted freely in the discussion of this menace. Have you endorsed or do you support the John Birch Society as an effective means of opposing communism? I am referring to the John Birch Society established at Indianapolis, Indiana on Dec. 9, 1958 by Robert H. W. Welch of Boston or Belford, Mass.

We will soon elect two new members to our five-man city commission and six new members to our twelve-man Board of Education. The Society has stated they have $25,000 to spend electing new members of their choosing to the Board of Education. I would appreciate any information you have regarding the objectives, techniques, and reliability of this Society. I will be very grateful if you care to state your position.

Very truly yours,

New Extremist Group Pictures Ike as 'Communist'

Shades of the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy! When he charged there were numerous "card-carrying Communists" in the State Department, he was a piker compared to a new extreme right wing organization described in a Milwaukee Journal report. It says this group follows a leader who "believes President Eisenhower is a dedicated Communist," and that President Roosevelt "unknowingly," and President Truman "knowingly" were "used by the party."

The report tells the following story: The organization, which is "growing fast" in Wisconsin and some other states, calls itself the John Birch Society, named after an American who allegedly was killed by the Communist Chinese. It was founded by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., " a wealthy retired candy manufacturer" who lives in Bilmont, Mass., is former vice chairman of the Massachuetts Republican finance committee, and once was a GOP candidate for Lieutenant governor of Massachusetts.

Welch, the report says, is the author of "The Politician" a manuscript which is distributed to promoters of the society, marked for their "confidential" use. In it Welch says of Eisenhower:

"In my opinion, the Communists have one of their own actually in the Presidency, Eisenhower. There is only one possible word to describe his purposes and actions, that word is "treason!" The manuscript also tries to hang the red label on Ike's brother Milton and some high government officials.

In Wisconsin, the report continues, the society's members include some prominent indistrialists, one of them William J. Grede, long a right-wing Republican leader in the state. His anti-labor and all-around reactionary activities have been mentioned in LABOR.

Welch also wrote and distributes a "Blue Book" which, judging by the report, has a Fascist flavor. For example, it says "the men who join the John Birch Society are going to do so because the believe in me and are willing to accept my leadership," Hitler called himself "Der Fuchrer"-The Leader.

Among other things, Welch's Blue Book says: "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase a weapon of demagoguery and a perennial fraud."

are sure they are all on the level. If you wish to have us continue to do this let us know, if not we won't trouble you, because you must get millions of letters.

Also a big question here is, a woman pays $12.00 per yr. and a ~~man~~ man $24.00 per year. This money we are told gets placed in an envelope and sent to headquarters. Their goal is a million members, that would be close to [redacted] an enormous amount of money. A book called the "Blue Book" is given to the members, The "Politician" which is mentioned must be in circulation among the leaders of the Society, because you hear them talk, their opinion of Eisenhower taken.

Hope this isn't to much trouble but I feel better having sent it on to you.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have been quoting you as having said that communists "are in effect foreign agents on American soil" and now find, in re-reading the Preface to your illuminating Report, COMMUNIST TARGET - YOUTH, that it was Francis Walter who said this.

If this does not represent your opinion, will you correct me?

Some time ago, I wrote you relative to the above mentioned pamphlet and informed you that I am a member of The John Birch Society. Since then, the California Attorney General, Stanley Mosk, has informed me that he would consider this organization "subversive" because it has characterized as members of the Communist conspiracy the last three presidents of the United States.

I do not wish to embarrass you by involving you in any such discussion, but did want to state that we are "subversive" - of Communists and Communism - and that the above statement by Mr. Mosk is rather broad, inasmuch as he does not know who are the members of this Society and individual members are urged to exercise their own discretion and consciences in connection with any of the John Birch Society activities. I, for one, do not so characterize the last three presidents of the United States, although I have raised considerable question about some of their actions--from the coddling of Alger Hiss and the discouragement of Whittaker Chambers's attempts to inform our then president, through the promotion of Harry Dexter White, after he was exposed to the then president as a Communist, and the persecution of Joseph McCarthy when he was trying to expose Communists in our government and services. That is the privilege and the duty of patriots, and unless I am misinformed, is neither against the law or the best interest of our country.

I recently became aware of the part I should play as an American in order to insure the freedom & security of my young son. I want to do what I can to avert comunistic control of the United States. I have been approached and asked to join the John Birch Society. Their literature sounds very convensing & valid, but I am one of those people who have sat back complacently and allowed "the other fellow" to worry about politics. Consequently I don't know too much about this subject and don't want to defeat my purpose by "throwing in" with the wrong organization So my question is: What is your opinion of the John Birch Society and is it the kind of an organization I should be a part of?

Your letter dated February 18, 1961, has been received.

The thought prompting your writing me is appreciated, and I was interested in having the benefit of your observations.

In connection with the matters you mentioned, I would like to point out that it is the responsibility of the FBI to investigate any allegations of subversive activities on the part of any individual in our country. Should the person be an employee of another governmental agency, information developed through our investigation of him is made available immediately to the head of that agency for appropriate action. It is not, however, within the jurisdiction of the FBI to make evaluations in such instances.

If you acquire facts which you believe are indicative of subversive activities, I hope you will not hesitate to contact the representatives of our office located at 1000 Masonic Temple Building, New Orleans 12, Louisiana.

Dear Mr. Hoover -

The article by Mr. Charles Stevenson in Reader's Digest for February confirms my fears that the State Dept has been infiltrated by Communists -

I have heard many prominent well informed speakers, some members of our armed forces who have said this - and I am wondering whether our goverment is doing anything about it - You are well aware of the fact that Kruschev has boasted that the United States will be conquered "from within" - Not by attack - and it appears to me this is exactly what is happening - Mr. Kennedy is so bent on building the armed forces to protect us militarily, and this is important, but it is also very important to purge the State Dept. of Communists, if any. Can you give me any assurance whatever that we (the goverment) are alert on that score? - I would appreciate it deeply - for I am just plain frightened -

I am affiliated with several groups who are doing what they can to fight Communism - among them the John Birch Society -

LOS ANGELES — Suburban newspaper columnists have been devoting uneasy attention recently to an organization known as the John Birch Society, apparently a well-heeled outfit spawned by the Cold War.

The society's founder is Robert Welch, 71, a retired Boston, Mass., candy manufacturer, who set up the organization Dec. 9, 1958, at Indianapolis, Ind. Neither the date or place seem to be of significance but the society's "cell" method of organizing and the role of its founder seems to have aroused misgivings.

Welch, who is described as the absolute boss of the society, was born in North Carolina, finished the university there, spent two years at Annapolis and another two at Harvard. He's lived in Boston since 1919.

"Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase," Welch proclaimed on one occasion, "a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

AMID WEALTHY

Welch seems to have taken fright at some of the liberal decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court and his "cells" were commanded to wield pens in a letter writing campaign calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Welch also tackled the Eisenhower menace to free enterprise. He thinks Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president, was a Communist, and it is "his firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy."

That appeared in a 1958 booklet, "The Politician," written by Welch, which seems to have been withdrawn from circulation after being seen by a few leaders of the movement.

Said Bill Sumner, in The Pasadena Independent:

"Locally, and in this area, the Society seems to be attracting men and women of some substance. It would not pay to dismiss them as a group of fanatics and crackpots worthy only of a passing snort."

Besides Pasadena, the society has picked up recruits in Santa Barbara. Significantly, both communities are dominated by the retired-well-to-do.

On Welch's council are such veteran enemies of democratic rights as Dean Clarence Manion, T. Coleman Andrews, former income tax collector; Spruille Braden, former Latin-American "expert" of the U.S. State Department, and Adolph Menjou, unsavory relic of the House Un-Americans' raid on Hollywood.

Recruiting is done at house meetings by means of a 4 hour movie on which Welch appears alone and explains why there must be complete obedience to the leader. That, he says, will keep out Communists and others who might create dissent.

Each cell has its director who in turn consults with a district director monthly who transmits orders from above. Directives also approved in the monthly John Birch Bulletin, edited by Welch.

Letter writing to public officials and to newspapers has been the main activity of the Society but lately its attention has been turned to the PTA, which Welch feels is too much to the left.

The society is named for John Birch, a U. S. Army captain who is supposed to have died in China 10 days after VJ day. Welch blames his death on "Chinese Communists."

I'm sure your files reflect an organization named The John Birch Society. It appears to be a patriotic outfit and, if it is, we can help each other fight the cancer known as Communism. As of the present time I know little about them and I'm trying to assure myself that they are not backed by anyone or any other organization with a tendency to lean to the red side of life.

It will be very much appreciated if you will advise me as to whether or not your investigation gives them a clean bill of health.

Clergymen Criticize John Birch Society

Radio Panel Calls Group's Spirit, Views 'Distorted,' 'Perverse,' And 'Illogical'

"Distorted," perverse," and "illogical dogmatism" are terms that were used last night by a panel of clergymen to describe the spirit and pronouncements of the John Birch Society.

Members of the WHAS "Moral Side of The News" panel discussed the semisecret organization which was revealed as active in Louisville by a Passing Show article in Sunday's Courier-Journal.

The John Birch Society, named for a deceased Baptist missionary, was started by Robert Welch, Boston, a former candy manufacturer, who believes that America is being sold out to the Communists.

Beliefs Described

Welch believes that "civil rights" is a Communist slogan; that foreign aid was planned by Communists to weaken the American economy; "democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud," and "the greatest enemy of man is, and always has been, government."

The Rev. Paul Stauffer, minister of First Christian Church, asked of the Birch Society, "Can democracy and freedom survive in this spirit? These people take the view that theirs is the only side, that everyone who doesn't think as they think is going in the wrong direction. They would limit freedom of thought. Yet truth comes as divergent views meet in the social encounter of the democratic process."

Cites Needs Of People

The Rev. Olof Anderson, Jr., executive secretary of the Louisville Presbytery, said the society "leaves out the responsibility of one individual for another individual and seeks to turn back the clock. It ignores the fact that our world is quite different, it demands a liberal approach to the needs of people."

The Rev. John Loftus, dean of Bellarmine College, said the society is "not a particularly good attack against communism" and that there is "an evil element within such an organization."

Rabbi Jacob J. Gittleman of Congregation Adath Jeshurun said the society followed "a philosophy contrary to the trend of American history" and that its stand against foreign aid was irreligious. "It is the essence of religion not to be satisfied for ourselves while others starve."

To a question about the motives of members of the John Birch Society, Father Loftus said, "There is a kind of sincerity here, and obviously a perverted notion of good, but there has to be a distortion in the personality."

Said Rabbi Gittleman: "They have no faith in their fellow man, in our country, or our people. This is fear instead [illegible]

A SEMI-SECRET society whose ... believes America is being sold out to the Communists is finding some prominent adherents in Louisville.

While the John Birch Society shuns publicity, its leaders will talk. But they won't tell who their members are.

The society is the creation of Robert Welch of Boston, who has written, "We are out to get a million members truly dedicated to the things in which we believe."

Here are some of the things which Welch believes:

1. The international Communist conspiracy now reaches "into all of the legislative halls, all of the union labor meetings, a majority of the religious gatherings, and most of the schools of the whole world." (Italics his.)

2. "If and when we can reach the point of turning just the American Government from actively helping the Communist conspiracy everywhere in the world, we shall have won a most important battle in the war ahead."

3. Indian Prime Minister Nehru and Egyptian President Nasser are puppets of the Kremlin.

4. Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is a Communist. (Welch wrote this in 1958 before Castro overthrew Fulgencio Batista.)

5. "Civil rights" is a Communist slogan.

6. Our foreign-aid program was planned by Communists to weaken our economy.

7. Some Protestant ministers preach outright communism.

Says A.M.A. 'Took'

8. "The American Medical Association has now been 'took,' to the extent that we could not count on any direct help there."

9. Hitler was preferable to Stalin because, when they liquidated people, Hitler's conscience bothered him about it, but Stalin's did not. Hitler was immoral, Stalin amoral.

10. President Franklin D. Roosevelt and General George C. Marshall were guilty of "plain unadulterated treason" in getting the United States into World War II.

11. F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover should have been appointed to Attorney General.

12. Ex-Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold "is one of the most contemptible agents of the Kremlin ever to be supported by the American taxpayers."

13. "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

14. "The greatest enemy of man is, and always has been, government."

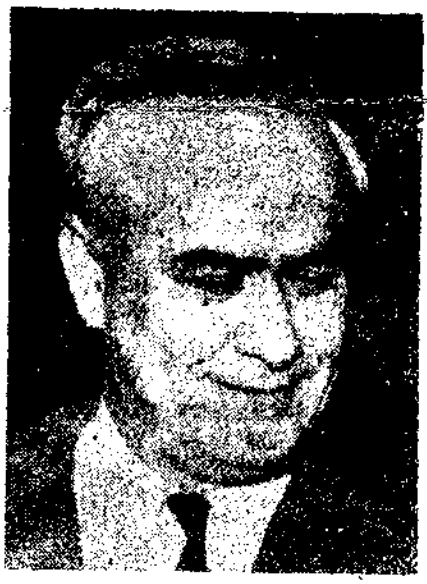
These are some of Welch's more extreme statements, admittedly ripped out of context. A Louisville member of the John Birch Society commented about one of Welch's assertions, "I think it's probably stated a little blunter than he really means it."

That comment came from S. Rayburn Watkins, executive vice ... well known ... MEMBER HERE

Shirley Palmer Ball and architect W. Earle ... leaders of two chapters in Louisville, one of which has 20 to 30 members. The thesis is that the United States is rapidly becoming, by Communist design, a socialist state that is giving up its sovereignty to the United Nations.

By ROBERT HERMANN
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

Shirley Palmer-Ball, 30-year-old vice-president and general manager of the Palmer Asbestos & Rubber Company in St. Matthews, heads a John Birch chapter of 20 to 30 members here. He was appointed to his postition around the first of the year, he said.



The leader of another chapter here is architect W. Earle Otis, former chairman of the Jefferson County Municipal Conference. Otis wouldn't say anything about the number of his members, who they are, or when his group was formed.

"We don't seek publicity," Otis said. "In fact, we try to avoid publicity. We have nothing to hide except the names and number of our members."

Welch, the society founder, remained ... members in the society's bulletin ... that the society is ... planned.

S. Rayburn Watkins
'A little blunter . . .'

Dr. N. Burnett Magruder
'Part of the rising tide . . .'

AS WELL

AS WE CAN "We avoid [illegible], methods, purposes and beliefs of the John Birch Society are all set forth in its Blue Book, which anybody can purchase; and in our tape recordings, films, and the speeches of our (regional) co-ordinators and myself, which many thousands now hear every month."

National Council

On the national council of the society are such names as Spruille Braden, former assistant secretary of state; Col. Laurence B. Bunker, former personal aide to General Douglas MacArthur; T. Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of Internal Revenue; former Dean Clarence Manion of the Notre Dame Law School; actor Adolphe Menjou, and William J. Grede, Cola G. Parker and Ernest G. Swigert, all former presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The late Alfred Kohlberg, militant foe of Red China and communism in general, was a charter council member. Also on [illegible] Jones Rauhenberg, a native [illegible] and longtime president of [illegible], Ind.

The John Birch Society dates back to a day in 1958 when Robert Welch assembled about a dozen persons from around the country in an Indianapolis hotel and lectured them for the better part of two days on the threats to American freedom and what could be done about them. He offered "dynamic leadership" to meet these threats.

A transcript of his lecture forms the society's "Blue Book," which with the society bulletins and Welch's periodical American Opinion give ample evidence of his conservative views.

Welch's Thesis

Welch's basic thesis is that the United States is rapidly being converted, by Communist design, into a socialist state which is giving up its sovereignty to the United Nations and will soon be ripe for painless merger with the Soviet Union.

Most of the governmental developments of the last 30 years have been part of this design, Welch believes. He would wipe out such things as Social Security, the graduated federal income tax, diplomatic recognition of Soviet Russia, federal budget deficits, inflation, and big government.

Government is intrinsically evil, he believes. If he had his choice between a government made up of [illegible] and a [illegible] he would choose the 300,000 thieves on the ground that they could do less damage.

300,000 THIEVES

AND 3,000,000

W. Earle Otis
'Nothing to hide except . . .'

The John Birch Society's goal, said Welch, is "less government, more responsibility, and a better world."

Welch considers Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona the best conservative leader on the political scene.

Former Vice-president Nixon, he wrote in 1958, was "one of the ablest, shrewdest, most disingenuous, and slipperiest politicians that ever showed up" and has "never been a leader in connection with any development, or at any stage in his career."

Blames Churches

Welch sees loss of faith in God and man as a cause of our problems, and says one-third of Protestant churches contribute to this loss of faith. The society is named for John Birch, "a young fundamentalist Baptist missionary-preacher from Macon, Ga., who did as much as any other one man, high or low, to win our war and the Chinese war against the Japanese in China, (and) was murdered by the Chinese Communists at the first opportunity after the war because of the powerful resistance he would have been able to inspire against them."

Welch is a North Carolina native who became a Massachusetts candy-manufacturing executive, and in 1957 gave up most of his regular work to devote full time to the anti-Communist fight.

Welch considers himself an expert at spotting secret Communists. He points out that his conclusions many times have tallied with those of J[illegible] former chief investigator for [illegible] tor Joseph A. McCarthy.

LATE SENA-

Here in Louisville, Shirley Palmer-Ball and W. Earle Otis, chapter heads, deny that the society is a "hate group." They say it steers clear of racial and religious controversies. It is, said Palmer-Ball, a sort of "middle-of-the-road right-wing group."

Otis said he didn't foresee any exposures of secret Communists in Louisville.

While every known Louisville member insisted on his right to disagree with Welch on details, each of them expressed approval of his general approach.

Welch makes clear in the Blue Book that there is little or no room for dissent in the society. He says:

"... we are not going to be in the position of having the society's work weakened by raging debates. We are not going to have factions developing on the two-sides-to-every question theme. Those members who cease to feel the necessary degree of loyalty can either resign or will be put out before they build up any splintering following of their own inside the Society. . . . Whenever differences of opinion become translated into a lack of loyal support, we shall have short cuts for eliminating both without going through any congress of so-called democratic processes."

Shirley Palmer-Ball
'Not a hate group'

Chapter leaders are appointed from headquarters, not elected. Chapters are supposed to have two meetings a month, to one of which visitors are invited.

Rayburn Watkins calls the society "more or less a conservative discussion and action group." The "action" apparently consists mostly of writing letters to congressmen and newspapers.

Watkins said he thinks Welch is absolutely right about the extent of Communism infiltration. He believes people in all walks of life—and in high places, too—are doing what the Communists want done without being aware [illegible]

He favors repeal of the federal income tax or [illegible] graduated income [illegible]

Less Articulate

Palmer-Ball, a native Louisvillian who is the youngest of seven brothers, was less articulate than Watkins about his political beliefs. To some questions he replied, "I don't know as much about that as I should."

He said he got interested in the John Birch Society through his brother-in-law in Nashville and was appointed a chapter leader about the first of the year. The chapter meets on his call.

Otis, the other known chapter leader here, said, "I am in sympathy with the aims and purposes of the society and I think it's a very necessary and a very timely thing."

Hate, said the veteran architect, "has no place in our organization at all. We're not out to hate anybody."

He defined his goals as "constitutional government and decentralization of power and authority. One of our primary aims is less government."

Dr. Magruder stirred a vigorous controversy here last March with a statement, made during an interview, that the Protestant clergy is infected with Marxist thinking. So he preferred to answer questions about the John Birch Society in writing.

"The John Birch Society," he wrote, "is part of the rising tide of American and Christian reaction to the Communist menace and is part of a movement which will eventually attract support from [illegible] of the American people."

My dear Judge:

Your letter of February 20, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Enclosed is some literature dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest.

Sincerely yours,

Letter to Honorable F. M. Keener

NOTE: Correspondent is not identifiable in Bufiles.
The John Birch Society was founded by Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, Welch has stated that the Society might take on the appearance of a "front" in order that it might attract true subversives. During the Eisenhower Administration, Welch was openly critical of the President. His book, "The Politician," a vicious attack on Eisenhower, even accused the President of being a dupe of the communists.

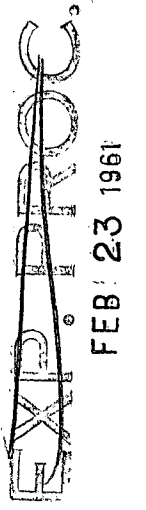
Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have had several requests for information on the John Birch Society which is being organized in this county, and we would like to know if there could be any connection with the Communist Front in this Country.

If you can not send this to me, please let me know how the request should be made.

I would appreciate any information you might be able to give me on this matter.



Thanking you, I am

Dear Sir,

During the past year I have become alarmed about communism in this country. I have read all available literature I could find. Loving my country I want to do something about it.

Recently I have become interested in the John Birch Society. It is headed by Robert Welch. I believe what they say they are and in what they are doing.

But, because I am human and can be misled, I would like to know your opinion of this organization. Since in the past the communist have had front organizations which were called anti-communist organizations, I just want to be sure I'm working on the right side.

I hope you can tell me if I am right in working for this organization.

Also, I would appreciate any advise on anything that I might be doing in fighting Communism.

Very sincerely,

Dear Sir:

The threat of Communism to our country has just recently been brought to the attention of my husband and I. We were shocked out complacency, and in an honest effort to do something "quick" we have joined the John Birch Society. Now petitions are circulating through the city saying that Mr. Welch is a communist and that the John Birch Society is a communist front.

To date, there has been nothing that would lead my husband and I to believe that there is anything about the John Birch Society that is anyway connected with communism. Since we know we can depend on you above all others, please direct us as to whether we should continue to channel our efforts to fight this menace into the John Birch Society.

I realize that you are far to busy with much more weighty matters, but I do hope that you can find time to answer this since we know your judgement would be correct.

Thank you for your book "Masters of Deciet" plus all of the protection that your organization affords us.

Dear Sir:

We are upset. Here in our community we have several John Birch Society Study Groups. They have aroused, and frightened people here as to the "near future" take over of the Communist Party of our country. We have read their material and stacks of Congressional Reports and other data as to the Communist danger at hand. I have read "Masters of Deceit and I know that you know we are indeed in danger of a Communist take over. My question concerns the John Birch Society and whether they are doing their job in a rational manner. This Society anticipates that 1961 is our last year of freedom. That in 1964 we will have no choice in electing a president.

Many here are withdrawing money from circulation and putting in supplies for an underground unit to fight when the Communists take us over. They are forming their own party of "Conservatives." Many of their ideas we agree with, others we are confused aobut. All of their co-ordinators as they are called travel here from California and speak at these study groups. I am wondering if this Society is worth my support and my money to help its developement. I can only turn to you for advice. The Un-American Activities in Washington send us no return mail as to any of the fore going questions of mine. I am a member of the American Legion Post 94 here at Stevensville and as you know we Legion members are very concerned and dedicated to our country.

Your grave concern over communism is understandable, and your desire to learn methods of opposing it is most reassuring. I strongly believe that the most effective way to combat this conspiracy is to become fully informed concerning it. A thorough knowledge of the nature and objectives of communism will enable our people to detect it as it endeavors to make inroads in every segment of our American life.

Your public library probably has a wide range of material on communism available for your use, and you may desire to refer to my book, "Masters of Deceit," which is a basic text on this subject. I am enclosing some other literature which may also be of assistance to you.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am a housewife and part-time secretary on the great plains of the Southwest. For some time I, along with many other Americans out here have bcome increasingly aware of, and increasingly concerned about, the menace of Communism in the United States. However being an ordinary citizen, I did not know what I could do to try and help stem this tide of Communism.

Recently I attended a film about the "John Birch Society", thinking that maybe this might be the answer. There were several things about the meeting that I could not "go along with", so I decided that I would write you and try to find the answers to sme of my questions. I know that you are a busy man, but I hope that you will find time to answer the following questions for me;

1. What is your opinion of the "John Birch Society"?

2. What can an ordinary citizen, like me and other interested people, do to help combat Communism in the United States?

I would certainly appreciate an early answer to these questions, along with any suggestions you might have.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have read with great interest your book entitled "Masters of Deceit" and feel it of the utmost importance to fight Communism.

Recently an organizer for the John Birch Society visited our small community and showed us a most forceful anti-Communist film narrated by Mr. Robert Welch. Since the Society apparently offers a worthwhile study program, I joined. As yet no meetings have been called.

For personal reasons, I cannot afford to become involved in anything that could become political or discriminatory in nature. I would therefore sincerely appreciate your over-all appraisal of this group in action.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter dated February 20, 1961, and enclosure have been received.

Although I would like to be of service, the functions and responsibilities of the FBI as a Federal investigative agency do not extend to furnishing evaluations or drawing conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

In view of your interest, I am enclosing material available for general distribution by this Bureau on the subject of communism.

Sincerely yours,

NOTE (continued) The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches over the various parts of the country. Our field offices have been alerted to watch its activities inasmuch as its head, Robert Welch, indicated at one time that he thought a group having the appearance of a front organization might be effective in attracting true subversives. Dear Sir:

John Birch Society

I am writing to ask you if you will give me your opinion of the John Birch Society, which is becoming quite active in its work against Communism in this section. I know very little about it and should like to get some authentic information as to its standing and activities. Is it really anti-Communist and is it really making any progress in its so-called fight against Communism? Is there likely to be any danger to its members?

I shall greatly appreciate the favor if you will give me any information that you can about this organization.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Our family dentist and friend has become terribly enthused about a certain anti-communist organization in our city. The John Birch Society, named after a soldier who was killed in World War II, seems to be made up of people who are so afraid of communism that they can't think rationally. They do not publicize their name, suspiciously enough, and distribute disturbing literature. In their efforts to combat communism, this society has attacked everyone from Mrs. Roosevelt to Christian Herter and are encouraging the impeachment of Earl Warren! I'm positive that our dentist, who has been avidly attempting to encourage my parents to join, is an innocent person who believes he is devoting his time to a worthwhile organization. The real reason my family and I are interested is that we fear that the communists themselves are behind this.

Mr. Hoover, I am seventeen years old, and I have grown tremendously interested in foreign policy and the strengthening of American prestige abroad. As a young person, perhaps I am inclined to be excitable and jump to conclusions. I realize that there must be a great number of communists in the United States but I do not believe that as many of our public servants could be aiding Russia as this group is intimating. Having read some of their literature, I feel that someone is behind this organization that is trying to create fear and panic in our country to prevent organized and rational action. I have taken one of the articles we have been given to send to you. The article by the University of Illinois professor, if there is such a person, does not belong to me. Please read it and if you feel that the John Birch Society deserves any degree of attention from your organization, please get in touch with me. My parents feel that this society is dangerous but they weren't sure what to do about it. If you are aware of the existence of this group or if you feel that they are merely exercising their right of freedom of speech, we shall understand. Thank you for your attention and the work you have been doing for our nation.

TRUE COPY

Dear Mr. Hoover:

This past wk. I was shown a photostatic (and I asked permission to type it for a copy of my own) copy of the above, and decided you were the best organization to look into this. There is a John Birch Society in the Redstone-Plentywood Sheridan County area. It is causing a lot of stir around here. We don't belong to the society, my husband and I think we can best serve our country by sending these items into you & working on the local level here by keeping our school free of communision by checking our teachers, so we are sure they are all on the level. If you wish to have us continue to do this let us know, if not we won't trouble you, because you must get millions of letters.

Also a big question here is, a woman pays $12.00 per yr. and a man $24.00 per year. This money we are told gets placed in an envelope and sent to headquarters. Their goal is a million members, that would be close to would be an enormouse amount of money. A book, called the "Blue Book" is given to the members, The "Politician" which is mentioned must be in circulation among the leaders of the Society, because when you hear them talk, their opinion of Eisenhower is nil.

Hope this isn't to much trouble but I feel better having sent it on to you.

Sincerely

ALL AMERICA MUST KNOW THE TERROR THAT IS UPON US.

(From a speech by Dr. R. P. Oliver, University of Illinois Professor of the Classics, in March, 1959, before the DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION Annual Illinois State Convention. Dr. Oliver has life tenure at the University of Illinois and writes for NATIONAL REVIEW and other libertarian publications.)

Distribute this to others!

You have doubtless seen the recent and cleverly advertised book entitled What We Must Know About Communism by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet. It is a strange book. I cannot take time to analyze it or to discuss the possible motives for the authors' silence about the most important parts of the vast web of subversion that extends from the humblest primary school to the highest court in our land. But I shall limit myself to matters that the Overstreets ignore or evade. And I can give only the most perfunctory summary of a few selected aspects of the terror that is upon us.

I first encountered Communists and their allies, the "liberal intellectuals," when I was a lad in college, and I then formed the impression of them that so many people of my generation still carry in their minds. The pro-Communists among my fellows were so childish and so ignorant! Many of them, to be sure, were glib enough in parroting the phrases and arguments they had heard or read, but they obviously belonged to the group that worked hard only to avoid hard intellectual work. They talked, and they seemed to believe, Marxism, a crude and absurd superstition that can be taken seriously by no one who has any knowledge of human history and Occidental culture.

There were also a few members of the faculty who were obviously pro-Communist—remember that this was years and years ago, and the college in which I was an undergraduate was not so progressive as others even at that time—a few members of the faculty, I say, but they were all teaching the "science" of "education" or some similar bunk that was obviously a fraud on the public and an insult to the intelligence of an educated man. My friends and I thought the Commies, young or old, very funny.

We had all heard, of course, of what had happened and was happening in Russia, but we did not know then what everyone knows now, that the Bolshevik butchery in Russia had been organized in the United States, financed from the United States, and carried out by a gang of 1700 disciplined assassins, most of whom came from New York City. And in any case Russia was a distant and barbarous country, and nothing could be more ludicrous than a suggestion that what had happened there could conceivably happen here. . . .

I spent the war mostly in Washington, in the most secret department of the Army, and my first shock virtually coincided with the beginning of my work there. One of our basic maxims was this: "Remember that everything that is known in the White House is known in the Kremlin." That was a shock at the time, although now, of course, everyone who has read at all about Communism knows that Roosevelt's assistant, Lauchlin Currie, a counterpart of the more recently infamous Sherman Adams, was a Communist agent and that he, with a trained corps of at least thirty traitors, presided over all the activities of the White House.

It was not until later that Harry Hopkins, the man who dispatched to Moscow all the plans for the atomic bomb together with the materials necessary to manufacture it, moved into the White House to supervise the work of treason.

At that time Washington was full of Communists, both domestic and foreign, and they had already obtained that complete control of most of the governmental bureaus that they have held ever since and progressively increased. It was a matter of common knowledge that in many of the civilian agencies only persons approved by the Communist party could hold offices of any responsibility. That is, of course, mere commonplace now, and, in informed circles, was mere commonplace then.

We all know, for example that Congressman Dies of Texas happened to obtain photographs of a part of the Communist records which showed that 2,500 members of just three governmental departments—State, Justice, and Interior—were card-carrying members of the Communist Party. He took those records to President Roosevelt, who, in one of those fits of almost insane temper to which he was so frequently subject, screamed out, "Many of my best friends are Communists!," and ordered the Congressman from the room.

It is not so generally known that a presidential order commanded the Naval Intelligence service immediately to cease all inquiry into the activities of Communists, whether domestic or alien, and to destroy all records concerning Communist traitors and spies.

Washington was in 1942 what it is today —a city in which, as one bureaucrat complacently assured me, "you've got to be a Communist to get anywhere." It was even a city in which it was dangerous to be an American. I was there during the obscene farce—in many ways a tragic farce—called the "Sedition Trial." Everyone in Washington knew that the one purpose of this trial was to intimidate Americans. Read about it sometime. Thirty men and women from all over the country, most of whom had never even heard of one another and who had in common only outspoken criticism of Communism, were hauled to Washington in hand-cuffs and leg irons, imprisoned in cells kept dark so that they could not read, and subjected to the most fantastic trial for conspiracy ever conducted outside Russia or an admittedly satellite state.

The presiding judge, Eicher, who had, I understand, been appointed on the demand of Felix Frankfurter, was one of the new breed of Federal judges, that is to say, viciously corrupt, and he finally died while under impeachment for malfeasance in office.

The Assistant-Attorney-General of the U. S. who prosecuted the case was another protege of Felix Frankfurter, and he was rewarded for his efforts when in 1950 he went to Russia as the personal guest of Stalin.

The Hungarian revolt provides one of the hundreds of bits of evidence that show the close cooperation between the Kremlin and the bureaucracy that captured Washington under Franklin Roosevelt and has been expanding and strengthening itself ever since.

When the Hungarian people spontaneously rose in revolt, they were, as several refugees have assured me, cozened and confused by lying broadcasts from the radio station that is so sardonically called Radio Free Europe. This station, which, as Fulton Lewis has recently shown, is staffed largely by Communist agents, is supported by secret grants from C.I.A., our Central Intelligence Agency. It is also supported by funds collected every year from the American people. That is just a bit of Communist humor. They delight in tricking Americans into contributing money to ostensibly charitable enterprises for their own destruction.

When the Hungarians suffered, and died, and begged in vain for help, only one nation in Europe dared to offer them even a modicum of assistance. That was Spain, a nation headed by General Francisco Franco, whom the Communist-dominated press in the United States so regularly vilifies. Spain agreed to send the Hungarians the weapons they most desperately needed, anti-tank guns. Spain arranged to transport the guns in her own planes, and arranged with Germany to permit these planes, on their return trip, to land to refuel, since the Spanish planes could not carry enough gasoline for a round trip. Now our Central Intelligence Agency, which seems never to be able to discover anything to the advantage of the United States, quickly found out about the Spanish plan to help the Hungarians.

The C.I.A transmitted the information to our State Department, which immediately went into action and brought very strong pressure to bear on the German government to cancel the permission that had been given for the Spanish planes to refuel on their return journey. Thus was Washington able to save the Russians considerable inconvenience during their massacre of the Hungarians.

The Central Intelligence Agency is an organization so secret that even our senators are not allowed to know anything of its operations. But, as was recently disclosed in National Review, the head of any section of this agency has full power to employ even persons whose Communist records are in the files of the F.B.I. The agency has undoubtedly undergone progressive change in the past nine years. It was in June, 1949, you will remember, that Admiral Hillenkoetter, who was then head of the agency, received an inquiry from Senator McCarran concerning one hundred new appointees to the United Nations staff. Admiral Hillenkoetter replied that according to a preliminary check of his records, 29 of these appointees were officers in the Communist Party and that 32 others were known members of the Russian espionage system. Admiral Hillenkoetter was immediately transferred to a desolate outpost in the Pacific. This was, of course, but one of the many incidents by which our army and navy officers have been shown that they dare not do anything that would displease our Communist conspirators.

I trust that you have not overlooked the latest triumph of what may fairly be called the Washington-Moscow Axis. The Batista government in Cuba was not, to be sure, a perfect government, but it probably was as good a government as one could ever reasonably expect to find in an island largely populated by mongrels. Batista, however, had committed the one sin that is unforgiveable in the eyes of the people who call themselves our "liberal intellectuals": he was an enemy of Communism. Not only was he a reliable ally of the United States, but he had even gone so far as to sever diplomatic relations with Russia, an act which greatly embarrassed our State Department. It was clear, therefore, that he must be eliminated. Accordingly the revolt led by Fidel Castro was organized. You will recall that some of the preparations for it were quite openly made in Florida.

Now although Castro thought it worth while to say that he is not himself a member of the Communist Party, his principal assistants including his brother, were notorious Communists, and no reasonable person, even slightly acquainted with Latin-American affairs, could ever have doubted that the Castro revolt was a Communist operation intended primarily to secure bases for the many Russian submarines which are constantly cruising along our Atlantic Coast, and to permit the establishment of rocket bases within one hundred miles of American soil.

During the progress of his takeover in Cuba, Castro received supplies from Russian submarines, and, of course, vast quantities from the United States. The shipments from Florida were, of course, technically smuggled to him, but oddly enough our government was never able to intercept them.

But even with this help Castro would have failed but for the energetic intervention of our State Department. The technique used is, of course, a standard procedure and should be quite familiar to all of us by now.

You will recall that when General George Marshall was sent to China to arrange for the Communist occupation of that country, he was able to accomplish his mission by simply cutting off from General Chiang Kai-Shek the supplies of ammunition that he needed for his soldier's rifles, which were all, of course, of American manufacture. $150,000,000 worth of ammunition on ships that were about to land was simply dumped in the ocean, and, of course, no further shipments were made. Thus Chiang Kai-Shek's men could not use even their rifles, to say nothing of machine guns and artillery, and he had to retreat before the Communist invaders, who had been equipped with the huge Japanese stores of weapons and munitions that we had turned over to them in Manchuria.

Following this established pattern, our State Department cut off all supplies of ammunition to the small army of Colonel Batista in Cuba, which was, of course, equipped with weapons purchased in the United States. Even ammunition that Batista had bought and already paid for was confiscated on the docks. It seems quite clear that Batista's men did not desert: they simply had nothing to shoot.

You will also remember that while the great betrayal in China was under way under the direction of such eminent figures as General Marshall and Professor Owen Lattimore, the controlled press in this country was filled with propaganda to the effect that Chiang Kai-Shek was a scoundrel, and that the Communists in China were just innocent "agrarian reformers."

The same technique is, of course, now being used. The press is once again filled with manufactured reports of the past iniquities of Batista, and with glowing accounts of Fidel Castro as an "agrarian reformer" and the "George Washington of Cuba." . . .

As soon as the Russians have built their submarine bases and set up the launching fields for ballistic missiles in Cuba, our State Department will no doubt again tell us: "Oops! We were mistaken. But now that launching sites for atomic missiles have been set up within one hundred miles of the United States, war is unthinkable, ain't it?"

By the way, you will probably witness in the next few months the destruction of our only remaining ally in the Caribbean—our only certain ally south of Canada, the Dominican Republic. That was, to my mind, clearly forecast by the Galindez affair three years ago, but it has now been made quite certain by our recent official proclamation, issued over the name of President Eisenhower, to the effect that we look with great disapproval upon "dictators" such as General Trujillo

The Communist underground is our real danger, and no one can accurately measure its total strength. Its members all vociferously deny that they are Communists, and they are so organized that when everything is working properly no one conspirator can positively identify more than five of his accomplices. Louis Budenz recounts with wry humor that when he had worked himself far enough up in the Communist Party to become managing editor of the Daily Worker and a member of the official party's national executive council, he began to fancy himself a person of some importance, until one of his superiors remarked dryly, "Son, all that you have seen is just the periscope of the submarine."

On 3 March 1958 Congressman Francis E. Walter published a report that "the Kremlin has succeeded in enlisting, at a conservative estimate, more than a million Americans. . . . There are at this moment the equivalent of some twenty combat divisions of enemy troops on American soil . . . troops that are loyal only to the Soviets." In other words, you are now living in a country that has been partly occupied. Unless the American people now make a desperate effort to save themselves, they will, within four years, I think, find themselves in the position of the Hungarians when they made their frantic effort to regain their freedom three years ago.

(Professor Oliver's speech will be concluded next month with the background of the Communist Party in America from 1872 to the present time—giving startling information on Communist infiltration in one of the largest departments of our Federal Government.)

ALL AMERICA MUST KNOW

How Reds Work In Our Government

(From a speech by Dr. R. P. Oliver, University of Illinois Professor of the Classics, in March, 1959, before the DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION Annual Illinois State Convention. (Continued from May Issue)

In Washington it was—and is—easy to meet Communists; in fact, what is difficult is to avoid meeting them. I tried to take advantage of the opportunity to observe the vermin socially. And I have been observing them ever since.

There are two basic facts that one must bear in mind when one tries to understand Communists.

First, all the talk about an "ideological struggle" is mostly nonsense. No Communist, except gullible college boys and other children, really believes in the doctrine of socialism. Marx's absurd theories are merely a propaganda device, a means to an end. The intellectual processes of the Communist have been well explained by Czeslaw Milosz in his Captive Mind, and by Gerhart Niemeyer in his Inquiry into the Soviet Mentality, but they were best epitomized by Duane Thorin.

This young American, who had somehow escaped brain-washing in his high school and college, was taken prisoner in Korea and interrogated for months by the Chinese Communists who sought to convert him. He received some attention from a really important Communist official, and his native shrewdness enabled him to see that the Communists who make the decisions had only contempt for their inferiors who really believed the Marxist propaganda. As Thorin neatly puts it: "Intellects that failed to see through the falsities of Communism were so arrested that they were of only limited use in the totalitarian state."

It is quite incorrect, therefore, to say of a Communist, unless you mean that he is a fool, that he believes in Communism. Communism is not a theory in which men may believe; it is a conspiracy in which men participate. So far as Communism has an intellectual basis, that basis may be found in the doctrine, not of Karl Marx, but of John Dewey. The Communist is the perfect Pragmatist; he is a Nihilist; he believes that there is no such thing as truth. He repudiates and hates all the traditions and culture of the Past; there is no truth, there is no value in the world but the satisfaction of his own whims and appetites, whatever they may be. Intellectually speaking, he is a beast—perhaps the lowest and most dangerous of all beasts.

Perhaps the neatest illustration of the intellectual processes of a Communist and the jargon that he loves to use will be found in comments made to me by a university president some time ago. I had happened to mention the old ideal of scholarship and learning: disinterested pursuit of truth. I thought that he would at least pay lipservice to this ideal, but he interrupted me imperiously.

"There is no truth but social truth," he said.

"And what," I asked, "is social truth?"

He replied quite simply: "It is what it is expedient for a society to tell its members."

"And who," I asked, "determines what story it is expedient to tell the suckers?"

He smiled. "WE do."

Now I cannot be certain that the man in question was a member of the Communist underground, but the reasoning that he employed is that of the Communist mind. There is no truth; there is only expediency. Truth, in other words, is lies.

But intellectual nihilism, the repudiation of all concepts of truth, justice, humanity, is not sufficient to explain the terrible energy of the Communist conspiracy. That energy is emotional: it is a lust, a craving, a passion. I had my first glimpse of this passion early in my days in Washington.

I met a young man who had just come into the army. He looked like an amiable college boy, and, as a matter of fact, he had been graduated from law school only two or three years before. He had been working for the Labor Relations Board, and he enthusiastically described to me the way in which he and his colleagues would raid small American corporations that were inclined to be recalcitrant, seize their books and cart them off, ostensibly for the purpose of photographing them, but actually to force the company, paralyzed by the loss of its records, to submit. I was a little shocked, and I asked, "Lieutenant, didn't it seem to you that you were violating the constitutional rights of American business men?" He was a young man, and he answered promptly, "Rights? Why, they're capitalists. When we stand them up against a wall, we will shoot them in the belly: they die longer that way."

That was how I first came to suspect the real orientation of Communist minds, but only after years of observation, and with help from the illuminating analysis by Denis de Rougemont, did I realize that the young man was exceptional only in the readiness with which he let slip the mask. The true Communist, whatever disguise he may wear when he moves among you, is, in the literal and exact meaning of the English word, a thug, that is, a man who has made a religion of murder.

He is driven by an overwhelming lust to destroy and uproot, to annihilate civilization, to kill—and even more than that, to make decent men and women suffer, to degrade them to the level of animals. And he will work constantly, tirelessly, with infinite cunning for his ideal: The day when he will drag you from your home, kick in your teeth, crack your ribs, and throw you into a slave-labor camp where you will drag out the rest of your life in a degradation that you have never imagined even in nightmares. That is what he yearns for. Economic and social theories are merely a disguise to befuddle suckers.

In 1872, when the headquarters of the international Communist conspiracy were openly and officially transferred to New York City, there were only a few hundred people in the United States who were inspired by this bloodlust. But they went to work, patiently, doggedly, and with vicious cunning, to extend their tentacles over the entire nation. They went underground. By 1876 practically all of the members, including, of course, the new recruits, had been instructed to conceal their membership and deny that they were Communists; to penetrate existing American organizations, and to help one another attain positions of influence and power in those organizations; to work for the Communist goal under the guise of "social reform" and "democracy." This is, of course, the basic strategy that has been followed ever since.

By 1907 the Communists were strong enough to organize a wing of the party that operated openly under the leadership of a criminal named William Z. Foster. One of Foster's closest associates and advisers, in 1907 or soon thereafter, was Felix Frankfurter, an immigrant who had wormed his way into the post of secretary to the Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Howard Taft.

By 1910 the first big Communist cell was planted in an American university—Harvard, of course. So far as I have been able to learn, the famous cells in Teachers College of Columbia University were not organized until somewhat later.

By 1917 the Communist conspiracy in the United States was strong enough directly to affect the policies of the American government. As everyone knows, the Communist seizure of power in Russia was carried out by criminals trained in the United States. A whole shipload of this vermin was sent from New York City under the command of a butcher named Leib Bronstein, who became famous under one of his many aliases, Leon Trotsky. This ship was intercepted by the British Navy and taken to Halifax, but a vigorous protest from President Wilson forced the British to release this shipment of human germs and escort it to Russia.

The pressure on Wilson doubtless came from several sources, but the most important seems to have been a banker named Jakob Schiff, who had been the financial manager of Wilson's presidential campaign, and whose banking house, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., had more than a year earlier deposited in Swedish banks $50,000.000 in the name of Trotsky and another degenerate whose true name and early career has never been satisfactorily ascertained but who is known to history as Nikolai Lenin.

In 1918 Felix Frankfurter was publicly denounced by former President Theodore Roosevelt as an accomplice of Lenin and Trotsky. He accordingly retired from the American government to a professorship in Harvard University, where he settled down to train two generations of traitors and slip them into positions of responsibility in Washington or into law schools throughout the nation. Alger Hiss was but one of the hundreds whom Frankfurter prepared for their important tasks.

I have mentioned these dates primarily to remind you of the great progress that the Communist conspiracy made before 1919, when they decided to set up an official political party headed again by William Z. Foster. This official party, the segment of the conspiracy that is openly displayed, has never been large. It probably has never had over 90,000 card-carrying members at any one time. It has served on the one hand as a recruiting and testing agency to enlist talented conspirators who, after they had proven their worth and ability, could quietly be transferred to one or another division of the underground, and it has served on the other hand as a shield to mask and facilitate the work of the part of the apparatus that consists of conspirators who pose as "liberal intellectuals," and who urge the American people to save themselves from Communism by reforming their legal and economic system along Communist lines at home, and by taxing themselves to finance Communist governments abroad. . . .

Now these foreign events, although, of course, designed to weaken further our military position, are, in the Communist plans, strictly subordinate to the great program of internal subversion. This also has its center in Washington. Let me call your attention to one detail that you may not have noticed. We have all read about the president's so-called "economy" budget, and the loud yammering in Congress for increased expenditures, which is, of course, primarily a means of making foolish Americans think they have gained something if merely the crippling burden of that "economy" budget is dumped on their backs. Taxation has always been one or the primary instruments of the Communist conspiracy. You may remember the famous remark that is attributed to Harry Hopkins, I know not how accurately: "We have to bleed the American pigs dry before we butcher them."

But in this "economy" budget one should note which department of government was granted the largest increase. It is the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, which, in this budget, is granted a total outlay of $3,139,719,000—an increase of one billion dollars over 1954. Now this is the agency that is spending its money to promote such things as fluoridation of public water supplies.

By the way, you are here on the scene of one of their great triumphs, probably a triumph obtained by lavish expenditures from the Federal treasury. The unfortunate people of Chicago were ordered by the little dictator in their city hall to drink water contaminated with sodium fluoride, and they are now drinking it, and are not even allowed to express their own opinion by a vote.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is also the agency that is currently promoting another Communist scheme to enlist the services of well-meaning dupes under the guise of "social good." The current agitation about Mental Health was begun by the World Health Organization whose president was that ubiquitous traitor, Alger Hiss. It is sponsored in this country by the National Association for Mental Health, whose director, Julius Schrieber, refused to tell a Congressional committee whether or not he was a Communist on the grounds that his answer might incriminate him.

But the greatest promotion is, of course, done with your money by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. In this one department, according to Herbert Philbrick, an agent of the F.B.I. who spent nine years in the Communist party, you will find fully one-third of the top echelon of Communist conspirators in this country. Note, please, that he does not say that one-third of the people in the Department are Communists. On the contrary, observers in Washington estimate that 75% to 80% of the responsible officers are conspirators.

Philbrick's point is that of the whole top echelon of international criminals, one-third have chosen to place themselves in that one department. That's a lot of rotten eggs to put in one basket, but the statistic will help you understand why this department needs $3,139,719,000 for its "minimal" operations next year.

I have said enough, I think, to suggest how desperate our situation is. Our ancestors were never confronted by a danger so terrible and so immediate.

But I permit myself to see some hope. As the huge sale of the Overstreet book shows, the American people, who watched in a narcotic apathy, induced by the press and the radio, while the Communist conspiracy struck down the late Senator Joseph McCarthy, are at last becoming faintly aware of their danger. Some people everywhere have been made uneasy by such outrageous exhibitions of Communist confidence as the use of paratroopers to overawe Americans who thought that they had constitutional rights. Protest is at last being heard against taxes that are imposed ostensibly for "welfare" and "progress," but in reality merely to bleed dry what Hopkins called "the American pigs." Farmers are rejecting the bribes offered them by the commissars, and resenting governmental terrorism. And what is even more important, on the local level in many a community people are becoming aware of the real purposes behind such things as regional planning, fluoridation, "mental health," "counselling programs" in the schools, and the many other local activities that serve the Communist purpose of persuading the boobs to fasten on themselves their own chains.

I know of no more clear and concise program for Americans than that which you set forth in the magnificent set of resolutions adopted last April by your Continental Congress. I may say that I first permitted myself to hope when I read those resolutions in the pages of the American Mercury, a magazine which, by the way, the Communist conspiracy, through its control of the distributing agencies, has succeeded in barring from most of the nation's newsstands.

Remember that the tentacles of the conspiracy reach into your home town, where its puppets are promoting fluoridation, "mental health," and innumerable other plans to accustom us to gradually increasing slavery and intimidation. On these issues also you have in your resolutions given Americans a program for action.

Take that program and act by it in all matters, national or local. Make your voice heard. Each one of you belongs to a club or a social circle. Speak out; tell Americans of their danger. I ask you for courage and resolution: you have displayed them as an organization; now display them as individuals in the community to which you belong.

This may, I know, entail some sacrifice. But our ancestors risked their lives and their honor to create this nation. Is it too much to ask us to risk our lives, if necessary, to recapture it from our enemies?

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am very interested in doing what I can to alert my friends to the danger of International Communism. I have enjoyed your articles, and have passed many of the re-prints, especially those that appear in The Reader's Digest, on to my friends.

Lately I have heard of an organization known as The John Birch Society, that seems to be directed by Mr. Robert Welch of Massachusetts. From what I have been able to find out, this seems to be a very worthwhile organization with the same general principles.

I wonder if you are familiar with this organization and would be kind enough to advise me of its objectives?

Dear Sirs:

I am interested in the John Birch Society. Its goals and interests appear to be in the interest of freedom as opposed to communism and an over socialization of our country. I have no method of investigating nor judging said society and am desirous of knowing whether the organization is affiliated with any known communist organization or has promoted anything considered subversive or unAmerican.

I would appreciate a synopsis of the opinions and findings of Federal Bureau of Investigation on the John Birch Society.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

NOTE: Correspondent is not identifiable in Bufiles. Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, has been bitter in attacks upon the Eisenhower Administration, and our field offices have been alerted to watching the activities of his group

It has been necessary on several occasions to admonish Myron C. Fagan, national director of the Cinema Educational Guild, Inc., for his use of the Bureau's name in furthering the sensational-type literature his group disseminates. He also has implied that he has had access to our files.

America's Future, Inc., has not been investigated by the Bureau, and John T. Flynn, its head, is a veteran writer and lecturer on anticommunism. He was affiliated with the America First Committee during World War II. (62-60629)

Correspondent's inquiry regarding impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren is probably submitted since some of Myron C. Fagan's leaflets have urged such impeachment.

Dag Hammarskjold is a Communist. The Russians are yelling wolf so we anti-communists will want Hammarskjold to stay active in the U. N.

Rev. Oxnam, head of the Methodist Church is a Communist. This is a Methodist town.

After all his warning he said there is nothing we can do about Communists and their activities because our future is predicted in the Bible.

Now I might be assuming this is possibly a Communist movement rather than an anti-Communist one? What is your advice. Any information you can send me will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Several weeks ago a friend and neighbor invited me to look over several pamphlets and papers that were distributed to the members of the "John Birch for America" group. I believe the title is accurate. I am writing to you because its members refer to the group as being the only such group to have the sanction of J. Edgar Hoover and the F. B. I. The purpose of the group is the fight against communism.

I have enclosed a pamphlet that has been distributed in the high school. My daughter is a debate student and a very good one I might add. The article is in my estimation a condemnation of the United Nations and ignorant of debate procedure at least as it applies to this area. There are statements in this pamphlet that deeply disturb me. I'm upset to think that in these days of world tension when our President is urging strong support of the United Nations as our bulwark against communist aggression that such literature is being placed in the hands of adults much less those of our high school students.

A few weeks ago as a sponsor of a Tri-Hi-Y group I was present when our group was invited by a Hi-Y group to hear its guest speaker, who was giving a talk about communism. She was introduced as being an authority on the subject, but then all of a sudden here in Midland we've a flood of such authorities. At the close of her talk she asked for questions. My daughter immediately plunged into the topic of the United Nations. When her questions demanded logical answers, the speaker closed the discussion by an abrupt remark that in her estimation it would be better if the United States withdrew from the U. N.

Tonight in one of our junior high schools there was a talk, before the PTA, against communism given by a former pediatrician. It worries me considerably this great flow of talk [illegible] 1961 elementary teachers, doctors, business men, etc. on a most serious subject.

I should sincerely appreciate knowing first of all if the afore-mentioned group is in fact authorized and sanctioned by you and the FBI. Secondly I should welcome your opinion and advice as regards the enclosed pamphlet being circulated and exposure of our youth to speakers corroborating such theories.

One of the introductory questions by the speakers here is "Would you know a Communist if you met one?" well, I'm not at all sure I would, but I am sure that I'm not going to be shaken in my faith in God, this beloved country and my hopes for the success of the United Nations.

I should like to believe that there are sincere efforts being made to awaken our community to the dangers of communism but fail to see how undermining the United Nations, Nato and the administration while promoting isolation is the proper way to do so.

Thank you so much for your attention. It is selfish of me to presume upon your time when you are burdened with the security of millions but I'll be forever grateful for your counsel.

Sincerely,

Bufile 100-434516 contains a pamphlet issued by the Young Americans for Freedom (YAFF) which states that this organization was established at a national conference of conservative students and youth leaders held at Sharon, Connecticut, during September, 1960. This conference issued a statement which stated in part "that the forces of international communism are at present the greatest single threat to these (constitutional) liberties; that the United States should stress victory over, rather than coexistence with, this (communist) menace..." Its task is to enlist members from every campus and every community and to organize programs which will develop local conditions and which will achieve local conservative objectives. Material available does not indicate that this group is a subversive organization.

On the morning of February 24, 1961, above-named individual called the Bureau from Louisville, Kentucky, and was referred to SA Thomas F. Mitchell of the Crime Research Section. Mr. Palmer - Ball identified himself as Vice-President of the Palmer Asbestos and Rubber Corporation in Louisville and a volunteer coordinator in the Louisville area for the John Birch Society.

Mr. Palmer - Ball advised that recently the Louisville Courier-Journal ran an article "smearing" the society. He said that last Sunday the newspaper, over its radio station in Louisville, WHAS, continued what appears to be a definite attack on the society by presenting a radio program entitled, "Moral Side of the News." Guests on this program were four ministers of the Louisville area who attacked the society stating that it was a fascist organization and could be compared with the Hitler movement.

Mr. Palmer - Ball further stated that he feels the society itself could withstand such a smear attack, but he is anxious to launch a counter offense on behalf of the society in order to protect the individuals working for the society in Louisville. In connection with his counterattack, Mr. Palmer - Ball stated he planned on using the facilities of the weekly newspaper, "Voice of Saint Matthews," published in Saint Matthews, Kentucky, with a circulation of about 6,000.

Mr. Palmer - Ball requested that the Director, if possible, send him a letter setting forth his knowledge of the John Birch Society and its aims. He added that if the Director could not furnish him such a letter, he would appreciate any suggestions the FBI might make as to how such a smear attack could be fought.

57 MAR 10 1961

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
Re: Mr. Shirley Palmer - Ball

There is no record in Bureau files identifiable with this individual. The John Birch Society has been the subject of numerous inquiries received at the Bureau. Founded by Mr. Robert Welch, of Belmont, Mass., it is allegedly an anti-communist organization, but Welch has stated that it might take on the appearance of the "front" in order to attract true subversives. Welch has been openly critical of former President Eisenhower, and in his book, "The Politician" in a vicious attack on Eisenhower, he accused the President of being a dupe of the communists.

Mr. Palmer - Ball was advised that the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication, or individual. The Director, therefore, would be unable to help but that no inference should be drawn from this fact either that we do or do not have data in our files regarding this society.

Domestic Intelligence Division advised that early in February on the Director's instructions a limited inquiry was initiated into the John Birch Society. Boston has been instructed to obtain from established sources information concerning the corporation, its officials, and sources of income.

With regard to the Louisville Courier-Journal our relations with this paper have been very spotty with both favorable and unfavorable editorials. In December, 1958, they were extremely critical of the Director's response to unfavorable criticism. At that time they ran a scandalous cartoon with the caption, "Thou shalt not criticize the FBI."

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It is a known fact that we are living in an age of deceit. This causes one who is interested in good government to be most cautious in lending his support to various groups which promote good government.

As most communist front groups are operating under the guise of humane and patriotic societies, I am compelled to consult you and your wealth of information about one group in particular. This group is known as the John Birch Society, having it's headquaters in Belmont, Massachusetts. I am convinced this is one of the most devout anti-communist groups in operation today. It's principle leader seems to have more information on comminist activities at his disposal than our entire congress. I would say it has it's roots in the constitution of the United States as set forth in 1787 as opposed to the watered down version of the present time.

I would greatly appreciate any comments you will make and information you may give me concerning this, John Birch Society, group and it's activities.

Thanking you in advance, I remain,

Dear Mr. Lebak:

Your letter was received on February 27, 1961, and your interest in writing is appreciated.

While I would like to be of assistance, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not furnish evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I hope you will not infer in this connection either that our files do or do not contain data relative to the group you mentioned.

This Bureau does not issue a list such as you described. You can obtain a list of organizations which have been cited by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450 by writing to the Subversive Organizations Section, Internal Security Division, U. S. Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C. You may also be interested in a booklet entitled "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications." Although this booklet is currently out of print, you may be able to secure a copy from your local library.

Dear Sirs:

The people in this area are in the process of organizing into "John Birch Society" chapters and I am making preparations to start one in Alexander, N. Dak. I want to do all I can to help combat communism, but want to be on the right track. Would you kindly inform me as to your opinion on this group. It looks all right to me, but would hate to be wrong on it.

Is it possible to acquire any list of people and organizations listed as communist. Would like any available information that would be a help in the battle. Also it might be well to find out the proper procedure in handling such lists.

Sincerely

Henry Lebak

Dear Miss [redacted]

Your letter dated February 27, 1961, has been received.

Although I would like to be of service, the functions and responsibilities of the FBI as strictly a fact-gathering agency do not extend to furnishing evaluations or drawing conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to comment concerning the group you named and hope you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have related data in our files.

For the above reasons we have not, consequently, compiled a list such as you described. If you would like to have a copy of the list of groups which have been designated by the Attorney General as coming within the scope of Executive Order 10450, your request should be submitted to the Subversive Organizations Section, Internal Security Division, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. We have been receiving numerous letters requesting information on the John Birch Society, Inc., which has its headquarters in Belmont, Mass. Its purpose is apparently to speak out against communist influences in our country.

We have contacted the society and received information from them. But our questioners want further information concerning the evaluation of this organization. We thought that the FBI might have information and evaluations on the John Birch Society.

Can you help us on this matter.

Sir: I would like some help in a problem about which I, as an American citizen, am greatly confused and worried. My neighbor is a member and staunch follower of the John Birch Society. I firmly believe the Society's premise that Communism is a serious threat and would like to join a group dedicated to fighting communism at every angle-however I can not help but doubt a group which condemns & criticizes every leader & institution of our American Government. I believe that underming the American people's faith in their government is aiding & abetting the Communist cause. My neighbor assures me that only by fighting (through letters etc) these elements which the John Birch Society declares (with what appears to be documented proof) to be subversive can we drive Communists from our Government.

Their current project is to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren. They believe there is sufficient evidence to prove that the Warren Court has decided in favor of the communist conspiracy at every opportunity. I have read their literature on this matter. Where can I obtain a more complete record of Supreme Court decisions?

Can you help me with any information concerning the ideals, plans & good faith of the John Birch Society and its founder Robert Welch?

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Please advise me. I have been asked to join a 'John Birch Group', and they claim that they are 100% against Communism. I'm against this too but after reading your ~~Bkk~~ book, Master's of Deceit,' I no longer know if a person dare get involved in any group activity. They all appear to be under suspicion.

This group says that it has been cleared by the Attorney General's office and also the F.B.I.. They mentioned something about the blue book (this I didnot understand too well.)

Could you please tell me what the opinion of the John Birch Society Group is in the eyes of the F.B.I.?

I want to help, if there is a way to help, our country to fight Communism or any other force that might endanger our free way of life. I just don't want to make a mistake. Please advise.

P S. Can you also give me any recent information on the agitators at the U. of Texas - are they still planning a repeat of The San Francisco Riots for next fall - if so what can our young group do to prevent it. We had thought of working with the Austin Freedom group, showing the film, "Operation Abolition" to the student body & then going to our respective sororities with our documentations to warn them of the planned riot next fall. I'd like your views on this and any suggestions as to how we should go about it.

Also - what is your opinion on the John Birch Society? Do you feel it is a good way for us to help in combating communism?

Many thanks for your time and information!

Dear Sir:

It is my sincerest hope that history will accord you the very highest niche on the scale of Americanism. It must be rather discouraging to feel that you are carrying on the good fight alone. Scores of conservative thinking Americans such as myself are waking up to the Communist menace, and are informing their senators and Representatives that we expect positive action in closing the gaps created in our laws that fight Communism. As a new member of the John Birch Society I wish to thank you for one of your works "Communist Target: Youth". This report and others like it are invaluable in concentrating our efforts toward fighting back, and not to slow surrender.

In closing I will say it is my fondest dream that within two years perhaps the shackles imposed within the last nine years will fall away.

Yours for America,

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter was received on March 1, 1961. I understand your deep concern over the grave threat presented by communism, and appreciate the interest which prompted you to write to me.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I would like to point out, however, my strong belief that full knowledge of the true nature of communism is vital if we are to effectively resist its influence. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it is often responsible for the reprehensive and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. Education is of strategic importance in the struggle raging between this evil conspiracy and the free world. When fully cognizant of the aims and objectives of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to combat this menace with the weapon it fears most--truth.

I am enclosing material on the general subject which you may find of interest. Some of this literature contains suggestions as to methods of fighting communism. Additional copies of any of these items can be sent to you in reasonable quantities on request and at no cost.

3. Corona del Mar, California
February 24, 1961

Mr. John Edgar Hoover, Director
United States Department of Justice
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter because of my growing concern about the increasing popularity of the John Birch Society, as directed by Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts. Inasmuch as your name and the Department of Justice is being tossed around (along with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and Jesus Christ) in the interests of this society, I would like to know how best to combat such an organization.

I should state that of course I am against Communism, and have the same query as many of my friends: "What is the best way to combat Communism -- besides reading authoritative books, being informed about local officials, school personnel, etc.?"

It seems very clear to most of us locally in our forties and fifties that a society such as "John Birch" has many evils, not the least of which is the attempt to destroy our confidence in Kennedy and Johnson, Nixon and Lodge alike, the advocation of impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, the abolition of the United Nations, and the elimination of a democratic form of government. But the fact remains that this society is being contributed to and fostered by a large number of young married couples in their twenties -- well-to-do, probably very sincere, and pseudo-intellectual. This is a source of great worry to those of us who recognize Robert Welch not as a guiding light but as possibly 1) a Communist, or 2) a Fascist, or 3) a possible candidate for another party, or 4) at least a crackpot. Whatever he may be, he is gaining a goodly number of ardent supporters who are dedicated and who are pouring money into his till, and in return are happy to take his advice. As he says in his two-hour lecture film, the goal is a million people, each with a $1000 life membership.

I feel sure that your Bureau is well aware of all this, but do you have some ammunition with which the average citizen can combat it? It is very painful to watch, especially when the current violently anti-Communistic feeling is something we all earnestly want. To use sincere people honestly interested in fighting Communism for this purpose is a terrible waste. But if one offers an argument, one is looked upon as a poor, misguided soul -- or as a pro-Communist.

I am appealing to you because - so far - your word is greatly respected. Unfortunately, you are often quoted only in part, and your warning against vigilante action is ignored.

Gentlemen:

Will you please give me any information that you can about the John Birch Society, Inc, Belmont 78, Mass?

A Chapter has been formed here recently and I have been approached with an invitation to join. I understand that it is Anti-Communist which is good, but is it recognized by your Department as a bona fide organization? All good Americans want to stop Communism and I too want to do what I can, but can my small dues do more good in some other way that by joining this group? Your comments will be appreciated. Thank you.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

First you must know that I have been among the group of Americans you so aptly describe as "apathetic". I have always been conscious there were communists in America but have always been indifferent to their activities. Recently and only recently some friends of mine of whom I'm extremely fond handed me some literature to read. Among the various articles are your own "Communist Targets - Youth" and a reprint from the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, March, 1960, with your attached "Analysis of the 17th National Convention of the Communist Party, USA".

The knowledge garnered from these articles has infuriated me for being so indifferent to the danger and to the point where I must fight this insidious disease with all the abilities God has given me. It is along these lines I seek your counsel, not as the head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation but as an authority on communism and as a loyal American.

The "various articles" other than yours, mentioned in paragraph one, were written by such men as Dr. Fred Schwarz, Kenneth Goff, Tom Hutton and Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society. It is about the latter I inquire. I have read their "Blue Book" with which you are no doubt familar. I was impressed by many good points therein and confused by some of its' philosophy. I have not joined nor will not join until I can ascertain whether or not the John Birch Society is considered to be subversive. This seems to be the only cohesive force in this area dedicated to fighting communism but if you believe they are too far to the right then I will appreciate your advice in channeling my efforts.

NOTE: No record could be located in Bufiles identifiable with correspondent. For a number of years allegations have been made by a number of people including some clergymen to the effect that the National Council of Churches of Christ has been infiltrated by communists. Although we have never conducted an investigation of the NCCC, as such, we have kept abreast of the efforts of the Communist Party, (CP), USA, to infiltrate this organization through our over-all investigation of the CP, USA, and communist efforts to infiltrate mass-type organizations. It does not appear from the information we have developed that the CP, USA, is dictating the policies of the NCCC today.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, Robert Welch, its founder, has stated that the Society might take on the appearance of a "front" in order to attract true subversives. Letter to Mrs. [redacted] b6 b7C

NOTE: Bufiles contain no record identifiable with correspondent. The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, Robert Welch, its founder, has stated that the Society might take on the appearance of a "front" in order to attract true subversives. During the Eisenhower Administration, Welch criticized the President to the point of calling him a dupe of the communists.

Pasadena, Calif.

Sir,

I have the opportunity to join the "John Birch" Society. This seems to be an organization that is really doing something about Communism locally where people like me can help too.

There is so much controversy on the John Birch Society lately in my town, I wonder if you could tell me if this organization is lawful & proper and clear with your office. Thank you,

Memorandum

TO : DIRECTOR, FBI DATE: 3/7/61

FROM : SAC, CHARLOTTE (100-9458)

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING - INTERNAL SECURITY

On 2/21/61, Mr. [redacted] contacted the Greensboro, N. C. Resident Agency. b6 b7C

Mr. [redacted] advised that he was extremely interested in anti-Communist activities and that he had recently heard of the John Birch Society and understood that their purpose was to fight Communism in the U. S. However, he advised that prior to joining any such society he desired to ascertain if this organization was in any way subversive.

He stated he had written to the headquarters of the John Birch Society at Belmont, Mass., and received some publications from this organization. He stated that in these publications it listed some of the council members, among which that were well known was Mr. T. COLEMAN ANDREWS, former Director of Internal Revenue Service, and ADOLPH MENJOU, movie actor. These publications further indicated to him that this organization was organized at Indianapolis, Ind. in 1958, and that one Mr. ROBERT WELCH was the founder of this society.

He stated that if he could ascertain that this organization was not subversive and was actually dedicated to fighting Communism in the United States as reflected in its publications he would be interested in such a society at Salem, Va., where he resides.

Mr. [redacted] was advised that the jurisdiction and responsibility of the FBI do not extend to furnishing evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. He was advised the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal government and as such does not issue clearances or non-clearances.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I would appreciate it very much if you would advise me as to the position of the Federal Bureau of Investigation with regard to The John Birch Society. A number of my friends belong to this group and according to my understanding of its purpose, it seems to be a worthwhile organization; however, before joining such a group, I would like to be certain that it is not regarded as a subversive organization by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Any information which you can furnish me as to the findings of your organization and your opinion regarding the value of this Society would be very greatly appreciated.

Yours very truly,

Your letter, with enclosure, was received on March 6, 1961, and your interest in writing is appreciated. I want to thank you for your prayers and kind comments about the work of this Bureau.

I am enclosing some material about communism, and you will notice that several of these reprints give suggestions for combating this conspiracy. There is no charge for any literature this Bureau is privileged to distribute; therefore, the money you forwarded is being returned.

While I would like to be of assistance with regard to the organization you mentioned, the FBI, as strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government, does not furnish evaluations or comments relative to the character or integrity of any individual, organization or publication. I hope you will not infer in this connection either that we do or do not have data in our files regarding the group about which you inquired.

Dear Mr. Hoover: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

This letter has been on my mind for many weeks now and today I felt I must get it off to you.

I have no vital information to relay, no spies to expose, no suggestions or complaints. To the contrary in fact.

I am writing to say "thank you" Mr. Hoover for the many, many years of dedicated, untarnished, vigilant service you have given to our country and hense to my own family.

b6
b7C

You are one of the few men in public service that I can point out to my children [redacted] and say "follow his example"

Within the past three years I have finally awakened to the Communist threat facing our nation and Mr. Hoover I tell you unashamed I'm afraid! and I am a woman 38 years of age.

How can we fight something we cannot see nor get ahold of, how do we know a Communist when we see one when they lie to hide their true dedication? How do we stamp out this vicious thing that spreads into every activity, occupation, level of life we know like an unchecked cancer.

My hours are filled to the brim with Cub Scout P.T.A. Little League and Church work. I send magazines to India to fight the Communist Propaganda, we have prepared our extra food and water in case of an emergency, I have a first-aid card, we try to live our lives as an example to our youngsters of their American Heritage. My husband is a veteran of WW 2. and the Korean conflict but with all this the fear remains.

I take great personal comfort in the fact that you are still in control of the F.B.I. with your finger on the pulse of this insiduase danger. I know that the Lord will not put more on us than we are able to bear.

I felt I wanted to tell you how very grateful our entire family is to you and I know there are millions more who share this feeling but have'nt the time to write.

Enclosed you will find $1.00 which I hope you will use to send me any information or publications you feel might aid me in seeing this thing called Communism alittle more clearly.

Before I close I would like to ask you one question.

An organization called the John Burke (Birch) group is becoming apparent in West Covina (our little city) dedicated to "Americanism,patriotism" etc, etc and sounded very good until they came out with the stateemant that they were against P.T.A. who they consider Communist inspired.

Do you know anything about this organization Mr. Hoover are they what they appear to be and just misinformed concerning P.T.A., or could it be that the P.T.A. has been infiltrated and needs to do alittle house cleaning also.

The above subject is of great concern to me and I would greatly appreciate any information you might have concerning this.

Once again may I express my sincere appreciation for all you have done for ALL AMERICANS in your position as Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Many prayers have been said in this house for your safety, health and continued guidence from above.

Sincerely.

Dear Sir:

There is currently a drive for membership to the John Birch Society going on in this area. Enclosed is a copy of a paper that is being used to promote the society.

Although one of my friends has approched the local FBI office about the society he has only received the answer that the FBI office is not an "educational office".

I am concerned over just what is the truth in this paper. This Jack Mabley has written his column in such a way that he would not have to present proof of the existance of the book that he refers to.

Could you shed any light on the subject? Perhaps you would rather have specific questions.

1. Who is telling the truth-Jack Mabley or Robert Welch?

2. If your office cannot assure me that the John Birch Society is anti-communist in nature- who can?

CON (Source: Chicago Daily News, 30 January 1961)

PRO (Source: "The Blue Book" of the John Birch Society)

The purpose of the organization is to fight communism through individual action and influence on American politics by the Society members.

The immediate and most urgent anxiety, of course, is the threat of the Communist conspiracy. And well it should be. For both internationally, and within the United States, the Communists are much further advanced and more deeply entrenched than is realized by even most of the serious students of the danger among the anti-Communists.

In summary, gentlemen, we are losing, rapidly losing, a cold war in which our freedom, our country, and our very existence are at stake. And while we don't seem to know we are losing this war, you can be sure the Communists do. There is just one thing -- only one thing in the whole world -- which the Communists fear today. It is that, despite their tremendous influence in our government and over all of our means of mass communication, the American people will wake up too soon to what has really been happening, and what is now happening right under their very noses.

This octopus is so large that its tentacles now reach into all of the legislative halls, all of the union labor meetings, a majority of the religious gatherings, and most of the schools of the whole world. It has a central nervous system which can make its tentacles in the labor unions of Bolivia, in the farmer's cooperatives of Saskatchewan, the caucuses of the Social Democrats of West Germany, and in the class rooms of the Yale Law School, all retract or reach forward simultaneously. It can make all of these creeping tentacles turn either right or left, or a given percentage turn right while the others turn left, at the same time, in accordance with the intentions of a central brain in Moscow or Ust'-Kamenogorsk. The human race has never before faced any such monster of power which was determined to enslave it. There is certainly no reason for underrating its size, its efficiency, its determination, its power, or its menace.

The whole essence of the Society's purpose, and the guiding principle for action, covering not only the fight against collectivism but the fight for constructive replacement, may be summarized in the objective expressed by just five words: Less Government and More Responsibility.

The Wrong Way To Fight Reds

Birch Society Book Is Bared

"Come, join us in the fight against Communists," members plead.

Jack Mabley's Story

Inasmuch as 99.9999 per cent of us are anti-Communist, they obviously have something to sell. But the conscientious citizens asks, "Is this the best way to fight communism? What is the John Birch Society?"

Since I am asked this often, because I wrote two columns about it last July, I will tell what I know about the society.

Group Founded In Indianapolis

It was founded in Indianapolis in 1958 by a group of businessmen led by Robert Welch, a former candy manufacturer of Boston.

Welch, by his own words, is the absolute boss of the society, which was named after a U.S. Army captain murdered by Chinese Reds.

WELCH HAS written a privately printed book called "The Politician." It was circulated only among the top, trusted leaders of the John Birch Society.

It is impossible for an ordinary member to see a copy of the book, or even get acknowledgment that it exists. I have read it, and will vouch that it exists.

In the book, Welch calls Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and a Communist.

He says that John Foster Dulles and his brother, and Chief Justice Warren and Neil McElroy and most of the leaders of the Eisenhower administration, are or were part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

Some Excerpts From the Book

This is from Welch's book:

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to be to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt.

He says of Mr. Eisenhower: ". . . there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

WE REPRINT these words only because they are totally idiotic and because people who are asked to follow Welch are not aware of what really is in his mind.

The Communist threat in this country is real enough. The country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the Communist evil.

But the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work.

Dear sir,

Being a member of the ~~Cardinal~~ ~~Mindszenty~~ Study Club, I am very interested in the checking of communism. I have read your book Masters of Deceit and have found it useful in my study.

The following is an excerpt from "American Opinion" July - September, 1960, Vol. III No. 7, Robert Welch. The report is fantastic. I would greatly appreciate your opinion on the matter.

"Never before has treason been so brazen and so audacious. Our State Department, which created Soviet Cuba, is now using the power of the United States to make another Cuba of the Dominican Republic. We have suspended testing of nuclear weapons for only one conceivable purpose--to give the Soviets time to attain, or at least claim, superiority in weapons of which propaganda has engendered in us an hysterical fear. No one dares to say that all available evidence indicates that the pilot of our famous U-2 must have purposely landed his plane in Russia; and that objectives of those who planned the incident must have been: (1) to give the Soviet a model to duplicate; (2) to provide the American Communists with an excuse for getting reconnaissance over Russia suspended; and (3) to postpone the "Summit Conference" with a maximum of public disgrace to the United States."

I would also appreciate any material you can send about communism.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter of March 3, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Enclosed is some literature dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have been to an introductory meeting of the John Birch Society and agree strongly with what their principals and goals seem to be -- fighting communism and more conservative government. However, before joining this group I would like very much your opinion on the sincerity of this organization.

I would appreciate an answer at your earliest convenience.

Gentlemen:

I am interested in obtaining information in regard to the John Birch Society, whose address is Belmont 78, Massachusetts.

They represent themselves as a group organized for the sole purpose of combating the rise of communism in the United States. My membership has been solicited and I consider the cause to be worthy; however, since it is possible for such organizations to be totally ineffective, and sometimes they are actually for communism instead of against, I would like the benefit of such information as you are able to give me in regard to the society.

I have been furnished with considerable detail in regard to membership, operations and dues. The information that I desire from your office is as to whether the Society is reputable and effective.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of March 1, 1961, with enclosure, has been received. I can well appreciate the concern which prompted you to write and it is gratifying to know that my book, "Masters of Deceit," is one of the books you have read to obtain knowledge of the nature of communism.

With respect to the other sources you mention, I am unable to comment since the FBI as an investigative agency of the Federal Government does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. In view of your interest in this subject, I am enclosing several items which you may find of value.

I firmly believe that it behooves every one of us to make a concerted effort to gain a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist menace. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it is often responsible for the reprehensive and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. Education is of strategic importance in this matter, for when fully cognizant of the aims of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to defeat it with the weapon it fears most--truth.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: Bufiles contain no correspondence with the correspondent and no derogatory information with respect to him. The correspondent encloses a copy of an article by Jack Mabley in which he replies to a letter from a reader who complains about the John Birch Society and accusations being thrown around by subversive right-wing anticommunist groups. He says it distresses him to see so many well-meaning people caught up on this wave of emotionalism which borders on hysteria. With some, anyone who disagrees with them is suspect as a communist. Bufiles contain no derogatory information concerning Jack Mabley. He wrote previously in his column in the Chicago Daily News and was highly critical of the John Birch Society. This Society was organized by Robert Welch of Belmont, Massachusetts, in December of 1958. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization and Welch has been quite critical of former President Eisenhower and his Administration. We recently conducted an inquiry concerning this group.

Dear Sir;

We are residents of Glenview, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago. Because of our Pastors tireless efforts to awaken us to the dangers of Communism, we are a very wide awake town regarding Communist strategy and tactics.

Numerous lectures by such dedicated Americans as, Father Becka, Walter Judd and Herbert Philbrick, a well planned school at Glenview Naval Air Base and the very effective books, MASTERS OF DECEIT, THE CONSCIENCE OF A CONSERVATIVE, and QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON COMMUNISM, also contributed to our growing concern. As a result of all this effort by people we respected and admired, many of us became actively interested in anti-communist societies, such as, the Cardinal Minzenty Groups, John Birch Society and American Security Schools.

All of these groups have spent a great deal of time and effort in showing films such as, COMMUNISM ON THE MAP, OPERATION ABOLITION, LATVIA MY LATVIA etc. We also hold individual schools in our homes playing tape by R. Arens, Scousen, Philbrick, Dr. Benson, Dr. Schwartz, and many others. All in all we have probably reached 20,000 people or more and to some degree have added to their knowledge of the Communist techniques and purposes.

ATT. [illegible]

The large majority of the people engaged in this anti-communist activity are well educated, well meaning Christians and patriots. They are not radicals and are interested only in saving our Country from its tragic apathy. However, in the last three months or so we have been ridiculed as alarmists, crackpots and even called Communists by a group of people led by one columnist of the Chicago Daily News. Who also happens to be a member of a One World Group in the Community Church of Glenview. He has written several derogatory columns about our efforts, the latest I have enclosed.

You, Mr. Hoover, are the most widely respected and revered authority in the field of American security, you enjoy a reputation with all Americans that is unique in American history.

I would appreciate having your opinion of this "grass-roots" type of anti-communist activity. Tell us if we should disband, or counsel us as to more effective methods of aiding our Country in Her hour of danger.

Your reply to this rather lengthy letter will be deeply appreciated and anxiously awaited.

Respectfully yours,

"IT IS a delight to know that I have found someone else in this world who reads the newspaper backwards! What does it mean?" Emilia C. Gilbert, Chicago.

ANSWER: I don't know. I've read from the back to front since I was a little kid. Maybe it means we like the picture page. Maybe we like to save the best for last.

If you start worrying about these things, you can get in trouble. If you find comfort in numbers, there are a lot of us.

"WHAT IS our world coming to? Do we no longer observe the Sabbath? Why must stores stay open on Sundays?

"Who are these people who shop and what are their reasons for shopping on Sunday? Are we all getting so mercenary we must either be greedy or selfish in allowing this to go on?

"If we did not patronize the stores they could not stay open. I, for one, would like a crusade to stop this feverish, snowballing idea."—Mrs. E. Lyons, Chicago.

COMMENT: This question is almost as sticky as bingo. I have never known a businessman who wanted to stay open on Sunday, but they say competition forces them to open.

Declining to patronize stores on Sunday is a reasonable way to protest. I object to laws requiring stores to close Sundays. This is a Christian holiday and the government has no moral right to impose one religion's beliefs or practices on non-Christians.

Regardless of your or my beliefs, an increasing number of stores are opening Sundays, and some say Sunday will be a full, normal business

"I AM VERY concerned by the accusations ing thrown by suburban right-wing anti-Com-unist groups deprecating Ambassador Steven-, Sen. Douglas, Dwight Eisenhower and ier government dignitaries.

"Such accusations undermine government, as ll as the United States, and are causing great r among older citizens who are certain that ernment leadership is being controlled by mmunists — or certainly those with Com-ist leanings.

"The John Birch Society is only one of the groups making irresponsible remarks.

"Some of the so-called anti-Communist leaders have actually formed 'cell groups' which are busy trying to expose suspected Communists in the community. In some cases, one might label this new occupation modern-day witch hunts.

"The believers in the Robert Welch school need to be severely reprimanded for looking to men such as he for leadership when they should be occupying themselves with reaffirming their belief in the United States rather than kowtowing to the Communist scare—which is exactly what the Communists want." — Jean Shanberg, Chicago.

COMMENT: I agree. My thinking is influenced by a former FBI agent who probably has done as much as any other layman in the country to combat American Communists.

He shows me how the irresponsibility of extremists like Welch, leader of the Birch Society, does great harm to responsible anti-Communist efforts.

It distresses me to see so many well-meaning people caught up in this wave of emotionalism, which borders on hysteria. With some, anyone who disagrees with them is suspect as a Communist. They need, as much as anything, some lessons in depth on the meaning of Americanism.

My dear Senator:

I have been advised of your call to my office regarding the John Birch Society, and in response to your inquiry regarding this organization, I wish to advise that I have not endorsed this group or its activities in any fashion whatsoever.

You also made inquiry regarding a statement which has been erroneously attributed to me to the effect that up to eighty per cent of the top officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communists or are under communist influence. This is, of course, a completely ridiculous assertion and when a report of this matter was brought to my attention recently it was promptly and emphatically denied as a fabrication.

Your interest in contacting me regarding this situation is very much appreciated, and I assure you we are always happy to be of any possible service or assistance.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

NOTE: See DeLoach to Mohr memorandum dated March 9, 1961, regarding call from Senator Young. A newspaper in Newport Beach, California, on 2-23-61 carried a report to the effect that the Director said "the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has 80% of the top communists in the nation." Although this statement is somewhat different than the one given by Senator Young, it obviously refers to the same situation. By letter of March 1, 1961, the Secretary of HEW was advised of the fraudulent nature of this story. Files reflect cordial contacts with Senator Young and he has come to the defense of the Bureau regarding the confidential nature of our files. In 1956 charges were made that Senator Young "had sold out to natural gas interests," however, Senate committee hearings regarding this charge were dropped because of lack of evidence to support the allegation.

She mentions the John Birch Society and the Fund for the Republic and inquires: "Cannot you through the proper channels of our government have definite statements of authenticity given to the American people?" She then states she would also like to know the truth about Moral Re-Armament and the Cinema Educational Guild.

She enclosed a circular containing reprints of articles which have appeared in the "Santa Barbara News-Press" which were critical of the John Birch Society. Bufiles contain no identifiable data concerning the correspondent.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anti-communist group and has not been investigated by the Bureau. It has been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower alleging that he is a communist.

The Fund for the Republic has not been investigated by the Bureau; however, numerous persons connected with it have in the past had questionable associations. It has at times been very critical of the Bureau, the loyalty program and internal security problems. (100-391697)

Moral Re-Armament has been described as a world-wide semireligious organization, pacifist in nature, with idealistic objectives. There is no indication it is subversive. (62-43223)

The Cinema Educational Guild, headed by Myron C. Fagan, is allegedly an anticommunist group which has also distributed anti-Semitic and anti-Negro literature. It has been necessary to contact Fagan on several occasions to request him to refrain from mentioning the FBI in any manner. (62-87267)

The following items of literature were sent to the correspondent:

1. "Communist Target - Youth."
2. "How to Beat Communism."
3. "God and Country or Communism."
4. "One Nation's Response to Communism."
5. "What You Can do to Fight Communism and Preserve America."

Dear Mr. Hoover, It is my prayer that this letter be placed in your hands. The writer is an American citizen, an intelligent person and one who is greatly concerned about the future of our country and her children.

In this town of Santa Barbara, a pleasant place to live in, I find within the last year and now, increasingly so, a great confusion, all in the name of anti-communistic propaganda. The dossal hum of bees & bleers, seemingly contradicts the other in their so called patriotic utterances. Specifically, I mention the John Birch Society and the Funds for the Republic.

Cannot you through the proper channels of our government have definite statements of authenticity given to the American people?

I enclose a few samples of the confusion so abundant which to my notion is a tool and part of the planned Communistic program. Spreading the seeds of dissension, confusion and a great depression are all part of the scheme to rattle our minds so we will surely fall as over-ripe fruit into the hands of our enemy.

Specifically, please give me a statement on the John Birch Society and the Funds of the Republic - headed by Robert Welch and Robert Hutchins, respectively. They appear to be at each other's throats —

And I think the time is growing very late. Two other organizations I would like to know the truth about are Moral Re-Armament and a so-called Cinema Educational Guild of Hollywood, Calif. which is circulating a list of American citizens classed as Communists — namely one is Chet Huntley —

These all, I know are before you but the average american citizen is bewildered by this barrage of literature and so called movies such as Communism in the Raw etc. Something must be done before it is too late,

Sincerely,

MAR. 2/61

DEAR SIRS,

I am writing to request either an official opinion or fact, pro and con. I hope you can help me with this.

As a citizen, I am greatly concerned over the Communist problem facing us today both on a world wide scale and here at home.

I feel that I should have become aware of this earlier but none the less, I am aware now that we have a grave fight on our hands and something must be done.

In searching for a means of fighting this situation I first have tried to become better educated about them. Then I looked for a group that would allow me, as an individual, to do something truly constructive and with purpose.

I have come across a group that goes by the name, The John Birch Society. I"ts headquarters are in Belmont, Mass. and it is headed by a Mr. Robt. Welch. I have studied their handbooks and from what I read, their aims and methods appeal to me greatly.

What I seek from you people is an opinion on this group, or Mr. Welch. Do you think it would be advisable of me to join their organization? There are so many groups here & there that it is hard for the uninformed to know which is on our side, and which is not.

Any help and advice you might give will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

monthly magazine, American Opinion. In 1957 he gave up most of his other business responsibilities to devote nearly all his time and energy to the anti-Communist cause.

Welch chose the subject of one of his books as the name for his society because he felt this young man symbolized all that the society should stand for.

John Birch was a fundamentalist Baptist preacher from Georgia who became a missionary in China and then an intelligence officer with Gen. Claire Chennault's forces during World War II. He helped Gen. James Doolittle escape from China after the famous raid on Tokyo.

But 10 days after V-J Day, Capt. Birch was shot and killed in a Chinese village near Hsuchow. Five years later, former Sen. Knowland charged in a Senate speech that he was murdered in cold blood by Chinese Communists.

Aims at Expose

Welch's book purports to be a documentation of that charge, as well as an expose of a "cover-up" by the U.S. government in a policy of "appeasement" toward Red China.

"It is clear that the Communists, high and low, recognized John Birch as standing for America, for Christianity, and as the very embodiment of those qualities and forces which were in their way," Welch wrote.

" . . . he was the first, or very nearly the first, casualty in American uniform in a war still being waged . . . With his death and in his death the battle lines were drawn, in a struggle from which either Communism or Christian-style civilization must emerge with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed."

Monday: The Blue Book "bible" of the John Birch Society.

If I could second-guess myself on rearing my children, which I cannot, I'd do it the same way again. The public school systems and the private schools are complementary. Both, I think, are essential—and both are helpful to each other.

The private schools, when they have the money, have the advantage of greater freedom that is inherent in any small and private institution, and they definitely do have the compulsion upon them to equal, at the least, and to strive to surpass the working level of public schools. I don't mean that they always accomplish this. The level of achievement in public schools sets a high standard. But the compulsion to strive toward it is upon the private schools.

And as they strive, and raise their standards, they put a similar compulsion upon the public schools. Which is what I was saying. The two kinds of schools are competitive, and their competition constantly raises the achievements of each.

All this sounds perfect. And so it will be, but only as long as the private schools are able to stay in the race. And that, I think, is their solid argument when they go around seeking endowment gifts.

For private giving is one of the great public services.

But the years have taken their toll of California's best campaign experts, one way or another, so any day now you may see in The Times' HELP WANTED MALE section of the classified advertisements a small notice to this effect:

"CAMPAIGN MANAGER NEEDED — Bright young man who hasn't been to the political well too often to assist veteran office-seeker who's afraid he might . . ."

Reputedly, Nixon is already on the lookout for fresh talent in the event he challenges Gov Brown, ...ficial boundaries that split us into segments, the urgency of "blanketing" metropolitan complexes like Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco—all these spell costly propstopping, motorcading and helicoptering.

Sen. Tom Kuchel's already preparing to hire a station wagon in which he and his handsome wife will stump the state "as it's never been stumped before," against whomever the Democrats nominate against him.

Other top campaigners will doubtless do the same.

TODAY IN HISTORY

BY BRAINERD DYER

Speaking in the gymnasium of little Westminster College at Fulton, Mo., March 5, 1946, Great Britain's war-time prime minister, Winston Churchill, gave currency to the term "iron curtain."

"Nobody knows what Soviet Russia . . . intends to do in the immediate future, or what are the limits, if any, to their expansive tendencies," Churchill said, and then continued, "From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an iron curtain has descended across the European continent."

Urging the western world to act to prevent World War III while time remained and voicing lack of confidence in the United Nations, Churchill called for a military alliance between the United States and Great Britain.

Some critics charged Churchill with undermining the United Nations just when it was struggling to establish itself, while others praised him for pointing out what most statesmen had hesitated to make clear—that Russia was actually challenging the peace of the world.

The John Birch Society: What Are Its Purposes?

This is the first of five articles reporting the background, purposes, organization and leadership of the John Birch Society, which has set a national membership goal of 1 million and expects to have 100,000 by the end of 1961.

BY GENE BLAKE

On a wintry day a little over two years ago, a dozen men gathered in Indianapolis at the invitation of a retired Massachusetts candy manufacturer, Robert Welch.

They were influential, busy men. One came from Oregon, one from Kansas, one from Missouri, two from Wisconsin, one from Illinois, one from Indiana, one from Tennessee, one from Virginia and two from Massachusetts.

These men weren't exactly sure why they were there, except that they all shared the same concern over the menace of international communism, its influence in America and the fate of this nation.

Two-Day Explanation

For two full days they listened to Robert Welch set forth his views of the problem and what he thought should be done about it. Out of that meeting of Dec. 8 and 9, 1958, came the John Birch Society.

Within a year there were working chapters in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Louisiana, Texas, California and Washington. There were also members of the home chapter [illegible] sort of [illegible]

litical standpoint. In Russia, less than 3% of the 200 million people are Communists and in any country they have taken over there have been no more."

Talbert sees Communist influences working directly here in front organizations, infiltrating political organizations and college campuses. But more than that he sees Communist objectives being furthered by certain newspaper writers, in motion pictures, in church pulpits and in all levels of government.

Aims Are Same

"It is sometimes necessary to differentiate between Socialism and Communism, although their aims are the same—leading to the destruction of our constitution and private enterprise," Talbert said.

"There are a lot of things going on in city, county, state and federal government that are certainly driving us into the arms of Socialism. If we continue on the road to Socialism, it will be just an overnight shift to Communism."

A REPORT TO THE PUBLIC

Any national organization with a political purpose is of paramount interest to the general public.

Any such organization, methodically yet semi-secretly organizing to influence public opinion, is the public's business.

The John Birch Society is such an organization.

On this page The Times publishes the first of five articles reporting on the founding, the purposes and the operations of the John Birch Society. These articles quote verbatim from the writings of Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, including his manuscript "The Politician," of which photostatic copies are available although it was distributed confidentially to a limited number. The articles also quote extensively from the society's Blue Book, currently used as the society's guide for action, and from leaders of the organization here in Los Angeles.

At the conclusion of this series of articles The Times will publish its editorial opinion of the purposes and activities of the John Birch Society. We suggest in the meantime that each of you, as a free American citizen, read these articles carefully.

conspiracy included former Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, Chief Justice Warren, the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"The Politician," distributed confidentially to a limited number, has caused

Welch, of course, is just one of many who have preached this doctrine of imminent Communist domination to some degree for years. One was the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, who has become almost a patron saint of the John Birch Society.

But Welch appears to have had [illegible] large" members—in about 40 states.

Now, after another year, the list of states with from one to more than 100 working chapters has grown to 34, plus the District of Columbia, and there are home chapter members in all 50 states.

Makes Voice Heard

Organized and developed quietly at first—almost secretly—the society is now making its voice heard and no longer shuns the spotlight. By the end of the year the national membership is expected to reach 100,000. The goal is a million.

There are several thousand members in scores of chapters throughout Southern California today, according to Paul H. (Tex) Talbert, Beverly Hills insurance executive who is a member of the society's national council.

They are hard at work attacking the Communist menace as they see it on the home front, either directly or through other organizations — PTAs, social and civic groups, study clubs, church societies.

Talbert won't hazard a guess as to how many working, hard-core, live Communists there are in Southern California. But he and his fellow John Birchers do not believe that is the crux of the problem.

Takes Only a Few

"Even though there are relatively only a few Communists," Talbert said, "for every one there are 10 people standing behind ready to do their bidding and for each of these there are another 10 — the do-gooder type — willing to go along with them.

"It would take only a few hundred Communists to upset the balance from a po-to alert the public, according to Talbert, through concentrated letter - writing campaigns, circulating petitions, speaking before various groups, showing anti-Communist films and distributing anti - Communist literature — under the over-all leadership of founder Robert Welch.

Point to Book

Who is the man who brought this about and what is his purpose?

Detractors are quick to point out that Robert Welch is the man who wrote several years ago, in a manuscript called "The Politician" by some and the "black book" by others, that former President Eisenhower and top members of his administration were Communists or tools of the Communists.

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist and has been for 30 years," Welch wrote on page 267, "this opinion is based largely on an accumulation of detailed evidence and so palpable that it seems to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

Welch also wrote of Dwight Eisenhower on page 268 in "The Politician":

". . . there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

'His Boss'

And on page 210:

"In my opinion the chances are very strong that Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist Party. For one thing, he is obviously a great deal smarter."

Others listed by Welch in "The Politician" as part or tools of the Communist some discomfort among members — but by no means all of them.

Some obviously agree with it, or at least feel there is sufficient evidence to believe that Welch's charges might be true. Others may temper the charges by stating that Mr. Eisenhower and some of the others were or are merely unwitting tools of the Communists.

Robert Welch

Clue to Program

At any rate, this gives a clue to the general tenor of the society's charges: Communists have been and still are in control of high places in the U.S. government, the armed forces, the courts, the schools and universities, the press, radio, television and motion pictures, unions, the United Nations, the private foundations and the churches.

Unless the public wakes up, the society fears, it is only a question of time before the United States falls without a struggle into the world-wide Communist dominion ruled from the Kremlin.

than any other man in welding his followers into a cohesive force with a program of action. It is a program of fighting fire with fire, openly using some of the tactics that have proved successful for the enemy.

Farmer Ancestry

Welch was born in 1899 on a North Carolina farm. His ancestry, mainly farmers and Baptist preachers, is traceable to one Miles Welch, who came to this country from Wales in 1720.

He was educated for four years at the University of North Carolina, two years at the United States Naval Academy and two years at Harvard Law School. He moved to Boston in 1919 and has been in the candy manufacturing business all his adult life.

For many years he was vice president in charge of sales and advertising of James O. Welch Co., with factories in Cambridge and Mansfield, Mass., and in Los Angeles, as well as its subsidiary sales corporations in Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle.

Was NAM Director

He has served as a director of a bank and several other business corporations. He was a member of the board of directors of the National Assn. of Manufacturers seven years, regional NAM vice president three years and chairman of its Educational Advisory Committee two years.

Welch also has been an extensive world traveler, speaker, author, editor and publisher. His books include "The Road to Salesmanship" (1941), "May God Forgive Us" (1952) and "The Life of John Birch" (1954).

For five years he has edited and published a

Dear Miss [redacted]

Your letter of March 2, 1961, has been received, and it is indeed reassuring to learn of your awareness of the menace of communism.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I would like to point out, however, my strong belief that education is of strategic importance in the struggle between communism and the free world. Full knowledge of this evil conspiracy's true nature is vital if we are to effectively resist its influence. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it is often responsible for the reprehensive and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. When fully cognizant of the aims and objectives of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to combat this menace with the weapon it fears most--truth.

Enclosed is some material on the general subject which you may find of interest. Some of these items contain suggestions as to ways of opposing communism, and additional copies of any of this literature are available in reasonable quantities upon request and at no cost.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have just become acquainted with a person who is a member (of six months' standing) of the John Birch Society, which is headed by Robert Welch. To me, the views of this Society, as I hear them through this person, are fanatical and radical. This person has let his fight against communism become his whole life--overriding everything else, even his job and his church.

If the communists are as evil and widespread and dedicated to their cause as he says they are, the world is in a pretty bad mess. But I find it hard to go along with everything he says (and I know little of politics, anyhow). Apparently this Society condemns nearly every prominent political figure today--or at least a good percentage of them--as being "out and out" communists, "pink", or at least Socialistic (which he claims is the next thing to communistic). This communistic label extends even to FDR and Eleanor Roosevelt. Of course, everything I had heard all my life about the Roosevelts has been good, and this talk about them is hard to take--for instance, the part about Eleanor Roosevelt being affiliated with over eighty communist front organizations.

I am only twenty, with a background of two years of music in college, and now employed as a secretary. I don't want to see my country under Communist rule, but I don't want to become radical about them, or get involved in something I don't understand.

So could you explain some things to me about how the Communists work, how real their threat is, and what I can really do to combat--or help combat--them? Also, I would like to know if this John Birch Society is really doing good (such as the move to impeach Earl Warren), or if it's just a way Robert Welch found to get an easy living?

I am reading your Masters of Deceit, and find that quite an eye-opener. But I'd like for you to send me some more information--from you, and not just pamphlets and a form letter.

Thank you for your attention.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter dated February 28, 1961, has been received.

Although I would like to be of service, the functions and responsibilities of the FBI as a Federal investigative agency do not extend to furnishing evaluations or drawing conclusions as to the character or integrity of any individual, organization or publication. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope you will not infer in this connection that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subjects of your inquiries.

No suggestions come to mind where you might be able to secure a list of persons engaging in subversive activities; however, a copy of the list of organizations which have been designated by the Attorney General as coming within the purview of Executive Order 10450 can be secured by submitting a request to the Subversive Organizations Section, Internal Security Division, Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. C.

I am pleased to know of your desire to help combat communism, and enclosed is material available for general distribution by the FBI on this subject.

Sincerely yours,

John Edgar Hoover

Dear Sir:

I am interested in justice being done in our United States. Therefore I am wanting some information which I think that you can provide. I furthur am interested that our United States stay a free country.

Would you send me a list of the people who are un-American and un-American organizations? I especially am interested in these people- [redacted] Harry Emerson Fosdick, [redacted] E. Standley Jones, [redacted] G. Bromley Oxnam, [redacted] Henry P. Van Dusen , Walter Van Kirk, [redacted] [redacted] You will note most of these are Methodist, I am a Methodist and have had contact with many of these people through the years. It is hard for me to think they are un-American and are connnected with un-American organizations knowingly.

Would you tell me some of the activities one can do to keep our United States a Republic and free.

I have been given some material saying that the people above are un-American. Is the John Birch Society a worthy group to work with to fight communism?

Dear Mr. Hoover;

May I first extend my admiration and that of all my freinds for the time and energy you expend in trying to preserve our country from evils of all kinds, especially that of Communism.

In my efforts of the last year to become an active patriotic citizen, I have been a member of a Cardinal Mindzenty study group who make a study of ten government reports compiled by members of the various Security Committees. These have been very enlightening.

Our attention has now come to a group called the "John Birch Society" organized by a man named Robert Welch, This seems to be a very much organized group for action against the tide of Communism. However, in their book "American Opinion" of October of last year they indicate that Dog Hammarskjold is an agent of the Communist conspiracy, by reason of evidence especially in the Bang-Jansen treaty. Also that theU. N. is but a tool of the Kremlin.

Needless to say this is very shocking if it is true, plus many other things that they state.

What I would like to know, as I have been contemplating being a member of this group, is it possible for you to give a recomendation or comment regarding this "John Birch Society." So many of us have great respect for your opinion.

RE:- THE BIRCH SOCIETY

Dear Sir:-

Mrs. [redacted] and I have recently been hearing and reading about the above-named Society, purporting to be Anti-Communist. Both by editorialization and in news items, The Santa Barbara News-Press, published by a highly respected scion of one of our pioneer families, Thomas Storke, has condemned the principles and the national leader, a Robert B. Welch, of Boston. By no stretch of the imagination could Mr. Storke be presumed to be Pro-Communist, yet it appears to worry him, as it does us, that a considerable number of American citizens of substance and intelligence have been persuaded to join the Society.

My main purpose in writing you (and to presume upon your time) is to ascertain if there is available any dispassionate, unbiased source of information, bulletin, publication or news release from your office which attempts to evaluate this Society. Some of our friends and acquaintances are receiving literature and admonitions to join the Society.

Perhaps the most serious statement attributed to Mr. Welch appears to quote him as saying that ex-President Eisenhower is a Communist. This has distressed us deeply, as has, according to Mr. Storke, insinuations that ex-President Truman and others of our national leaders are Communists. While Mrs. Phelps and I certainly do not consider ourselves entitled to any so-called "classified information", we are deeply disturbed, and would greatly appreciate anything you can tell two natives of California whose American heritage goes back many generations.

Perhaps I could identify myself as a present member of the Defense Orientation Conference Assn., and a highly enthusiastic member of JCOC 23, which made the October, 1956 trip to some of our major defense establishments. As a retired farmer, a veteran of World War I, and the father of one son who fought as a platoon leader of the Marine Corps in Korea, and another who served in the Navy, it seems to me the purposes and objectives of The Birch Society should become public information.

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING
(INTERNAL SECURITY)

Memorandum Baumgardner to Belmont dated 2/7/61 recommended that in order to give us a better insight into the John Birch Society (JBS) and "American Opinion" we should have Boston check appropriate sources and records to determine the facts concerning the incorporation of JBS, its incorporators, its credit rating, the circulation of "American Opinion," et cetera. In answer to Bureau airtel of 2/8/61 the Boston Office advised by letter dated 2/17/61 of its check into this matter.

There is set forth below a resume of the information furnished by Boston.

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Incorporated on 12/23/58 as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts and was assigned charter number 624-300. The officers were listed as: Robert Welch, President and Treasurer, and Ellen M. Lovett, Clerk (Secretary). The Directors were listed as Mary M. White, Robert Welch and Ellen M. Lovett. The incorporators were listed as Robert Welch; Marian Frobert Welch (wife of Robert Welch); Ellen M. Lovett; Mary M. White; Ellen Douglas Snow, also known as Mrs. Stanley Carman Snow, formerly Mrs. Alexander Gucker; Philip L. Jenkins; and Juliette D. Guild. All of the aforementioned are residents of the Boston, Massachusetts, area. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. The records of Dun and Bradstreet contain a report dated 8/5/60 which states that Welch declined a financial statement concerning JBS on 8/4/60 but did state that JBS had sufficient capital to meet its needs. The records of Dun and Bradstreet and the Credit Bureau of Greater Boston disclosed that Welch has a favorable credit rating. Boston furnished brief background information concerning the above individuals and stated that the files of that office do not contain any identifiable data of a subversive nature concerning any of them. Boston also observed that Ellen Douglas Snow was the widow of Special Agent Alexander Gucker of the Bureau who was assigned to the Albany Office and who died of a heart condition in his berth on a train in 1952 while en route from Albany to New York City to assist in an inspection of the New York Office.

"AMERICAN OPINION"

While "American Opinion" is published by Robert Welch who also founded the JBS, there is no indication that "American Opinion" is the official publication of JBS. It being noted that "American Opinion" was in existence for about three years before JBS came into existence.

Incorporated on 1/13/56 under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The officers were listed as Robert Welch, President and Treasurer, and Ellen M. Lovett, Clerk (Secretary). The Directors were listed as Robert Welch, Ellen M. Lovett and Ellen Douglas Gucker. The incorporators were listed as the same three individuals. The aims and purposes were listed as the dissemination of information to the general public through the medium of the publication of papers, books, magazines and lectures. According to a 4/23/58 financial statement the assets were listed as $27,320.85. A financial statement of 6/27/60 showed the assets to be $77,475.82. A Dun and Bradstreet report dated 3/25/59 showed that "American Opinion" was organized by Welch, who is of independent means, to publish an anticommunist periodical and that on 3/24/59 Welch declined to furnish a financial statement but did state the corporation had sufficient funds available to meet its needs and other operating expenses. The circulation of the publication was listed as between 5,000 and 6,000 subscribers with an annual volume of business around $25,000 or better. The report further disclosed that "American Opinion" is sold at the rate of $5 per year, with 11 issues being published annually.

On 2/14/61 Arthur Flynn, Postmaster, Belmont, Massachusetts, advised that mailings of JBS and "American Opinion" bear the address 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, and are handled through the Belmont Post Office.

We have never investigated JBS, "American Opinion," nor Welch. A review of Bufiles and indices did not disclose any identifiable data of a subversive nature concerning any of the above individuals

Memo to Mr. Belmont
Re: John Birch Society

ACTION:

We have furnished background information to the field concerning Welch and JBS by SAC Letters 59-13 (F) dated 3/10/59 and 60-5 (C) dated 1/26/60. The field was instructed to keep the Bureau advised of the formation of any chapters of JBS and that the Bureau was particularly interested in any efforts by subversive elements to take over or use JBS or its chapters. In the information we have received from the field there has been no indication that any subversive elements have been interested in the JBS or its chapters. We will continue to keep a close watch on the information received from the field and in the event any information is received indicating that we should initiate an investigation of JBS or any of its chapters, we will do so. You will be kept advised of any further pertinent developments concerning this matter.

There is an organization in which I have become interested that is known as the John Birch Society. We are often warned that organizations are not always what they appear to be, and that we should investigate before joining. Could you please tell me whether or not this is truly an anti-communist and patriotic organization and whether or not you could recommend it as a means of fighting Communism?

Dear Sir:

I'm very much interested in the professed policy and program of The John Birch Society, organized to fight Communism and reestablish the principles and purposes proclaimed by the writers of the Constitution in the United States.

After telling a friend that I was seriously considering the idea of becoming a working member of this Society, he suggested that it might be wise to inquire of you first as to the theory and practice of this organization with which you may be somewhat familiar.

I have read the Society's Blue Book, your book "Masters of Deceit" (which Pasadena Republican headquarters lends to readers), and Herbert Philbrick's "I Led Three Lives".

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your very thoughtful letter of February 28, 1961, has been received, and I appreciate the interest which prompted you to write. With regard to your inquiry, I am forwarding several items which express my views concerning the communist conspiracy which you may find of interest.

One of the enclosures is a copy of my report "Communist Target--Youth," a detailed account of the events which occurred during the House Committee on Un-American Activities hearings held in San Francisco. An analysis of this report will reveal its purpose was not to defend the activities of the House Committee nor does it cast doubt on the motivation or loyalty of American youth. It is intended rather as urgent encouragement to young people to learn the true nature of this malevolent threat, and, armed with that knowledge, to resist being duped into unlawful and unthinking action.

This Bureau has had no connection with the preparation, sponsorship or distribution of either of the films which you mentioned in your letter. As a matter of policy, I cannot, therefore, make any recommendations with respect to them.

As an investigative agency of the Federal Government, the FBI does not furnish evaluations or comments regarding the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. From this I hope you will not infer either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Thank you for your kind comments concerning the work of the FBI, and I trust that I will continue to merit your support.

NOTE: Bufiles contain no record concerning the correspondent. The John Birch Society was established by Robert Welch, of Belmont, Massachusetts, and has been engaged in anticommunist activities. The Bureau has conducted inquiry concerning it. The film, "Communism on the Map," was prepared by the National Educational Program of Searcy, Arkansas, of which George S. Benson is President. It was borrowed and reviewed by the Bureau on 12-22-60 at which time the consensus of opinion of the Agents reviewing it was that it was not the type of material which should be used and endorsed by the Bureau. It frequently deals in half-truths, distortion of truths and innuendoes in its efforts to establish that international communism is encircling America.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

3/28/86 Ignacimpe.

As a perplexed young wife and mother, this acute problem of Communism has become the major topic of conversation within my family and amongst our friends and "former friends". In fact, we have come to the point of not knowing whom to believe or trust. Ordinarily, I wouldn't consider taking the valuable time of a person like yourself, but as I would consult a doctor for a communicable disease, I am consulting you, whom I respect more than any living American.

First of all, let me give you a background of our situation here in Southern California. My husband and I are in our late 20's and have children about to enter school. Many of our friends and acquaintances have, through club meetings and private gatherings, had the opportunity of awakening themselves to the Communist threat of infiltrating our America. Some of us have heard lectures and seen films, and the reaction has been crazy and mixed up.

Personally, we are horrified and are ready to jump on the wagon and act like Paul Revere! But then we try to remember we are civilized and not become too fanatical, because becoming too tempered or over-zealous could be a very dangerous thing. Some of these films and speeches intend to alarm people since they feel we have been idle and complacent far too long, and if we want to save our country we have to make up for long lost time. All this sounds perfectly feasible to me. If we were to wake up some morning under a Communistic dictatorship and military force we would go insane or all be murdered in the streets for refusing to give up our belief in God and freedom as we know it.

I have just read Cleon Skousen's The Naked Communist which has been my first real education pertaining to Communism and the threat to our government. I found it extremely profitable in understanding this problem as a neophite. It also creates a feeling of alarm, that things have to change because it is inconceivable that our ideals and republican way of life could ever be compatible with that deranged set of principals set down by Marx and Engels. I have read some of your Law Enforcement Bulletins and know you are certain that the Communists want world domination, their ultimate desire being to terminate Capitalism and fly the Red flag in our country.

62-104[illegible]

But there is such mixed emotion amongst our people over this. I'm certain our group of friends is a good criterion for many groups of loyal Americans. There are those who feel as we do and don't exactly know where to go with their energy. There are those who refuse to believe it's possible. There are those who arch their backs because they feel the whole thing is out of porportion and will turn into a so-called "witch-hunt". There are those who think the whole mess is a political maneuver for the concervatives to be rid of the liberals, that the threat of real Communism isn't a threat to the United States. And there are those who label anyone a Communist who doesn't believe as they do.

How can we recognize the magnitude of this Communistic threat and where can we turn to know how to act effectively? I ask you because I believe you are the one man who is trusted and respected by all, and there would be no arguments or disbeliefs from any alert American over your words. We all have different ways of fighting for what we believe, and I know there are groups organizing now to fight and pressure for America's security. But couldn't we be duped into a force that might also be a potential evil?

I am appealing for your advice because so many Americans are in need of it, because you stand for absolutely nothing to gain except the survival of freedom. At the present time good people are doing harm because of ignorance and other good people are ineffective because they don't know whom to trust.

Personally, I am curious as to your opinion of Robert Welsh and his John Birch Society? He seems so strong that we wonder if such a man could be potentially dangerous or is he absolutely on the right path? Also, the films "Communism on the Map" and "Operation Abolition" have created such a rumpus that some people feel they have shown the whole threat out of porportion, therefore they are propaganda. We feel the films are valuable because they awakened us and we are planning to show them in our home to alert others, but we want to be able to defend them too!

We are looking forward to attending the Orange County School on Anti-Communism to be held locally next week. We know that we will recognize the threat more than ever from listening to this distinguished faculty, but still, the documented imprint of J. Edgar Hoover is the one stabilizing force to bring all real Americans to their senses.

You have my sincere gratitude and heartfelt thanks for any help or guidance. Our country must be filled with people as confused as we and we must protect ourselves against the deplorable Communist plans for the future.

Loyally,

The issue is Communism. Who are we to believe? How can we distinguish the true from the false?

EJR 1-1

We are just a couple of the U.S. Millions who work for a living and can't attend Meetings like that being held at Disneyland this week. We'd love to attend but we have to work to eat.

Now the Los Angeles Times is printing a series of articles on the John Birch Society, the culmination of which will be a final article conveying their opinion. The American Legion fights, they say, Communism. But I'm awfully dumb about issues and viewpoints and so many contain innuendos that escape me entirely.

Who can we believe?

For a long time we've watched helplessly, our country slide under too much central control - people are lazy and apathetic - we included. Pretty soon, too, you become suspicious of any and everything, which must be what the communists want.

How can we determine who to follow and believe? We want to remain free and true to our good American Heritage.

I can readily understand your deep concern over the grave threat posed by communism. It is my firm belief that a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist conspiracy is essential if Americans are to effectively resist its influence. My book, "Masters of Deceit," was intended to be an easy-to-read primer on communism for students and other Americans who would like to learn something about this evil menace. I have always felt that private citizens, acting through their civic, labor, religious, educational and similar organizations, constitute one of our most effective weapons against communism.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

I have read many times your book entitled, "Masters of Deceit" and feel like something must be done, due to events that are taking place in this world today. With grave concern I am writing to you for the answer. I have given your book to many to read and offered it to Civic groups, and all agree something more has got to be done. Many A mericans are ready to do all they can and all seem to agree our entire government needs to be cleaned up . We all are eager to know what to do and want to alert and are willing to do our part. But, where do we start? It seems everything, since the last rigged and stolen election, is completely government controlled. We desire to do our part on all levels and keep in very close touch with our Governor's and Congressmen but do they have any powers left to act on this issue. We all wrote to maintain and keep the, House Un-American Activites Commitee. We hope it is retained, and kept a part of our government.

We would appreciate material on this matter as soon as possible and steps we can take to fight this threat facing the US.A. today. If we know sound measures that can be taken and are informed from the State Department and other departments in government we can act along the right lines in our communities. Many groups, namely one has began in our county The John Birch Group" and they are hard at work to get members to join in their efforts to combat communism. I am skeptical of these groups and refuse to join them, but sincerely I would like information, direct from you as to what information we can secure to work on this important mission. As individuals we are doing a small part but we know if we knew what to do, we could become a strogg force in this fight against communism.

Gentlemen:

At the present time in certain parts of Texas, an organization called the "John Burke Society" is holding meetings and explaining the growing dangers of communism.

A Mr. Fred Koch in Texas particular, will travel to any part of the country to talk to an aggregate of twenty people. Some of the printed information distributed by this organization contains information such as; that Francis Gary Powers was not shot down in Russia, but landed his plane after being paid by the Russian Government. All of the information that I have read by this organization is very interesting, but still I am rather skeptical about their product.

Would you please give me any unclassified information about this organization so that I might be convinced that they are doing a worthy thing and not duping the public? Also, would you please send me any printed information that your great organization has pertaining to the communist party in the United States.

I hope to hear from you shortly. Thank you very much.

Dear Sir:

In the last six months or so, my wife and I have become cognizant of the Communist menace and have resolved to do something to fight this threat.

In our long somewhat dormant interest in this situation, we have found many other substantial local citizens feeling very much the way we do. The results have been a hodge-podge of meetings, discussions, showing of films, etc. We have felt the need for a more definite organized "track to run on."

Recently though one of our close friends we were invited to attend a local meeting in which it was suggested a local chapter of the John Birch Society might be formed. It was proposed that subject material, organization information, etc., be obtained direct from a central source. We found as we checked the Society, their leader, Mr. Welch has indicated people like Milton and Ike Eisenhower as being communistic. This, along with several items of another nature made us wonder as to what we should do.

Quite frankly, we are confused as to how we can help in this Anti-Communism fight and we appeal to you for suggestions as to how we can best help, and your recommendations as to the John Birch Society and anything else of pertinence.

Dear Sir:

For many years I have admired the splendid work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I have read most of your books and speeches. I have followed those concerning Communism with special interest. I am so interested that I would like to fight against Communism to, in the ways that are available to me. Before proceeding I would like your advice on a certian matter.

I know you have most certainly heard of the John Birch Society. I have been thinking of joining this group in the near future, in the hopes of a well directed fight.

I have heard many good things about this group. But I have also heard some bad. It is almost impossible to sort out the truth in situations of this type,and I want to be careful. I don't want to do more harm than good.

If you could give me your opinion in this matter I would be very grateful,as I know I could rely on your judgment.Thank You.

I have received your letter of March 9, 1961, and I can appreciate the interest which has prompted you to communicate with me on this occasion.

Although I would like to be of assistance to you in connection with your inquiry, the FBI, being an investigative agency, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you on this occasion, and I hope you will not infer either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I am glad that my book, "Masters of Deceit," has been of assistance to you and your group in your endeavors to learn more about the menace of communism. Enclosed are several items setting forth my views on this subject which you may like to have.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Since reading your most informative book, Masters of Deceit, a group of my immediate friends meet weekly to discuss it and just what we can do to get more people aware of the present threat of the communist conspiracy.

I have received some literature from The John Birch Society, Inc., Belmont 78, Massachusetts, and have since purchased from them and read their Blue Book and The Life of John Birch. They seem to be working toward the stamping out of this internal communist threat through small chapters in numerous states under the leadership of Robert Welch.

My group and I were on the verge of joining this John Birch Society when Time, March 10, 1961, pages 21-22, printed a slanted, but nonetheless derogatory, article about the John Birch Society and about its "dictatorial" leadership by Robert Welch.

Of course, I can see that this article does nothing but try to degrade this organization, but I am definitely concerned and alarmed at their 'quoted' implications concerning the content of Welch's book, The Politician. I have never heard of this book.

Consequently, I would appreciate any information concerning the John Birch Society, Inc. that you have available for public consumption.

Thank you. I shall be anxiously awaiting your reply.

Birch Society Denies Commie List

By THOMAS THOMPSON
and DON BOYETT

An Amarillo official of the John Birch Society today denied any connection between that organization and an alleged list of at least five Amarillo men accused of being Communists or leaning toward communism.

Brig. Gen. (Ret.) William L. (Jerry) Lee, volunteer co-ordinator for the society, told The Globe-Times if such a list of alleged fellow travelers does exist, it is not a product of the John Birch Society. "And as far as I know none of our people had anything to do with it," he added.

"As far as I know there are no Communists in Amarillo," the retired commander of Amarillo Air Force Base said, though he did add that some people in Amarillo may be unknowingly used as dupes of communism.

The rumored list includes the names of two ministers, a candidate for the City Commission, an attorney and a City of Amarillo department head. Some of the men on the list say they have been told that such a list exists and that their names are on it, though none have seen it.

Gen. Lee blamed the rumor on possible Communist tactics. "The Communists would like nothing better than for us to be divided and fighting among ourselves," he said.

The rumored list climaxes several weeks of edginess built up here by clashes between John Birch members and others who consider the society is too extreme in its method of fighting communism. A few crises have built up in Amarillo churches over the issues and some ministers fear serious splits will develop in their churches.

Gen. Lee says friction in the churches is caused by the ministers defending the National Council of Churches, which he says is Communist infiltrated. "We have documented proof that the National Council has been infiltrated by Communists," he said, "and some of these ministers just won't listen to us.

"Until we can convince them that the National Council has some Communist followers in it there is going to be some friction," he added.

The retired general said that not long ago he had been accused of calling a minister here a Communist. He said that this is a false accusation.

"Preachers don't become Communists; Communists become preachers," he said.

He went on to say that singling out prominent local people could be the handiwork of "fellow travelers. That's a prime technique of the Communists."

The John Birch Society is a nationwide organization dedicated to fighting the spread of communism. It was started in 1958 by a Boston candy maker, Robert Welch, who is the self-appointed head of the organization. International headquarters of the society are at Belmont, Mass.

The first chapter was organized here last August by Lee, who had been a member of the home chapter at Belmont. Since his retirement from the Air Force Gen. Lee has dedicated his life to the fight against communism and has selected the John Birch Society as his primary vehicle in that fight.

Lee estimates there are now some 16 chapters in Amarillo, each with from 12 to 20 members. Many other chapters are located in other Panhandle and South Plains cities and he figures there are as many as 60 chapters in Houston alone.

Lee says the main credo of the organization is "less government, more individual responsibility and a better world."

In contrast with the public, he said, the members speak only as individuals and never sign their name in letters as members of the John Birch Society. Members of the chapters band together to study the spread of communism and the workings of their own government.

Most of their activities consist of writing letters to editors, as well as to congressmen and senators concerning national issues. One goal of the society as set forth in its "Blue Book" is the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, a point referred to in many letters to the editor here.

Members of the Birch Society were instrumental in asking the Amarillo City Commission recently to ban a "Great Decisions" discussion series from being held at Mary E. Bivins Memorial Library.

Citing a booklet prepared by an American Legion Post in Atlanta, Ga., the opponents of the program contended it was leftist-inspired.

The discussion series is sponsored in a number of U. S. public libraries by the 42-year-old Foreign Policy Association, an educational institution supported by foundation grants, individuals and subscriptions, and claiming endorsements of President Kennedy, former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman, former Vice President Richard Nixon and all former American presidents to Woodrow Wilson.

The city commission refused to bar the discussion series from the library.

Lee said most of the Birch Society members are people who have only recently become aware of the spread of communism and must be educated to the fact.

The society also has fostered a large number of splinter groups here, which possibly include even more members. Most of these groups were started after some people attended John Birch Society meetings, but felt the authoritarian type organization was not the answer.

Many of these groups are now conducting their own study courses for informative purposes, but are not tied to any formal organization.

The bulk of John Birch Society membership here is composed of doctors, dentists, insurance men and realtors, though by all means not all in these professions and businesses subscribe to the movement. Few if any attorneys are members.

Lee spends most of his time making speeches against communism and showing the John Birch Society - information film. This film is a speech by Robert Welch which gives the background of the organization, along with a running history on the spread of communism over the

ROAD PROJECTS SET

Bids Sought On Overpass

Bids were called Saturday by the Texas Highway Department on two projects of importance to the Amarillo area, including the overpass to link North and South Taylor in the expressway dispersal system through downtown Amarillo.

The bids on a total of 79.9 miles of road and highway improvements will be opened and contracts awarded March 17-18.

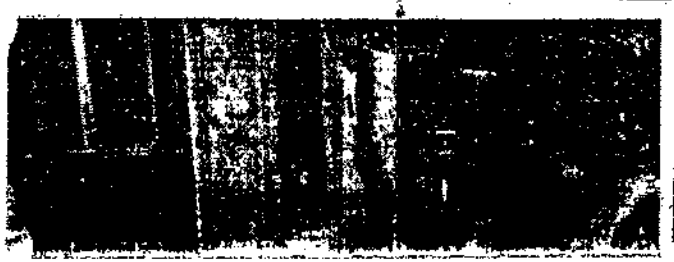
The overpass work includes construction of the structure over Fort Worth & Denver and Rock Island tracks and building approaches and frontage roads. The overpass is one of two to be constructed in the expressway system. The other span will link North and South Pierce.

The other project of Amarillo area interest involves extending the four-lane, divided portion of U. S. Highways 87-287 south from .03 miles north of the Moore County line to 7.1 miles south of the line into Potter County. The modernization of the highway has already been completed from Dumas south to the point .03 miles north of the Moore County line.

Eventually, the highway between Amarillo and Dumas will be entirely of four-lane, divided character.

The Panhandle improvements are part of 1,727 farm road and 966 miles of U. S. and state highway work called for in the bids, which are estimated to total $26.8 million.

Other Panhandle projects include:



CASTRO—U.S. 385 from Texas 36 in Dimmitt to north county line, 34.5 miles seal coat.

LAMB and BAILEY — Farm 303 and 298, Sudan to Farm 54 and .5 mile west of Baileyboro, east to Circleback; 21 miles, rebuild grade and surface.

HARDEMAN — Texas 283 and Farm 2830 Quanah to Red River and Texas 283 in Quanah; 11 miles grading and surfacing.

GRAY—Ranch 1321 east of Lefors; 6 miles grading and surfacing.

The Castro and Potter bids have been called for March 17, with bids on the Lamb-Bailey-Hardeman, Gray and Potter-Moore projects on March 18.

Midwest Hit By Tornadoes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rash of tornadoes stabbed into parts of the Midwest today, killing four persons, injuring several others and causing extensive damage.

Rain, snow and fog plagued widespread areas of the midcontinent.

A small tornado spun into a rural community near Stanton, Tenn., killing an 8-month-old child and two adults. All were Negroes. Their houses were badly damaged.

Another tornado hit in Kokomo, Ind. Mayme Mansfield, 69, was killed when the winds demolished a transportation truck terminal and sent a motor unit crashing into her house.

Another Indiana storm toppled eight big smokestacks at Austin, in the southern part of the state.

A half dozen persons were injured in the Indiana storms, requiring hospital treatment.

Small tornadoes hit in southern Illinois and Indiana, but only two injuries were reported.

One twister cut a destructive path through Litchfield, in southeastern Illinois damaging several buildings.

A woman resident of a Litchfield housing project was cut by flying glass and a man suffered bruises when the trailer home he was hurled 50 feet through the air.

A tornado caused heavy wind damage at Jeffersville.

High winds smashed a concrete service station in Effingham, Ill., and tore down a theater screen in the area.

The winds caused widespread damage to other buildings, trees and utility lines.

The twisters were the second to hit Illinois in less than two days. A tornado ripped into Chicago's South Side late Saturday killing

Police Class Blood Donors

The entire membership of the Amarillo Police Department's Class 61-J, Training Division, today volunteered to donate blood for Mrs. Mae Marcum who is to undergo open heart surgery in Dallas.

Addition of the 24 men to the list of donors has assured Mrs. Marcum of sufficient blood for the operation to be performed in Dallas. Other volunteers bring the total to 48 available for donations.

The heart surgery will repair heart valves damaged as a result of Mrs. Marcum's bout with two cases of rheumatic fever. She first was stricken when she was seven years old and had another attack in 1954.

Students of the police school volunteering included John C. Bacon, Lewis A. Bevers, Ralph E. Holstad, Lance O. Brewer, Tommy H. Cannon, Michael E. Cullen, Fredrick K. Ferguson, Richard A. United Nations is empowered to use force as a last resort, the spokesman said.

Two Sudanese U.N. soldiers — of the 130-man garrison — are known to have been killed in the battle, which raged throughout Saturday and until noon Sunday. Thirteen other Sudanese were wounded and 12 still are missing.

A Canadian signal captain also is missing and the U.N. spokesman said there are grave fears for his safety.

Matadi is the Congo's principal supply port and without control there, the U.N. supply operation could be gravely endangered.

Trouble blew up in the hillside town 60 miles up the Congo River when Congolese units erected road blocks to impede the movement of U.N. personnel. Two helicopters also were seized as they touched down at nearby Boma. That was on Friday.

Next day, the Congolese tried to dislodge an 11-man guard of U.N. Sudanese troops which had been thrown around a hillside villa used as a communications center by a Canadian signal unit.

The Congolese opened up with 37mm. antitank guns, killing a Sudanese and wrecking the post.

A Canadian captain who went out to parley with the attacking Congolese was not seen again.

Vastly outnumbered and with their ammunition running low, the Canadian signal post and its Sudanese guards surrendered Saturday evening.

Elsewhere in the town, fighting went on until noon Sunday.

More than 1,000 Congolese troops, armed with machine guns, mortars and antitank artillery, were ranged against the U.N. Sudanese garrison.

'Bellringers' March Tonight

Door-to-door solicitation for funds to support the fight against mental illness will begin at 6 p.m. today as 1,500 volunteers participate in a "Bellringer's March."

The three-hour march will be conducted by members of the Amarillo Society for Mental Health. "Bellringers" will wear tags displaying the sign of a ringing bell, symbol of a real bell cast in 1953 of shackles formerly used to bind mental patients.

Amarillo's goal is $15,000. The national goal is $10 million. During the first 10 months of 1960 there were 73 persons committed to the State Hospital in Wichita Falls through the Potter County Court.

Heading the Amarillo march are chairman Mrs. Dick Cline, Mrs. P. R. Nicols and Fenton Farwell.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the Peace Corps he has proposed may serve on the home front as well as abroad.

"One of the matters which we are now studying," Kennedy said, "is how we could use Americans who desire to serve in our own country—slum areas, in education retraining and all the rest.

"We are now attempting to see how we can use this reservoir of talent and desire here in our own country as well as abroad."

The President's comments were recorded at the White House during a television discussion with Eleanor Roosevelt. The program was televised Sunday.

Overseas reaction to the peace corps idea varied. In many regions with low living standards there was pleasure at the President's proposal.

Mrs. Roosevelt suggested during the discussion that some corps members might work in depressed areas in the United States. "That's right," Kennedy replied.

R. Sargent Shriver, the President's brother-in-law who was appointed director of the Peace Corps Saturday, also appeared on the TV program. He said proposals to have Peace Corps members work in settlement houses as part of their training for overseas service was being discussed.

Other corps officials said no decision had been made on the suggestion, one of many being considered.

Shriver said he wanted every American who desires to serve in the corps to have a chance to volunteer. Kennedy has said he hopes to have 500 to 1,000 young men and women in service around the world by the end of the year.

Mrs. Roosevelt called the response to the Peace Corps idea phenomenal.

Kennedy said the response was overwhelming. He added, "I think that we have really thousands and hundreds of thousands of people in this country who want a chance to be of service to the country and to the causes with

Two Elected By Shamrock

Two new directors of Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation were elected at the annual meeting of stockholders in the First National Bank Building Annex today. They include Everett H. Pixley of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Virgil P. Patterson of Amarillo increasing the board to nine members.

Shamrock directors re-elected at today's meeting were J. Harold Dunn, C. A. Cash, Ray C. Johnson, Ralph S. Euler, James A. Lyles, R. G. Morrison, and Ross D. Rogers.

Both new directors are bankers, Pixley being senior vice president of the Mellon National Bank and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and Patterson being president of the First National Bank of Amarillo.

Patterson is a native Texan, born in Taylor, and a 1928 graduate of Southern Methodist University. His long banking career includes seven years as a national bank examiner and a period as vice president of the American National Bank of Austin. He was elected president of the Amarillo bank in 1943. He is also a director of the bank and a member of the board of the Emerald Corporation in Amarillo.

Patterson is active in civic affairs and a strong booster of Boys Ranch, serving as a director of that organization. He is an avid baseball fan.

Pixley was born in Allendale, Ill., and graduated from the University of Oregon in 1921. From 1923 to 1936 he served as resident manager in the bank relations department of General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Pittsburgh. He was associated with the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh from 1936 until 1946, when he became vice president of the Mellon National Bank and Trust Company. He became its senior vice president in 1960.

Pixley is a director of the Glenn L. Martin Company and has been a director of the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Red Cross since 1946. He is a member of the Association of Reserve City Bankers, Phi Delta Theta, and the Christian Church.

Liz Taylor Gravely Ill

LONDON, March 6 (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, gravely ill with pneumonia, has developed anemia and is being given blood transfusions, her doctors reported tonight.

Dr. Carl Heinz Goldman, one of the actress' six - man medical team, said:

"We are a little worried about her today. Her blood is not very good. She is becoming anemic and we are giving her blood transfusions."

Goldman said in an interview the 29-year - old star is "still gravely ill."

He declined to elaborate further on her condition, and said a bulletin will be issued at 4 p.m. EST.

The movie actress spent a restless day — with a tube inserted in her throat to aid breathing. Earlier reports said she had displayed some improvement after a restless night.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Weare urgently in need of good advice. Like so many patriotic Americans these days, my wife and I are confused.

For many years we have been aware of the true nature of the international communist conspiracy. During the 1930's I read some of the socialist and communist classics, consequently I thought it was a mistake in '33 when our nation recognized the Soviet. In recent years we have been increasingly more alarmed, as a result of our own Government aiding and abetting the spread of the "cancer", close to our own shores in Cuba.

Consequently, when recently we first heard of the John Birch Society and it's program, we became very interested, read all the literature, saw the films, and decided to start a local chapter made up of fifteen or so of our more conservative friends and neighbors. All of us are loyal, patriotic, Christian Americans who desire nothing more than the destruction of tyrranny and despotism, from whatever direction, and a rebirth and reeducation to the basic old American precepts and principles.

Lately the John Birch Society has been undergoing a violent smear attack from much of the press in Southern California, with even some of the alleged conservative papers joining the act. As a result of all this pressure and criticism some of our members are now wavering and are beginning to wonder if maybe they have been duped into joining a questionable organization. The writer doesn' t feel this way, but after much of the publicity given to Welch's remarks about our former President, you can see the cause for concern. When our esteemed,A.D.A., California attorney general, Stanley Mosk, says that the Birch Society is subversive, I am naturally inclined to think the opposite.

Next on my reading list is"Masters of Deceit". I have just finished "I Saw Poland Betrayed" and "Russia's Race for Asia". We subscribe to " Human Events", " The Dan Smoot Report", and "National Review". To keep abreast of the party line we subscribe to "National Guardian", and back in the'40s we subscribed to "The Daily Worker" for the same reasons.

We love our country, wish to conserve it, and will fight bitterly anyone trying to subvert or destroy it. Please tell us, Mr. Hoover, are we on the right track in joining The Birch Society?

Dear Sir:

Can you set aright a confused AMERICAN? I hope so.

On March 5, 1961 I heard the Manion Forum on which it was reported that the John Birch Society was perhaps the best anti-communist organization in this country.

Prior to the above mentioned date I also heard Dan Smot, from Texas, give, in two parts, the reasons why he thought Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached.

Now I read in the March 10, issue of Time magazine that the John Birch Society is behind Dan Smot's proposal and that this organization is not what it is purported to be.

So you see I am rather confused, and, as a student of Law I would like to do my part in helping to stamp out this breed of tyranny called communism, but first I must know which organization is truly anti-communist, if indeed any of them are.

Thank you in advance for any and all information you may be able to supply concerning this matter.

3/28/61 Appreciative

Your letter dated March 8, 1961, has been received.

The thought prompting your writing me is very much appreciated, and I was interested in having the benefit of your observations and comments. Enclosed is material on the general subject of communism available for distribution by the FBI. Additional copies of these reprints can be sent you without charge, if desired. I hope that the publications being forwarded will give you and your parishioners suggestions as to how you can take effective action in protecting our American way of life.

I am glad to know of your wish to combat the growing menace of communism. A well-informed citizenry is essential to the preservation of a free society as we know it today. I would like to emphasize, however, my own strong belief in the great importance of having sound knowledge of the exact nature and character of this threat.

Lack of full knowledge is dangerous in that it is responsible for the reprehensible and indiscriminate labeling as communist those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. When fully cognizant that communist influence threatens, on the other hand, I hope you will not hesitate to voice your convictions with courage.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Amarillo must be a familiar name to you, if all the people have received letters from you who claim too. I,too, am writing to you concerning ourstruggle with communism, but, perhaps in different light from some of the others.

My concern is with the methods and action of groups of our people called "John Birch Society". While most of these are fine people, good citizens with noble motives, some of their judgments are unjust if not liable. My first knowledge ofthe society was in January,when apparently, with stimulus from Welch, they began an attack on some of the church related periodicals. After several groups' examinations, it appeared to be only theological difference instead of "communist infiltration and teachings."

Tensions have built within the community and some churches until one might believe the communist were the winners of "round one" in our city. Smear-gossip has run rampant until it is not safe to speak, teach or even talk with 'friends'. This has been aided by the films of the society as well as "Communism On the Map" and "Operation Abolition" and speeches by a retired Air Force General. At a recent PTA meeting in our Avondale school, Gen. Wm Lee stated that we were not to trust anyone for he might be a communist- not our teachers,the text books, the minister, Sunday School teachers, not our neighbor, not even our mate.

Another minister and I met with some of the society leaders of our city last Saturday. Gen. Lee was not present. In the course of the discussions these general ideas were evident: Anyone is a "communist" who- 1) has Socialist political leanings, 2) teaches with Progressive educational methods, 3) has Liberial Theological views, or 4) differs in ideas or practice with members of the society. They also set forth their aims during the discussion as; a) distruction of the National Council of Churches, b) impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, c) distruction of the Supreme Court, d)withdrawal of the US from the UN, e) impeachment or some method of getting rid of the "communist"President Kennedy, and, f) ending integration of racess

I am worried for fear that this kind of zealot activity and name calling may lay us waste in community and church and thus be taken in by communism. I fear also that the communist could use a "dictator michine" like the Birch Society for its hate program.

Gratefully yours

MAR. 16/61

MR. J. E. HOOVER:

DEAR SIR,

I hope you do not mind my using the back of your letter, it may serve to connect my answer with my original question.

First, I wish to thank you for the reading matter you sent to me. I have learned much from reading these pieces. I am one who just steped out of 'the dark' and to read these things makes my blood boil. I hope you are being overloaded with letters requesting material on this menace as it is easily seen that this fight will be one of the people rather than government.

Secondly, I felt that you would be unable to give me a direct answer on the position of the John Birch Society and it's founder, Mr. Welch, I wrote just to find out for sure. Since my letter, there has been more than one piece in the news about this group, a great deal of 'mud slinging' from many corners. These things have prompted me to go ahead with my membership in their group; because they must be getting close to something big. There is always a great uproar when anyone starts putting pressure on the Reds or their dupes as per Sen. McCarthy & if they are fighting hard enough to bring it up in Congress, this Society must be on the ball. I hope you agree, off the record.

Thirdly, I was greatly relieved to see your personal reply in the Miami Herald, Letters to the Editor section, stating that you had no idea of resigning your post. I breath a soft Thank God. One question about this came to mind; why did not your letter receive equal billing with the so called "Tip Off" that you were getting out. In my estimation, the assurance that you are staying should be on page 1, the "Tip Off" rated pg. 2.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have called the Los Angeles Office of the F.B.I. and have written to the Attorney-General, Washington, D.C. and have not been given the satisfaction that I had hoped to receive.

I am deeply interested and concerned about the state of affairs in our Country. I am ready to assist or help in any way that I can to help awaken Americans to the infiltration of Communism. Consequently when the John Birch Society was presented to me it seemed to be the answer; however I have wanted Clearance concerning this organization and since the above Departments are unable to verify the integrity of this Society I am hoping that you have the time to give me your personal views on this matter and any suggestions that I can follow in order to awaken the people in my community to the imminent dangers that surround us.

I have always appreciated your efforts on our behalf and I would like to compliment you for your courage, conviction, and patriotism. I know the people are behind you. Keep up the outstanding work, we count on you.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter postmarked March 9, 1961, with enclosure, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Enclosed is some literature dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest. I am returning the self-addressed, stamped envelope you forwarded.

Sincerely yours,

The Bureau has, of course, been cognizant over a period of time of the many fanatical right-wing anticommunist organizations which are presently spreading widely throughout the country and of their utterly absurd viewpoints. For your information, I am attaching copies of letters dated March 6 and 8, 1961, from Mr. [redacted] Dallas, Texas, and [redacted] Saint Paul Methodist Church, 4317 Wolflin Avenue, Amarillo, Texas, which typify the absolute confusion and lack of confidence in American institutions and one's fellow man being caused by representatives of such organizations.

b6
b7C

Both Mr. [redacted] and Mr. [redacted] inquire concerning the John Birch Society (JBS). The former makes wild allegations re Francis Gary Powers, the convicted U.S. "spy" now in Russia, being in collusion with Russia which reports are being disseminated by one Fred Koch representing the JBS.

Mr. [redacted] mentions one General William Lee, a retired Air Force general, who recently spoke at a Parent-Teacher Association in his area (and possibly represented the JBS), at which time General Lee allegedly stated "we were not to trust anyone for he might be a communist--not our teachers, the textbooks, the minister, Sunday School teachers, not our neighbor, not even our mate." [redacted] also informs: "Tensions have built within the community and some churches until one might believe the communist were the winners of "round one" in our city. Smear-gossip has run rampant until it is not safe to speak, teach or even talk with 'friends'."

General William Lee is not identifiable in Bufiles. Fred Koch, who is speaking for the JBS, may refer to Fred C. Koch, author of "A Businessman Looks at Communism" and President of the Rock Island Oil and Refining Company, Inc., Wichita, Kansas. The Manion Forum Network disseminates material presented by Koch.

Gentlemen:

At the present time in certain parts of Texas, an organization called the "John Burke Society" is holding meetings and explaining the growing dangers of communism.

A Mr. Fred Koch in particular, will travel to any part of the country to talk to an aggregate of twenty people. Some of the printed information distributed by this organization contains information such as; that Francis Gary Powers was not shot down in Russia, but landed his plane after being paid by the Russian Government. All of the information that I have read by this organization is very interesting, but still I am rather skeptical about their product.

Would you please give me any unclassified information about this organization so that I might be convinced that they are doing a worthy thing and not duping the public? Also, would you please send me any printed information that your great organization has pertaining to the communist party in the United States.

I hope to hear from you shortly. Thank you very much.

Respectfully yours,

My Dear Mr. Hoover,

We seem to have an ultra-patriotic group in Amarillo, to put it literally, who have been raising hell by various accusations concerning communism amongst local people. They call themselves the John Birch Society. The organization purports to be 100% American but they sure have a strange way of doing business. There code seems to be, "we'll lead, you follow, and no questions asked." One of their current goals besides intimidation seems to be the overthrow of the U.S. Supreme Court by impeachment. An ex-general, William L. Lee, is the public leader; but on hearsay evidence is not the real leader. I'm inclosing an article from this evening's paper concerning the group.

You are probably aware of this organization but I'd like to call it to your attention. If there is any public information concerning this group I would appreciate it.,

Very truly yours,

Ministers Ask Lee To Back Charges

A group of Amarillo ministers today called on a retired Air Force general here to take any documented evidence which he has concerning Communism in the National Council of Churches to proper authorities.

The ministers said in a prepared statement that any such evidence does not belong in the hands of individuals or organized groups, but should be turned over to the FBI and proper courts "that action under the law can be taken to resolve the said charges."

Participating in preparation of the paper were nine ministers representing all denominations in Amarillo which are associated with the National Council of Churches. Eight of the ministers signed the document. One, who was in on the preparation of most of the paper, was called from the meeting and had not had an opportunity to sign the document by noon today.

In their paper, the ministers cited a statement made recently by the National Council in which it was denied that any Communist influence is present in that organization.

They called the charges made on Monday by Brig. Gen. (Ret.) William L. Lee of Amarillo as being in violent contradiction with the National Council statement and called attention to the "Constitutional right of every American citizen to be confronted by his accusers and be tried by the courts."

Ministers who signed the instrument are: Bishop George Quarterman, bishop of the Episcopal diocese; Dr. E. B. Lindreth, district superintendent of the Methodist Church; the Rev. Charley P. Harnest, Covenant Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Clayton Sugg, minister of Grace Lutheran Church; Dr. Luther Kirk, minister of San Jacinto Methodist Church; Dr. Jordan Grooms, minister of Polk Street Methodist Church; Dr. Newton Robison, minister of First Christian Church, and Dr. Skinner, minister of First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. William Everhart, minister of Westminister Presbyterian Church, was present for most of the discussions, but was called from the meeting before it was completed and had not signed by noon.

The statement follows:

"We, the undersigned ministers, are concerned by the charge that the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA has been infiltrated by Communists and the claim that is made by Gen. Lee that he has in his hands 'documented proof' of this fact. We, as Christian citizens, would welcome any opportunity to rid the country of Communist infiltration in the church or in any area of our society.

"The public charge made by Gen. Lee is in direct contradiction to the following statement from the leaders of The National Council of Churches in the USA:

" 'From its very first moment of existence in December 1950, when the denominations constituted this agency to witness to their unity in Christ and to conduct their cooperative work, the National Council of Churches has never had a Communist Party member or sympathizer among its officers or staff, or its executives. Every one of these devoted church members is deeply loyal to his country. Every one of them resists by conviction, and by virtue of his professional activity, the attemps of Communism to infiltrate and undermine a free society both in America and other nations of the world. The Council defies anyone to offer proof of probative value to the country.

" 'Since the Council was formed, literally thousands of clergymen and laity have participated actively in the work of its numerous departments and committees, including the members of the Revised Standard Bible Committee. We know of no one of these thousands who has Communistic leanings. Certainly none has Enclosed is a report concerning captioned organization which appeared in the March 10, 1961, issue of Time magazine. It is a succinct picture of a lunatic-fringe type of organization that is doing more harm than good with a professional anticommunist attack on everything and everyone opposing its own dictatorial policies.

Most interesting in the enclosed article is the parallel it draws between the organization and operation of the Communist Party and the John Birch Society, both of which exist under the hard-boiled dictatorial direction of one man, both of which have cells in various cities throughout the country, and both of which operate effectively through front organizations in a militant manner that is barely a goose step away from the formation of goon squads.

Equally important is the reported observation of a Chicago conservative who backed away from the John Birch Society with the observation that it "is the kind of thing that does violence to everything we're trying to accomplish" and "siphons a lot of well-meaning people off into a lunatic fringe" while "giving anti-Communist efforts a black eye," hurting us "much more than it helps us."

The supporters of this organization and those influenced by the vicious propaganda it has been putting out are typical of the fanatics who have been attempting lately to disparage and discredit Bureau speakers who have been giving audiences a true, factual picture concerning the nature of the threat which communist activities in this country represent.

ORGANIZATIONS

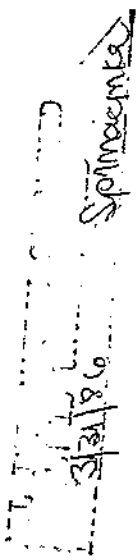
The Americanists

Among the U.S. brotherhoods dedicated to the fight against Communism, nothing is quite like the John Birch Society. Except for an elite corps of leaders, its members shun personal publicity, and their names are held by the society in strictest secrecy. Its cells, of 20 to 30 members apiece, take orders from society headquarters, promote Communist-style front organizations that do not use the John Birch name. Carefully avoiding normal channels of political action, the society accepts the hard-boiled, dictatorial direction of one man who sees democracy as a "perennial fraud" and estimates that the U.S. is 40% to 60% Communist-controlled. In other time, other places, the John Birch "Americanists"—as they call themselves—might seem a tiresome, comic-opera joke. But already the society admits to cells in 35 states, and its partisans have made their anonymous and unsettling presence felt in scores of U.S. communities.

In Wichita, Kans., student members of the society are trained to tell their cell leader of any "Communist" influence [redacted] of guilt. A Wichita businessman who planned to make a modest contribution to a University of Wichita fund was dissuaded because members of the society were demanding that certain professors and books be thrown out. "My business would be wrecked," said he, "if those people got on the phone and kept on yelling that I am a Communist because I give money to the school." Society members in Nashville, Tenn., started telephone campaigns to warn homeowners that some of their neighbors were suspected Reds. The project with current top priority is the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, and activities in a dozen cities range from the "spontaneous" circulation of petitions to a rash of letters to newspapers, and a HELP IMPEACH EARL WARREN banner strung across the main street of Pampa, Texas (and taken down by the police a few hours later).

The Red Plot. All society activity comes under the firm thumb of a balding, deceptively mild-mannered, retired businessman from Belmont, Mass., named Robert Welch. Son of a North Carolina farmer, Baptist Welch, 61, spent 25 years as an executive with Cambridge's famed candy-making James O. Welch Co. (run by his brother). After the war, Welch began to bone up on Communist literature; eventually he decided that such [redacted] Social Security [redacted] the U.S. Navy, was part [redacted] to ready the U.S. for [redacted] quest. Welch left candy for full-time anti-Communist pamphleteering in 1958. He founded the John Birch Society the next year, naming it for a U.S. Navy captain killed by Chinese Communist guerrillas after V-J day.

Welch's Mein Kampf is a masterpiece of invective called The Politician. Shown only to close friends, the book is now being withdrawn from circulation, largely because its judgments on contemporary leaders repelled more people than they attracted. Some Welchian estimates:



¶ The Eisenhower brothers: ". . . Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist Party . . . For [the former President], there is only one possible word to describe his purposes and his actions. That word is treason."

¶ CIA Director Allen Dulles: "The most protected and untouchable supporter of Communism, next to Eisenhower himself, in Washington."

¶ The late John Foster Dulles: "A Communist agent."

Right-Wing Names. For public consumption, Welch has kept his vitriol well enough in check to avoid libel suits. A prolific author, he has turned out reams of Red-baiting copy, including the Blue Book that guides the society's actions. He puts out the monthly American Opinion, as well as a bulletin that informs all dues-paying ($24 a year for men, $12 for women) members of the society's monthly aims. Despite the ill-fame of The Politician, Welch has been highly praised as a freedom fighter by a horde of familiar right-wing names, e.g., Actor Adolphe Menjou, Lawyer Clarence Manion, ex-Diplomat Spruille Braden, who grace the society's council and have the right to appoint his successor.

Not all conservatives are so sanguine about Welch. Many object to the society's contempt for dissent from its views, feel that its militant words and thoughts are barely a goose step away from the formation of goon squads. "This is the kind of thing that does violence to everything we're trying to accomplish," says one Chicago conservative who backed away from Birchism after a glimpse at The Politician. "It siphons a lot of well-meaning, respectable people off into a lunatic fringe run by Welch, at the same time giving anti-Communist efforts a black eye. It hurts us much more than it helps us."

Dear Mrs. DeFriece:

I have received your letter of March 13, 1961, and the interest which prompted you to communicate with me on this occasion is indeed appreciated.

While I do wish it were possible to be of assistance, the jurisdiction and responsibilities of the FBI do not extend to furnishing evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I regret that I am unable to help you, and I hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I can readily understand your deep concern over the grave threat posed by communism. It is my firm belief that a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist conspiracy is essential if Americans are to effectively resist its influence. My book, "Masters of Deceit," was intended to be an easy-to-read primer on communism for students and other Americans who would like to learn something about this evil menace. I have always felt that private citizens, acting through their civic, labor, religious, educational and similar organizations, constitute one of our most effective weapons against communism.

I am sending, under separate cover, several items on the subject of communism which you might like to read.

I have become increasingly alarmed about the Communist menace to our Country ever since reading your fine book, "Masters of Deceit." I really do want to help fight Communism, but I must be sure about the best way to do it.

The "John Birch Society" has been showing films here in Wichita, and I feel that they have been most successful in alerting many people to the present danger and getting them to read about what is going on. However, there has been much controversy about the "John Birch Society" in Wichita. What I want to know is - Is there any reason why we loyal Americans shouldn't join the Birch Society in order to fight Communism? Is this smear Campaign against it here just evidence that we do have many subversive groups in our city?

Dear Mr. Hoover,

For many months, at great lengths, I have been in a controversial argument with a friend and member concerning this John Birch Society. My contention is a knowledge of Communism and its destructiveness through reading; e.g. The FBI Story, Masters of Deceit, Expose of Soviet Espionage, can be more effective in helping us to recognize its threat. Further arguments would be too lengthy to bother with at this time. This week, the brief reference to the organization in Time ignited another "rather heated" discussion.

I turn to your department for some factual information.

Does this organization have a positive purpose?

Has it achieved any success in contributing to defeating the growth of Communism in this country?

Do you advocate such an organization or is it merely tolerated because it represents one of our freedoms and remains within legal boundaries?

This note represents a sincere effort to get at some facts about this organization, if facts are available. I am not interested in fighting it or joining it, unless of course it became too destructive, merely in having some factual information.

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

I have received your letter of March 10, 1961, and I appreciate the concern which prompted you to write.

While I would like to be of assistance to you regarding your inquiries, the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and does not furnish evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or do not have data in our files relating to the subject which you mentioned.

I firmly believe that it behooves all of us to make a concerted effort to gain a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist menace. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it often results in the reprehensive and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. Education is of great importance in this matter, for when fully aware of the aims of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to defeat it with the weapon it fears most--truth.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We support everything you do in your department 100 % and respect your judgement.

We have joined the John Birch Society and feel their stand on anti-socialism and anti-communism are sound and correct.

In our Los Angeles area, Pasadena and La Canada, we are receiving bitter criticism to the movement. Can you give us a recommendation on Mr. Welch and his background? Is it the same as what you stand for: Is there any reason why we should not be members of this group?

We have the uneasy feeling this could be a clever way for the Communists to get a list of names of people here in America with like thinking and this would certainly make their task of elemination very simple for them.

May we have an honest answer from you please?

Sincerely yours,

In this March 10th issue of Time Magazine, as you are most undoubtedly aware of, is this hair-raising article about the John Birch Society. May I have your opinion of The John Birch Society? Is it Communist infiltrated? What is your opinion of Robert Welch? We are leaders of an Anti-Communist study group in Lafayette, and know of several very respectable citizens of our community who have joined the Society last fall when The John Birch Society was in town to solicit members.

Also, may I have your opinion of such magazines, papers, etc. as Human Events, American Opinion, the American Mercury, also of Time Magazine. Also, do you approve of the Cardinal Minzsenty Foundation and the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade?

Also a pamphlet of suggested good reading, materials on Communism, called "Inside the Communist Conspiracy" by Phyllis Schlafly? Also do you approve of Rosalie M. Gordon who wrote "Nine Men Against America"?

Also could you please send me a copy of subversive and communist front organizations?

I am sure this will clear up for many of us our doubts about these questions. I will look forward to a reply from you very soon. Thank you!

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of March 10, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

While I would like to be of assistance, the FBI, as strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government, does not furnish evaluations or comments relative to the character or integrity of any individual, organization or publication. I hope you will not infer in this connection either that our files do or do not contain data regarding the subjects of your inquiry.

The film, "Operation Abolition," is sponsored and distributed by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and this Bureau had no connection with its preparation. As a matter of policy, I am unable, therefore, to make any comment concerning it. May I suggest that you direct your inquiry to the Committee which is located in Room 225, Old House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

It is my firm belief, however, that a broad knowledge of the communist conspiracy is essential if Americans are to effectively resist its influence. The FBI prepared a detailed account of the highly organized tactics employed by the Communist Party, USA in the California demonstrations. I am enclosing a copy in order that you may have the full background in this matter. An analysis of this report will show its purpose was not to defend the activities of the House Committee nor does it cast doubt on the motivation or loyalty of American youth. It is intended rather as urgent encouragement to young people to learn the true nature of this malevolent threat and, armed with that understanding, to resist being duped into unlawful or unthinking action.

Enclosed is additional material on the general subject of communism which may be of interest to you.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of March 13, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Enclosed is some literature dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Sir:

During recent weeks several articles and editorials have appeared in the Nashville newspapers and in other newspapers around the country attacking the John Birch Society.

On the surface, this Society seems to have an admirable purpose. I certainly want to fight the spread of communism but hesitate to join an organization whose purpose is questionable.

It is my understanding that the John Birch Society has been and is currently under the survailance of the F.B.I., therefore, I would like to know just what is your opinion of the John Birch Society.

Very truly yours,

I was approached by someone the other day wanting me to join a group called the John Birch Society. It is suppose to be an anti-communist group, however I am very skeptical about such groups. They seem to be primarily interested in getting certain bills passed or vetoed.

Would you please inform me as to the validity of the John Birch Society. The book they put our is called the Blue Book. They advise members to read American Opinion.

Your attention to this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Sir:

First of all, lest j'accuse, I am not a member of the John Birch Society but am sorely tempted to join it after reading the five articles last week and your editorial today.

The Los Angeles Times was at one time my trusted friend and guide. Your tacit and inexplicable approval of the Russian Festival shocked me, in fact, so much so that I have not attended any more Bowl performances since - nor will I until the Board of Directors come to their senses. Your attitude during the Republican campaign nearly finished my faith in you - your editorial on Mr. Nixon was your only worthwhile contribution and then it was too little and too late. Your editorial today finished off the last vestiges of my faith and trust in your judgment. I am grateful for one thing, however. I knew nothing about the John Birch Society before the first article on Sunday, March 5, 1961 - thank you for educating me.

Your "What to think" paragraphs are unbelievable and appalling. One small voice (or group) in this frightening morass dares to speak up and to question the higher echelons and you, of all people, denounce this group which obviously puts love of America and freedom above love of power, position, money and partisan politics.

The wealth of documented material available, proving how far and in how many ways this cancerous communistic and socialistic growth is progressing, apparently impresses you not at all. Fighting these destructive doctrines with their own weapons is obviously the only way to do it. I fail to see how documented statements of facts can be classed as 'smear tactics' and who questions the decency and loyalty of most Americans? Why this "red herring" across the trail? I, and many others, do at times question the aims and/or integrity of some officials and our right to do that, Mr. Chandler, is still our American prerogative, at least until this, too, is chained in the cellars along with other precious freedoms.

Peril to Conservatives

(An Editorial)

The Times published last week a heavily documented series of articles which defined the nature and methods of the John Birch Society in the words of its absolute master.

The quotations from Robert Welch, and from some of his lieutenants, nail down the treacherous fallacy that an honorable or noble objective justifies any means to achieve it.

Our fear of the John Birch Society is based on our own findings, on the meticulously researched articles written by Gene Blake. In them it can be read, within quotation marks, that Communists must be fought with their own weapons, smear for smear. Even—and the quotations are brutal—with sedition.

Every conservative must adhere to the general purpose of the society as it is stated by Robert Welch: "to promote less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Every loyal American must agree devoutly with the society's immediate intention of "stopping the Communists and destroying their conspiracy, or at least breaking its grip on our government and shattering its power within the United States."

And every informed American must agree with the society's tenet that the United States is actually now engaged with Soviet Russia in a struggle for the survival of our system.

With all honorable Americans, this newspaper looks with disgust and dread upon the godless materialism and blood-soaked tyranny of the Communist conspiracy. It is because of our people's disgust and dread that the Communists must seek their ends by secret subversion, by seducing officials, by discrediting our institutions, sowing distrust among us, aggravating union and racial disputes, entering without conscience into any course that will serve the purpose of Moscow.

Then what is likely to happen to the member of the John Birch Society who abandons all the rules by which he has lived his decent life, and adopts instead the techniques and the rules of conspiracy to fight Communists in Communist fashion?

If the John Birchers follow the program of their leader, they will bring our institutions into question exactly as the Communists try to do. They will sow distrust, and aggravate disputes, and they will weaken the very strong case for conservatism.

What are we to think when our last three Presidents, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower, are accused either of being Communists or Communist dupes?

What are we to think when these charges are leveled against Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, against his brother Allen who heads our vital Central Intelligence Agency, against the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court?

What are we to think when the honor and integrity of the Vice President of the United States, the Republican Party's nominee for President, are questioned?

What are we to think when we are told that our nation's press almost without exception is Communist infiltrated and inspired?

What are we to think when we are told that our churches almost without exception are corroded with active agents of Moscow?

What is happening to us when all loyal Americans are accused of being Communist dupes unless they subscribe to the radical and dictatorial direction of one self-chosen man?

All sincere conservatives must ask themselves these questions. And they must answer them.

The Times believes implicitly in the conservative philosophy. It has challenged all these men and most of these institutions on the soundness of one or more issues. But The Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won—and we do believe it can be won—by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometimes disagree.

Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, Robert Welch, its founder, has stated that the Society might take on the appearance of a "front" in order to attract true subversives. During the Eisenhower Administration, Welch criticized the President to the point of calling him a dupe of the communists.

TOT XM Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of March 10, 1961, and I do appreciate your generous remarks and good wishes.

I firmly believe that it behooves every one of us to make a concerted effort to gain a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist menace. This is vitally essential if Americans are to effectively resist its influence. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it is often responsible for the reprehensive and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. Education is of strategic importance in this matter, for when fully cognizant of the aims of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to defeat it with the weapon it fears most--truth.

In view of your interest in the subject of communism I am enclosing several items which you may like to have.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Mr. Hoover:

It is with heartfelt thanks to God for men like yourself that I am writing to you.

I want to express my appreciation to you for the great work you and your organization have done over the years for the cause of Freedom and Liberty in our beloved America.

It is this cause to preserve and protect our heritage that is most important now. It is in the greatest danger that it has ever been. My great concern is that the American people, through complacency and self-indulgence, will allow our country to be destroyed by international communism from within our own borders.

It was with this danger in mind that I became a member of the John Birch Society so that my efforts could be more effective in defeating this terrible menace. The principles of our society, to reduce the size of Government, restore individual responsibility and make the world a better place for all people, are something worth working for.

My prayers are that your position will not be jeopardized by the concentrated smear that the communists and their dupes are presently using against you and the House Committee on Unamerican Activities.

May it be God's will that the American people be enlightened about the threat of slavery facing us and of the efforts by yourself and others to defeat that threat.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I would appreciate receiving information regarding the John Birch Society, with headquarters in Belmont, Massachusetts.

The members whom I have met appear to be serious minded, dedicated American citizens who are united in the common cause of fighting Communism. On the other hand, some recent publicity (Louisville Courier Journal, February 19, 1961; Time Magazine, March 10, 1961) has been so critical of the society that the question has arisen whether membership in this group is consistent with good citizenship.

I am a civil service employee of the Veterans Administration and an officer in the United States Army Reserve, so that your opinion of this organization will be valuable to me and to my friends who may find themselves in a similar situation.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

The purpose of this letter is to ask the opinion of your organization about the John Birch Society. Do you consider membership in the society an effective means of doing something to oppose communism? Is it a good, patiotic American group which warrants the support of patriots who want to keep America American?

I feel that I must do what I can to promote a rebirth of patriotism in our country. I am a school teacher by profession trying to do what is right. If the above group is not one solution, what should one do?

I shall sincerely appreciate your answers to the above questions.

REC-19

The following information is submitted for the Bureau's information in accordance with SAC letters 59-13 and 60-5:

b6
b7D

On 1/13/61, Mr. [redacted] (Protect Identity requested), Jewish Community Council, 184 Salem Avenue, Dayton, furnished the following information to SA [redacted]

The Jewish Communist Council, at Dayton, has received information that The John Birch Society of Boston, Massachusetts, presently has several members in the Dayton, Ohio, area whose identities are unknown.

b6
b7D

Mr. [redacted] described The John Birch Society as an organization which purports to fight Communism. He said, however, that he has learned that a speaker of this Society has stated at a meeting that "We will have to give up some of our democratic processes to achieve our aims". This organization has, in the past, called President EISENHOWER a Communist.

A local source of Mr. [redacted] has advised him that there are two known members of this Society in Dayton whose identities were not disclosed. Mr. [redacted] said that this organization is basically composed of Catholics; that it is an extreme right-wing group; and that although it is not a violent type of organization, it definitely has "anti-Semitic overtones". Mr. [redacted] further advised that a source in Boston, Massachusetts, has advised the Anti-Defamation League that this group is definitely anti-Semitic and has the backing of considerable wealth.

According to Mr. [redacted] JOHN BIRCH was an individual killed by the Communists in China. The John Birch Society is supposedly backed by a candy manufacturer by the name of WELCH.

Mr. [redacted] said that his organization, which is affiliated with the Anti-Defamation League, is definitely interested in this organization in view of the allegations of anti-Semetism. He said that his organization has a source of information at Dayton, Ohio, which is furnishing information concerning the Dayton "cell" of The John Birch Society. He said that the source is concerned with [redacted] since it is conceivable that this organization may, at some subsequent date, be cited by the United States Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450. Mr. [redacted] stated that if the Bureau desired further information concerning the Dayton activities of this group, he would be glad to identify his source and make arrangements for contact.

On 3/10/61, Mr. [redacted] advised that he has ascertained that the John Birch Society at Dayton is composed of 15 to 24 people, exact number unknown, [redacted] being one [redacted] at Dayton. He said that the society is active on the campus of the University of Dayton, and that a [redacted] at the university is associated with this group. According to Mr. [redacted] source of information, this group has a membership fee of $12.00 for women and $24.00 for men. He said that he knows of no militant activity planned by them, but that he anticipates they will be active in writing letters to editors of local newspapers which will reflect the views of the group. Mr. [redacted] said that he feels that the local group will oppose any efforts to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities and take other action along the same line.

NOTE: Bufiles contain no record identifiable with correspondent. Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, an allegedly anticommunist organization, has criticized the Eisenhower Administration bitterly in the past. He once stated he felt a group having the appearance of a communist front would be effective in attracting true subversives. Bureau material has been made available to Dr. Frederick C. Schwarz and others affiliated with the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade. Sullivan to Belmont memo of 9-22-60 indicates that when a representative of the Bureau spoke before the Dallas Freedom Forum in September (which sponsored a school on communism at that time directed by Dr. Schwarz,) the Agent commented that Schwarz made several "pitches" for articles in a book he had written on communism and his publications were displayed. Neither he nor his organization has been investigated by the Bureau. At the present time, we are discouraging the distribution of material to this organization and those affiliated with it.

Reference is made to your letter dated March 13, 1961, which enclosed a copy of a letter to the Secretary of State from [redacted] dated February 27, 1961, and which requested information concerning the John Birch Society (JBS).

b7C

Our files disclose that the JBS was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., a candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, in order to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of the JBS as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

In an article "The Wrong Way to Fight Reds" by Jack Mabley in the January 30, 1961, issue of the "Chicago Daily News," a Chicago, Illinois, daily newspaper, Mabley comments on Welch and the Society. Mabley states Welch, by his own words, is absolute boss of the Society and quotes Welch as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss." Mabley sums up his article by stating the communist threat in this country is real enough; the country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract communist evil; but "the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work."

Welch authored a book entitled "The Politician," which he did not have published but had a limited number of copies printed, which he sent to friends who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed it was a vicious attack on the political beliefs of former President Eisenhower and, by innuendo, alluded to President Eisenhower as being procommunist.

Welch also publishes a magazine "American Opinion," which was incorporated January 13, 1956, under the laws of the State of Massachusetts, and which he also uses as an outlet for his anticommunist crusade. As an example of the type of material which appears in "American Opinion" an article was published in the October, 1959, edition entitled "A Review of Reviews" written by Revilo P. Oliver, a professor at the University of Illinois. This article contained allegations that between 70 and 80 per cent of the responsible officers in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy. This appears to be a follow-up of a speech made by Oliver in March, 1959, at which time he allegedly stated that one third of the top echelon of the communist conspirators in this country are in the HEW and stated his source was Herbert Philbrick. Philbrick, a former FBI informant, upon interview has denied giving Oliver any information concerning communist infiltration of the HEW. Our files disclose that Philbrick never furnished such information to the FBI.

This Bureau has not received any information which would indicate that the activities of Welch or the JBS come within the investigative jurisdiction of the FBI.

TO : Director, FBI

DATE: 3/21/61

FROM SAC, Norfolk (105-New)

SUBJECT: THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING (INTERNAL SECURITY)

On 3/9/61, Mrs. [redacted] The Book Nook, 116 College Place, Norfolk, Virginia, advised that The John Birch Foundation or Society had recently held a meeting in a room at the Lafayette Yacht Club, Norfolk. She stated the object of the meeting was to form a chapter of the John Birch Society in Norfolk and the object of the John Birch Society is to fight communism.

b6

She stated that the annual dues are $24.00 for men and $12.00 for women and that a life membership can be obtained for $1,000.00.

Mrs. [redacted] stated that a young man whose name she does not know but who was allegedly from Richmond, Virginia, showed a film regarding the life of JOHN BIRCH at the meeting held in Norfolk. She stated that she got the impression that a chapter of The JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY had been organized in Richmond. Mrs. [redacted] stated that literature was sold to those present and that this included the following:

(2) American Opinion, Volumn II, Number I, January 1959
This contains bibliographies of various books regarding communism and reflects that it is intended primarily for reference purposes.

This book reflects that The John Birch Society was founded in Indianapolis on 12/9/58. As of the first anniversary date, it had working chapters in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Louisiana, Texas, California, and Washington.

b7C

Mrs. [redacted] stated that the local people in Norfolk who seemed to be the leaders in attempting to form a chapter of The John Birch Society in Norfolk were WILLIAM McKENDREE, FRANK R. FORD, and Mrs. J. ADDISON HAGAN. She stated that she understood that Mrs. HAGAN is a lifetime member of The John Birch Society.

The Norfolk files reflect that WILLIAM I. McKENDREE resides at 9443 Willow Terrace, Norfolk; that he is owner of the WILLIAM I. McKENDREE COMPANY (duplicating machines), 245 W. Bute Street, Norfolk; and has been an active member of the Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberties (DSSIL).

On 11/19/55, WILLIAM McKENDREE advised SA HARRY L. McCARTHY of this office that he was a member of the DSSIL and that this group was very anti-communist in its nature and objectives. He stated that he personally had given some public talks against communism.

The Norfolk Ledger Dispatch Newspaper, on 4/11/59, contained an article entitled "Defenders File 3 Candidates For House". This article reflects that three DSSIL-backed candidates announced on 4/11/59 they will seek election to the House of Delegates. One of those named was W. I. McKENDREE. The newspaper identified McKENDREE as one of the founders of the Norfolk Chapter of the DSSIL and the Tidewater Educational Foundation, Inc.

NF 105-New

An article appearing in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot Newspaper of 11/11/57 reflected that two Norfolk men had been elected to posts in the State organization of the DSSIL. The article further reflected that FRANK R. FORD, Norfolk jeweler, had been named a State Vice-President. The article also reflected that both FORD and HAGAN were members of the Board of the Norfolk Chapter of the organization.

The Norfolk files reflect that JOSEPH ADDISON HAGAN resides at 524 Warren Crescent, Norfolk; that he is the owner of Hagan Sales Company, 820 W. 21st Street, Norfolk (manufacturer's representative).

A mimeographed leaflet carrying the heading "Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberties, Norfolk Chapter", reflected that a meeting of this group was to be held on 10/18/60. This leaflet was signed: Defenders of State Sovereignty, J. Addison Hagan, President, Norfolk Chapter.

J. ADDISON HAGAN is also carried as the victim in Norfolk File 9-256; Bufile 9-34513.

No investigation is being conducted concerning The John Birch Society, UACB; however, any additional information received regarding this organization will be promptly furnished to the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am taking the liberty of sending you the enclosed clipping, taken from the News Press of Santa Barbara a few days ago. My purpose in sending it may need some clarification.

About two weeks ago, the News Press started a campaign of attack on the John Birch Society here in Santa Barbara, and have followed it up with daily pounding ever since. The gist of the attack consisted of claims that this Society was a menace to the community, a security risk, and that it was doubtless subversive. The only reasons given for the attack was that their leader Mr. Welch had said some things uncomplimentary regarding Mr. Eisenhower. Although the members here are not in accord with Mr. Welch's statements, still the News Press holds them responsible for the statements. Regardless of the wisdom of such attacks, the reason for my enclosure of the clipping is that, in view of the fact that the whole status of the John Birch Society is controversial, with no evidence that these attacks are justified, it would seem to me that the act of sending 3000 copies of these leaflets to the California Association of School Administrators for distribution throughout the schools is setting a dangerous precedent of unfair propaganda in a fashion which should be prohibited by some enforcement agency, either State or Federal. Am I right?

CONFIDENCE

Special Leaflets With John Birch Articles Go Fast

Of an initial printing of 5,000 leaflets containing recent News-Press articles and editorials about the John Birch Society, less than 500 were unordered at noon today.

Public interest in the leaflets has been such that even with only word-of-mouth publicity, the special printing was practically gone today.

One of the largest orders—for 3,000 leaflets—came from the California Association of School Administrators, which plans to distribute them to all administrators of elementary, secondary and junior college districts in the state.

The News-Press has received hundreds of letters and telephone calls commenting on its recent articles and editorials about the society. It has also received hundreds of requests for clippings of the published material.

The 5,000 leaflets were printed because of that demand.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a copy of Jack Mabley's column of Jan. 30th which appeared in the Chicago Daily Newspaper.

After reading that article I was horrified to note that the John Birch Society was giving a program sponsored by the American Legion in Park Ridge.

I called my local F.B.I. office to ask if this was considered a Communist Front Organization and was told that they could reveal no information but I would have to write to the Attorney General's office.

In the first place my letter would probably get no further than the desk of some clerk in the office and the John Birch Society could be giving 50 talks while I was still finding out whether they were considered subversive.

I feel that if we are to fight communism we must be able to recognize it whatever its form and where can we get information on it if not the F.B.I. ?

As a private citizen I would like to do my part to defeat communism but I can't write to the Attorney General every time I want information so please tell me a quicker and more efficient method.

The Wrong Way To Fight Reds

Birch Society Is Recruiting

BY JACK MABLEY

THE John Birch Society is going to Chicago area churches chambers of commerce and civic organizations, to recruit members.

"Come, join us in the fight against Communists," members plead.

Jack Mabley's Story

Inasmuch as 99.9999 per cent of us are anti-Communist, they obviously have something to sell. But the conscientious citizens asks, "Is this the best way to fight communism? What is the John Birch Society?"

Since I am asked this often, because I wrote two columns about it last July, I will tell what I know about the society.

Group Founded In Indianapolis

It was founded in Indianapolis in 1958 by a group of businessmen led by Robert Welch, a former candy manufacturer of Boston.

Welch, by his own words, is the absolute boss of the society, which was named after a U.S. Army captain murdered by Chinese Reds.

This organization must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss," says Welch, and he is it.

WELCH HAS written a privately printed book called "The Politician." It was circulated only among the top, trusted leaders of the John Birch Society.

It is impossible for an ordinary member to see a copy of the book, or even get acknowledgment that it exists. I have read it, and will vouch that it exists.

In the book, Welch calls Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and a Communist.

He says that John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Chief Justice Earl Warren and former defense secretary Neil McElroy and most of the leaders of the Eisenhower administration, are or were part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

Some Excerpts From the Book

This is from Welch's book:

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems ti put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

He says of Mr. Eisenhower: "... there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

WE REPRINT these words only because they are totally idiotic and because people who are asked to follow Welch are not aware of what really is in his mind.

The Communist threat in this country is real enough. The country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the Communist evil.

But the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work.

(Mabley is on WBBM nightly at 8.)

Hon. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
The Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

For several years I have been deeply concerned with the growing menace of the Communist cnnspiracy both in America and abroad; so, several months ago I joined one of our local chapters of the John Birch Society. As I have studied communism rather extensively, I did not go into this movement in complete ignorance or without some investigation on my own. Some of the local leaders were known to me through work in other conservative groups; and some of the national leaders, including Mr. Welch, were known to me by reputation. Having read the Society's literature and having seen its films, I was convinced that this was the first citizens' organization which really showed much promise of being able to work effectively against the communist conspiracy.

Apparently, the Society is beginning to hurt the communists considering the proportions of the current smear campaign going on in the liberal press. Of course, all members are warned that this may occur; and when our morning paper (not noted for accuracy in reporting or any great antipathy to communists - only anti-communists) began a rather vitriolic campaign against us, I was not too disturbed. A rather alarming situation has been brought to my attention, however, which does concern me very much, and that is the statement in the March 10 issue of TIME MAGAZINE to the effect that John Birch members in Nashville, Tennessee, have launched a telephone campaign to tell people that their neighbors are communists! I believe this statement to be completely false as the first indication I, or any other member so far as I have been able to determine had of this was a statement in The Nashville Tennessean that such a thing would be despicable (which it certainly would). Shortly after that, the statement in TIME appeared. (It is my understanding that TIME's Nashville correspondent is connected with The Nashville Tennessean and that is probably where the story originated.) I am completely sure that if such an act were ever committed by a member of the John Birch Society in any chapter, that person would be put out of the Society immediately, and this smear campaign has not lessened my faith in either the Society or its leaders. For my own protection however, considering the lengths to which the other side will go, I would like to know now if there is any reason that you know of that would make it unwise for any patriotic American to belong to the John Birch Society. Under no circumstances would I want to do anything that might nullify what little effectiveness I might ever have in the fight against communism. If you can answer this query I shall be deeply grateful.

MAR 23 1961

God bless you and all the dedicated men and women who make up the F.B.I.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Three of the activities of the "anti-communist" club called the John Birch Society are to brand past President Dwight Eisenhower and Milton Eisenhower communists and to impeach Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren.

It is of great interest to me, and several of my friends who are considering joining this club, to know if the Federal Bureau of Investigation approves of this society. I do hope it is possible to label this club as either communist inspired or anti-communist.

Would it also be possible to obtain the latest listings of organizations which for one reason or another have been declared subversive?

Thank you for your time.

A letter has been received from captioned individual in which he encloses a letter he wrote to the Editor of "Independent Star-News" of Pasadena. Mr. [redacted] letter to Lee M. Merriman is a lengthy report upholding Robert Welch and the John Birch Society. It would appear that the "Independent Star-News" has been critical of this Society. Mr. [redacted] reasons for writing the Director are to get the Director's judgment regarding the character and worth of Mr. Welch and to ask if Mr. Hoover thinks the sending of this letter would help the fight against communism.

In the letter to Merriman [redacted] states that copies have been forwarded to Mr. Welch and Mr. John Edgar Hoover and that he requested answers from each man. Since it is evident that [redacted] is trying to draw the Director into a local controversary between the Pasadena paper and the John Birch Society, it is believed that a brief perfunctory letter should be forwarded.

RECOMMENDATION:

(1) That the attached perfunctory letter be forwarded to Lewis.

The John Birch Society was organized by Robert Welch in December, 1958, at Indianapolis, Indiana. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization with branches in many parts of the country. Welch was quite critical of former President Eisenhower and his Administration. Welch has claimed that the organization might take on the appearance of a "front" in order to attract true subversives. The News-Press Stand On John Birch Society

The editor and publisher of the News-Press is in his 85th year. His entire life has been spent in this community. His memory takes him back many years and his reading even further. He lived when conditions were rugged. When West was West and men were men. He lived during periods when if a man or a group of men openly by word of mouth, or the printed word, called our president, our vice president, our secretary of state, the president's brother, members of the Supreme Court, and others at the head of our government, traitors, they were made to answer. Such slanders often called for a visit from a courageous and irate group which brought with them a barrel of tar and a few feathers. And such instances were particularly likely to occur if the slanderer came from New England. He lived when men were considered cowards when they hid behind their women's skirts and clothed their identity through anonymity.

It is in the light of this background that the News-Press tells where it stands on the John Birch Society.

ENCLOSURE

Statement of Principles

We Recognize

That Communism's advance threatens democratic institutions throughout the world.

We Believe

That democratic institutions can be endangered as much by extremists of the right as by those of the left.

That Democracy can be strengthened only through open discussion of issues, in the spirit of the Constitution and Bill of Rights — that secret or semi-secret political organizations have no place in our society.

That our democratic institutions are sound enough to withstand the give and take of open political discussion and examination of all ideological beliefs.

That Democracy suffers when fear of Communism leads to irresponsible, unsubstantiated charges of treason or evil connivance against our political, religious, educational or cultural leaders.

That traitors should be dealt with by the courts, not by vigilante groups.

We Condemn

The adoption of totalitarian organization or tactics to fight the Communist danger, for as totalitarianism flourishes, Democracy dies.

The spreading of slanderous generalities, without basis in specific fact, to cast suspicion on the loyalty or character of citizens whose views differ from those of the majority.

LET US KEEP OUR BALANCE in what we do. Let us not, in the intensity of our convictions, nullify the rights of others to hold and voice their own beliefs.

AN EDITORIAL

During recent weeks, the News-Press has sought to enlighten its readers about a semi-secret organization called the John Birch Society.

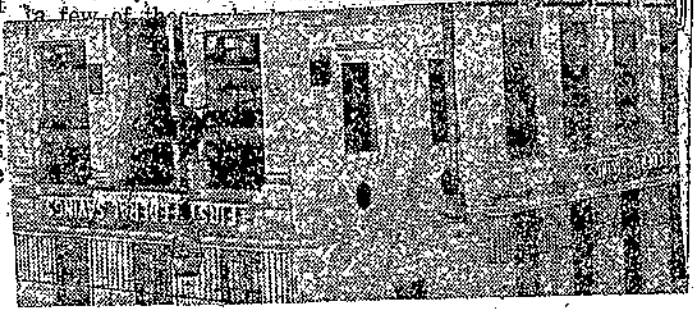
We believe that the News-Press has performed a public service by bringing the activities of the society to the attention of the community. Hundreds of our readers have agreed. But a newspaper would be derelict in its duty if it did not express its opinion of the way the society is organized and the tactics it employs.

First, let there be no mistake about this: Communism must be opposed vigorously. Its gains throughout vast areas of the world are shocking. Every American must be alert for Red infiltration. But that does not lead logically to the conclusion that to fight Communism at home we must throw democratic principles and methods into the ashcan and adopt the techniques of the Communists themselves, as the John Birch leaders would have us do.

The News-Press condemns the destructive campaign of hate and vilification that the John Birch Society is waging against national leaders who deserve our respect and confidence.

How can anyone follow a leader absurd enough to call former President Eisenhower "a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy"? Those are the words of the national leader of the John Birch Society, Robert Welch, in a manuscript entitled "The Politician," of which photostatic copies are available.

The News-Press condemns the dictatorial, undemocratic structure of the society.



The News-Press condemns the tactics that have brought anonymous telephone calls of denunciation to Santa Barbarans in recent weeks from members of the John Birch Society or their sympathizers. Among victims of such cowardly diatribes have been educational leaders, including faculty members of the University of California at Santa Barbara, and even ministers of the Gospel.

The News-Press condemns the pressures on wealthy residents, who fear and abhor Communism, to contribute money to an organization whose leader has said that "for reasons you will understand, there can be no accounting of funds."

In the Blue Book, the society's "Bible," leader Welch said that the organization needed one million members. He also said that the dues are "whatever the member wants to make them, with a minimum of $24 per year for men and $12 for women."

One million members, divided equally between men and women, would bring him 18 million dollars a year. Quite a sum to play with without accountability!

The News-Press challenges members of the society to come into the open and admit membership. A local enrollment "in the hundreds" is claimed, but so far only a few of them

Dear Mr. Hoover,

As a mother of four, wife of a man who believes with the deepest conviction in the United States Constitution, and wanting to help my country in some way to unshackle itself from the Communist monster which is so surely leading us to ruin, I am writing to you for advice.

I have been approached to join the John Birch Society, which seems to be creating even more confusion in my already confused head. As strongly as I agree with Robert Welch in theory, I do not want to be guilty of "creating a monster" which could ultimately do as much harm to our free way of life as the monster to which the society has dedicated itself to destroy. This is where the advice to which I referred to comes in.

I have read your very good book "Master of Deceit", Fred C. Schwarz' "You Can Trust The Communists", "McCarthy and the Communists", "Report of American Bar Association, Special Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy, and Objectives," "Why People Become Communists", and many other pamphlets, etc; all of which leads me to believe that something must be done, BUT WHAT? Any light which you might shed either for or against the John Birch Society will be greatly appreciated by me and my Family.

Very best regards,

I want to thank you for your wonderful work you are doing to keep communism from taking over in the United States. You are the most respected man in the U. S. today. I enjoyed reading your article written in "Christianity Today" which was reprinted in the Congressional Record. Every preacher should read it.

I have recently become interested in preventing a communist take over here. I am an Air Force Reserve Captain with a Security Clearance and believe in the free entiprize system as well as the Democratic form of Government. I have become interested in the John Birch Society, which appears to be a truely patriotic organization. At the present time with it's present organization and goals would I jeprodize my Security Clearance by becoming associated with this group. I realize you cannot tell what the future holds for this organization. But I feel I must do something for my country in its hour of need.

Enclosed is a phamplet "Reds Are Back In Hollywood." What can you tell me of this? Also recently I asked my Congressman, Mr Olin E. Teague, if there was an organized effort to reeducate the American public along (over) Socialist & communist lines? He said he thought this is very possible. Can you tell me anything about this.

I realize these are difficult questions I have asked. Please keep writing to the American people. They will believe you when they believe no one else. I would be happy to have any type of material on communism that you could send me. I am particularily interested in meeting of the 6th Communist International and its aims for political warfare. This Meeting I believe occurred in 1934. Thank you again.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director Of F.B.I.
Washington D.C.

I Want To Thank You For Your Wonderful Work You Are Doing To Keep Communism From Taking Over In The United States. You Are The Most Respected Man In The U.S. Today. I Enjoyed Reading Your Article Written In "Christianity Today" Which Was Reprinted In The Congressional Record. Every Preacher Should Read It.

I Have Recently Become Interested In Preventing A Communist Take Over Here. I Am An Air Force Reserve Captain With A Security Clearance And Believe In The Free Entiprize System As Well As The Democratic Form Of Government. I Have Become Interested In The John Birch Society, Which Appears To Be A Truely Patriotic Organization. At The Present Time With It's Present Organization And Goals Would I Jeprodize My Security Clearance By Becoming Associated With This Group. I Realize You Cannot Tell What The Future Holds For This Organization. But I Feel I Must Do Something For My Country In Its Hour Of Need.

Enclosed Is A Phamplet "Reds Are Back In Hollywood." What Can You Tell Me Of This? Also Recently I Asked My Congressman, Mr Olin E. Teague, If There Was An Organized Effort To Reeducate The American Public Along (over)

CONFIDENCE

Socialist & Communist Line [redacted] Said He Thought This Is Very Possible. Can You Tell Me Anything About This.

I Realize These Are Difficult Questions I Have Asked. Please Keep Writing To The American People. They Will Believe You When They Believe No One Else. I Would Be Happy To Have Any Type Of Material On Communism That You Could Send Me. I Am Particularly Interested In Meeting Of The 6th Communist International And Its Aims For Political Warfare. This Meeting I Believe Occurred In 1934. Thank You Again.

Respectfully Yours,

Dear Mrs. [redacted]

Your letter postmarked March 10, 1961, has been received, and I appreciate the concern which prompted your communication.

In response to your inquiry, the House Committee on Un-American Activities has as one of its primary responsibilities the recommending of appropriate legislation regarding subversive activities to the United States Congress. I have always felt that this Committee makes a contribution in its public disclosure of the forces that menace America and its efforts represent the reason why the venom of the communists has been directed against it as well as against the FBI.

The article which you requested me to forward you is no longer available for distribution. I am, however, enclosing several items with respect to the general subject of communism which may be of interest to you.

Dear Mr. Hoover;

I was lead to believe yesterday that you were opposed to the HCUA during a debate concerning the National Council of Churches of Christ held at the spring board meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Diocese of Arizona. I do not believe this is correct. I speak on communism and would like to have something to refute this impression when it arises again.

I would also like to obtain five copies of God and Chaos which I feel is a valuable statement concerning the Red menace within the religious denominations of our great land.

Thank you sir, for your devotion to our Republic.

Gentlemen,

A recent article in Time; issue dated March 10, 1961, page 21, titled " The Americanists; aroused my interest to write your department seeking facts about the John Birch Society, as your department knows them. Is this Society good or not good for America? Is this Society safe or not safe for America? I am seeking a true evaluation of this Society in order to be a better informed citizen and your cooperation in this matter will be most appreciated. I am not and never have been a member of either the John Birch Society or the Communist Party.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of March 13, 1961, and I do appreciate the concern which prompted your communication.

With respect to your inquiry, I have not endorsed the organization to which you refer. The FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and does not furnish evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I hope you will not infer from this either that we do or do not have data in our files relating to the subject which you mentioned.

I firmly believe that it behooves all of us to make a concerted effort to gain a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist menace. A lack of understanding is dangerous in that it often results in the reprehensible and indiscriminate labeling as communists those who merely dissent or advocate unpopular or unorthodox views. Education is of great importance in this matter, for when fully aware of the aims of communism, we can all share in the opportunity to defeat it with the weapon it fears most--truth.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: Bufiles contain no record of the correspondent in the locality of his residence. The article to which he refers appears on pages 21 and 22 of the March 10 issue of "Time Magazine" It is an analysis of the John Birch Society and comments concerning the extreme right-wing tendencies of this organization. The John Birch Society was founded in December, 1958, at Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert Welch and has been engaged in allegedly anticommunist activities. The Bureau has conducted inquiry concerning it.

(Personal)

Honorable J. Edgar Hoover,
Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation,
Department of Justice,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

Your attention no doubt has been or will be called to the article in the March 10th issue of Time Magazine, (page 21), about the John Birch Society and Mr. Welch the founder thereof. I don't think there is anyone anywhere who could question my love for and my devotion to my country and my dislike for Communism in any form, but when a very close personal friend of mine approached me about the local John Birch Society movement, I expressed a dislike for any Vigalante Group who was so careful to conceal the names of it members. However, when I was assured that you personally had given your approval of the John Brich Society, I concluded I must be mistaken in my objection, and was feeling inclined towards membership until I read the article referred to above.

What I should like to know now is did you specifically endorse the John Birch Society, and, if so, does your endorsement still stand. I still would look with much disfavor on any organization who is reluctant to let its membership be known, unless, of course, as in this instance, the orgamization is endorsed by someone like you in whom I have complete confidence and who is in much better position than I to know how matters like this can be best handled.

I am sure you will comply with my request that you do not divulge to anyone outside your own organization the fact that I have written you, and that you consider this a matter strictly between you and me.

With assurances of my very highest regards for you, I remain,

Dear Sir:

I have recently joined the John Birch Society and must, for my own peace of mind, know what you think of the organization and the vile article which appeared in Time magazine on March 10th.

Having read Masters of Deceit I am convinced that we must do something about the communist menace and feel this organization furnishes a program of positive anti-communist activity which I can follow. Since joining I have yet to witness anything that approaches the activities mentioned in the article and cannot help but believe that the editors of Time find it necessary to attempt to destroy an organization which approaches the awful truth and expose the communist conspiracy. Their motives certainly leave much to ponder.

If, in your opinion, The John Birch Society performs a patriotic service to our nation it seems to me you are in a position to set the people and the editors of Time straight. They find it rather difficult to refute your word!!

God bless you.

The John Birch Society is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, Robert Welch, its founder, has stated that he thought organizing a group having the appearance of a communist "front" might be effective in attacking true subversives. He has bitterly criticized the Eisenhower Administration in his writings.

Correspondent's enclosure was a copy of the Cinema Educational Guild's pamphlet entitled "Don't Patronize Reds!!!" well known to the Bureau. The CEG and its national director, Myron C. Fagan, disseminated anticommunist, anti-Negro and anti-Semitic pamphlets. Fagan has been admonished relative to his misuse of the Director's name in the furtherance of his publications.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Once again I am writing to you for information. Over a year ago I asked for your help and was immeasurably pleased with your prompt reply. Since that time, I have read your book Masters of Deceit plus many others.

Now I am on the verge of joining a group called the John Birch Society. In your opinion, is this group truly an anti-communist group? If you are unable to express your opinion, could you please refer me to another reliable--Non-liberal (if that is possible) source. I am also enclosing a pamplet I have and would like to know about the reliability of this also.

In my zeal to join an "Americanism" group, I should hate to join the wrong thing.

My own Congressman has already proven thru his recent voting records that he is not interested in the thoughts of his constituents, consequently I know of no one else to write to in regard to this matter.

Thank you very much

The John Birch Society: a threat to America?

By BEN R. EZZELL
Editor of The Record

WHAT is the John Birch Society? A number of people have asked that question since we made our first casual mention of the name in these columns two weeks ago.

It's possible . . . even probable . . . that you've never heard of it before. It's also possible . . . and probable . . . that you're going to hear a great deal of it before you're through.

It is . . . according to its founder and absolute ruler, a wealthy New England manufacturer named Robert H. W. Welch . . . an arch enemy of international Communism and our only hope of defeating Communist domination of the United States.

Its avowed goals, as set forth by its leader, are to achieve "less government, more individual responsibility, and a better world."

That's a program which most of you, if you're average patriotic Americans, can agree with wholeheartedly.

But the methods by which Welch, through the John Birch Society, proposes to achieve these goals will . . . if you're an average patriotic American . . . raise the hair on your head.

He proposes, in essence, to establish an American dictatorship . . . with Robert H. W. Welch as its head.

And he may do it.

A few nights ago in a neighboring city, by special invitation, I saw and heard the founder of the John Birch Society deliver a two-hour address in which he outlined the threat of Communist domination in America and his plans to defeat it. This was in the form of a film which is shown to all prospective members of the John Birch Society as the first step in their assimilation.

In it, Welch first reviews the undeniable progress of Communist conquest around the world . . . then presents his program for containing it.

His premise is simple: The Communists, he declares, are already two-thirds of the way along in their master plan for world domination. They have, Welch declares, already taken control of the government of the United States. This being true, the only thing left for patriotic Americans to do is to become subversive, go underground, and undermine the government.

To do this, Welch continues, we must have an organization . . . and a leader. "We have the organization," he declares, indicating the John Birch Society, "and I am the leader."

Anticipating any doubts, Welch quickly admits that he may not represent a free choice. "I may not be the person you would have chosen," he tells his audience. "I may not even be the person I would have chosen. But I am the only person who is available, and my way is the only way. There is no other choice."

Having established himself as the leader of the crusade, Welch then makes it clear to prospective John Birch Society members that he will exact absolute loyalty and unquestioning obedience.

By his own estimate, a Communist-fighting organization like the John Birch Society needs "a hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss." Welch obviously thinks he is it. He has all the qualifications for dictatorship. He is tough, able, persuasive, dynamic . . . and fanatic.

Welch, in fact, sees nothing wrong with dictatorship. He admires dictators. "The only non-Communist country in the world today which has any chance of survival is Spain," he declares, indicating Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

In this issue of The Record, we are devoting an exceptional amount of space to a report on the John Birch Society . . . a secret, political organization which is beginning to be heard from around the country.

We do this in the belief that an organization which has successfully kept itself in the dark for most of the time since it was organized more than three years ago should have the benefit of some light.

We think the John Birch Society needs a great deal of light shed upon it, because it appears to have some very dark corners indeed.

It advocates a policy which, if successfully carried out, could result in the total destruction of the American government as we know it, and of American liberties as we enjoy them.

While we agree, like most Americans, with its avowed purpose of defeating Communism in America . . . we disagree, wholeheartedly, with the methods by which it proposes to accomplish this end.

We realize that, by this statement, we brand ourselves, in the eyes of John Birch Society members, as pro-Communist. So be it. They may think so, but they had better not say so.

The founder and dictatorial leader of the John Birch Society declares that Americans must choose between domination by Communists or the leadership and government of the John Birch Society. We do not believe that this is so. If it is, we see nothing much to choose. A dictatorship of the Communist left can be no worse than dictatorship of the Fascist right. In either event, freedom for the individual would no longer exist.

But we still believe that there is strength in a free society . . . if the members of that society remain alert, keep themselves informed, and are not stampeded.

The John Birch Society aims to create a stampede. If it succeeds, by generating such fear of the Communist left that we, as a nation, are stampeded to the Fascist right, then we may yet see the creation of the American dictatorship which the John Birchers are told is necessary to the defeat of Communism.

Don't sell them short. They are headed by a man who means business.

And don't join them . . . if you place any value on your own freedom.

Communist vs. Fascist?

How long is too long?

THE RIDICULOUS appearance of a special election ballot with more than seventy candidates for a single office is almost certain to bring cries from the outraged public that "there ought to be a law . . ."

And this sort of irresponsible mis-use of the privilege of the ballot is the kind of thing that could easily inspire lawmakers to give us a "law" to prevent repetition of such a thing.

We hope they'll think better of it, however.

Too often, in cases like this, a law which is hastily enacted creates worse evils than it cures.

It should not be made an insurmountable task for a qualified citizen to get his name on a ballot as a candidate for a public office . . . even for such an important office as United States Senator from Texas. It would be easy, by sky-rocketing the filing fee, to freeze out most of the would-be candidates who have filed in this freak election . . . and over-eager legislators could probably think of more formidable gimmicks to discourage the hoi polloi.

But isn't it better to let the sensation-seekers and self-advertisers clutter up the ballot occasionally, rather than create a barrier which might prevent one good citizen from someday offering his services to the public?

Somewhere in the multitude of three score and ten . . . or is it twelve? . . . candidates on the special ballot, for that matter, there just might be a man better qualified for this U. S. Senate post than the half-dozen "serious" candidates.

That wouldn't require too great a stretch of the imagination, now would it?

Spur of the Moment

Governor Price Daniel and Speaker James Turman, are both learning some political lessons which both of them should have known long before.

Turman rode rough-shod over nearly half of the Legislature's House of Representatives in January after he had won a squeaker of a race to be elected Speaker. Unwisely retaliating against all those who had voted against him, Turman appointed all his supporters to choice committees . . . and left the rest of the House in the cold. The result was predictable: Turman has made himself so many enemies that he can't muster a working majority to handle a legislative program.

The Governor, for his part, managed to alienate almost the entire Legislature by attempting to force through his own tax proposals . . . including the highly unpopular payroll tax . . . while brushing aside all alternate plans offered by members of the Legislature. The result: the assembled Legislators have ploughed him under.

We think it's nice for Governor Daniel and Speaker Turman to learn through doing . . . but it's too bad that the people of Texas have to get the bill for their kindergarten exercises.

It's amazing what a bunch of bureaucrats can come up with, comments Editor Jim Gillentine in The Hereford Brand . . . if you give them enough red tape.

Will Dictatorship be answer to US Reds?

John Birch founder thinks it's only answer!

ist governments left in the world today," he declares in the filmed speech, "are a handful of small nations . . ." and he mentions, admiringly, the government of the Dominican Republic under dictator Trujillo, and that of Nicaragua under Somoza, to name a couple.

He wastes no admiration on democracies, however. "Democracy," says the leader of the John Birch Society, "is merely a descriptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

The John Birch Society is not, in any sense, democratic. "Direction will come from the top," Welch tells his prospective converts. There is to be no arguing with his decisions, and no debate.

"We have no time for useless parliamentary procedures," he declares.

"We are going to cut through the red tape and parliamentary briar patches and roadblocks of confused purpose with direct authority at every turn. The men who join the John Birch Society . . . are going to be doing so primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership anyway. We are going to use that loyalty, like every other resource, to the fullest possible advantage."

In event any rugged individualists crop up in the John Birch membership, Welch says provision has been made to take care of them. Presumably he means to cashier them . . . not liquidate them.

"We are not going to have factions developing on the two-sides-to-every-question theme," Welch declares.

* * * *

Who is this man who is making a serious bid to become an American dictator?

Robert H. W. Welch is a prominent Boston business man, a former vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers and for seven years a member of the NAM board of directors. He was born in North Carolina, graduated from the University of North Carolina, attended the U. S. Naval Academy for two years, and graduated from Harvard Law School. At 60 years of age, he has retired from business (candy manufacturing) to devote his whole time to the John Birch Society and his bid for power.

And by the very audacity of his approach . . . his demand that loyal Americans follow his orders implicitly, and give of their time and their money to bring about the destruction of the United States and create, in its place, a dictatorship to be headed by Robert Welch . . . he might succeed.

He has succeeded, certainly, in attracting thousands of followers all over the nation. The society membership lists are secret . . . but there are indications that The John Birch Society may have 100,000 members or more. Welch's initial goal was one million members. Since he launched the Society at Indianapolis on December 9, 1958, he has scaled down that requirement . . . and now thinks he can accomplish his goals with a much smaller membership.

"We have found out," he told a Boston Herald reporter last summer, "that what we can accomplish through small chapters is immensely greater than we thought."

* * * *

There is evidence, in this area at least, that these "small chapters" are beginning to flex their muscles . . . perhaps an indication that the organizational period is about over and the Society is ready for real action.

A nationwide example is the campaign to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren . . . a man who, Welch asserts outright, is an avowed Communist. The anti-Warren campaign originated with the John Birch Society, and is being actively encouraged by it, according to members . . . although it has been taken up and is being abetted by other anti-Communist action groups, such as the Committee for Individual Freedom. This Committee, which is active in Canadian, may not be affiliated with the John Birch Society, but is obviously under its influence.

More immediate to the Panhandle area is the pressure campaign being waged by John Birch Society members on ministers of certain prominent Protestant churches in Amarillo and Pampa . . . a campaign which has some aspects of Ku Klux Klan operations of the past. In view of Welch's insistence on "control from the top," it is almost certain that these localized pressures are being carried on at the great man's direction.

John Birch Society chapters (probably several in each instance) are active both in Pampa and Amarillo.

There is, apparently, no John Birch Society chapter in Canadian as yet . . . though there are John Birch Society members here and the organization has been discussed locally.

That some church groups would be targets of the Society was indicated by Welch in his filmed speech. "Some Protestant preachers," he declared, "actually use their pulpits to preach outright Communism."

Schools will be a prime target, too. "We're doing a lot of work on school texts," Welch told a Boston Herald interviewer. "Most of them are loaded and there aren't any decent substitutes."

* * * *

How does the John Birch Society spot Communists? Welch has a pat answer for that one, too. According to his standards, anyone who opposes the John Birch Society is apt to be a Communist, or at best a fellow-traveller.

It was Welch's extreme sensitivity to Communism in high officials . . . taints unsuspected by other innocent by-standers . . . that brought his Society the first, and only, major publicity which it has received up to now.

Welch reportedly authored and privately printed a book, "The Politicians," which he distributed only to top-level John Birchers. In it he devotes all of its 302 pages to "proving" that Dwight Eisenhower and many members of his administration are "conscious, dedicated Communists."

Chicago Daily News writer Jack Mabley "exposed" the book last July 25 after a copy of it, which he says "was intended only for secret distribution to the leaders of the society," fell into his hands.

Mabley quoted Welch's book as accusing President Eisenhower of treason, and accusing most of his aides as being part of the Communist conspiracy to take over the nation. This apparently is the basis of Welch's assertion that the present United States government is already Communist, and therefore John Birchers must "go underground" and undermine the government. In his filmed speech, Welch labels John Kennedy as "communist" although Kennedy was, at the time, not yet President.

After Mabley's column appeared, the Milwaukee Journal picked up the story and this publication was followed a few weeks later (in August of last year) by a comprehensive three-part series in the Boston Herald in which Stanley Eames interviewed Welch himself.

* * * *

There the story dropped, apparently.

A search of the periodical indexes for several years back reveals no mention of the John Birch Society in any American magazine or periodical. The John Birch Society has effectively stayed out of the limelight.

The Society has its own magazine, however . . . a magazine entitled "American Opinion," written and edited by Welch and distributed monthly from his Belmont, Massachusetts headquarters. A "John Birch Bulletin" is also distributed monthly to John Birch chapters . . . and it is through the bulletin that Society activities are directed.

Welch works through an organization of "coordinators" who organize chapters with the help of movies of Welch delivering his marathon speeches . . . one of which reportedly lasts six hours with a coffee break.

He told Boston interviewers that his organization is weakest in New England . . . strongest in the midwest, and particularly strong in Tennessee, Texas, and Southern California.

The Amarillo Daily News last August 14 identified C. O. Mann of Midland as "a regional coordinator for the John Birch Society." Mann was in Amarillo to form a chapter, according to the newspaper.

Highly active in the organizational work of the Society in this area is Brigadier General (retired) Jerry Lee, former commander of Amarillo Air Force Base, who says he is "devoting his life to the work."

One thing is certain: the John Birch Society isn't interested in recruiting riff-raff. It takes aim at the arch-conservative who is eminently respectable, and has either a position of influence or wealth, or both.

There is one other requirement: the recruit must be prepared to give unquestioning allegiance, and absolute obedience, to the founder. As Welch warns is prospects, the society is run from the top down . . . the most efficient form of government.

If he succeeds in recruiting enough solid citizens with enough wealth and enough influence to carry out his will, the United States may get rid of the clumsy trappings of democracy and adopt a really efficient form of government . . . an absolute dictatorship, with Robert H. W. Welch at its head.

One thing can be said of Mr. Welch. He is not an atheist. He believes in a Supreme Being. And he believes that He is it.

Who's John Birch?

THE John Birch for whom the John Birch Society is named was a missionary to China who became a captain in the U. S. Army during World War II and, while carrying out his mission to preach the Gospel, also gave aid to many downed American fliers, set up radio networks, supervised building of air fields, and in general supplied valuable intelligence to U. S. forces. According to the late General Claire Chennault, he was very good at it.

At the end of the war, John Birch was singled out from a party of Chinese and Americans and was shot and bayonetted by Chinese Communists.

His story was told in The Saturday Evening Post (issue of Jan. 22, 1955) under the caption: "The Top Secret Story of John Birch's Murder Was the Tip-off on China's Reds." It is also told in a book "The John Birch Story," written by Robert Welch and distributed to all members of the John Birch Society.

A limited number of re-prints of this article will be made available, on request, from The Canadian Record. There will be no charge.

Dear Sirs:

In the recent issue of Time, March 10, 1961, there was an article concerning the John Birch Society and Wichita, Kansas was mentioned in this article.

The people of Wichita, with whom I have talked, seem to have varied opinions about this organization--whether it is pro-communistic or anti-communistic.

Could you please forward some information on this matter as it seems I am in the dark about it.

Being that my father, Mr. [redacted] of Kans. Belmont, Mass. has been a long time enemy of Bolshevikism and Communism, I am very much interested about such things.

Please let me hear about the John Birch Society at your earliest convenience.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

I have received your letter of March 17, 1961, and your interest in writing is appreciated. Your favorable remarks concerning my administration of the FBI are encouraging.

In response to your inquiry, the FBI, being a Federal investigative agency, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. I regret I am unable to help you in this regard and hope you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

The FBI does not maintain lists such as you mentioned; however, I am enclosing a copy of the list of organizations which have been cited by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. In addition, the publication, "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," which was prepared by the House Committee on Un-American Activities but is now out of print, may be located at your public library.

Enclosed also is material containing some of my recent observations and statements regarding the communist menace.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have heard some good reports on the activities of the John Birch Society. We are anti-communist, anti-socialist, anti-new deal, anti-United Nations, World Court, or any other outfit that is taking over, or seeking to take over the American way of life. I want to do what I can to preserve our freedom, but there are so many good sounding societies, groups and organizations that turn out to be communist fronts that I want to be sure that the John Birch Society is not just a Communist Front for something or other before I make any effort to join. Would you please let me know what you can about this society. I would also appreciate any material you have available listing Communists, Fellow Travelers, and the latest list of subversive organizations and individuals that you have available for public distribution.

I have also heard that you recently either made a speech or wrote an article pointing out some of the things the American people ought to know about the Communists and their plans for this country. If you have a copy of this available may I have one.

I will be very frank in saying that you head the only Department of our Government that I personally have any confidence in. I believe we can rely upon your Judgment with reference to the true nature of the Birch Society.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

After serious thought I have decided to ask you to read the enclosed copy of a letter which I have felt should be sent to the Editor of a Pasadena newspaper which has in the past few weeks attacked Robert Welch and The John Birch Society in a way which to me has been reprehensible. Please know that I fully understand that you cannot answer at length thousands of communications which must come to you. Indeed, there must be many you cannot answer at all. But I do hope you can advise me whether you think the sending of the letter can help the cause for which you have become our national symbol.

Before sending the letter I am submitting a copy of it to Mr. Welch to be sure that I will not ill-advisedly embarrass either him or the Society.

I trouble you in this way because of my profound admiration and respect for you and all that you stand for. I expressed this regard in a letter I wrote to you following your splendid talk at the convention of the American Bar Association in Los Angeles.

For many reasons I would deeply appreciate your giving me your judgment regarding the character, purposes and worth of Mr. Welch, The John Birch Society and their efforts to make effective the fight against Communism.

May I express my conviction, as one American citizen, that the time has come when the gravity of the struggle between the Communist Conspiracy and those men and women in the world who have considered themselves free is such that the highest interests of this country desperately need your personal voice in the mission of awakening the blind and confused and ignorant masses of our people. There is no other man whose voice could carry half the conviction or do half the good in this job of awakening

Dear Mr. [redacted]

3/31/86 Spinnaker

This letter is purposely addressed to you at your home. It is, through you, addressed to Messrs. [redacted] the Independent Star-News, your Pasadena newspaper, of its attack upon Robert Welch and the policies and membership of The John Birch Society. You are [redacted] As such you conduct your work behind a newspaper organization and its power, editorial and otherwise, which you feel protects you personally from those outside. You do not act, ever, on equal terms with your fellow citizens. Therefore I, a citizen unknown to you, come to you at your residence, where, under the guise of editorial policy you, if addressed at your office, could ignore what I have to say.

1. I deplore and express my abhorrence of the conduct you three men have engaged in, designed to nullify the work of The John Birch Society a group of Americans and hold it, them and the founder of that group up to obloquy and scorn. The group you would destroy has as its goals accomplishments as high as man can conceive, in particular, to save the survival of this country as a free nation. It is significant to me that you have timed your efforts to destroy that work of that group to coincide with similar action by newspapers in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara.

2. You have deliberately sought, by creating false impressions, to poison your readers against Robert Welch, impugning his character and judgment by editorials and columns. The bases of this effort by you three men have been, according to what you have published, written declarations made by Mr. Welch more than two years ago and your disagreement with his judgment and views. It is noteworthy that there has been not one bit of evidence that you have considered or cared to know with fairness and exactitude the bases of Mr. Welch's views or judgment. There has been no indication that you know anything about the knowledge he has had in the past which has so often later confirmed his judgments. I do not know Mr. Welch personally, but I have read his magazine from the start of the predecessor of American Opinion. I profoundly respect his past dedication to learning about the Communist Conspiracy and the devotion of his entire life to the effort to awaken and lead those who care to work for the highest interests of this nation and to save it from Communist slavery.

ENCLOSURE

3. This man and his tremendous effort have by you three men and your paper been treated with subtle and contemptible writing from the cowardly position of newspaper editors who wield a power of incalculable advantage over any individual citizen by reason of their power to pick and choose and time whatever appears. Although you have had The Blue Book of the Society, which reveals the man's character and sincerity and devotion to the best in human life you have written not one word of good about him.

4. You decry the ways and means his best judgment has advocated, effectively and successfully opposing this nation's deadly enemies. That is your right, if so you are disposed. But you would damn The John Birch Society and all its members which are not Mr. Welch, as some members have pointed out. You have deliberately and irresponsibly chosen to lead your readers to ignore the fact that Mr. Welch and the members of The John Birch Society are distinct considerations.

5. I believe your record is not one to be justifiably reconciled with a desire to serve the true interests of this country and its survival as a free nation, dedicated to the ideals that have moved Mr. Welch to act as he had done. You have been completely negative toward that action and have sought to destroy that effort, without the slightest visible effort to serve the nation's welfare or those purposes by any constructive contribution of your own.

6. If you three men honestly cared so to serve and feel Mr. Welch and the Society mistaken in their approach to the cause of opposing Communism, pursuing methods inimical to the interests of the United States and the cause of freedom and their survival you, three individuals, could have acted to set in motion means for the correction of bad judgment in a fair-minded, decent and constructive way. The course you chose was the antithesis of such a path. You have made a record of effort to destroy the one great hope that exists to avert disaster. You have offered nothing in its place. That record is one of conduct absolutely opposed to the preservation of this nation, for its purpose is to stop that great effort, to silence and remove from the scene that sole hope of awakening and leading into action the millions who, in default of such action, will be enslaved.

7. The conduct of you three men is conduct which incalculably weakens and jeopardizes the chances of resisting the onslaught of the Communist Conspiracy by fighting it with effect by whatever methods employed -- even those such men as you may approve. You know this. What you must also know is that such an effect directly assists and advances the cause of Communists in an incredibly appalling way. I therefore submit that such conduct betrays this nation and the cause of everything that is decent and noble and of spiritual value for which this country at its best has stood. Such result I believe to be as damaging, deadly and opposed to this country's best interests as the results of any action by any traitor who has ever chosen or will ever choose to align himself with the Communists and play into their hands. I do not call you traitors or Communists. Whatever you are is determined not by name calling, but by the facts of what you do.

8. At this point it is time for you and all Americans to face the fact which I believe the most vital and important one of all to be recognized in this frightful struggle which is determining the issue of whether it shall be between life or death for the freedom of man. The time has arrived when Americans must recognize that labels are beside the point and only serve to confuse the issue. The only question that matters now is what serves to help this nation and freedom and what harms them and sets them back. Motives, and this includes yours, cannot count in the determination of that issue, however revealing of character they may be. Your actions and their results do. I submit that the recent action of you three men harms this nation and the cause of freedom in a way no less terrible and deadly than the action of any traitor or Communist agent. It is high time, and long past it, that the conduct of Americans be judged by the test of whether it helps the Communists or helps the United States. By that test must each American be judged as friend or foe, in deed and effect.

9. Let your position be tested, then, by the measure of your desire and willingness now to serve the cause of truth, of fairness, of true courage. You have sordidly attacked one man and those who, with him, would, to the utmost of their good faith, take action to fight Communism at this juncture which I am convinced is quite as desperate as Mr. Welch has made so plain. You have made this attack from a position of great inequality, from your editorial office, with the power of your newspaper's control of what appears in its pages. Have you three the character to stand up to those you have sought to condemn in the eyes of your readers as three individual citizens meeting other citizens on equal terms, as men stripped of your newspaper's power and insulation? Let us see.

10. I ask you three men to advise me whether you three, as individual men responsible and accountable for what has been done by your newspaper, will meet Mr. Welch -- or such man or men as he may designate -- on a public platform, to make your accusations and implications against him face to face and then allow him to answer you? Likewise, will you meet such leader or leaders of The John Birch Society to accuse them and allow them in like manner to rebut your charges? I put these questions in deadly earnest, for they can test your decency, your good faith, your personal courage.

11. I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Welch and Mr. J. Edgar Hoover. I shall advise both men of your answers, and I request answers from each of you. It is all to the good, all the better for the test of your characters, that I am a citizen unknown to you -- one American who feels about the danger that we are in exactly as does Mr. Welch.

12. As I write this letter I do not have any idea whether Mr. Welch or The John Birch Society will feel it sensible to draw the issues of the fairness and significance of your attack upon them by responding to a willingness on your part to accept my proposal -- if you advise me of that willingness. Take note of this fact, that I am not a member of the Society. I do not indicate any agreement or disagreement on my part with Mr. Welch's personal views, other than my full agreement with his appraisal of the Communist danger to this land of the operations of the Communist Conspiracy; nor do I here express approval or disapproval of his convictions regarding the only effective ways of fighting it successfully. That is in no sense material to the issue I have chosen to draw in this letter. I want you to understand, therefore, that I do not speak for any one but myself; this being so I can in no way that I can see embarrass Mr. Welch or The John Birch Society should their judgment consider a meeting such as I propose inadvisable. But by your response to my request, or your ignoring it, this letter can accomplish a good deal. I am mailing it to you by certified mail, with a return receipt requested, so there will be evidence of its receipt by you three men.

Yours very truly,

I have received your letter of March 13, 1961, and the interest which has prompted you to communicate with me on this occasion is indeed appreciated.

While I would like to be of assistance, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

I can readily understand your deep concern over the grave threat posed by communism. It is my firm belief that a broad knowledge of the objectives and operations of the communist conspiracy is essential if Americans are to effectively resist its influence. I have always felt that private citizens, acting through their civic, labor, religious, educational and similar organizations, constitute one of our most effective weapons for overcoming the menace of the Communist Party. The initiative displayed by private citizens in acting to thwart the aims of the communists is a tribute to our American way of life.

Enclosed are several items setting forth my views on this subject which you might like to have.

March 13, 1961

J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have a decision to make and I know of no one else to whom I can ask. I'll try and make it brief.

We have had a lot of "communism" exposed in our schools. A lot of activities discovered around that is demoralizing and labled communism.(definitely Un-American). I've helped in getting petitions signed to try and recall a member from our School Board that belonged at one time to the A.Y.D., now the A.C.L.U. He had a meeting in his home with guest of honor, Frank Wilkinson. He 'Joel Dvorman' had circulated literature against our House Committee. Publically admitted he believed along Wilkinsons same line etc. I particapated as much as I could in exposing his and other A.C.L.U. activities. I can't understand why they are not on the subversive list.

This all lead to our laws that have been nullified by the Supreme Court that have hampered removing communists from our society. The "Slochower v. Bd. of Education" 1956 decision seems to have even taken away our rights to control who is running or teaching in our local schools. More than a dozen more decisions appear to me to have been a terrible blow to you (F.B.I.) and UnAmerican Activities Committees and local courts in bringing any kind of a control on subversion.

Now, I'll tell you my problem. In Feb. I listened to a speach(film) by Robert Welch of the John Birch Society - Read the Blue Book and made application to join the society. I have listened to such speakers as Cvetic, Skousen, Barns, Swartz, Strubel, the Millers and a local professor at an Anti-Communist class in Santa Ana College. It seemed to me, they advocated all the same ideas of what we can do to try and curb the communist conspiracy. The Los Angeles Times paper ran a series of articles this past week condemning the Birch Society and Mr. Welch to the most. The Editorial (by Otis Chandler) to finish it off, said "they will bring our institutions into question exactly as the Communists try to do" "They will sow distrust and aggravate disputes, and they will weaken the very strong case of conservatism" "Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion." Unquote.

As you probably have all their date (as per Blue Book of that Society) I won't go into more.

16 MAR 24 1961

What I want to know, would I (in your opinion) be aiding the communist aggression in our U.S.A. in belonging to and working with this organization? What can I and other ordinary people do (workers & Homemakers) to try and keep communist propraganda from being taught our children in schools - plus other things that demoralize them such as sex, disbelief in Religion, disrespect of parental advise. If we have to spend so much time checking the schools, it takes away most of our home life with our children.

Pray tell me! 1. Is the John Birch Society bad for our country during this peril. 2. What can we do - with our laws gone on such. - to curb communist subversion in our schools.

P.S. I have read your Masters of Deceit plus numerous State Senate Committee Books on Un-American Activities.

Dear Sir,

The Organization generally designated as the "John Birch Society" has been reviewed by, and editorially denounced by, a large Los Angeles Newspaper.

I,personally, feel the time to be ripe for some show of urgency by "The People" - A "Standing up to be Counted" - and would like to be apprised of the view of the F.B.I. takes in regard to this organization. I am strictly anti-communist and opposed to violence, but would sincerely like to be active in a reasonable and orderly activity dedicated to defeating the ends of communism in our country.

My thanks in advance for your opinions.

Stool Pigeons

Editor, The Sun:

I read a letter in The Sun on Februray 25th entitled "Red Promotion," and from what I read that is just what it was.

The individual who wrote it also had a letter on February 2nd encouraging people to join the American Civil Liberties Union. I have my opinion concerning this fine upstanding organization but the following citation by the Congressional Committee to Investigate Communism (Fish Committee) says it much better: "The A.C.L.U. is closely affiliated with the communist movement in the United States, and fully 90% of its efforts are on behalf of Communists who have come into conflict with the law. It claims to stand for free speech, free press, and free assembly, but it is quite apparent that the main function of the A.C.L.U. is to attempt to protect the communists in their advocacy of force and violence to overthrow the government." There are many other such citations. I do not make the slightest insinuation that the writer of the letter is a communist or a sympathizer. I only bring this up because I feel that the people have a right to know what they are being encouraged to join.

The individual who wrote those two letters is obviously misinformed and not aware of the extent that our country today is threatened by this godless menace. This was demonstrated by his statement in "Red Promotion": "We have upgraded the imaginary power of Communism. . ." Anyone who has taken the time to read "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover quickly recognizes that this cancer in our society is far from being imaginary.

The writer further said that if he were Mr. Khrushchev he would put the riggers and pushers of "Operation Abolition" on the payroll. If the writer makes reference to the Communist Party program to render useless our internal security laws, he then is misinformed because the riggers of the program, "Operation Abolition," are the Communists themselves. They originated it in September, 1957. What that such a program does exist and sho in one instance how it operated. I grant you, it may be a little tough to take, knowing it happened in the United States of America. But really, I've never heard of any group of outlaws putting a stool pigeon on the payroll before, have you, sir?

Dear Mr. Hoover;

Recently there has been a great deal of publicity in the Los Angeles area in regard to a John Birch Society, led by one Robert Welch. They purport to be anti-communistic.

Is this an organization worthy of support? Can you tell me if this Robert Welch is a bona-fide anti-communist?

Having read your book Masters of Deceit with detailed descriptions of communist tactics, I am skeptical of this organization's structure.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Head of the F. B. I.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We are hearing so much in our city and by reading the press, various magazines, and from our leading ministers, about the John Birch Society that I am somewhat confused. Consequently, I wish to know the facts on this organization from your department.

We have seen this film, Operation Abolition, many, many times on the local TV, at clubs, etc. I have read the stand taken by my own church, The Methodist Church, and you will find this well defined, in CONCERN, Jan. 15, 1961; likewise the same in The Christian Century, and many other leading church peroidicals. Then I have read the one in The Reporter, of Nov. 24, 1960, and I sent for the publications put out by The Bay Area Student Committee, Berkeley, California. And from all these and from having seen the film many times, it seems to me that our HUAC has certainly made a very grave error in allowing this "untrue" film being shown and from sponsoring it.

✓ We now have here in Wichita a very strong organization of what is called, The John Birch Society, so I have been told. I have not attended any of the meetings nor have I seen their film, COMMUNISM ON THE MAP. This organization even entered into our recent city and school board election, so it appears from what I have read in our only newspaper, The Wichita Eagle. I understand that our local library has their Blue Book and one may read it in the Reference Room; this I have not done yet, but have read what has been in Time, etc.

So, I shall appreciate your opinion on this organization. I am not a crusader, but am an interested housewife, and I think that one needs ✓ to know the background of such groups. We are all vitally interested in preserving our type of American government, but often such groups have done more harm in dividing our citizens on this alert toward Communism than to make all of us work together in harmony.

Most sincerely,

b6

Dear Mr. Hoover: John Birch Society

With all your manifold duties and responsibilities, I do hope you can find time to read and reply to this short inquiry.

Since attending the Christian Anti-Communism School held at the Hotel Disneyland in Anaheim, California, several of us are now awakened to our situation and want to get into the fight to stamp out Communism in our Country.

A John Birch chapter is being formed here in South Laguna. Please tell us, do you approve of the John Birch method of combatting this terrible menance, or is there some other more effective method to pursue; --- I mean in addition to prayer.

A stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed for your reply and I do hope this will not be too great an imposition for we do rely on your judgment and trust you implicitly.

Very Sincerely,

THE COURIER-JOURNAL, LOUISVILLE, KY.,

Birch Society Is Denounced In Senate

Reportedly Called Ike A Communist

By The Associated Press

Washington, March 8—Senator Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) said in the Senate today that leaders of an ultra-conservative and semi-secret group operating in many states have falsely accused former President Eisenhower of being a Communist.

Young said the organization, known as the John Birch Society, claims to be fighting Communism and has accused Young himself of "being about every kind of a scoundrel, including a Communist or pro-Communist."

He said the leader of the society is Robert Welch, a retired business executive of Belmont, Mass.

Formed In Cells

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana lauded Young for his denunciation of the society. He said he has heard of the group in his own state and "something is wrong somewhere."

Young said the society has organized cells in North Dakota among "some of the most able and influential people in each community."

He said Welch has "made accusations against the President of the United States and other top officers far beyond anything the late Senator Joe McCarthy (R., Wis.) ever thought of."

"To label some of our most loyal and dedicated people as Communists plays right into the hands of the Communists," he added.

Articles Go On Record

Young placed in The Congressional Record articles from The Chicago Daily News of last July 26 and the current edition of Time magazine dealing with the Birch society and Welch.

(The existence of two John Birch Society chapters in Louisville was disclosed in an article by Robert Hermann in The Courier-Journal on February 19. Chapter leaders here are W. Earle Otis, an architect, and Shirley Palmer Ball, a businessman. Other members include S. Bayburn Watkins, executive vice-president of Associated Industries of Kentucky, and Dr. N. Burnett Magruder, executive director of the Louisville Council of Churches.)

The Chicago News story said Welch is author of a book, "The Politician," which tries to prove that former President Eisenhower was a dedicated Communist and his brother, Milton R. Eisenhower, was "Ike's superior in the Communist Party."

Income Tax Held Red

The Time article told of society activities in several states and said Welch is a former prominent Boston businessman who regards the income tax and Social Security as moves towards Communism.

It said John Birch was a U. S. Navy captain who was killed by Chinese Communist guerrillas after V-J Day in 1945.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

Your letter of March 16, 1961, has been received, and the interest which prompted you to write is appreciated.

Although I would like to be of service, the FBI is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. I regret that I am unable to help you and hope that you will not infer in this connection either that we do or that we do not have data in our files relating to the subject of your inquiry.

Enclosed is some literature dealing with the general subject of communism which may be of interest. I am returning the money which you forwarded with your letter as there is no charge for material this Bureau is privileged to distribute to the public.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
ATTEMPT TO DISTRIBUTE BUREAU LITERATURE
WITHOUT APPROVAL

ASAC William Alexander of Los Angeles called shortly after 2 p.m. today and advised that a printer in Santa Barbara, California, had just been in touch with our Resident Agent in that city. The printer stated that he had received an order from the John Birch Society to print up 10,000 copies of our poster, "What You Can Do to Fight Communism." The Society representative had then requested the printer to print an addition on the statement to the effect that this statement was being distributed under the auspices of the John Birch group. ASAC Alexander advised that the group had not to their knowledge requested Bureau approval to reproduce the Director's statement.

Alexander was advised that in view of the extremist position taken by this group that we should not, of course, have anything to do with them and that obviously they were attempting to capitalize on the Director's prestige. He was told that the printer should be informed that the FBI had not given approval for this group to reproduce our poster nor could we approve of the addition to this poster reflecting it's distribution by the John Birch Society. Alexander advised this matter would be handled promptly and a follow-up airtel would be submitted on the results.

This is the group whose magazine carried the article that up to 80% of the top officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communists or under communist influence. They have accused former President Eisenhower of being a communist dupe and have called for the impeachment of the Supreme Court and have made similar ridiculous allegations.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of this irresponsible organization's attempt to capitalize on the Bureau's prestige, it is recommended that an SAC Letter be prepared instructing the field that no Bureau publications of any kind are to be made available to this group or to any of its representatives. It is further recommended that the Special Agents in Charge be alerted to the possibility that this group may attempt to reproduce Bureau publications and distribute them giving the impression that the FBI sanctions this organization. The field should be told that requests for any attempts to reproduce Bureau publications by the John Birch group should be turned down.

Re SAC Letter 60-5(C) captioned "ROBERT H. WELCH, Jr., - INFORMATION CONCERNING (INTERNAL SECURITY)," and Butte letter to Bureau, 9/9/60, with same caption as this letter.

The "Montana Standard," a Butte, Montana, daily newspaper, issue of 1/31/61, reported that [redacted] of Santa Barbara, California, [redacted] of the JOHN BIRCH Society, would speak in Butte that day. Subsequent information was received indicating efforts of various responsible persons in Butte to form a JOHN BIRCH Society.

Films have been shown and lectures given in Dillon, Montana, concerning the Society and efforts made to organize a Chapter in that small community.

Through correspondence with the Bureau by an interested individual it was ascertained that a Chapter has been formed in Sidney, Montana.

During 3/61, information was received that ANOTHER ~~Sister~~ Chapter has been formed in Stevensville, Montana.

Recent contacts with this Office by interested citizens inquiring about the Society indicate a growing DISILLUSIONMENT ~~disillusionment~~ by people with the material published by the Society. Further, the recent article in "Time Magazine," concerning the Society, as well as a series of articles being published by the "People's Voice," a weekly newspaper published in Helena, Montana, concerning the Society, have done much to bring about this feeling on the part of local citizens.

Senator MILTON R. YOUNG (R. - North Dakota) telephoned through secretary for the Director. He was advised of the Director's absence and was referred to Mr. Leinbaugh in Mr. DeLoach's absence.

Senator Young said he and Senator Mansfield made critical statements yesterday regarding the John Birch Society. Defenders of the Society claim that the Director has endorsed the Society and Mr. Leinbaugh emphatically denied this. Senator Young also said that the Society claims that the Director has stated that 70%to 80% of the officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were communists or had been influenced by the communists. Mr. Leinbaugh told the Senator that this had been previously brought to the Director's attention and that it is totally untrue in that the Director has not made such a ridiculous assertion.

Senator Young said he would appreciate a letter pointing out this information.

SUBJECT: SENATOR MILTON R. YOUNG (R-NDAK.)
INQUIRY RE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Senator Young called early this afternoon and in my absence spoke with Leinbaugh in my office. The Senator said that he and Mike Mansfield (D-Montana) had blasted the John Birch Society on the Senate Floor yesterday (UPI ticker attached), and the Senator said that frankly he had been amazed at the reaction. He said right after the speech he began to receive criticism from members of the Society and he had had several communications which alleged that Director Hoover had endorsed the John Birch group.

Leinbaugh told the Senator that this was a patent falsehood, that Director Hoover, of course, never endorsed any groups and most certainly would not issue any statement defending the activities of the John Birch Society. The Senator said he was relieved to hear this. He then added that members of this organization had informed him of the assertion that up to 80% of the top people in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communists or communist supporters and that Mr. Hoover was the source of information for this assertion. * The Senator was told that this ridiculous claim had already been brought to the Director's attention and it has been promptly nailed as a complete fabrication and falsehood.

Senator Young added that if at all possible he would deeply appreciate receiving a short note from Mr. Hoover regarding the above-mentioned matters and he was told we would be happy to comply with his request.

(BIRCH SOCIETY)

WASHINGTON--SEN. MILTON R. YOUNG, R-N.D., AND SENATE DEMOCRATIC LEADER MIKE MANSFIELD, MONT., TODAY SOUGHT TO RALLY PUBLIC OPINION AGAINST THE ULTRA-CONSERVATIVE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, WHOSE TOP OFFICIAL ACCUSED FORMER PRESIDENT EISENHOWER OF BEING A COMMUNIST AGENT.

IN SEPARATE SENATE SPEECHES, YOUNG AND MANSFIELD DEPLORED THE ORGANIZATION'S GROWING MEMBERSHIP IN THE DAKOTAS AND MONTANA, ALTHOUGH YOUNG QUOTED A (TIME) MAGAZINE ARTICLE AS REPORTING IT HAS ACTIVE "CELLS" IN MORE THAN 35 STATES. ONE NORTH DAKOTA CITY ALONE HAS FOUR CELLS, YOUNG SAID.

HE SAID THE SOCIETY'S MEMBERSHIP INCLUDES "SOME OF THE MOST ABLE AND INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN EACH COMMUNITY." ITS CRITICISM, HE SAID, IS LEVELED "NOT AGAINST LIBERAL PUBLIC OFFICIALS, BUT AGAINST MORE MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD, AND EVEN CONSERVATIVE, REPUBLICANS."

SOCIETY PRESIDENT ROBERT WELCH "HAS MADE ACCUSATIONS AGAINST THE PRESIDENT AND OTHER TOP OFFICIALS FAR BEYOND ANYTHING THE LATE SEN. JOE MCCARTHY EVER THOUGHT OF," YOUNG SAID.

HE SUBMITTED AN ARTICLE FROM A CHICAGO NEWSPAPER (NEWS) IN WHICH WELCH'S BOOK, "THE POLITICIAN," WAS SAID TO HAVE TRIED TO PROVE THAT EISENHOWER "IS A CONSCIOUS, DEDICATED AGENT OF THE COMMUNISTS," AND HIS ADMINISTRATION "CONTROLLED BY THE COMMUNIST PARTY."

MANSFIELD JOINED IN CRITICIZING THE ATTACK ON EISENHOWER, AND IN URGING THE PUBLIC TO "JUDGE THIS ORGANIZATION FOR WHAT IT IS."

YOUNG SAID THE SOCIETY HAS ACCUSED HIM "OF BEING ABOUT EVERY KIND OF SCOUNDREL, INCLUDING A COMMUNIST OR PRO-COMMUNIST."

SAC Letter 60-5 (C), dated January 26, 1960, advised that in December, 1958, Welch created an organization called "The John Birch Society," the long-range objective of which has been summarized as "less government, more responsibility, and a better world."

Recently, a printer in Santa Barbara, California, advised he had received an order from JBS to print 10,000 copies of my poster, "What You Can Do To Fight Communism." The JBS also requested the printer to print an addition on the poster to the effect that this statement was being distributed under the auspices of the JBS. On 3-23-61 a letter signed by captioned individual enclosing a business card of the [redacted] and a newspaper clipping regarding the John Birch Society was received by the Director. [redacted] indicated in his letter he had joined a "Birch Chapter" on 3-5-61 and asks whether he would be helping the fight against communism by working with the organization. He stated he plans to visit the Indianapolis Office of the FBI on 3-27-61 to discuss the John Birch Society.

Bufiles show [redacted] wrote the Director on 3-15-61 enclosing material regarding the John Birch Society and inquiring about it. By letter of 3-23-61 the Director advised [redacted] that the FBI does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual.

OBSERVATION:

Since the reply to [redacted] initial communication makes it clear that no information can be furnished by the FBI regarding the John Birch Society, there is no apparent reason to acknowledge his second letter.

(INTERNAL SECURITY)

Re: Boston letter to the Director dated 2/17/61.

On March 21, 1961, HERBERT A. PHILBRICK advised that he had no current information concerning the number of JOHN BIRCH CHAPTERS now functioning.

PHILBRICK stated that on his last personal contact with ROBERT WELCH, about two years ago, he was told that there were 20 chapters in Houston, Texas, and one chapter in Bismark, North Dakota. He has no additional information at the present time concerning the number of chapters of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. He stated that if he obtained additional information concerning this, he would furnish same to the Bureau.

Because of PHILBRICK's lack of particulars, the above information is being submitted by letter to the Bureau rather than by letterhead memorandum.

Re letter from the Director, FBI to the Office of Security, Department of State, captioned "JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INFORMATION CONCERNING (INTERNAL SECURITY)" dated 3/21/61.

SA RILEY L. MILLARD contacted Miss [redacted] Santa Barbara, California, for an appointment about 10:30 a.m., 3/25/61. She advised that she was very confused and stated that she would call back to advise when it would be convenient to see Agent. At approximately 11:00 a.m. Miss [redacted] called and stated that Agent could call on her at 2:00 p.m., 3/25/61.

At 2:00 p.m. SA MILLARD called on Miss [redacted] She advised that she was emotionally upset and distraught to the point where she was unable to talk to Agent. For this reason she had asked her friend, a Mr. [redacted] to meet with her and explain what she had in mind. While awaiting Mr. [redacted] the Bureau's jurisdiction and responsibility in the internal security field were explained to Miss [redacted] She stated that her concern was over events which have been happening in Santa Barbara, California, which have been causing the people to become suspicious of each other. She mentioned the speeches made in Santa Barbara recently by CLEON SKOUSEN, WILLIAM BUCKLEY and EDGAR BUNDY. She stated that she considers them rabble rousers. At this point Mr. [redacted] arrived, whereupon Miss [redacted] stated that he could explain what she had in mind. [redacted] was advised of the Bureau's responsibilities in the security field.

[redacted] Santa Barbara, [redacted] is employed as a [redacted] at the U. S. Navy Pacific Missile Range, Point Mugu, California. He stated he is quite concerned over the furor which the John Birch Society is causing in Santa Barbara. He stated the local paper in Santa Barbara had editorialized against the John Birch Society which resulted in a division of thought in the Santa Barbara community. Several months ago he attended a gathering where a tape by ROBERT WELCH described as the founder of the Society, was heard. [redacted] stated WELCH practically accused President EISENHOWER of being a communist and spoke in high tones of the quality of the government in the Dominican Republic. b6 b7C

Later Mr. [redacted] wrote a letter to the "Santa Barbara News-Press" denouncing the John Birch Society. As a result of the publication of this letter, several calls were made to Lt. Commander [redacted] Point Mugu, California, by unidentified persons calling Mr. [redacted] a "dirty communist" and asking questions such as "what are you going to do about it." He stated he considers this an insidious attack in an attempt to get his job because of his open objection to what he considers a completely wrong method of fighting communism. b6 b7C

Mr. [redacted] stated that he has worked for the U. S. Government in the propaganda field and was with OSS during World War II. He directed anti-communist and anti-Fascist propaganda and movies and believes that he has a background of being anti-communist as well as anti-Fascist that should satisfy even the severest critic.

Mr. [redacted] continued, stating that "the John Birch Complex" should be watched as a possible silver shirt type organization. He stated that the Director of the FBI should be advised that "while passing under cover of anti-communist, the John Birch complex is using his name and a stable of retired FBI men as covers for their meetings." He mentioned specifically CLEON SKOUSEN, HERBERT PHILBRICK and MATT CVETIC. The John Birch Society is encouraging the reading of anti-communist literature put out by the Director of the FBI as well as his book "Masters of Deceit." They are showing the films "Operation Abolition" and "Communism on the Map," all of which has as its objective the lending of dignity to their organization and of confusing the people as to their true purpose. Mr. [redacted] stated in this connection that he has no objection to the Director's book and that he intends to b6 b7C read it himself some day. The John Birch complex is a rebirth of all the worst aspects of the MC CARTHY era, except that this is worse because it has a brain behind it. He felt that the Director must avoid becoming a tool of the John Birch complex.

Mr. [redacted] continued that in Santa Barbara a Mrs. [redacted] an employee of U. S. Congressman TEAGUE, with office in the Post Office Building in Santa Barbara, "brainwashed" him for an hour concerning the communist threat to our schools and churches. A Mrs. [redacted] is a tool of the John Birch Society by publishing a sheet called "The Freedom Press." A Mrs. [redacted] who writes anti-communist articles is spreading the John Birch line. The Santa Barbara Speakers Forum is part of the John Birch Society (JBS) and is bringing to Santa Barbara such speakers as CLEON SKOUSEN, WILLIAM BUCKLEY, EDGAR BUNDY and the like.

Concerning Lt. Commander [redacted] Mr. [redacted] stated that [redacted] was given an award at Point Mugu recently by the U. S. Navy for having made 200 speeches against communism. At least one speech was made under the auspices of the JBS in Ventura, California, and one under the auspices of Mrs. [redacted] in Santa Barbara. Mr. [redacted] questions the wisdom of permitting the use of a Navy officer in this fashion.

Both Mrs. [redacted] and Mrs. [redacted] are known to SAs [redacted] and THOMAS H. THORNTON as being strongly anti-communist and who have stated that although they are not members of the JBS, they do approve of its anti-communist aims. Mrs. [redacted] has published four or five monthly issues of a throwaway which she now calls "The Freedom Press." Mrs. [redacted] has a weekly syndicated column which appears in more than a hundred newspapers in which she has been doing a series of articles for teen-agers on the dangers of communism.

Mr. [redacted] stated that one of his chief sources of information in this connection is [redacted], writer for the "News-Press" who wrote the articles which appeared in the News-Press "exposing" the JBS.

b7C

Mr. [redacted] stated that what he has to say could be summed up by saying that in his opinion "the John Birch complex" is causing lack of faith in democratic principles and is as great a threat to this country as communism.

Miss [redacted] stated she thinks that what Mr. [redacted] has said sums up her opinions on this subject. b6 b7C

Neither Miss [redacted] nor Mr. [redacted] asked any specific question concerning the John Birch Society; therefore, no statements were volunteered.

The indices of the Los Angeles Office contained no information of a derogatory, subversive nature regarding [redacted] or [redacted]

The Attorney General

March 10, 1961

Director, FBI

INQUIRY FROM SENATOR MILTON R. YOUNG REGARDING THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

For your information, Senator Milton R. Young called my office yesterday to make inquiry regarding the John Birch Society. The Senator advised that he and Senator Mansfield had attacked this group on the floor of the Senate and that he had been amazed by the reaction to his remarks. He said that following the speech, members of this Society had contacted his office claiming that I had endorsed this group.

The Senator was told that this assertion was a complete falsehood inasmuch as it was, of course, outside of my authority to endorse any group or organization. He was further told that I would not under any circumstances issue a statement defending the activities of the John Birch Society.

Members of this group also made claim to Senator Young that up to eighty per cent of the top people in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communists or communist supporters and they said that I was the source for this information. The Senator was advised that this ridiculous claim had been previously brought to my attention and that it had been promptly labeled as a complete fabrication.

By letter of March 1, 1961, I advised the Honorable Abraham A. Ribicoff of the above-reported statement which had been erroneously attributed to me.

Previous information was furnished to the Department concerning the John Birch Society by our memorandum dated February 1, 1961.

REC- 87 62-104401-910

"LAWRENCE DAILY JOURNAL-WORLD"
LAWRENCE, KANSAS

Enclosed are two copies of an editorial which appeared in captioned newspaper on 3-16-61. The item was called to the Bureau's attention by Mrs. [redacted] of Wichita, Kansas. Copies of her letter and enclosure, as well as a copy of our reply, are also enclosed for your information. We have had limited cordial correspondence with her.

It is noted that the editorial says that leaders of the John Birch Society include my name among a group of individuals they labeled as "pure-bred Reds." While we have received information that this group has named certain Government officials as communist, this is the first information the Bureau has received alleging that the Society linked my name with subversive elements. You should have a mature, experienced Agent contact Mr. [redacted] of the "Journal-World" and ascertain his source of information concerning me as expressed in the editorial. Be certain Mr. [redacted] understands that we have no interest whatsoever in the Society and that our only concern is to determine the basis for the allegation relating to me. For your information, the Bureau's position in response to inquiries concerning the Society is that we do not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. Bureau files reflect very limited contact with this newspaper. On 3-25-57 [redacted] was sent a copy of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin upon his request. Suairtel results under above caption to reach the Bureau no later than 4-6-61.

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

While talking to [redacted] to the Chief Counsel, House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA), on other matters 3-27-61 she advised in confidence that they have received a letter from the John Birch Society signed by Robert Welch asking that the HCUA conduct an investigation into the background of the John Birch Society so that their patriotic motives could be shown to the public. Mrs. [redacted] said that they were going to write back and say that such an investigation would be merely self-serving and that they would not conduct any such investigation.

b6
b7D

Mrs. [redacted] said that she would keep us posted. She also indicated to Kemper that they have literally been swamped with requests for information not only from Congressmen and Senators but from the general public on the attitude of the John Birch Society. She expressed her own personal disapproval of the methods used by Welch and said that his type of activity is doing more harm than good.

The John Birch Society was founded in 12-58 in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts. It is incorporated under laws of State of Massachusetts; is allegedly anti-communist; has chapters throughout the country; and has not been investigated by the Bureau. Welch and the Society in the past have been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The John Birch Society was formed in December, 1958, in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts.

(U) On April 1, 1961, a confidential source advised he learned that Senator Clair Engle of California recently received an inquiry from a California chapter of The John Birch Society. Senator Engle was requested to advise that chapter what the United States Government is doing with regard to trade with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR). The chapter plans to read Senator Engle's reply at its next meeting. The source advised that Senator Engle referred the matter to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, United States Department of Commerce. (C)

(U) According to the source, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce planned to advise Senator Engle that the United States Department of Commerce will not approve shipment of any materials to the Soviet-bloc which have any possible military use. (C)

By letter dated March 9, 1961, Mrs. [redacted] of [redacted] Jamestown, North Dakota, requested of the Minneapolis FBI Office an evaluation of the John Birch Society noting that its literature purports it to be an Americanist Society which is opposed to the advance of communism. Mrs. [redacted] was contacted on March 17, 1961, in Jamestown, North Dakota, at which time she advised that on the previous Thursday, March 9, 1961, in the local paper, "The Jamestown Sun", an article appeared concerning Senator YOUNG's remarks regarding the John Birch Society. She said the following Saturday in the same paper were letters to the editor concerning the John Birch Society, one of them by a [redacted] of Bismarck, North Dakota, who Mrs [redacted] said she had met at a social recently and had received from him a kit of the society which included a blue book reciting the purposes and procedures of the organization and other material. She also advised that [redacted] indicated that there was in Bismarck, North Dakota, a study group of the John Birch Society. Mr. [redacted] who is also an Air Force Reserve Major, was interviewed on March 16, 1961, and he advised that he has read the recent "Time" magazine article concerning the John Birch Society and he had locally become aware of existence of the organization particularly on March 5 and 6, 1961, when a film shown by an area representative at the Graver Hotel presented Mr. WELCH of that organization giving approximately a two hour talk on the subject of the spread of world communism. DATE: April 7, 1961

FROM : SAC, CLEVELAND (100-25282)

SUBJECT: COMINFIL OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY IS - C

On March 2, 1961, Mr. [redacted] Stow, Ohio, orally advised that he had been contacted by one [redacted] Ohio, concerning membership in captioned organization. [redacted] stated that [redacted] is a member of the John Birch Society (JBS) and that since his initial contact with him he, [redacted] has been receiving literature concerning the organization. Among the items thus received was a copy of the JBS "Blue Book". b6 b7C

[redacted] stated that, based upon his conversation with [redacted] he has learned that the latter is the only JBS member in [redacted] Ohio, but that a chapter has been in existence in Cleveland, Ohio, for sometime. He advised that this chapter meets monthly and that the only concrete results of the Cleveland JBS chapter's activity thus far mentioned by [redacted] was a successful effort to obtain the removal of a United Nations Seal from aircraft operated by the United Airlines. [redacted] was unable to evaluate or otherwise clarify the purpose of this action. b6 b7C

[redacted] stated that, since the JBS is opposed to Communism, he has considered joining the Society. In view of certain statements contained in the "Blue Book", however, he had some reservations about affiliating with the Society and he requested the Bureau's advise in this regard. He was courteously informed of the confidential nature of FBI files and the consequent necessity of informing him that no advice or information could be furnished to him. Mr. [redacted] stated that he understood the Bureau's position in such matters, but that he would attend at least one meeting of the JBS in Cleveland, Ohio, and would be happy to furnish any pertinent information obtained to this office. b6 b7C

He was then informed that the FBI could neither approve or disapprove his proposed action and that any association between himself and the JBS would have to be at his own discretion and in accordance with his own best judgment. He was further informed that the FBI is interested on a continuing basis in any efforts of the Communist Party to infiltrate and influence mass organizations and that, should he obtain any information indicating Communist Party infiltration of the JBS, it would be appreciated if he would make such information available to the FBI. Mr. [redacted] stated that he would gladly make any pertinent information obtained available to this office.

JOHN [redacted]

On March 30, 1961, Mr. [redacted] telephonically contacted the Cleveland Office to advise that he had learned that the JBS organizers in Cleveland, Ohio, are [redacted] and [redacted] all of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. [redacted] could furnish no additional information concerning any of these individuals. It is also noted that indices of the Cleveland Office are negative concerning the above mentioned persons. b6 b7C

In addition to the above information, the Cleveland Office has been the recipient of other telephone inquiries concerning the JBS. These inquiries have been uniformly answered with information concerning the confidential nature of FBI files and the consequent inability of this Office to furnish any information to private persons and/or organizations.

In view of current Bureau instructions concerning the JBS and the fact that to date no information has been obtained from confidential informants, confidential sources or public information sources indicating that local units of the JBS have been infiltrated by the Communist Party, no further investigation in this matter is contemplated by the Cleveland Office and it is being placed in a closed status. In the event information of a pertinent nature is obtained in the future, it will be immediately furnished to the Bureau along with appropriate recommendations relative to any further investigation which appears warrented.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

This Bureau has not conducted an investigation of the John Birch Society (JBS) or its founder Robert H. W. Welch, Jr. However, the files of this Bureau disclose the following information.

The JBS was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, in order to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-objective of the JBS as "less government, more responsi- and a better world."

In an article "The Wrong Way to Fight Reds" by Mabley in the January 30, 1961, issue of the "Chicago News," a Chicago, Illinois, daily newspaper, Mabley ts on Welch and the Society. Mabley states Welch, own words, is absolute boss of the Society and quotes as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, torial and dynamic boss." Mabley sums up his article ating the communist threat in this country is real the country needs the energy and interest of every n who will work to counteract communist evil; but unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist

Welch authored a book entitled "The Politician," 1961 he did not have published but had a limited number of s printed, which he sent to friends who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed it was a vicious attack on the political beliefs of former President Eisenhower and, by innuendo, alluded to President Eisenhower as being procommunist.

Welch also publishes a magazine "American Opinion," which was incorporated January 13, 1956, under the laws of the State of Massachusetts, and which he also uses as an outlet for his anticommunist crusade. As an example of the type of material which appears in "American Opinion" an article was published in the October, 1959, edition entitled "A Review of Reviews" written by Revilo P. Oliver, a professor at the University of Illinois. This article contained allegations that between 70 and 80 per cent of the responsible officers in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (DHEW) are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy. This appears to be a follow-up of a speech made by Oliver in March, 1959, at which time he allegedly stated that one third of the top echelon of the communist conspirators in this country are in the DHEW and stated his source was Herbert Philbrick. Philbrick, a former FBI informant, upon interview has denied giving Oliver any information concerning communist infiltration of the DHEW. Our files disclose that Philbrick never furnished such information to the FBI.

SUBJECT: MR. [redacted]

Today Mr. [redacted] called the Bureau and spoke to SA Heim in my office. He said that he had noted an article in the "Los Angeles Examiner" issue of Saturday, April 1, 1961, concerning the John Birch Society. The article, written by Frank Coniff, stated that the John Birch Society was anti-Catholic, anti-Semitic and anti-U.S., according to the caller. He said that the article mentioned FBI Director Hoover's recent statement against vigilante action and that the article by inference or implication if not outright statement related that the FBI disapproved of the Birch Society. b6 b7C

[redacted] said that he is a Catholic and is not a member of the Birch Society. He remarked that he had checked on the Birch Society and could find nothing in its material which appeared to be anti-Catholic or anti-U.S. He said that he has always held Mr. Hoover and the FBI in the highest esteem and was most grateful that the security of the whole country was in their hands. If the FBI has, in fact, investigated and found the John Birch Society to be subversive, [redacted] stated that he will be the first to oppose it. He said, however, that he wanted to know what the FBI's feelings were concerning this organization.

It was pointed out to Mr. [redacted] that the FBI as an investigative organization of the Federal Government did not make any evaluations or statements concerning the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. It was emphasized that accordingly such action was not within the province or the jurisdiction of the FBI and that it would be entirely wrong to say or infer that Mr. Hoover or the FBI had made any such statement or evaluation of this or any other organization. In response to Mr. [redacted] inquiry concerning the Director's recent statement against "vigilante action," he was advised that the Director has on several occasions as a matter of policy spoken out against reckless and vigilante action in connection with law enforcement and the national security of the country. b6 b7C membership. The next paragraph added that WELCH, the head of the JBS, was not present for the talk and that the JBS was not discussed by Mrs. [redacted]

Mrs. [redacted] was very much upset by the article because she said it was a deliberate lie and a plot on the part of someone to destroy her and [redacted]" and to discredit the fight against communism. She also felt that the article was an attempt to make it appear that she supported the JBS and/or to force her to take a position on that subject. b6 b7C

Mrs. [redacted] explained that she had been invited to speak before the AI by the [redacted], at the suggestion of HERBERT [redacted], AI President. She stated that her topic was to be "[redacted] No. One Issue - Survival." While working out the arrangements for the talk, Mrs. [redacted] agreed that the JBS would not be discussed.

Mrs. [redacted] arrived at the hall where she was to speak somewhat tardy because of traffic congestion. As she entered the hall, [redacted] chairman of the affair, was explaining to the audience that Mrs. [redacted] would not discuss the JBS.

Mrs. [redacted] in her talk, did not mention the JBS. During the question and answer period which followed her talk, she was asked if the JBS would become the subject of a Senate investigation. The chairman immediately ruled the question out of order. However, Mrs. [redacted] remarked that since she was neither a Senator nor a member of the JBS, she was in no position to answer the question. b6 b7C

As the affair ended, one of the audience introduced himself to Mrs. [redacted] the "New Bedford Standard-Times."

b6
b7C

Mrs. [redacted] wanted the Bureau to be informed that:

1) She had been invited to speak at this affair by the AI at the suggestion of its president, HERBERT PHILBRICK.

2) She did not mention the JBS during her talk.

3) She made it clear that she was not a member of the JBS.

4) Some time ago, she declined an invitation to write for "American Opinion," which is published by the JBS.

Mrs. [redacted] solicited suggestions as to whether she should do anything to correct the implication made by the article that she was a member of the JBS. She was politely informed that the Bureau could not advise her in this matter. After talking for some time, Mrs. [redacted] said she would call Mr. [redacted] the "Standard-Times", and discuss this with him.

Mrs. [redacted] called later to report that she had discussed the matter with [redacted] He informed her that he was the Massachusetts organizer of the JBS and that he had sent out letters to members of the JBS recommending that they might want to hear her speak. [redacted] promised to publish a blurb to explain that she was not a member of the JBS and that she had spoken at a meeting sponsored by the AI at the invitation of the AI.

This is being furnished to the Bureau as it is possible that Mrs. [redacted] may at some future date contact the Bureau and refer to the information set out herein.

A copy is being forwarded to Boston, inasmuch as it contains information regarding personalities and activities in that area.

REC-71

Re SAC Letter 60-5, which contains background data concerning captioned organization.

There is being summarized data of possible Bureau interest relative to the John Birch Society (JBS), based upon press articles which have recently appeared in Portland daily newspapers.

The Oregonian, Portland daily newspaper, on 3/29/61 contained an article entitled "Salty Self-Styled Rebel Claims John Birch Label," under the byline of [redacted] staff writer, for the Oregonian. The article quotes JOSEPH A. MALLON, age 69, a resident of Pleasant Valley on a 40 acre farm east of Portland as having stated that he was the "original John Birch Society" in Oregon.

ORE B. APPROX. 1892

[redacted] The second article in the series by Staff Writer appearing in The Oregonian on 3/30/61, entitled "Anti-Red Society Pioneer Traces Group's Growth in Oregon," noted the JBS "apparently" came to Oregon "about two years ago" and referred to JOSEPH A. MALLON as having stated that he was the head of the state's first chapter. MALLON was reported as having stated he had received a letter from ROBERT WELCH, founder and head of the JBS, appointing MALLON "chapter leader" for the "first chapter in Oregon," which was "to be Chapter No. 143."

The above article went on to state ORE that another "early leader" was [redacted] Portland insurance man and [redacted] Portland. In a written statement, reportedly written for the Oregonian, [redacted] related, according to the article, that in [redacted]

September, 1959, seven people, including professional and business executives, attended a two-day meeting in Seattle, Washington with ROBERT WELCH. All but one of the seven became associated with the society. [redacted] became a "part" of the organization in January, 1960 and remained so until July 1, 1960. He reportedly organized a "number of chapters" throughout Oregon and disagreed with MALLON's statement that the latter was the first JBS member in Oregon. MALLON indicated that some of his chapter's members later formed their own chapters, it being his guess that there were "about eight other chapters in the Portland area," six of them started by original members of his group. He described chapters as normally having an average of twenty members with a maximum of thirty members.

A third article by Staff Writer [redacted] appearing in The Oregonian on 3/31/61, entitled "Internal Disagreement Apparent in Extremist Birch Society," refers to PAUL CLEMENT, 71 year old television repairman, 3907 SE Clinton Street, Portland, Ore. as one of Oregon's early John Birch members, and one of those in MALLON's chapter.

The fourth article in the series appearing in The Oregonian on 4/2/61, by [redacted] is entitled "Birch Society Coordinator Gives Up Farm to Join 'Battle,'" and pertains to [redacted] Oregon coordinator of JBS, who reportedly stated he became coordinator in September, 1960, and subsequently gave up a small farm and dairy near Springfield, Oregon, to devote his full time to the activity. The article noted that [redacted] "parried questions about the number of John Birch chapters in the state with the statement 'This is an area which I haven't received instructions on,'" adding it was not a "question of secrecy exactly," but was up to headquarters.

to [redacted] predecessor in the job, and the one who introduced [redacted] to the JBS in February, 1960.

In referring to his job, [redacted] noted he received $300 per month, plus mileage from JBS headquarters for his work. Dues were stated to be $24 per year for men and $12 for women. He stated his official duties included helping set up chapters and making sure existing chapters are functioning effectively, his activities thus far being in the area west of the Cascade range.

[redacted] The fifth and concluding article in the series by appeared in the 4/2/61 issue of The Oregonian under the title "John Birch Founder Says 'Fantastic' Measures Required." According to this article there " reportedly" are chapters of the JBS in Eugene, Medford, Grants Pass, Lebanon and Newport (Oregon), in addition to "several" believed to exist in Portland. The article described [redacted], proprietor of [redacted] as a "John Birch member," belonging to the chapter of Mrs. [redacted], in Tigard, Oregon.

On 3/30/61, an article entitled "John Birch Society Flourishing in Oregon" appeared in the Oregon Journal, Portland daily newspaper, in which [redacted], Portland insurance man, was quoted as having stated that he had organized the JBS in Oregon in Medford, Grants Pass, Newport, Lebanon and Portland, devoting six months to the task, after attending a 1959 meeting in Seattle where he met ROBERT WELCH, founder of the JBS. The article made further reference to Mrs. [redacted], Tigard, Oregon, as leader of the JBS chapter in the Southwest Portland suburban area. Mrs. [redacted] was reported as having stated the chapter had been meeting monthly in her home.

Meanwhile, on April 5, 1961, the Oregon Journal contained an article with dateline of "Washington Bureau of Journal," captioned "Birch Group Actions Scored by Representative Green" in which the Oregon Congressman EDITH GREEN reportedly called upon the people to judge "outfits like the JBS not in terms of what they say they are against but in terms of what they say they are for." Her remarks reportedly followed receipt by her of a substantial number of letters from "Portlanders and other Oregon residents" who identified themselves as members of the JBS or whom she regarded as clearly identifiable as members because of the tone and wording of their letters."

The Oregonian on 4/6/61 contained an article under "Washington (Special)" dateline, entitled "John Birch Society Puts Green on 'Sympathizer' List," in which Representative GREEN was quoted as having stated in her newsletter to constituents that she had been termed a "Communist sympathizer" for disagreeing with the JBS members and others demanding the impeachment of Chief Justice EARL WARREN of the U. S. Supreme Court. She also was quoted as stating that "Outfits like the JBS" should be judged not in terms of what they say they are against, but in terms of what they show they are for."

By letter of 4-1-61, the above-captioned individual forwarded a copy of his communication to "The New Castle News." His letter refers to the John Birch Society pointing out that the Department of Justice has voiced their concern over the organization, and the Director's April, 1961, Law Enforcement Bulletin Introduction criticizes vigilante action. He indicates that although he is not a member of the Society, he does question the disapproval of this anticommunist group particularly when the American public is constantly being urged to support the fight against communism.

The John Birch Society was founded in 12-58 in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts. It is incorporated under laws of State of Massachusetts; is allegedly anti-communist; has chapters throughout the country; and has not been investigated by the Bureau. Welch and the Society in the past have been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower.

RECOMMENDATION:

As [redacted] letter is not addressed to the Director, it is not felt desirable to become involved in his questions regarding this highly controversial group.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

In accordance with the telephonic request of Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General John Seigenthaler to Assistant Director C. A. Evans of this Bureau on April 3, 1961, there is enclosed a memorandum concerning the John Birch Society and its founder Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.

Neither the Society nor Welch has been investigated by this Bureau. However, our field offices are alert for any indication of subversive influence within the organization or any of its chapters.

We are answering inquiries from the press and public for information concerning the Society by stating that this Bureau is an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations or draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. However, in the introduction to the "FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin," dated April 1, 1961, I specifically pointed out the need for an objective and dispassionate approach in fighting the communist menace. I felt this step was necessary because of the rash of vigilante-type individuals and organizations springing up throughout the country which tend to depart from fact and use gossip, hearsay and unsubstantiated charges in fighting communism. In the long run, such tactics will hinder rather than help in this fight.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The following information is set forth concerning the John Birch Society (JBS) and its founder Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.

Background Concerning the Society

The Society was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a wealthy candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts and was assigned Charter Number 624-300. The officers were listed as Robert Welch, President and Treasurer, and [redacted] Clerk (Secretary). The Directors were listed as [redacted] Robert Welch and [redacted] The Incorporators were listed as Robert Welch; [redacted] Robert Welch); [redacted] and [redacted] All of the aforementioned are residents of the Boston, Massachusetts, area. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of the Society as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

According to recent newspaper accounts, the Society at the beginning of 1961 had chapters in approximately 35 states and it has been estimated that the Society might have 100,000 members at the end of 1961. The most pronounced activity on the part of Welch and the Society in his anti-communist campaign has been charges of communists being in high Government positions, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The most recent major activity in this regard has been the calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past has advised that [redacted] of Dallas, Texas, who has been identified in the past as being a former member of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, recently stated he was a member of the JBS and praised the work of the Society. [redacted] stated the Society, without mentioning integration, would only be fighting communism but added that actually communism is the "root of it all" indicating, according to the source, that [redacted] meant fighting communism is also fighting integration. The source advised that [redacted] stated the main work of the Society at the present time is writing letters to Congressmen and other prominent officials, never using the Society's name, and in getting windshield and bumper stickers on as many cars as possible reading "Impeach Earl Warren."

b7C

By memorandum from Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley dated August 30, 1960, Yeagley, in referring to the Society, advised that the Department's records contained no Bureau reports on either the Society or Welch and requested this Bureau to conduct an investigation of the Society pursuant to Executive Order 10450. By memorandum dated September 8, 1960, he was advised that no information had been received by this Bureau indicating any subversive elements in the Society and that in view of this, together with the background information concerning the Society and Welch which had previously been furnished the then Attorney General by memoranda dated March 6 and September 11 and 16, 1959, all captioned "Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.," no investigation of the Society would be conducted unless a subsequent request was received from the Department. To date no subsequent request has been received from the Department for an investigation of the Society or Welch.

The Present Controversy

The JBS is probably one of the most controversial organizations in the country today. This controversy stems mainly from the allegations made by Welch and the Society alluding to President Eisenhower being procommunist; the allegations that there are communists in other high Government positions; and calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren. This controversy has led to many attacks on Welch and the Society through the newspapers and in some congressional circles, while at the same time other newspapers and congressional circles have defended Welch and the Society. However, to date this controversy has been confined, at least in congressional circles, to the issue of Welch and the Society and not to the issue of Chief Justice Warren's impeachment.

This controversy slowly gathered momentum until it appears to have reached its peak within the past week when some Congressmen and Senators denounced Welch and the Society while others backed Welch and the Society. According to newspaper accounts, both the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (SISS) and the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA) have been requested to hold hearings concerning the Society. According to such accounts, Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Vice Chairman of SISS, has denounced the Society and Welch's attack on President Eisenhower and on March 31, 1961, Dodd stated he would bring up the possibility of investigating the Society at the Subcommittee's next meeting. Also according to newspaper accounts, Congressman Francis Walter, Chairman of the HCUA, has stated that the HCUA has received many letters complaining about the Society but none contained material information indicating the HCUA could or should launch an investigation. Walter has further stated that it is not the function of the HCUA to serve as a sounding board either for an organization against individuals or for individuals against an organization. In addition, Senator John L. McClellan, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, has been quoted in the press as stating on March 31, 1961, that his Committee has no plans to investigate the Society because his Committee has no jurisdiction to do so.

In addition to this controversy splitting congressional circles into those attacking Welch and the Society and those backing Welch and the Society, the controversy has split congressional circles on the issue of whether a congressional hearing or hearings should be conducted of Welch and the Society. Some congressional members are demanding an investigation while others are claiming there is no basis or authority for such an investigation.

Background Concerning Welch

The files of this Bureau disclose that Welch resides at 43 Fletcher Road, Belmont, Massachusetts; has an office at 810 Main Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he is an officer and director of the James O. Welch Company, a candy company; and has an office at 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, from which literature of the Society is mailed and distributed. In February, 1959, this Bureau received information indicating that Welch had authored a book entitled "The Politician," which book Welch did not have published but had a limited number of copies printed which he sent to friends and individuals who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed that it was mainly a vicious attack on the political life and beliefs of President Eisenhower. In this book Welch by innuendo alluded to former President Eisenhower as being procommunist. Photostats of the pertinent portion of "The Politician," as well as background information concerning Welch and the Society, were disseminated to the then Attorney General by memoranda dated March 6, 1959, September 11, 1959, and September 16, 1959, all captioned "Robert H. W. Welch, Jr."

Newspaper accounts have quoted Welch as stating that he is the absolute boss of the Society and as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss."

A description of the tactics employed by Welch in carrying on the activities of the Society is seen in the statement of Spruille Braden, the former United States Ambassador and a member of the Society's council, as quoted in an article on the Society which appeared on page six of the March 30, 1961, issue of the "New York Journal-American," a daily New York City newspaper. In this article Braden stated he did not agree with Welch's charge against President Eisenhower; that Welch may exaggerate sometimes; but "When you're in a barroom brawl, no holds are barred. You don't fight by the Marquis of Queensberry rules."

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING
CENTRAL RESEARCH MATTER

As could be expected, communists both at home and abroad were quick to see the propaganda value in the news expose of the John Birch Society.

Under a Washington dateline, the Yugoslav news agency Tanyug notes the alarm caused by the activity of the John Birch Society, terming it "a semi-clandestine profascist organization with a program similar to that of the Ku Klux Klan." Further, that in its "radical anticommunist campaign" it has gone so far as to pronounce Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower as well as the late John Foster Dulles, communists. The article states that the Society has about 100,000 members, some of whom are well-known industrialists, government and Pentagon officials, who are not only combating communism but the constitutional rights of Negroes, the United Nations and American assistance to foreign countries. (FBIS/CIA, USSR & EAST EUROPE, 4/6/61, p. NN

The Midwest Edition of The Worker on 4/9/61 states that the John Birch Society, which calls itself a "patriotic anti-Communist" outfit, has an interlinking with blatant racism and even pro-Nazis. In propagandizing the racial issue, the article attacks the Grosse Point (Michigan) Property Owners Association, which apparently screens prospective home buyers by a racist "point" system, noting that its executive secretary was one of the leaders of the John Birch Society in Michigan. The article reflects there are twenty-two chapters of the Society in Michigan and promises that next week's issue will give the "inside story" about the Society.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. MOHR
MR. DELOACH

Mr. [redacted] called to inquire what I knew about the John Birch Society stating he had been gone when this came up and he did not know much about it. He stated that a lot of their enthusiastic young writers, he believed on the basis of no more information than he had, have rushed in and tried to eviscerate Robert Welch on the basis of what is in the newspapers. He stated before they issue any editorials on this they wanted to be sure of their facts. Mr. [redacted] stated he knew quite a few people whose opinions he respected say while this man may be indiscreet he has been charged with saying that Eisenhower is a card-carrying communist without having facts. Mr. [redacted] stated he was trying to get his people to locate Welch to convince him they want to do an honest story and find out if he said what he is alleged to have said, had he been misquoted, did he say some version or have his statements been taken out of context. Mr. [redacted] wanted to know if we have any clear-cut convictions based on our own facts upon which he could base a lead in checking into this matter.

I told Mr. [redacted] that Welch was in California and that we have never investigated him or the John Birch Society; that all I know is what has appeared in the papers. I stated we were trying to get a copy of what he is alleged to have written, and, of course, a great number of the people against him were of the very type he and I would like to expose for communist leanings. I stated this does not mean that all are in that category. I felt Welch was probably indiscreet but I believed no one had done the research job which should be done to pin him down so an evaluation could be made. Mr. [redacted] stated this had answered his questions as he was sure such a matter would not have escaped our attention. He stated if it was possible to give him a steer he would appreciate our doing so.

By letter dated 4/2/61, captioned individual wrote to the Director expressing his consternation over criticism being leveled against the John Birch Society. He enclosed several examples which were typical of items which are appearing in the press, including the highly controversial column by [redacted] which appeared in the April 1 edition of the Los Angeles Examiner. The Bureau is aware of the latter item which links Mr. Hoover with the growing criticism of the Society.

Bufiles contain no record concerning Mr. [redacted] The tenor of his letter is respectful and he indicates that his concern is very genuine. He makes no attempt to argue and berate the Director as have some recent writers on the subject of the John Birch Society.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the attached letter be forwarded to Mr. [redacted] wherein he is given the usual reply to those seeking Bureau opinion of an organization, and including a copy of the April, 1961, LEB* Introduction to answer his question about the "vigilante action."

Captioned individual wired the Director on March 31 inquiring as to whether there was any connection between the April Law Enforcement Bulletin introduction and the John Birch Society. By telegram dated April 1, [redacted] was advised that Mr. Hoover's message did not mention any specific group since it is not within the province of the FBI to evaluate organizations of any type. [redacted] wired the Director again on April 3 complaining that the wire services directly attribute remarks about vigilante action to the Birch Society. [redacted] said this could do great damage to many innocent people who are the staunchest supporters of the Director and the Bureau. He wanted to know how this could be ignored and asked that this "smear" not go unchallenged.

[redacted] was not identifiable in Bufiles and we have had no recent correspondence with his newspaper.

Apparently, [redacted] is trying to exert pressure on the Director to force him to make a public statement in favor of the John Birch Society. No benefit can possibly be derived from entering into a controversy with him. He refuses to accept the statement that the Society was not being singled out by the Director.

Re NY airtel 4/7/61.

Mrs. [redacted] who is well known to the Bureau, furnished the following information on 4/11/61 to SA [redacted]

"The New Bedford Standard-Times" (New Bedford Mass.) 4/7/61, carried an article under the heading, "American Institute (AI) To Hear JOHN NOBLE". The article stated that NOBLE would speak at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon at John Hancock Hall under the auspices of the AI.

The article reported that AI officials have pointed out that although AI programs are often recommended by the John Birch Society (JBS), the AI speakers are not necessarily members of the JBS.

Further down in the article, it was indicated that Mrs. [redacted] was not a member of the JBS and that HERBERT PHILBRICK was president of the AI.

Mrs. [redacted] said that she would drop the issue (that is, that the "Standard-Times" carry a statement that she was not a member of the JBS) at this point. However, in the future she intends to be very careful and circumspect in her dealings with [redacted] the "Standard-Times"

Re: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

An article appeared in the "Dallas Times Herald," a daily Dallas newspaper dated March 26, 1961. In this article [redacted] identified himself as a member of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY (JBS). [redacted] in this article, stated that there are ten chapters of the society in the Dallas area with fifteen to thirty members each, and the society has gotten four times larger than when he joined it in January. This article described how [redacted] devotes much of his time to work of the JBS and his fight against the international communistic plot. b6 b7C

On March 8, 1961, Dallas Confidential Informant T-1, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that a meeting of the White Citizens Council of Dallas County was held in Room 4 of the Baker Hotel, Dallas, on March 7, 1961. There were seven men and three women present, and of the men present four were former members of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Among the former klansmen present was [redacted] in Dallas. [redacted] gave a talk on the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, of which he, [redacted] is a prominent member. [redacted] told the group that the JBS worked in small groups. [redacted] praised the JBS in that in the past anyone who fought integration had run into a brick wall but said this society, without mentioning integration, only would be fighting communism. [redacted] said actually communism is the "root of it all," indicating he meant fighting communism is also fighting integration. [redacted] said the JBS never meets in the same place and each member has a list of ten things that he is supposed to do each month. These things include writing letters to Congressmen and other prominent officials, never using the JBS name on anything but signing only the individual's name when trying to push through some item or effort. [redacted] said JBS in this manner is driving the communists crazy. b6 b7C

[redacted] said the society is acting in all fifty states and the main "push" at the present time is getting windshield and bumper stickers on as many cars as possible, reading, "Impeach Earl Warren."

Re: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

On November 2, 1960, Dallas Confidential Informant T-2, who has furnished reliable information in the past, made available a letterhead of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, which set forth a list of officers for Rylie No. 2 Klavern, Dallas, Texas. On November 30, 1957, [redacted] was listed as [redacted] Dallas T-2 also made available a list of officers for Dallas Klavern No. 66 of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, dated November 29, 1958, which listed [redacted]

On December 12, 1957, Dallas Confidential Informant T-3, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., Realm of Texas, chartered its first klavern in Rylie, Texas, in November 1957. This organization used the name Soldiers of the Flaming Sword as a cover name when approaching an individual concerning membership in the Ku Klux Klan, and only after they determined that this person was safe did they reveal the true identity of this organization to be the Ku Klux Klan. b6 b7C

On October 5, 1958, Dallas T-1 advised that in June of 1958, [redacted] the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., broke away from that organization and formed the Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan (OKKKK). However, on October 4, 1958, [redacted] of College Park, Georgia, the Imperial Wizard of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, visited Dallas, at which time most of the klansmen in Dallas rejoined the U. S. Klans, having become disgusted with [redacted] over handling of klan funds.

On August 19, 1959, Dallas Confidential Informant T-4, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that as of August 19, 1959, the U. S. Klans in Texas did not have a State leader or Grand Dragon and the U. S. Klans have become badly disorganized.

Pages 5003-5004. Senator Dodd, (D) Connecticut, spoke concerning attitudes regarding the Communist menace. Mr. Dodd pointed out "there have always been naive or softheaded people, ultra-liberals who refuse to believe that communism can be all evil; - - - who are not pro-Communist, but react with far greater emotion against every manifestation of anticommunism than they ever seem capable of displaying against communism. At the other extreme, there are those who are sincerely anti-Communist but who believe that everyone who disagrees with them is either a Communist or a dupe of the Communists, that every political figure who has been guilty of an error in judgment or a policy that failed, is ipso facto, a member of the Communist conspiracy." Mr. Dodd makes reference to the John Birch Society. He commended the press for bringing the actions of this Society to public attention. Senator Kuchel, (R) California, praised Mr. Dodd for his remarks and stated "There are many good but mistaken people who belong to the John Birch Society, but there are some others who are neither good nor mistaken, and they are its leaders."

My dear Congressman:

Your letter of April 6, 1961, with enclosure, has been received, and I do appreciate the concern which prompted Miss [redacted] to write.

You are aware, I am sure, that the FBI, as an investigative agency of the Federal Government, does not furnish evaluations or comments regarding the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization. From this, I hope that Miss Whitfield will not infer either that we do or do not have data in our files relating to the subject of her letter.

I am unable to make any recommendations with respect to groups which she may join to fight communism; however, I am enclosing several items which may be of assistance to her in this regard.

My dear Mr. Hoover:

I am enclosing a copy of a letter received from [redacted], a resident of the Congressional District I represent, who is Corresponding Secretary for the Junior Women of the Twentieth Century Club, Hermosa and Colorado, Los Angeles 41, California.

This letter is from what I believe is a very responsible group. I am not requesting comment concerning the statements or questions in regard to the John Birch Society or the films mentioned in the letter. I would however appreciate having the benefit of such comment as you might be able to make in response to the last question in the letter, which I may use in my reply to Miss Whitfield.

Sincerely yours,

This memorandum is prepared pursuant to the request of the Director for a memorandum on the John Birch Society (JBS).

The JBS was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in 12/58 by Robert H. Welch, Jr., a wealthy candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, in order to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on 12/23/58 as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of the JBS as "less government, more responsibility and a better world." It has been noted from newspaper articles written about Welch and the Society that Welch is absolute boss of it and Welch has been quoted as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss." Also, according to newspaper accounts, JBS at the start of 1961 had chapters in approximately 35 states with a recent estimate that JBS might have 100,000 members by the end of 1961. The most pronounced activity on the part of Welch and the Society in his anticommunist campaign have been charges of high Government officials being communists, including former President Eisenhower. The most recent activity in this regard has been the calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. Probably the best description of Welch's recklessness and the tactics used by him is seen in the statement of Spruille Braden, the former United States Ambassador and a member of the Society's council, as quoted in an article on the Society which appeared on page six of the 3/30/61 issue of "New York Journal-American." In this article Braden stated he did not agree with Welch's charge against President Eisenhower; that Welch may exaggerate sometimes; but "When you're in a barroom brawl, no holds are barred. You don't fight by the Marquis of Queensberry rules."

We have never investigated JBS nor Welch. We have furnished background information to the field concerning Welch and JBS by SAC Letters 59-13 (F) dated 3/10/59 and 60-5 (C) dated 1/26/60. The field was instructed to be alert for the formation of chapters of JBS; that the Bureau was particularly interested in efforts by subversive elements to take over or use JBS or its chapters; and that no investigation should be conducted. As a result of the information received from the Los Angeles Office that a member of the chapter of JBS in Santa Barbara, California, had ordered a printing of 10,000 copies of the Bureau's poster on communism with the statement printed thereon that they were printed and distributed by JBS, we alerted the field by SAC Letter 61-14 (D) dated 3/21/61 of this matter and instructed that members of JBS no longer would be furnished copies of Bureau literature on the subject of communism.

While we have not investigated Welch or JBS we have had the Boston Office check public source material such as incorporation records, credit records, et cetera, for background data concerning Welch and the Society.

By memorandum from Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley dated 8/30/60, Yeagley referred to a newspaper account concerning JBS; advised that the Department's records contain no Bureau reports on either JBS or Welch; requested the Bureau to conduct an investigation of JBS pursuant to Executive Order 10450; and requested copies of reports of such investigation. By memorandum dated 9/8/60 we forwarded to Yeagley photostats of previous memoranda which we had furnished the Attorney General regarding Welch and the Society; advised that no information had been received by this Bureau indicating any subversive elements in the Society; and stated that no investigation of the Society would be conducted unless a subsequent request was received from the Department in view of the information which we were furnishing in the enclosure to our memorandum. To date no subsequent request has been received from the Department for an investigation of Welch or the Society.

JBS is probably one of the most controversial organizations in the country today. This controversy stems from the allegations made by Welch and the Society ~~concerning the allegations~~ alluding to President Eisenhower being a communist; the allegations that there are communists in other high Government positions; and calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren. This controversy has led to many attacks on Welch and the Society through the newspapers and in congressional circles, while at the same time other newspapers and some congressional members have defended Welch and the Society. However, to date this controversy has been confined to the issue of Welch and the Society and not to the issue of Chief Justice Warren's impeachment, at least in congressional circles.

This controversy slowly gathered momentum until it appears to have reached its peak within the past couple days when some congressmen and senators have denounced Welch and the Society while others have backed Welch and the Society. Both the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (SISS) and the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA) have been requested to hold hearings concerning the Society. Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Vice Chairman of SISS, has denounced the Society and Welch's attack on President Eisenhower and on 3/31/61 stated he would bring up the possibility of investigating the Society at the Subcommittee's next meeting. Congressman Francis Walter, Chairman of the HCUA, has stated that the HCUA has received many letters of complaints about the Society but none contain material information indicating HCUA could or should launch an investigation. Walter has further stated that it is not the function of HCUA to serve as a sounding board either for an organization against individuals or for individuals against an organization. In addition Senator John L. McClellan, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, stated on 3/31/61 that his committee has no plans to investigate the Society because his committee has no jurisdiction to do so.

Outside of congressional circles the main "boiling pot" of this controversy appears to be in the State of California where Governor Edmund Brown has ordered a probe of the Society and has called the Society a "fanatic group of the extreme right." It is noted that the Society has been extremely active in California and has created a storm in both church and educational circles. In addition to the California Governor's probe of the Society, a June hearing has been set by the State Senate Un-American Activities Committee at which Welch will be asked to testify. According to an article which appeared concerning the Society in the 3/29/61 issue of the "New York Journal-American," page two, the California Assembly Rules Committee was to vote on 3/30/61 on a resolution concerning a nationwide investigation of the Society by United States Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

According to the attached "Washington Capital News Service" release of 3/31/61, a Department of Justice spokesman stated that the growing number of inquiries which the Department has received about the Society has made it a matter of concern to the Attorney General but the spokesman refused to say whether the Department is investigating the Society.

On March 13, 1961, Mrs. [redacted] Secretary, AC Spark Plug Division, General Motors Corporation, Flint, likewise a member of the John Birch Society and the Cardinal Mindzenti Society (see Detroit letter to Bureau dated December 2, 1960, captioned [redacted] SM-C; Bufile 100-371448; Detroit file 100-18676), telephonically contacted SA [redacted] stating that Miss [redacted] had made the statement at a recent Cardinal Mindzenti Society meeting that someone had called the FBI and was advised that the Patrick Henry League is a subversive organization and has been so cited by the Attorney General of the United States. Mrs. [redacted] was advised that the FBI does not make such statements and that no Agent had made such a statement at Flint. b6 b7C

Later that same day, Mrs. [redacted] again called and advised that by rechecking with [redacted] she had learned the following: [redacted] heard the statement about the Patrick Henry League while at the home of [redacted], works with one [redacted] of [redacted] at the [redacted] had told [redacted] that he had "heard or read somewhere that the Patrick Henry League was a subversive organization".

Mrs. [redacted] stated that upon learning of this source, she contacted Mr. [redacted] He stated that after making the statement about the Patrick Henry League he had checked with a source that he did not identify and ascertained that he had been wrong in his evaluation of the Patrick Henry League. He indicated that his original statement had been based on something that he had heard from or read as written by HERBERT PHILBRICK. He did not say that he had contacted the FBI although he indicated that someone may have thought that he did.

On March 27, 1961, SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] contacted Miss [redacted] Her letter to the Director was orally acknowledged. She immediately stated that she had been too hasty in writing such a letter as she and a Mrs. [redacted] had later ascertained that the person who had said that the Patrick Henry League is or was subversive had not received his information from the FBI. b6 b7C

It is noted that Miss [redacted] was not and is not aware that the Special Agents contacting her had a copy of the letter she sent to the Director. She advised the Agents that her letter specifically stated that it was not she who had been advised by the FBI that the Patrick Henry League was subversive and she had pointed out in her letter that she did not know of her own knowledge that the FBI had said such a thing.

She was advised that the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and does not furnish evaluations or comments concerning the character or integrity of any individual, publication or organization.

She stated that she realizes this as these same points have been stated on several occasions by Mrs. [redacted] who is a study group leader in the Cardinal Mindzenti Society.

In conclusion, Miss [redacted] expressed her admiration for the Director and the work of the FBI, stating that she wants only to assist in any way possible in the difficult tasks facing the Bureau.

BACKGROUND:

By letter dated 3-28-61 captioned individual enclosed a copy of a news clipping which quotes a letter from the Director to Senator Milton R. Young. The letter to Young points out that the Director has not endorsed the John Birch Society (JBS) and that the Director did not make a statement to the effect that up to 80 per cent of the top officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communists. This clipping appeared in the Minot, North Dakota, "Daily News." [redacted] feels that most of the readers of the newspaper as well as himself gather that the Director is condemning the JBS, but he feels that the Director would not actually mean to condemn the society. He states that while he believes that the Director means just what he said and that he had not endorsed the JBS, others try to read between the lines and come up with the meaning that "If Hoover does not endorse it, it must be a lousy outfit." [redacted] states that he is not trying to "squeeze" an endorsement of the JBS out of the Director, but desires a statement that would clarify the situation.

In addition, [redacted] states that he has tried to find the statement regarding the Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials being communist in JBS material without success. He asks if the JBS actually did credit the Director with the statement and cleared the situation. He would also appreciate any other statement the Director would desire to make concerning the organization and in closing stated that he was asking God to bless the Director's efforts in these trying times.

Jones to DeLoach Memo
RE: [redacted]
Inquiry Re John Birch Society

INQUIRY RE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY:

The letter which is quoted in the clipping enclosed by [redacted] is a letter from the Director to Senator Milton R. Young dated 3-10-60. This letter was sent at the request of Senator Young who contacted your office on 3-9-61. He stated that he and Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana had blasted the JBS on the Senate Floor the previous day and he had been amazed at the reaction. He had received criticism from members of the society and he had had several communications that alleged that the Director had endorsed the JBS. Senator Young was told, of course, that this was a patent falsehood and that the Director had never endorsed any groups and certainly did not issue a statement defending the activities of the JBS. Senator Young then mentioned that members of the organization had informed him Mr. Hoover was the source of information for the assertion that up to 80 per cent of the top people in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are communist or communist supporters. The Senator was told that this was a ridiculous claim, it had already been brought to the Director's attention, and it had been promptly nailed as an incomplete fabrication and falsehood.

Senator Young stated that if at all possible he would like to have a short note from the Director regarding the above matters and the 3-10-61 letter was sent to him containing the same general information as was furnished over the telephone. Senator Young's telephone call was brought to the attention of the Attorney General in a memorandum to him dated 3-10-61 and it was also pointed out that by letter dated 3-1-61 the Director had advised the Honorable Abraham A. Ribicoff that the Statement concerning officials of Ribicoff's Department had erroneously been attributed to the Director.

As a matter of interest, the statement that between 70 and 80 per cent of the responsible officers in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy has been researched in an effort to determine the original source. The October, 1959, issue of "American Opinion" contained an article entitled "A Review of Reviews" by Revilo P. Oliver, in which he stated he had consulted in Washington several weeks previously with persons intimately acquainted with the operations of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare who confirmed the estimate made some time previously by entirely different sources that between 70 and 80 per cent of the responsible officers of the Department are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy. He further pointed out in this article an intensive "mental health" campaign is under way within the Department to purge it of all employees of anticommunist tendencies. "American Opinion" is published by Robert Welch, Inc., Belmont 78, Massachusetts, and is edited by Robert Welch, who is the founder and leader of the JBS. A brochure concerning JBS received in March, 1961, reveals that Revilo P. Oliver is a Professor of Classical Languages and Literatures at the University of Illinois and he is a member of the council of JBS. It is noted, however, that "American Opinion" began operations before the JBS was formed. We have received information in the past concerning the above-mentioned statement that it was made in a speech by Oliver in March or April of 1959 and there was some implication that his source might have been Herbert Philbrick. Philbrick was contacted and denies making such a statement or even having any knowledge of the operations of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Further, he has only met Oliver on several occasions. The fact that Oliver made such a statement in March or April, 1959, speech is as far back as we have been able to trace it.

RECOMMENDATION

b6
b7C

That the attached letter be sent to [redacted] briefly pointing out that the FBI does not evaluate organizations and that the statement concerning the Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials was contained in the October, 1959, issue of "American Opinion."

Mr. [redacted] stated that his station is preparing a program regarding the John Birch Society and that it is tentatively scheduled for this coming Thursday night. He asked whether or not it would be possible for Mr. Hoover to prepare a brief tape regarding his views on the Society. Mr. [redacted] was advised that in view of Mr. Hoover's extremely heavy schedule and the short notice that it would not be possible for Mr. Hoover to help. He was further advised that, of course, the FBI does not furnish evaluations of groups and that it would not be possible to lend assistance in connection with their proposed show.

Mr. [redacted] had heard about the Director's introduction in the current issue of the Law Enforcement Bulletin warning of vigilante action. He was advised that this introduction was not aimed at any specific group but that it warned against hysteria and vigilante action and pointed out the necessity for fighting communism with rational knowledge and facts. He was told that this was a public statement and that he could quote from it if he so desired. He wanted to know if it was true that Mr. Hoover had neither endorsed nor condemned the John Birch Society and he was told this was a correct statement.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

You are, I know, a very busy man. And I would not even consider asking for enough of your time for you to read the enclosed letter, if the matter covered there were not so important -- important not just to me, but to the whole anti-Communist cause in our country.

If you are able and willing to spare the time to read the enclosed copy -- the original was mailed to one of our ablest patriots in Congress -- I believe you will agree that the use of your time for the purpose was worth while. And I can assure you that the favor will be appreciated by a lot of people besides me who are now giving their whole lives to supporting patriots like yourself, in an effort to save for our children and their children some semblance of the glorious country which we ourselves inherited.

Sincerely,

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
Belmont 78, Massachusetts

March 20, 1961

Honorable.....
House Office Building
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. .....?

This morning I have received from one of our members a copy of your memorandum concerning The John Birch Society, which he says you sent him with the comment that you had previously prepared it for your own information. And I want you to know that your generous and entirely fair comments about us are deeply appreciated.

And under ordinary circumstances I certainly should not write, nor expect you to read, anything more than our simple note of thanks in the sentence above.

But with the enemy now closing in, with ever more assurance and through every conceivable channel, on the informed anti-Communists of this country, these are anything but normal circumstances. Mr. Khrushchev himself has informed his followers that destruction of anti-Communist groups is one of the major objectives for 1961. It is long-standing and well recognized Communist strategy to use the "divide and conquer" tactic. And despite the fact that the anti-Communist forces in this country still have enough strength right now completely to destroy the Communist conspiracy, the Communists are clearly counting on paralyzing this opposition by divisiveness. And there never was a clearer applicability of Benjamin Franklin's admonition, that we had better all hang together or we will all hang separately, than in the situation which confronts the anti-Communists in the United States today. So I hope you will spare the time to let me, just briefly, bring you up to date as to why somebody has pushed the button to start the nation-wide pro-Communist propaganda machine turning out attacks on us -- many of these attacks, of course, by perfectly honest liberals who did not even realize that they were part of a Communist-inspired campaign.

Our members have been responsible for literally thousands of presentations of the film, OPERATION ABOLITION, put together by the House Committee On Un-American Activities, showing the Communist-planned and Communist-led riots in San Francisco -- because that film is likely to wake any patriotic American up to just what is already starting to happen in this country. Our own salaried Coordinators have many prints of this film in constant use, and just how many prints our different chapters or various individual members throughout the country have bought and are using, there is no way of our knowing. A great many conservatives have endorsed the film. But I would be willing to bet my life right now without hesitation that members of The John Birch Society throughout the country -- either [illegible] usually acting or appearing as members when showing this film to service clubs, Church groups, schools, and similar audiences -- have

HEREIN IS UNCL
DATE 4-7-86

been responsible for more showings of this film than all other groups and individuals in America put together. And we have had plenty of reports to indicate that the ACLU is aware of this, even if many of our anti-Communist friends are not.

Washington Video Productions, of course, actually made our own film, which we use in presentations by our field men, to small groups, of the background, methods, and purposes of The John Birch Society. We were delighted to learn that they were handling the commercial supply of OPERATION ABOLITION. And I would further bet that, while there would be no indication to them that the purchasers, on the orders coming in for the film, were members of The John Birch Society, quite a strong percentage of these purchasers have been our people. And I know that, because of the unusual dedication and willingness to work on the part of our members, the prints in their hands have been shown, and are still being shown, more frequently and more continuously than those owned by most other groups or individuals. And I believe that it was at least partly because of the enemy's inability to stop our people from making such extensive and repeated showings of this film that the enemy has now resorted to putting out various doctored versions of its own, with distorted or falsified sound tracks and various other changes designed to make the film discredit itself or serve the opposite purpose from that for which it was intended by the HUAC.

Our people have also been responsible for the production, and then during the past two months for literally thousands of showings, of a film strip called COMMUNISM ON THE MAP, which merely depicts factually the steady geographical advance of Communism since 1917, and especially during the past fifteen years. This film strip was conceived, prepared, and produced by an ardent member of The John Birch Society, partly from our materials. And it has been so effective that it was being shown very extensively at naval installations all over the country, by naval personnel until -- according to reports we have now received -- leftwing influences of some kind were able to get these showings by and for naval personnel stopped almost entirely. But of course such influences have not been able to stop our people from their own regular and extensive showings of the film strip elsewhere at all.

Also, the Liberals have not been able simply to laugh off, as they had obviously expected at first, our long-range campaign to get Chief Justice Earl Warren impeached. As has become increasingly clear in our monthly bulletins, we did not intend this drive as a flash-in-the-pan effort, and we were well aware of the magnitude of the task set for ourselves. Our intention is eventually, through tremendous and sufficient effort, to make enough of our fellow citizens aware of the issues involved and the values at stake to bring about the impeachment of Warren before the Court led by him can finish its destruction of our Constitutional Republic. The Communists and their sympathizers and dupes do not like -- and appear to be frightened over -- the battleground we have chosen for this long and steadily increasing attack.

It is because of these and similar activities on our part, as well as because our steady growth and the dedication of our members represent such a potential threat to the Communist Conspiracy, that this whole campaign has been unleashed against us. Its increasingly central theme is: "Of course we like what The John Birch Society is trying to do, but we can't stand their methods." They disguise and vary the wording somewhat, so as to keep the continuity of this theme from earlier programs being too obvious. But in very slight disguise it is now popping up everywhere. And I certainly do not have to tell you the significance of that method of attack.

For these and many other reasons we have become one of the prime targets of those who wish to carry out Mr. Khrushchev's instructions to destroy anti-Communist groups, and of those who are helping Mr. Khrushchev's agents without knowing what they are doing. Of course the smear campaign is a combination of truths, and half truths, and vicious falsehoods made out of whole cloth, with the combination varying with the "respectability" of the publication or the group making the attacks. Also, of course, many of these groups are making completely unethical use of a private confidential letter which I wrote years ago, of which not a copy has ever been sold or offered for sale, and which was never offered or intended for publication, or as anything but a private confidential letter. Every copy I have ever let a friend read was sent out by registered first-class mail, return receipt requested, with the package carefully marked as confidential and with a covering letter further stressing the fact that this was and had been simply a confidential expression of personal opinion and interpretation. By the time The John Birch Society was even founded I had stopped making copies of this "long letter," we were letting it fade out of the picture, and it has never been any part of the materials of The John Birch Society in any way. At least ninety-five percent of our members had never even heard of the "letter" until it began to be mentioned and quoted in the various attacks on us -- obviously through some breach of confidence somewhere along the line.

But this has merely been a handy weapon for the Communists, pro-Communists, and their dupes and sympathizers to use. Without it they would have found or manufactured plenty of others. And in fact, even now, quite a number of the most vicious recent attacks on us have been on entirely other bases. We are supposed to be fascists, or anti-Semitic, or something else equally dastardly, despite the fact that there is not one iota of evidence, in either our materials or our operations, to justify such charges. One of the most widely used smears against us has been based on nothing more than the fact that we have whole-heartedly and emphatically agreed with our founding fathers about both the horrors of a democracy and the equally strong advantages of a Constitutional Republic, as a form of government -- and have distributed tens of thousands of brief articles explaining the difference. (As well as literally millions of envelope stickers calling attention to the fact that there is a huge difference.) And since converting this Constitutional Republic into a mobocratic democracy, as a step towards a centralized tyranny, is one of the things the Communists and their dupes and sympathizers have been working on intensively and extensively for a long time, they are naturally going to keep our efforts and our opposition if they can.

The whole question, as to whether America survives against the destruction and enslavement planned for it by the Communists, depends on how well and how firmly the anti-Communists stand together, or how easily they allow themselves to be hacked to pieces separately. And although I am sure you know this, I could not refrain from reminding you of it in connection with the current attacks on us and other developments since your memorandum was written.

Starting absolutely from scratch only a little over two years ago, we now have about twenty-eight people here in the Home Office, about thirty Coordinators in the field who are fully paid as to salary and expenses, and about a hundred Volunteer Coordinators who are paid only a part or none of their salary and expenses. We have developed a formula, of organization and growth and operation, which is so productive of dedication and real work and effectiveness, that its possibilities are disturbing the Communists more than anything which has happened since they destroyed Joe McCarthy. If all of Joe McCarthy's friends had stood by him through thick and thin, there is no telling how many exposures of Communists, or in how high places, might have taken place by now, or how helpful it would have been in this struggle which engulfs us all. The Communists may be able to destroy us by the same tactics they used on McCarthy. But I doubt it, because we are never going to stop fighting at any turn. We intend to win this struggle -- or at least to help mightily towards doing so -- despite the fact that it is now "after eleven o'clock." To that end we certainly need all of the moral support we can get from such informed and patriotic Congressmen as yourself -- and partly for the support that our members can give you and all other patriots in turn.

So, being most appreciative of the memorandum about us which you have been sending to your constituents, we are simply asking that, as a part of your own patriotic sacrifice and effort, you continue to do whatever you can, whenever you can, to have the facts about us presented fairly, and the real background, methods, and purposes of The John Birch Society properly understood. And with all good wishes and kind regards, I am

Sincerely,

Robert Welch

These messages and extracts are selected from the thousands that now pour in on us every month. Though much too flattering, they do not feed our vanity, we can assure you. Instead, they increase our solemn consciousness of the staggering responsibility we have assumed. But they do make the unceasing hard work seem all the more worth while, and strengthen our determination to live up to that responsibility so far as it is humanly possible, with God's help, to do so. We reprint these comments here in the hope that our members, and many friends and prospective members, will share with us the inspiration received from such words of

Dear Mr. Hoover:

May I call your attention to the marked paragraph in the second column of another long article about The John Birch Society in the NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN. It appeared in their March 19 issue. NASHVILLE TENN.

In an earlier article the NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN had accused The John Birch Society of a telephone campaign in Nashville, in which members of the Society called up acquaintances and suggested that the next-door neighbors of those acquaintances might be Communists. This, of course, was pure fabrication. And one of our good members of considerable local standing in the area, Mr. Horton Early, took it upon himself, without even checking with us, to look into the basis of this smear. And he sent us a sworn deposition, of which a copy is enclosed, indicating its utter falsity.

Nevertheless TIME magazine, in its viciously distorted article about us, picked up bodily this report of the telephone campaign, from the NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN, and published it as truth. (Along with so distorted a report of our activities in Wichita that I have had to discourage libel suits on the part of our members.)

Now all of this was to be expected of the NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN and also of TIME magazine. But the statement attributed to "an FBI spokesman in Washington" is hard for me to believe; and of course I have no confidence whatsoever in the veracity of the publication quoting this "spokesman." So we thought the matter should at least be called to your attention, and we would certainly appreciate any denial or comment on your part which would be helpful.

Deposition of Horton F. Early, taken on the 11th day of March, 1961 in Nashville, Tennessee. APPROX. 1913

The deponent, after being duly sworn, deposes and states as follows:

That he is a citizen and resident of Nashville, Davidson County, Tennessee, 48 years of age, owner and operator of the Air Filter Sales and Service Company, and that he is Leader of Chapter No. 110 of the John Birch Society.

That under date of February 28, 1961 the Nashville Tennessean, a daily newspaper published and circulated in Nashville, Tennessee, published an editorial wherein the writer made many statements concerning the leadership, policies, and program of the John Birch Society, including the following statement: "Telephone calls warning one that his 'own next door neighbor might be a communist' is a despicable practice, made the more so when the next door neighbor is also called and given identical warning."

That in response to this editorial the deponent sought out the author of the editorial, Gene Graham, on Wednesday, March 8, 1961, nine days after the date of the editorial, for the purpose of questioning him concerning the content of the editorial, as well as the purpose thereof.

That during the course of the interview the said Gene Graham, in reply to a question from the deponent admitted that:

(1) He had not read the Blue Book of the John Birch Society. ON

(2) He admitted that the portion of the editorial having to do with an alleged calling campaign was prompted solely by one telephone call to the author of the editorial, wherin the caller stated that an individual of her acquaintance, in a personal conversation in discussing the John Birch Society generally had said "How do you know that even your own next door meighbor is not a communist?" He admitted further that his caller did not even identify the person that was reported to have said this as being a member of the John Birch Society.

(3) He could not offer any other fact to sustain the allegation made in the editorial that there was a calling campaign being conducted as had been inferred, and that his allegation was based entirely upon the heresay described in the one telephone call set out above.

Further the deponent sayeth not.

Horton F. Early, being first duly sworn, makes oath that he has read the foregoing instrument and that the statements contained therein are true to the best of his knowledge, information and belief.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Welch has written the Director two letters, one dated 3-22-61, the other 3-23-61. His first letter expressed the hope that the Director would have the time to read a copy of a letter which Welch had sent to a Congressman. Also enclosed with the letter was a brochure of The John Birch Society (JBS).

Welch's second letter enclosed a copy of an article by Pat Anderson which appeared in the 3-19-61, issue of the "Nashville Tennessean" concerning the JBS. This article contains three references to the FBI: (1) In connection with its educational program to combat communism, the JBS "distributes such books as J. Edgar Hoover's Masters of Deceit...."; (2) The Franklin, Tennessee, chapter of the JBS considered the Society an educational forum and "at one meeting a member reviewed Hoover's Masters of Deceit."; and (3) concerning criticism of the JBS, "An FBI spokesman in Washington said last week the FBI has been 'looking into' activities of the society. He said FBI would characterize the society as 'irresponsible but not subversive.' He said many professional anti-Communists are tied in with the society for the purpose of making money through speeches."

With regard to the statement attributed to "an FBI spokesman in Washington," Welch stated it was hard for him to believe and he had no confidence whatsoever in the veracity of the publication quoting this "spokesman." Welch said he would appreciate "any denial or comment" on the Director's part which would be helpful.

Welch also forwarded with his letter of 3-23-61 a copy of a sworn deposition of Horton F. Early, a Nashville businessman, who is the leader of Chapter 110 of the JBS. Early's deposition related to an article in the 2-28-61 issue of the Nashville Tennessean which accused the JBS of a telephone campaign in Nashville in which members of the Society reportedly telephoned people suggesting their neighbors might be communists. Early's deposition indicated this was utterly false.

You will recall that by airtel 3-22-61 (attached) SAC, Memphis, advised that on 3-21-61 Horton F. Early contacted our Memphis Office concerning the above-mentioned statement attributed to the FBI which appeared in the 3-19-61 issue of the Nashville Tennessean. Early said that in his opinion the quotation alleged to be from an FBI official was a misquote. He said he planned to send the article to the headquarters of the JBS in Massachusetts with the recommendation that they contact the FBI in Washington for clarification relative to the statement. Early said the statement was having the effect of driving many people out of the JBS and he hoped something could be done to obtain some clarification which could be published to end the confusion.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES

We have had limited cordial correspondence with the Nashville Tennessean in the past. Bufiles contain no information identifiable with Pat Anderson who wrote the article on the JBS and allegedly quoted the FBI "spokesman." Bufiles contain no derogatory information concerning Horton F. Early who wrote the Director in November, 1960. Early identified himself as a local Chapter leader of the JBS and requested a statement from the Director concerning the menace of communism which he desired to use in connection with his showing of the film "Operation Abolition" to a group of students. By letter 12-1-60, the Director advised Early that the pressure of official commitments precluded complying with his request. (62-104401-541)

Welch, of course, founded the JBS in 1958. It is allegedly an anticommunist organization; however, during the Eisenhower Administration Welch, in his writings, was highly critical of the President and called him a dupe of the communists. Welch has made other irresponsible statements and currently is behind a campaign to have Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court impeached. We have not investigated the JBS. On 5-3-60, Welch wrote the Director concerning a report from one of his representatives in Texas that the FBI had said the JBS was a group of righteous citizens who did not know the facts. Welch advised there was no one in the fight against communism who had supported the FBI and the Director more than he, and cited the favorable support he had given to Masters of Deceit. The Director wrote Welch on 5-10-60 and advised it appeared that his representative in Texas had been misinformed since the FBI had never made such a comment regarding the JBS. (62-104401)

OBSERVATIONS

The FBI has not publicly characterized the JBS but any reply to Welch might be used by him. He has extreme views, is very opinionated and both he and JBS are particularly controversial in much of the country at this time. No apparent advantage would accrue to the Bureau by a reply but the possibility of becoming embroiled in the current JBS controversy through such action does exist.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the letters from Robert Welch of JBS dated 3/22-23/61 not be acknowledged.

I agree 3/30 - 2 - OK.

MAILING LIST MATTERS

Reference is made to SAC Letter 61-14 (D) dated 3-21-61 concerning the John Birch Society wherein it is indicated that no Bureau publications of any kind are to be made available to JBS or to any of its representatives.

Your attention is directed to the attached letter from SAC, Charlotte concerning [redacted] who is a member of the John Birch Society and who is on the Bureau mailing list to receive publications. b6 b7C

The SAC Letter, of course, was prepared to prevent the distribution of quantities of publications to the John Birch Society for their utilization in meetings and in connection with their programs. It is not felt that we should discontinue publications to an individual on the mailing list who happens to be a member of this Society.

RECOMMENDATION:

In a situation as this where a person on the Bureau's mailing list is known to be a member of the John Birch Society, it is recommended that we not remove him because of such membership.

REC-74 EX-102

The San Antonio Light, a daily newspaper published in San Antonio, Texas, in its March 31, 1961, edition, contained an article which reflected that a local spokesman revealed on 3/31/61, there are "several" chapters of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY in San Antonio, along with a sizable number in the Alamo city who list their membership with the home chapter in Belmont, Mass.

The number of members, however, was not revealed. One member explained it is against the rules of the organization to reveal the number. There are no officers in the chapters with the exception of chapter leaders. The chapters meet in small groups of ten to twenty members for monthly discussions, the spokesman explained. The meetings are called by the chapter leaders.

C. O. "BUCK" MANN, Odessa, who identified himself as the coordinator for the Society in Texas, said information as to the number of chapters and members in San Antonio was not available and advised the home chapter be contacted.

The April 2, 1961, edition of the San Antonio Light, contained an article which reflected that San Antonio leaders of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY came to its defense on 4/1/61, and argued it is not a monolithic organization compelled to do what its leader, ROBERT WELCH, wealthy retired Massachusetts candy manufacturer, wants it to do. Speaking up were Major General W. G. WEAVER (Ret.), wartime commander of the 8th Infantry Division, who is listed as a member of a national indorsing committee of the society, and Dr. ROBERT TERRELL, leader of one of the several local chapters.

TERRELL said he does not know how many chapters there are in San Antonio, but that his chapter has 16 to 18 members.

This article in the San Antonio Light further reflected that TERRELL said, "I understand there are other chapters in town, though. Our chapter meets once a month. New members are urged to form their own chapters in order to keep groups small."

TERRELL was also quoted as saying, "I have not run into any fanatics in our chapter. Our primary purpose is to acquaint us with the techniques the Communists use and may try to use. I do not agree with all that Mr. WELCH believes, and we are not required to. I do not believe in the impeachment of Mr. WARREN. I wrote Mr. WELCH on this."

WEAVER described himself as an "indorser" of the Society. He emphasized the aim of the Society is to help the people understand what communism is, its objectives, and to what extremes the communists will go to carry out their objectives and achieve world domination. Like TERRELL, WEAVER said no one is required to accept WELCH's opinion on anything. WEAVER said he is not a member of any local chapter and did not know any such chapters existeduntil he read of them in The Light.

The 3/31/61, edition of the Waco News Tribune, a daily newspaper published in Waco, Texas, contained an article which reflected that leaders of Mexia's (Texas) chapter of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY say there is nothing secret or semi-secret about their organization. They say they think their national organization has become the subject of a lot of controversy in magazines and newspaper over the country becauseit is misunderstood and because it is beginning to hurt the communists.

V. A. MC CULLOUGH, Coordinator of the Mexia chapter, got in the spotlight when he fired a letter to Time magazine, raking Time over the coals for a recent article on the Society which MC CULLOUGH considered unfair. Time published the letter.

MC CULLOUGH and JOHNNY NEECE, Mexia, Texas, lumber man and contractor and former Rice University football player, said anybody is welcome to attend their monthly meetings, and that it was no secret as to who are members of the chapter. They said the organization's main purpose is opposing communism and promoting the principles of Americanism.

MC CULLOUGH operates a butane gas company in Mexia, is a member of the library board, and is an unopposed candidate for the Mexia City Commission in the election to be held on 4/4/61. MC CULLOUGH said of the local chapter that they definitely are not controlled or dictated to in any manner. He said that it is about as wide open as an organization can be and still be a cohesive organization.

MC CULLOUGH said the Mexia chapter was organized in October, 1960, and as far as he knows is the only one in the Waco area, although he said since writing his letter to Time, he has received a letter from a student at Baylor University, inquiring about the possibility of organizing a chapter in Waco.

SUBJECT: R. H. ANDERSON OPERATIONS DIRECTOR
KVOS, INC.
INQUIRY RE DIRECTOR'S
COMMENTS ABOUT THE
JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

BACKGROUND:

By letter dated 3-27-61 captioned individual wrote the Director that he was most anxious to verify a statement attributed to a spokesman for the FBI regarding the John Birch Society. He refers to an article in the 3-19-61 edition of "The Nashville Tennessean," written by Pat Anderson and entitled, "Birch Society Has 200 Members Here." The article contained the following:

> "An FBI spokesman in Washington said last week the FBI has been 'looking into' activities of the society. He said based on what it knows, the FBI would characterize the society as 'irresponsible but not subversive.' He said many professional anti-Communists are tied in with the society for the purpose of making money through speeches."

Anderson states that it is possible that the statement to which the "Tennessean" referred is also the basis for a reference made in a letter to him from Senator Milton Young. He quotes the Senator as stating "I just could not stand idly by and say nothing when, according to the FBI, the leader of this organization, Mr. Welch, charged in his book 'The Politician' that President Eisenhower and other top-level officials were guilty of being Communists..." Anderson wants to know if any statement concerning the John Birch Society has been issued by the FBI or one of its Agents and if the Director has any opinions concerning the group or its leader.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

seen. By letter dated 9-24-58 he was thanked for his suggestion but it was pointed out that all pertinent information available for distribution is furnished in connection with our fugitive circularization. The note on this letter reveals that Anderson may be identical with a Ronald H. Anderson of Seattle, Washington, who in 1950 wrote the Bureau two letters requesting the answer to several questions of an embarrassing nature concerning the extent of the assistance furnished by the FBI to the Washington State Committee on Un-American Activities, the names of the Agents who assisted this Committee and their duties. Further, why the Director did not answer Bernard DeVoto's challenge instead of attacking "Harper's Magazine." In substance, he was advised that data in FBI files is strictly confidential, no material from confidential files was furnished to the Committee, that the Bureau did not make available its personnel to the Committee in connection with its activities. In addition, he was referred to the published copy of the Director's letter dated 10-7-49 to the Editor-in-Chief of "Harper's Magazine," wherein the Director pointed out that he did not care to dignify DeVoto's half truths with a denial or explanation.

INFORMATION RE ANDERSON'S INQUIRY:

No FBI officials in Washington, D. C., of course, have publicly characterized the John Birch Society, and we have so informed persons in the Nashville, Tennessee, area, some of whom are members of the John Birch Society, who have written to the Director with regard to the article in the "Nashville Tennessean" to which Anderson refers.

With regard to the comments concerning Senator Milton Young's letter to Anderson, it is not known who was Senator Young's source; however, on 3-9-61 Senator Young contacted your office concerning criticism he was receiving from members of the Society as a result of speeches made by Senator Mansfield and himself blasting the John Birch Society on the Senate floor the previous day. He said that he had several communications indicating that the Director had endorsed the John Birch group. He was told by your office that this was a patent falsehood. Senator Young also stated that members of this organization had informed him of the assertion that up to 80 per cent of the top people in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare were communists or communist supporters and that Director was the source of information for this assertion. He was also advised that this was a ridiculous claim and that it had already been brought to the Director's attention. He requested a short note from the Director concerning this. A letter to Senator Young was sent from the Director on 3-10-61 reiterating in general what had been said over the phone. There was no comment concerning the charges made by Welch, the founder of the Society, in his book, "The Politician." Senator Young's call was called to the attention of the Attorney General by memo dated 3-10-61 and by letter dated 3-1-61 Honorable Abraham Ribicoff of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare was advised that a statement regarding his Department had been erroneously attributed to the Director.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached letter be sent to Anderson.

SECURITY MATTER - MISCELLANEOUS

On 3/21/61 Mr. HORTON EARLY, 1529 Demonbreun Street, Nashville, Tennessee, contacted SA FRANCIS W. NORWOOD, telephonically, at which time he identified himself as the coordinator for the John Birch Societies in Davidson County, Tennessee. He referred to an article appearing in the "Nashville Tennessean," Nashville, Tennessee, on 3/19/61 concerning the John Birch Society. He noted that there was a statement therein reportedly made by a spokesman of the FBI in Washington, D. C., characterizing the John Birch Society. He also noted that he, Mr. EARLY, had been quoted to some extent in the article. Mr. EARLY stated that he had been misquoted in the article and that it was his opinion that the quotation alleged to be from an FBI official was a misquote. He stated that based upon a letter written by Mr. HOOVER, in answer to an inquiry concerning an organization, he had been of the opinion that the FBI took the position of making no statements characterizing any group or organization.

Mr. EARLY asked if SA NORWOOD had seen the article and if any comment could be made concerning the statement therein. He was advised SA NORWOOD had seen the article and would make no comment. He stated that he planned to send the article to the headquarters of the John Birch Society in Massachusetts with the recommendation that they contact the FBI in Washington relative to the statement appearing in the article and seek to get some clarification on it. He stated that if this was the FBI position on the group he did not want to be associated with it. He stated that the John Birch Society desired to cooperate with the FBI and that the members in Davidson County have the highest regard for the FBI. He stated that he felt sure that this was a misquote in the paper but that it was having the effect of driving many people out of the John Birch Societies and he hoped that something could be done to obtain some clarification which could be published which would end the confusion.

The above is submitted for information.

GREAT BEND, KANSAS

We have received a letter dated April 4 from [redacted] which indicates he has the impression that the Director has made a statement with specific reference to the John Birch Society. His letter is a disjointed tirade in vulgar language in which he asks, is the Director a Communist Party sympathizer or would he rather be classified as a fellow traveler. He attacks the Congress and accuses Attorney General Kennedy of attacking the John Birch Society because some communists were good contributors to the Democratic Party and they are now expecting some political protection. He concludes saying "you have been a political hand shaker, for a long time and if you don't like what I have to say, you can either put up or shut up, Mr. Hoover."

OBSERVATION:

This man is obviously one of the more irate John Birch members.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of its irrational and intemperate character, no purpose will be served by acknowledging receipt of this letter.

INFORMATION CONCERNING
(INTERNAL SECURITY)

"The Sunday Star" of 4/9/61, page A6, contained an article entitled "Welch Denies He Said Eisenhower Is Signed-Up Red." Regarding this article the Director noted "Let me have the quotes of Welch on Eisenhower."

A review of "The Politician," a manuscript written by Welch, completed in December, 1954, and revised in August, 1956, which is a vicious attack on the military and political life and beliefs of former President Eisenhower, fails to disclose that Welch did, in fact, state that Eisenhower was "a card-carrying" communist. However, the manuscript is replete with insinuations and innuendoes that Eisenhower was procommunist and followed the orders of "his communist bosses." Welch has not published the manuscript but has had a limited number of copies printed which he has distributed or "loaned" to friends or individuals who he believed would be interested in its contents.

Some of the more flagrant statements of Welch in this regard are as follows:

In discussing the awakening of the American people to the communist menace Welch states:

> "The sad truth is that this tyranny was actually saved, in this period of great vulnerability, by just one thing; by the inauguration, on January 20, 1953, of Dwight David Eisenhower as President of the United States. . . . The rationale of his election, and the temper of the American people, made it imperative for a while that he > talk a good brand of anti-Communism. But the Communist influences which completely controlled him kept the reins of that control tight and effective."

In discussing Eisenhower as a candidate in 1951 Welch asks the reader to imagine that he is a member of the secret top strategy board of the Communist Party in the United States. He asks that the reader in this imaginary position not be thrown off the track by Eisenhower's announcement that he is a Republican. Welch continues:

> "For this man is completely a 'sleeper' in the Communist cause, a crypto-Communist whom you have built up, from the outside, as a great patriot."

In the manuscript Welch issues the following warning to any and all anticommunists:

> ". . . not to get too close to Eisenhower with the truth about his Communist backing and pro-Communist activities. For the truth is the one weapon he and his fellow top Communists could not withstand."

In discussing the communist attempt to dilute American sovereignty and break down the Americans' belief in independence Welch states:

> "On October 26, 1957, President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan of England issued a joint statement in which they said: 'The concept of national sovereignty is now out of date.' We do not know just what the British law covering such a situation may be. We do know that for a president of the United States such a statement, and even more his countless efforts to support it by his actions, constitute a deliberate violation of his solemn oath of office, justifying his immediate impeachment; and that the lack of any move for such impeachment itself shows the almost unbelievable extent to which he and his Communist bosses have been able to make the American people lose their conscience, their courage, and their sense."

Memo to Mr. Belmont
Re: Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.
62-104401

In discussing Milton Eisenhower as Presidential adviser Welch states:

> "In my opinion the chances are very strong that Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist Party.". . . . "While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for thirty years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct. But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to me to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

Welch discusses the communist use of the late former President Roosevelt and former President Truman and regarding Eisenhower states:

> "In the first stage, Roosevelt thought he was using the Communists, to promote his personal ambitions and grandiose schemes. Of course, instead, the Communists were using him; but without his knowledge or understanding of his place in their game. In the second stage, Truman was used by the Communists, with his knowledge and acquiescence, as the price he consciously paid for their making him president. In the third stage, in my own firm opinion, the Communists have one of their own actually in the presidency. For this third man, Eisenhower, there is only one possible word to describe his purposes and his actions. That word is treason."

CONCLUSION:

While it is true that Welch in this manuscript does not call Eisenhower a card-carrying communist, he does attempt to show that Eisenhower is a communist.

ACTION:

None. Submitted for your information.

Pages 4657-4661. Senator Young, (R) North Dakota, spoke concerning the John Birch Society pointing out that he had received many communications requesting information and some suggesting investigations of this Society. He advised that many newspapers have been conducting their own investigations. Mr. Young included some of the newspaper articles and editorials. The following was included in an article from the Minot (North Dakota) Daily News of March 25, 1961: "FBI director J. Edgar Hoover has informed U. S. Senator Milton R. Young that he does not endorse the John Birch Society, a right-wing political action group, the North Dakota Senator disclosed today." Some of the other articles make reference to Mr. Hoover's book "Masters of Deceit." An article from the Washington Evening Star written by Ralph McGill contained the following: "There are a great many persons and a number of organizations in this country who keep up such a clamor and outcry against what they, in anger, fear or prejudice, call communism, that they dim the light and fervor of Americanism. No less an expert than J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has warned against those who make reckless, unsustained charges without justification. They make his job more difficult."

Pages 5875-5877. Senator Proxmire, (D) Wisconsin, spoke concerning an article which appeared in the New York Times reporting that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commanding general of the 24th Infantry Division, has instituted an anti-Communist indoctrination program among his troops. The article points out that General Walker distributed copies of "The Way of Life of John Birch," a book by Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society.

The article also states "Copies of the society's magazine, American Opinion, were put on sale on Army newsstands in the Augsburg area, where the division is stationed." The article makes reference to an address by General Walker in which "He was said to have described as 'definitely pink' former President Harry S. Truman, Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Edward R. Murrow, Director of the U. S. Information Agency, [redacted] the newspaper columnist, and [redacted] for the Columbia Broadcasting System were said to be confirmed Communists." Mr. Proxmire stated "General Walker should be investigated and if this story is true, he, of course, should be relieved of his command at once, and I mean promptly. - - - Mr. President, what all this leads up to is that a pitifully misguided general is discrediting the very hands on which his own troops may be called upon to defend freedom. - - - The answer is to insist that American troops learn why they are on the frontline to defend freedom. The honest story is an inspiring and great story of practical good sense and of human idealism. It is time our troops overseas began to learn why we are opposing communism and learn it massively from responsible, intelligent instructors."

Senator Wayne Morse, ardently pro-Bohlen, referred at first to '2 or 3,' then to '6 or 7,' and finally admitted 15 such derogatory reports." An article from the Christian Science Monitor entitled "State of the Nations; Far-Right Goals" contained the following: "But a question is posed right here, as radical right-wing organizations such as the John Birch Society receive an unusual and perhaps unwarranted amount of publicity. This is whether the programs and prescriptions of the far right, which are billed as combating communism, really do this very effectively and safely. - - - There is much unfinished business in this country. There are convenient devices for handling it. The FBI keeps tabs on Communist subversion, and J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the FBI, has just warned against "vigilant action."

The California State Senate Committee on Un-American activities has announced that it has started an inquiry into the John Birch Society. Personally my view is that as not one of the members of this society, nor its leader, Welch, has committed any overt act of force and violence against constituted authority in this country, I feel there is no occasion for any congressional or legislative investigation of this secret society. Welch has the same right all Americans cherish--to enjoy the freedom of speech."

He further stated "Misguided citizens who become members of the John Birch Society, even briefly, are making the battle against communism more difficult for governmental agencies such as the FBI. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, has denounced extremism of the sort practiced by the John Birch Society."

Does the NCC Speak for Protestantism on Social and Political Issues?

Time and again the NCC has posed itself as the voice of Protestantism. This was not or is not a power they were given, have earned, or even have. But, they make the voice known—supposedly as the representation of 38,000,000 Protestants.

Too often, the NCC or its committees pass resolutions or make stands that are too far to the "left" for most Americans to accept. Among these are:

1. Recognition of Communist China by the U.S.
2. Admission of Communist China to U.N.
3. Progress toward universal disarmament by multilateral agreement (i.e. U.N.)
   (Note: This makes our armed forces subject to the Russian veto.)
4. Abolishment of military conscription and allow Selective Service to lapse.
5. They lobbied against and defeated the Bricker Amendment which would make it unlawful to make treaties that were in violation of the U. S. Constitution.
6. They advocated repeal of the McCarran Act that prevents known Communists and other undesirables from immigrating to the U.S.
7. They took a stand against "Right to Work" laws saying they were unChristian.
8. They would do away with the House Un-American Activities Committee.
9. They favor repealing the Connally Reservation which permits the United States to determine for itself what are domestic issues for the United States rather than leaving this jurisdiction to the World Court. This could lead to our losing the control of the Panama Canal, change in our tariff policies, etc.
10. They favor Federal Aid to Education which would deprive us even more of our freedom.
11. They favor the Forand Bill which would bring socialized medicine.
12. They are strong on the liberal viewpoints on integration.
13. They demand more and more foreign aid to other countries.

The National Council of Churches goes all out for the "One World", "One Court", "One Church" idea. In economics they take the extreme liberal and socialistic viewpoint toward sharing the wealth, socialized medicine, government control. They publish booklets and pamphlets for study by church groups giving their viewpoints on these subjects, thereby leading the readers to believe that this is God's will.

Ref.: WHY ONE CHURCH'S CONSCIENCE SPOKE OUT AGAINST THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN THE U.S.A.

For the N.C.C. to deny that Communism has infiltrated into some churches is pure stupidity. This is a matter of fact and numerous ministers have admitted their communistic affiliations. The Communist have announced this as one of their goals.

Ref.: Masters of Deceit Chapter 23
J. Edgar Hoover

HERBERT PHILBRICK, author of "I Led Three Lives," and for nine years an undercover agent for the F.B.I. said, "We are losing the fight for freedom—there are more names of ministers than any other profession on the list of communist supporters in this country."

The National Council of Churches does not advocate any theology except the recognition of Jesus Christ as Divine Lord and Savior. It does not ask for personal acceptance of Jesus Christ, but lets each church determine upon what foundation a person becomes a Christian. But, many of the leaders and theologians most prominent in the NCC are liberal in their theology. Here are some of the beliefs of this hierarchy.

1. The Bible is a mythology.
2. Jesus was sinful.
3. Jesus was not God.
4. They do not believe in substitutionary atonement.
5. They do not believe in Hell.
6. They do not believe in the Virgin Birth.
7. They do not believe in the Second Coming of Christ.

Sources for Study Material

Many churches have asked for sources of information to conduct studies of their own on the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S. Listed below are some of the more prominent ones. There are many others. It is a common practice of the NCC to attack the individual or the organization issuing such reports and to label them Apostles of Discord. However, in practically every instance, you will find that the facts presented have been verified and have not been challenged for authenticity.

Actions taken by The N. C. C. at General Assembly Meeting in San Francisco, December - 1960

1. Adopted a $15,704,400 (m) budget for 1961, including $2,365,000 for shipping surplus food and other aid to needy areas overseas.

2. Praised the clergymen and citizens of New Orleans who have upheld the "worth of every individual, without regard to race or color" in the face of "rising hysteria and mob violence" against school integration.

3. Advocated "responsible and democratic labor organization" among the nation's million migratory farm workers to raise their wages and sub-standard living conditions.

4. Heard a comprehensive report from foreign missionaries, charging American apathy to oppression in other lands contributed to communist inroads in Cuba and elsewhere. They urged support for reform struggles in backward areas.

5. Asked God's blessing on president-elect John F. Kennedy and vice president-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, praying that they be guided by God's will to lead the country in "paths of peace and justice for all mankind."

6. Condemned state and local laws barring aid to dependent children because of illegitimate birth.

7. Urged strengthening of the United Nations as "power for peace among nations," and said Americans should be ready to accept the fact it may sometime—through its democratic processes—override the will of the United States.

8. Call for "pioneering programs" by this country to heed God's command and share our wealth of technical knowledge and farm surpluses to "feed the hungry and clothe the naked."

9. Appealed for an end to discrimination in employment against Negroes, Puerto Ricans and other Spanish-speaking people, Indians, Jews, and Americans of oriental descent.

10. Recommended a continuing "dialogue with Roman Catholics" on religious liberty and other church matters.

11. Re-elected Dr. Roy G. Ross, as council's general secretary, and the Rev. Dr. Edwin Espy, as associate general secretary.

12. Urged aid to Cuban refugees in Florida.

13. Weighed a report on the "state of the churches" terming the present period "the most cataclysmic in a recorded history," and declaring the churches "dare not proceed on a business-as-usual' basis."

14. Elected Miller, a scholarly 51-year-old multimillionaire who teaches Sunday school in his hometown of Columbus, Ind., as the first layman to lead the council in its 10-year history.

Dear [redacted]

Your recent letter is so fraug with erroneous interpretations as to my motives and outlook with respect to the John Birch Society that I hardly know where to begin.

I think I can sum up by saying that I have agreed with the announced purpose of opposing communism of this Society and my record will so reflect. I do not have to accept or approve of the tactics used by Mr. Welch and his followers. I have stated that certainly these people have the right to express their opinions, but I claim my right to disagree with them.

I think that Mr. Welch's criticisms go far beyond the point of decency and constitute smear campaigns upon many good Americans. The enclosed materials in that regard are excellent examples.

I have a record of supporting the House Un-American Activities Committee and you will note the comments of the Chairman of that Committee relating to the John Birch Society as contained in these materials. The same is true for MY Director, J. Edgar Hoover.

[redacted] I believe that I have as authentic a source of information on the Birch Society and on Mr. Welch as one can possibly have. I have before me a copy of "The Politician", personally autographed by Mr. Welch and I also have correspondence in which he acknowledges authorship. There is even a forward in the book written by Mr. Welch in which he refers to it as "a manuscript or book". It is bound as a book, printed by offset press, as chapter numbers, chapter titles and each of the 287 pages contains the words "The Politician" at the bottom.

Sincerely,

J. T. Rutherford

Reference my memo to you under above caption dated 3-31-61. You will recall [redacted] wrote the Director expressing concern for the lack of knowledge of communism on the part of "one of your FBI men." We dispatched a teletype to the Indianapolis Office on 3-31-61 advising that [redacted] be interviewed, the identity of the FBI employee ascertained and that she be informed that all Agents are fully informed on subversive matters, but as a matter of policy do not discuss such issues unofficially.

Today, 4-4-61, we received a reply by teletype from Indianapolis advising that [redacted] was interviewed and identified the FBI employee she referred to in her letter as Special Agent Robert E. Masters of the Philadelphia Office. She and her husband had visited in the Masters' home while in the Philadelphia area, and she being active in the John Birch Society and interested in combating communism failed to realize the position of Special Agent Masters in that he was reluctant to discuss communism with her socially. She expressed deep appreciation for the contact and the explanation as to the Bureau's position in such matters, and she was most apologetic for raising the incident in the first place. She desired that Special Agent Masters not be made aware of her letter which was hurriedly written and which she now recognized as not being accurate.

There does not appear to be any breach of discretion on the part of Special Agent Masters. This appears to be another incident in which a citizen has been overly excited by anticommunism groups, and now that she understands the Agent's position and why he cannot discuss the matter with her, she is perfectly satisfied.

It is believed that this information should be made available to the Philadelphia Office for the information and guidance of SA Masters in the event of future contacts with [redacted] concerning Dr. SAMUEL GOULD, Chancellor, University of California at Santa Barbara, arriving at the conclusion that GOULD was either a communist or at least sympathetic toward communist aims in this country.

Source said that T. M. STORKE told him that GOULD does not want [redacted] in its entirety to anyone. Source pointed out that GOULD has loudly decried the "wave of conservatism" sweeping college campuses recently; that he had condemned as un-American the conservative Freedom Club on his campus but has said nothing against the Santa Barbara Students for Civil Liberties. He pointed out that it is rumored the latter group is liaisoned with a similar group at Berkeley which was involved in the San Francisco riots during the meeting of the House Un-American Activities Committee last year.

In line with the comments concerning Dr. GOULD, it is noted that on 4/13/61 RICHARD BUFFUM, Editor, "Goleta Gazette," Goleta, California, printed the following:

DAVID ARNOLD, student at the University of California, Santa Barbara, ostensibly disclosed to the "El Gaucho," campus newspaper, that he had infiltrated the 15-member Freedom Club. Mr. BUFFUM reported further, however, that "... A previous reported top-level conference between Chancellor SAMUEL GOULD, News-Press Publisher T. M. STORKE, PAUL VEBLEN, News-Press executive editor, had resulted in the decision to place the story in El Gaucho, so that it would appear that it had been uncovered by the student journalists. The dramatic impact of this brilliant chicanery--I still smart with professional jealousy--is obvious. What an ingenious way to launch a nationwide story!"

On the afternoon of 4/21/61, [redacted] who had stated earlier in the day that both he and [redacted] were piqued over the disclosure by T. M. STORKE as to their involvement in this matter, advised as follows:

Honorable Torbert H. Macdonald
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Congressman:

On behalf of the Attorney General I acknowledge your letter of April 3, 1961 relating to the John Birch Society and wish to thank you for your thoughtful expression of views on this subject.

At his press conference on April 6, 1961 the Attorney General, in answer to an inquiry whether he felt there was any necessity for an investigation of the John Birch Society, stated that he had not found, as of that date, that the Society had violated any Federal laws. A copy of the complete text of the Attorney General's remarks is enclosed for your information.

As you will appreciate, this Department is limited in the definition and scope of its functions. Hence, we are not authorized by law or executive order to investigate, through the Federal Bureau of Investigation, either individuals or organizations except where there is reason to believe from the available information that a violation of Federal law has, in fact, occurred or that their activities come within the purview of executive orders, administrative regulations and other laws enforced by this Department. In the absence of such information, we believe it would be inappropriate for us to request the FBI to undertake an investigation in this matter.

If I can be of assistance to you in any other matter, please do not hesitate to communicate with me.

Sincerely,

J. WALTER YEAGLEY

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
WASHINGTON, D. C.

April 3, 1961

The Honorable Robert F. Kennedy
Attorney General
Department of Justice
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Attorney General:

Recently the press had indicated that the John Birch Society has been active in demanding the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren and has impugned the loyalty of other patriotic Americans.

There is much confusion surrounding the exact nature of this organization and in view of the conflicting statements and seriousness of the charges leveled, it appears that there are legal grounds for an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

On one hand, we hear that derogatory remarks have been made about the President and former Presidents and on the other hand, respectable people who know about the society, support it and deny the allegations.

Since there is a possibility that this matter does not come within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Un-American Activities, I would like to urge that the Federal Bureau of Investigation make an investigation of the John Birch Society. I feel it will be good for all concerned to have the matter cleared up.

With kind regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

On 4/10/61 District Attorney Vern Thomas was called to the office of T. M. Storke, Publisher, "Santa Barbara News-Press," and introduced to a [redacted] of CBS Radio who had flown out from New York. [redacted] desired a one-hour taped interview with the District Attorney [redacted] the JBS, apparently to show some connection between the Freedom Clubs and JBS. [redacted] advised that CBS is planning a one-hour show on 4/20/61 concerning this matter and JBS. b6 b7C b7D

Another source advised on 4/10/61 that CBS representatives were interviewing [redacted] along similar lines and that the "Santa Barbara News-Press" did a front-page story on [redacted] of the Freedom Club in a commendatory tone.

The [redacted] advised that [redacted] admissions regarding his position with the JBS may possibly be published in "Life Magazine."

The [redacted] advised that his information was furnished the FBI upon instructions of [redacted] but requested the facts concerning the [redacted] be treated in confidence. b7D

INFORMATION IN BUFILES

There is no information in Bufiles identifiable with Paul Veblen, [redacted] Vern Thomas and SBCLC and there is no derogatory information in Bufiles concerning the YAF. The YAF was organized at a conference held in Connecticut in September, 1960, which was attended by a group of young men and women from 44 colleges and universities throughout the country. The purpose of the YAF is to stimulate and mobilize the conservative spirit among America's youth toward constructive action in the political and social arena.

Bufiles indicate T. M. Storke was a former U. S. Senator, by appointment, from California from 1938 to 1939. Bufiles contain no identifiable derogatory information concerning Storke. b6 b7C

Bufile 140-20736 contains information possibly identical with [redacted] In 1959 a Security of Government Employees investigation was conducted on [redacted] for a Veterans Administration Hospital, Oakland, California, based on allegations that [redacted] the letterhead of "Medical

REC-88

On April 18, 1961 LEE J. ADAMSON, local leader of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, Bellingham, furnished two mimeographed publications of AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC. He advised that this group was "sort of a front group" for the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY and the two publications were disseminated in the following manner: (1) MORO JEWELL has been giving speeches to various civic groups and afterwards hands out the publications to interested individuals. (2) "One of our people" has a mailing list he is distributing this information to.

The first publication is in the form of an invitation to request additional information from AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC. The second is a tear sheet which may be used to order a number of Government Printing Office publications directly from Government Printing Office.

ADAMSON said the list of Government Printing Office publications was "lifted" from the MINDZENTY STUDY GROUP.

The publications are being submitted as enclosures to this letter.

AMERICAN - SURVIVAL - INC.

A non-profit, non-secterian, non-political organization, with no dues, no memberships, and nothing to sell.

Composed of a constantly increasing number of individuals who are aroused to the threat of the growing loss of freedom in the United States of America; the Western Hemisphere and the world, and who are determined to do something about it; who are affiliated with organizations, and subscribers to publications, which have taken a stand in opposition to the Communist Global Conquest; and who have pooled their collective knowledge through AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC.

The United States is involved in a world crisis. We did not create this crisis. The Communists began it in 1917, when they overthrew the liberal representative government in Russia to establish their dictatorship. It was their intention then, and it has been their goal ever since, to use the revolutionary weapon for world conquest. This is the crux of today's struggle for survival. No one can predict how long the conflict will continue. We do know, however, that it has become a total war between two fundamentally opposed social systems.

The time-tested Communist tactics -- propaganda, agitation, front group activity and diplomatic maneuvers are being implemented by extensive economic aid, technical assistance and "cultural exchanges." All of these are carefully planned and coordinated on a world-wide scale to promote the Communist Global Conquest.

WHAT CAN I DO?

What can you do to help reverse this trend and save our country from a Communist "take-over?" YOU CAN DO PLENTY! You have influence, whoever you are, within your own family, your circle of acquaintances and in your community. Don't be backward. Acquire an understanding of Communism, and then speak up. BE QUIETLY ACTIVE!

The first step in battling Communism is KNOW YOUR ENEMY.

AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC. is prepared to help you to KNOW YOUR ENEMY.

A knowledge of what Communism really is and how it operates will also help us to avoid the danger of confusing Communism with legitimate dissent on controversial issues. Communism feeds on social ferment, so, for this reason, the "party line" will frequently coincide with the views of many non-Communists on specific issues. We must also guard against the tendency to characterize as Communists those who merely disagree with us, or who advocate unorthodox or unpopular beliefs. When anyone is erroneously branded a Communist, it not only constitutes an injustice to the individual, but also helps Communism by scattering the strength of anti-Communist forces.

In combatting Communism, we must beware of vigilante action. Our responsibilities as citizens are to be certain of our facts, and then report them to the proper authorities.

Every exposure of Communism's false promises, inherent contradictions and deceitful tactics helps to shatter its idealogical appeal and to fortify against psychological pressures. But, in this struggle for the minds of men, exposure alone is not enough. Exposure must be complemented by a long-range educational program with a dual purpose. This program must encompass, not only a penetrating study of Communism, but also a thorough grounding in the basic principles of our individual freedom under law. It must be designed to train people to think independently, and to distinguish between truth and error.

AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC., offers an educational program of ten classes, using subject material prepared, printed and sold by the

This is in reply to your request for additional information as to what YOU CAN DO about the steady advance of the COMMUNIST GLOBAL CONQUEST.

The educational program recommended by AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC., is based on J. Edgar Hoover's statement that such a program "must be designed to train people to think, and to distinguish between TRUTH and ERROR."

The ten publications listed on the attached order blank are carefully selected to give you a basic understanding of the problem of the COMMUNIST GLOBAL CONQUEST.

This material may be used as a self-improvement project; however, as it is recognized that personal instruction expedites and improves the learning process, AMERICAN SURVIVAL, INC., is prepared to provide qualified advisors for any group of ten or more who are interested in doing something about the SURVIVAL OF AMERICA and the FREE WORLD. You are invited to write for additional information on this phase of our work.

We hope that the foregoing will assist you to become a dedicated member of the fast growing force of patriotic Americans with the purpose of developing an AMERICAN INITIATIVE TO WIN THE WAR AGAINST COMMUNISM.

On April 18, 1961, [redacted] Bellingham, Washington, exhibited two letters his wife had received from the Director in reply to her request for Bureau publications. Both were addressed to [redacted] The first, dated March 23, 1961, had as enclosures publications of the Bureau. The second, dated April 10, 1961, pointed out that demand for Bureau publications was so heavy that her more recent request could not be fulfilled. [redacted] explained that on the second occasion his wife had asked for 500 copies of certain publications.

The indices of the Seattle Office reflect that [redacted] Bellingham, wrote a letter to the Editor of the Seattle "Post-Intelligencer," a daily newspaper. This letter, which is set out below, appeared on page 18, column 2, of the April 22, 1960 issue of the newspaper.

"Liberals of both parties are making impassioned statements condemning the section 'Communism in Religion,' printed in the Air Force Manual.

"Congressman FRANCIS E. WALTER, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, criticized the Air Force for withdrawing the manual without trying to find out about the accuracy of the charges.

Welch, of course, is head of the John Birch Society which was organized in 1958 in Indianapolis. It has not been investigated by the Bureau and is allegedly an anticommunist organization. He has made charges that former President Eisenhower was a communist and has recently received considerable publicity throughout the United States.

OBSERVATIONS:

Inasmuch as we are not investigating the John Birch Society it is not believed that we should directly interview [redacted] at this time. It is believed, however, that we should verify from Army that the tape recording of the alleged interview with her is in existence and attempt to obtain a copy of it for examination.

It is alleged Welch hired her because he thought she was a Nazi and, therefore, took her into his confidence. [redacted] left Welch's employment because she despised his alleged "Nazi-type" activities. She allegedly has furnished an "incredible history, purposes and activities of the Welch organization" to an agent from Army Intelligence who made a tape recording of the interview. The date of this interview is not specified. [redacted] stated that this tape is probably available from Army for the asking. She allegedly has now been approached to give her information concerning Welch and his associations with Senator Goldwater to a free-lance writer and to a representative of the "Christian Science Monitor." [redacted] suggested to her that maximum benefit to this Nation from this information could best be obtained by disclosure to a representative of the President. She has agreed to do this and has steadfastly refused to give her information to others. [redacted] stated he is prepared to arrange a meeting with her.

TO : The Director

DATE: MAY 2, 1961

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages A2898-A2900. Congressman Utt, (R) California, extended his remarks to include an editorial entitled "Is the John Birch Society a Menace?" written by Mr. William K. Shearer, publisher of the Oceanside-Carlsbad (California) Banner. Mr. Utt advised that he believed this editorial is the best expose of the massive propaganda campaign launched against the John Birch Society and its patriotic goals and objectives. The editorial states "For some time, the Communists and their dupes concentrated on attacking J. Edgar Hoover, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and the other governmental agencies exposing communism. Such attacks by the leftists went over with the American public like a lead balloon. - - - The American people, so reasoned their enemies, must be divided for and against another group, a group not well known among the people, a group against whom unfounded suspicions could be stirred. - - - The Communists chose to divide Americans on the John Birch Society, a recently formed group dedicated to battling communism, and a group which, because it was little known, could be easily misrepresented to the public."

The 4/19/61 issue of "The Evening Star," Section G, page 6, "Final Edition," a Washington, D. C., daily newspaper, contained an article "Lutheran Leader Sees Harm in Birch Group." This article states that Dr. Malvin H. Lundeen of Minneapolis, Minnesota, President of the 600,000 member Augustana Lutheran Church, declared that the pressures from such groups as the John Birch Society are as dangerous as those pressures from extreme leftist groups. The article quotes Lundeen as stating "communism is dangerous and we need to be aware of it. But there is a totalitarianism of the extreme right position which is also extremely dangerous. It is dangerous because it comes to us in the guise of patriotism.

The "Red Streak" edition of the 4/12/61 issue of the "Chicago Daily News," page 45, column 1, contained an article captioned "Church Press Role Hailed In Exposing Birch Society." This article states that the Nation's church press was praised for denouncing the activities of such organizations as the John Birch Society (JBS) and quoted the Reverend Alfred P. Klausler, editor of the "League Messenger," a Chicago, Illinois, publication of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod, stating that the best and most probing analyses of the JBS are appearing in church magazines. The article also states that the activities of the JBS were dwelt upon by Reverend Howard Schomer, President of Chicago Theological Seminary, in his keynote address before the convention of the Associated Church Press which was held in Chicago during early April, 1961.

The article further discloses that the Very Reverend William S. Vol. VI, No. 3, April 1961

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The controversial John Birch Society has emerged as the newest spearhead of ultra-conservatism in the United States, rallying extreme right-wing groups to renew efforts to unite in a political movement and provoking widespread denunciations of its extremist tactics and charges.

Birch leaders were prominently featured as speakers at a three-day Conservative Convention held in Chicago in mid-April. Principal speaker was Representative Edgar W. Hiestand (R.-Cal.), ardent JBS supporter and member, the first to defend the group in Congress. Other participants included Kent Courtney, New Orleans publisher of the Independent American, a monthly political newspaper, and J. Bracken Lee, Mayor of Salt Lake City and former Governor of Utah, prominently mentioned as a likely candidate to head a new third-party Presidential ticket in 1964. The appearance of Birch Society members at the convention was hailed as "highly significant" by Courtney's right-wing publication, which has long urged establishment of a third party. However, expectations were dashed by Hiestand himself, who called third-party proposals "political suicide." "I'm enough of a businessman to know that a third party couldn't win a national election," he declared.

RECOMMENDATION:

None. For information.

Day-by-day news coverage of JBS in March and April reflected the growing impact of the Society. In California, the Governor ordered a state investigation. In Washington, some critics called for probes by the Justice Department or Congressional investigating committees. At his April 8 press conference, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy termed JBS "ridiculous," suggesting it might best be laughed out of existence. Nevertheless, on April 17, the Army announced that Major General Edwin A. Walker had been relieved of his command in Germany pending an investigation into reports that he had been indoctrinating his troops with the views of the Birch Society.

Although JBS' leader, Robert H.W. Welch, Jr., specifically disclaims religious bigotry, the group's arch-conservative program makes it a natural target for infiltration by religious and racial hatemongers.

What It Stands For

The goals of JBS differ little from those espoused by numerous ultra-conservative movements which have sprung up from time to time since the 1930's. The Birch Society opposes social welfare legislation, the income tax, collective bargaining, the United Nations, foreign aid, mental health legislation, water fluoridation, centralized government.

But Welch has gone further than his ideological predecessors, smearing former President Eisenhower as "a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy" and launching an organized letter-writing campaign calling for impeachment of U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren.

As Senator Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) put it, even though Welch goes "far beyond anything the late Senator Joe McCarthy ever thought of," Birch Society cells in his state include "some of the most able and influential people in the community."

Background and Structure

John Birch was an American intelligence officer killed by Chinese Communists in 1946. The Society bearing his name was founded in 1958 by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., now 61, a retired candy manufacturer of Belmont, Mass. For more than two years, Welch has dominated JBS singlehandedly. His Society currently claims 100,000 members in 34 states. Annual dues are $24 for men, $12 for women; life membership is $1,000. Most members seem to be persons of repute in their home communities, many associated previously with other right-wing groups.

To create a groundswell, Welch set up an authoritarian organization of "cells" consisting of no more than 20 members each, pledged to adherence to the "leadership principle." The last noteworthy attempt to band extreme right-wingers into "cells" occurred in 1945, when former Senator Robert R. Reynolds, after a devastating press expose, abandoned his attempts to organize a Nationalist Party.

The Society's rules were spelled out early in The Blue Book, a manual for JBS members based on a two-day talk Welch delivered in Indianapolis to a group of supporters in 1958:

> The men who join the John Birch Society during the next few months or years are going to be doing so primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership anyway...

> Those members who cease to feel the necessary degree of loyalty can either resign or will be put out before they build up any splintering following of their own inside the Society.

The Blue Book, still a bible for JBS members, gives Birchers virtual carte blanche as to how they shall carry out Welch's objectives in their own communities. But there are some specific guidelines: setting up "reading rooms" and otherwise promoting conservative periodicals and books; utilizing radio and TV to spread reactionary views; launching organized letter-writing campaigns; and organizing "fronts" -- in Welch's words, "little fronts, big fronts, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kinds of fronts."

In actual practice, Birchers follow the blueprint closely. Members meet to carry out Welch's objectives in their home communities, generally avoiding identification as Birchers. They write letters to editors; they infiltrate PTA's; they intrude their extreme views into standing conflicts -- the controversy between Protestant fundamentalists and the more liberal branch, for example, or the issue of fluoridation; they launch attacks against the National Council of Churches and Chief Justice Warren. Anyone who objects to their methods is ipso facto pro-Communist.

Local programs are administered from offices in Belmont by Welch and a paid staff of "coordinators" who visit the cells as his emissaries, dispensing directives, advice and orientation. Required reading for all members is a monthly, American Opinion, sponsored by Welch, and the Bulletin, issued for the specific guidance of cells.

One end-product of all this has been considerable dissension in widely scattered communities: Houston, Tex.; Wichita, Kans.; the states of Arizona, California and Washington. Yet not until March, when newspapers reported attacks on prominent Americans in Welch's book, The Politician, did JBS come under national scrutiny. The book has since been withdrawn from circulation.

One of Welch's consultants has been J. B. Matthews, whose leftist activities in the 1930's were recounted in his autobiographical Odyssey of a Fellow Traveler. Since then, Matthews has served as research expert for anti-Communist groups and Congressional committees. He resigned from the staff of the McCarthy committee in the heat of controversy over an article leveling charges against clergymen.

Welch's "advisory council" includes Clarence Manion, former dean of Notre Dame Law School and a frequent spokesman for right-wing groups; Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Argentina; and T. Coleman Andrews, former U. S. Internal Revenue Commissioner.

Opposition

Adverse reactions have been sharp, widespread and varied, as the following sampling indicates:

California Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton, addressing the state assembly rules committee:

> This organization goes beyond free speech...
> The Hitler organization started the same way > and attracted some very respectable businessmen.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, commenting on the political techniques employed by the Society:

> One of the most indelible lessons of human history is that those who adopt the doctrine that the end justifies the means inevitably find the means become the end.

Without naming a particular group, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover warned late in March that "vigilante action" by irresponsible organizations can do more harm than good in combatting communism in America. House Speaker Sam Rayburn cautioned that the Society's "strange nostrums" would "destroy our freedom."

A partial list of others voicing concern and disapproval includes:

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake (National Council of Churches)
Governor Edmund G. Brown (D-Cal.)
Hugh Burns (California State Senator)
Senator Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.)
Dr. Samuel B. Gould (Chancellor, University of California at Santa Barbara)
President John F. Kennedy

Senator Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.)
Senator Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Cal.)
Stanley Mosk (California Attorney General)
Charles H. Percy (1960 Chairman, Republican Platform Committee)
Representative Henry S. Reuss (D-Wisc.)
Senator Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio)

Support

The Society's first Congressional supporter and admitted member, California Representative Edgar W. Hiestand, admires JBS as "a group of rugged individualists, dedicated to patriotism and determined in their fight against communism." Among other Congressional defenders are John H. Rousselot (R-Cal.) and L. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.).

Shortly after the Birch Society hit the headlines, it won a measure of praise from some clearly questionable quarters. Anti-Semitic propagandists Conde McGinley and Merwin K. Hart, for instance, were quick to announce their endorsement and support of the group, in effect giving their followers the "green light."

Conde McGinley, publisher of the vitriolic hatesheet Common Sense and subject of a House Un-American Activities Committee report, editorialized in the March 15, 1961, issue of his bigoted newspaper:

> Inasmuch as we have received many inquiries from all over the United States regarding the John Birch Society, we want to go on record. We believe this to be an effective, patriotic group, in good hands. The best evidence that they are effective is the fact that they are being smeared by people who have done nothing to stop communism.

In a recent press interview, Hart called the Birch Society "the single strongest factor against the advance of communism in the United States." Hart's National Economic Council was examined by the Select Lobbying Committee of the House of Representatives in 1950. The Committee characterized one of the Council's techniques as designed "to disparage those who oppose its objectives by appeals to religious prejudice, often an ill-concealed anti-Semitism."

A partial list of other JBS supporters follows:

Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr. (Minister, First Congregational Church, Los Angeles)
Vice Admiral C. S. Freeman (USN-Ret.)
Dr. Carl McIntire (President, International Council of Christian Churches)

Funds for the activities of the American Jewish Committee are raised through the Joint Defense Appeal.

My memorandum of March 29, 1961, advised you that we had received a letter from captioned Member of Congress which was dated March 24, 1961. In it Rousselot stated he had been receiving many letters from his constituents concerning the John Birch Society. He listed seven sample questions he alleged he was receiving from these individuals and asked if the Director could furnish him any information to aid in satisfying the people he is representing with his first term in Congress.

I recommended that someone in your office personally acknowledge Rousselot's letter, in the interest of cultivating future relations with him, and explain the functions and jurisdiction of the FBI. I also recommended consideration of telling him several facts about the Society which are of public record.

The New York Times reported on March 31, 1961, that Congressman Edgar W. Hiestand of California had called a press conference to discuss the Birch Society. In admitting that he was a member of it, Hiestand also identified Rousselot as one. The latter later said he had joined it over a year ago. All of these developments were subsequent to Rousselot's letter to the Director. No mention was made of his membership until Hiestand "smoked" him out with his remarks to the newspaper reporters.

It occurs to me that one of two reasons prompted Rousselot's letter asking FBI help. He either had become concerned over his membership and was honestly seeking some guidance, but was reluctant to admit his membership; or, he was playing what he considered was a shrewd game in attempting to use the Bureau. He may be well aware of the fact that literally hundreds of letters have been written to the Director by Birch people trying to get Mr. Hoover to endorse their organization - to no avail. Rousselot may have been using his position in an attempt to get the answer for them. In any event, he concealed his membership from the Director in his request for aid. It is deemed advisable to be most circumspect in any future dealings with him.

TO : Mr. DeLoach

DATE: March 29, 1961

FROM : D. C. Morrell

SUBJECT: HONORABLE JOHN H. ROUSSELOT
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

By letter dated March 24, 1961, Congressman Rousselot advised the Director that he had been receiving many inquiries from his constituents concerning the John Birch Society. He listed seven sample questions that he gets from these individuals and asked if Mr. Hoover could furnish him any information to aid him in satisfying the people he represents.

Mr. Rousselot is the Republican Representative for the 25th District of California and he is serving his first term. There are no references in Bufiles that are identifiable with him. He is a native of Los Angeles and a graduate of the Principia College, Elsah, Illinois, where he majored in political science and business administration. He previously served as Director of Public Relations, Pacific Finance Corporation of Los Angeles and held the same position with the Federal Housing Administration in Washington. He was also Deputy to the Chairman, Board of Equalization of the State of California.

In the interest of cultivating future relations with Congressman Rousselot, it is felt we should consider acknowledging his first letter personally.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that someone from your office personally contact Congressman John H. Rousselot, acknowledge receipt of his correspondence, explain the functions and the jurisdiction of the FBI to him and advise him that the John Birch Society was founded in December, 1958, in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts; is incorporated under the laws of the State of Massachusetts; is allegedly anticommunist; has chapters throughout the country; has not been investigated by the FBI; and that Welch and the Society in the past have been bitterly critical of former President Eisenhower.

Thoughts on the John Birch Society

"Communist influences are now in almost complete control of our Federal Government."

"When an elected government succeeds in attracting an overwhelming majority behind it for any length of time, its mob instincts make it the most tyrannical of all forms of social organization."

"I am proposing the formation of The John Birch Society.... under completely authoritative control at all levels.... We mean business every step of the way."

"We are out to get a million members truly dedicated to the things in which we believe."

"Future history is always determined by minorities who really know what they want."

These are scattered quotations from the writings of a man named Robert Welch, who lives in Massachusetts, and who two years ago organized a semi-secret group called the John Birch Society. It appears to have grown rather rapidly in size, spread and influence throughout the country.

It is hard to say exactly how large the society is now, for the group is vague in speaking about the size of its membership. However, in August of last year, the Boston Herald reported [redacted] as saying that the society then had organizations in some twenty states, with about twenty-five chapters in the Boston area alone. He went on to say that membership is strongest in Tennessee, Texas, and Southern California. The Herald guessed that membership must have been then "in the low hundreds of thousands."

We here in Santa Barbara seem to be in a fairly unique position to observe the work of the John Birchers, for it apparently is more open here. We are recognized around the country as being one of its seats of power, so much so indeed that two national magazines have asked two of our local writers to do articles on the society.

We ought, I think, to try to understand the movement as well as we can, for it is hard at work in our community, pressing our acts and thoughts in the direction the Society feels we ought to move. This is one reason I thought I would like to discuss the John Birch Society today. A second is that, having done two sermons recently about the House Committee on Un-American Activities, it seemed to me fitting to conclude the series with another on this related phenomenon. The Birch group represents, I think, the most extreme form of the violently anti-Communist school of thought, somewhat farther over to the right than the other champions of the House Committee.

ENCLOSURE ATTACHED EX-114 [redacted] 62-104401-1241 REC- 65 NOT RECORDED

Since this is the third sermon on this rather cheerless and negative topic, I think I ought to apologize for my persistence in it. I promise not to continue with more of the same for the remaining Sundays of the year. It just seemed to me that the matter has been uppermost in almost all our minds these past few weeks, and also that discussion of it now might be especially appropriate and timely. If you are beginning to be bored with the whole thing, don't hesitate to nap now and then during the sermon.

6 MAY 17 1961

At any rate, to develop some acquaintance with the outlook of the Birch Society, let's consider a book written by Welch called "The Politician." The Blue Book (the Society's Bible, the well-spring of its inspiration) can be had easily enough from the society's bookshops, but it is almost impossible to find a copy of "The Politician" now. It was distributed only to top leaders in the movement. However, the Milwaukee Journal gave some quotes from it in an article last July.

In the book, Welch charged that Presidents Roosevelt and Truman were extensively used by the Communists, Mr. Truman knowingly so. Then, on page 268, Welch made an observation that has caused his society considerable embarrassment. He said that "in my opinion, the Communists have one of their own actually in the presidency. For this third man, Eisenhower, there is only one possible word to describe his purposes and actions. That word is treason."

Birch group leaders in Wisconsin had copies of "The Politician", and when questioned would not disavow its contents. One leader, when asked directly if he really thought Mr. Eisenhower was a Communist, replied, "I only know that if he is not he might as well be... The results of his administration are the same." Later on he contradicted himself somewhat when he added that "I don't think Eisenhower is bright enough to be permitted to be one of the party."

This sentiment was echoed by Welch himself, when questioned by the Boston Herald last August. When asked if he thought Ike was a Communist, Welch replied in some confusion: "I never felt that way enough to say it in print. Now I don't know what to think. Eisenhower may be too dumb to be a Communist." This suspicion of Mr. Eisenhower's loyalty also appears in the Blue Book, where, on page sixty-five, Welch begins to discuss "the millions who either are, or pretend to be, non-Communist," among whom you find what he calls "the amoral man," one of the greatest dangers to our survival. The paragraph concludes with an only slightly veiled allusion to Mr. Eisenhower, when Welch says that "an amoral man, as the head of a great so-called Republic, may have no slightest scruples or concern about its fate or the fate of other nations, in the face of Communist conquest and of the cruel tyranny of their rule. And," Mr. Welch adds, "any similarity of characters in this story to any living persons is not coincidental." In short, the Birch Society leader concludes here, that whether or not Mr. Eisenhower is a Communist, he is at best an amoral man, unconcerned about the spread of Communist influence. Welch doesn't say exactly that Ike is a Communist, but on the other hand he cannot affirm that Ike is not a Communist. This, incidentally, is a fairly typical example of Welch's logic.

Another outstanding example cropped up in this month's issue of the Birch Society Bulletin. Under the heading, "Agenda for the Month," you find yourself engulfed in these muddy waters. "Our major demand on your time and energy," the article begins, "is still in support of the MOVEMENT TO IMPEACH EARL WARREN." Mr. Welch points out that in the campaign last summer to have the summit meeting called off, the Society "put a total of some six hundred thousand pieces of mail into the effort." This, he thought, was a good showing, and helped save America from further steps of surrender. Now, he goes on, we are asking you to send a barrage of letters to your congressman urging the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren.

Welch confesses that there has been some opposition to this movement. He cites as an example the syndicated column of George Sokolsky, which on January 14th charged that the movement to impeach Warren was nonsense. Mr. Welch found this quite hard to take, for he had always regarded Sokolsky as a friend: did he not stand all the way with Joe McCarthy? Nevertheless, while Sokolsky may think the Warren movement nonsense, Welch just bet that Earl Warren won't think so by the time the movement is over.

Sokolsky is quoted as saying that "no matter what can be said of Earl Warren, it cannot be said... that he has been subversive." Surely, comments Mr. Welch, Sokolsky can't be "as innocent or ignorant as he sounds." Welch said he carefully avoided accusing Warren of subversion or treason. "We thought -- and still do -- that the development of any such charges was unnecessary and would merely complicate what is basically a very simple issue of misbehavior in office." Besides, he adds, plenty of well-informed people have labelled the Warren Court subversive -- the Legislature of the State of Georgia, for example.

Furthermore, "Communist influences are now in almost complete control of our Federal Government." If we are going to stop them, there must be a showdown. "What better time, or place, or issue could we have than the impeachment of Earl Warren?... Warren's decisions and actions, however he may have sugarcoated his own purposes for his own conscience, have definitely become a most important part of the whole advancing Communist front." By working to impeach Warren, we can meet the Communist influences behind him head on.

Hence, Chief Justice Warren both is and is not a Communist. He may not exactly be a Communist, but by stopping him we can stop Communism. Welch shows real genius at this shifty logical technique. So racy is his rhetoric that he can, at the same time, affirm that a statement is both true and untrue.

Now you may be inclined to think, on the basis of the examples I have so far given of Welch's work, that the man is so completely irrational as to be absurd and harmless, that his charges are so wild and baseless as to be beneath our notice. This, in fact, was my own feeling until this past week, when I spent a good deal of time poring over the Birch Society's literature. I will confess that I was deeply impressed -- and disturbed. When you hear Welch's charges out of context, as you have heard them here, their absurdity is plain enough; but when you come upon them in the publications of the society, surrounded and supported by Welch's rich, flowing language and ideas, their absurdity is well concealed.

The man is a marvelously gifted demagogue, a natural speaker and writer with, I think, a strong lust for power and leadership; and he is convinced that it is his mission to save the world from the ravages of Communism. He will go to any lengths to achieve this mission. He openly confesses that he will even use the very methods of the Communists to defeat them. He means business.

The Blue Book, the Bible of the society, written from cover to cover by Welch, is a masterpiece of its kind. I read the whole thing last week, and found it fascinating. Indeed, although I am as rational as the rest of you, I found myself carried away by the thing. Now and again, overpowered by its force and feeling. It's not the lunatic fringe type of literature, but a piece of first class demagoguery. The man is clearly a genius in his chosen field, a force not to be trifled with. There is just enough truth, just enough logic, and more than enough poetry and power in his arguments to bemuse millions of uncritical readers. You have to work hard to escape being trapped in the writhing coils of his logic, hypnotized by the magic of his flowing language. I came within an ace of becoming a John Bircher myself. Well, it wasn't really that close, but I could feel the pull and the appeal of this strange man's message, could empathize with those who can't help seeing it to be the saving truth about the nature of things.

In addition, there is another factor apart from the magic of Robert Welch that lends power to the movement. One thing we ought to be entirely clear about is that both Welch and his people are genuinely afraid. They are driven by an almost wild fear of a persistent and pervasive sort. Because of the peculiar nature of their understanding of what it means to be an American, everywhere they look in our society they see subversives at work. Everywhere they look they see signs of an incredibly devious subversion. Even the President of the United States, even the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is not above suspicion. The only thing they can really place their trust in is the John Birch Society itself. Everywhere else there is treachery -- in the highest places. Communists are on every hand, disguised, looking just like anybody else, like a friend or a brother or a teacher.

It is their understanding of Americanism that twists the perceptions of the society's members so seriously, I think. It is the key to an understanding of their philosophy. Welch outlines this powerfully in the early sections of the Blue Book.

Perhaps his most fundamental premise is that democracy has nothing to do with the real essence of Americanism. It is, he says, not democracy that made America great, that defines her nature. Indeed, it is not the form of a government that matters, but its quality. In reality, what led to America's greatness was the fact that in the early years of its development it had so little, so weak a government. That government is best which governs least. This is the important quality.

However, as our country grew in size and wealth, the government began to intervene in more and more areas of the nation's life, and as it did so it moved inevitably down the road toward collectivism and communism. Hence, as Welch and his people see the world, every act of the federal government carries with it the menacing threat of Communism. When the government forced integration in the south, this was clearly Communism at work. Or consider the Social Security system -- obviously Communist. Likewise the income tax. Such a view makes it easy for Welch to say in the introduction to the Blue Book: "The Communists are much further advanced and more deeply entrenched than is realized by even most serious students of the danger among anti-Communists."

Democracy has nothing to do with the real essence of Americanism. Accept this fundamental premise, and the rest of the Birch-type logic follows nicely. Now this premise may sound absurd to you, but as a matter of fact it reflects the deep feelings of a great many of our people. They can't seem to escape feeling that there is something un-American about the ideals of equality and freedom, something dangerous and destructive. Anybody who talks much about them is suspect. Anybody who insists upon them is a radical. Robert Welch, in his genius, got hold of something big here. He managed to articulate, in vigorous language, the dumb feelings of large numbers of our people.

Democracy has nothing to do with Americanism. This is the mainspring that drives the John Birch Society. It is what makes the society so tragically, so fearfully un-American. It is what makes it at least as serious a menace to our way of life as the Communist Party itself.

Consider Welch's answer to what he sees as our country's gravest problems. In section four of the Blue Book, he sets out to answer the question, what can be done to meet the frightening spread of Communism in America? First, he points out that the threat is not so much military as political and educational. Then he poses a striking hypothetical possibility. Suppose, he says, that I was chosen to be the savior, the "man on the white horse," and suppose I had plenty of resources and over a million dedicated supporters; and suppose I could coordinate this mass of material into a force as positive and efficient as the Communist machine; and suppose, even though I was recognized as undisputed leader of this dedicated organization, that I had the advice and help of an executive council made up of the ablest anti-Communists in the country. If all this were so, what would I then do to fight Communism?

Set up reading rooms all over the country stocked with carefully selected anti-Communist literature: the selection "would of course have to be tightly controlled from headquarters." Then I would expand the circulation of conservative magazines such as "American Opinion" and "National Review" and the "Dan Smoot Report." I would increase the radio audience of speakers like Fulton Lewis and Clarence Manion and others of their sort. I would instigate massive letter-writing campaigns to influence government and private agencies, both local and national. I would organize dozens of front organizations, one after the other, such as the Committee of One Million which has helped a great deal in keeping Red China out of the UN: another possibility here is A Petition to Impeach Earl Warren, or the Organization for the Repeal of the Income Tax, or the Committee to Investigate Communist Influences at Vassar College. Then I would set about making Americans aware of subversion by exposing Communists. (How would I know who to expose? Well, there wouldn't be time or money to do a complete research job on every suspect, but enough material could be gathered to make a good guess in any case. The charges could be levelled in our magazines, and if done often and forcefully, would create wonder and doubt in the entire population. To be sure, these are drastic steps, but "this is no cream-puff war we are in." It's not "a pillow fight." We could expect to get a lot of smearing in return, and "a lot of nuisance libel suits;" but even this would help, for it would mean further publicity).

Then I would "line up a large list of speakers" who would talk to small audiences on strong anti-Communist topics; and I would set up a list of churches, PTA's, and the like for speaking engagements. They are always looking for speakers. Finally, I would use political action to reverse the trend of America toward Communism, I would "move in on the elections," and get our kind of men in office.

This was the program that Welch proposed to a group of eleven business men who met at his request in Indianapolis on December 9, 1958. This is the program that is now in operation all over the country. This is the work of the John Birch Society.

"I am not suggesting any ephemeral organization of loose ties and uncertain loyalties," Welch said at the first meeting. "The John Birch Society is to be a monolithic body." A republican form of organization or government "lends itself too readily to infiltration, distortion and disruption.... Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud.... The John Birch Society will operate under completely authoritative control at all levels.... We mean business every step of the way." I have a sensitive and accurate nose for smelling out Communists. I will locate them. The society will not be frustrated by indecision in this area. Those who join the society will do so "primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership."

Consequently, Welch concluded in the Blue Book, you must either join the John Birch Society, and give freely of yourself to it, or in a few years you will be "devoting all to the maintenance of a Communist slave state."

Finally, on page 169 of the Blue Book there comes this dreadfully sinister example of Welch's logical squirming, the kind that allows him to say that a statement is both true and not true. He says passionately that although the Birch Society is not really starting a revolution, "yet our determination to overthrow an entrenched tyranny is the very stuff out of which revolutions are made."

All this, I think, suggests that the John Birch Society is an unmistakable menace to America. It is frankly, even blatantly anti-democratic. Such movements crop up from time to time in the best of countries, for they seem somehow to have a profound appeal to the blacker side of our human nature. It's a great pity. It means that good men must turn themselves to the task of containing the eruption. But human nature is not perfect. It will, I fear, continue to break out in boils like this occasionally for a long time to come. When this happens, it is important that we act quickly to check the infection.

We will, I suppose, have to depend upon our law enforcement agencies and our nege-times and newspapers to carry the main burden of meeting the menace of the Birch Society. I hope they will be alert. I hope they will watch closely for the first overt steps toward action. Still, we must remember that even people like Robert Welch have civil rights here. He is free to speak, even to speak his un-American messages; but his ambitions apparently have created in him a vision far beyond merely speaking. He dreams of something that is and is not revolution. Our officials must watch for the first signs of it.

Meanwhile, we private citizens also have a job to do. There are no doubt many good, earnest people in the John Birch Society. We may well find that some of our friends and acquaintances are among them. This is awkward. It poses an ethical question. How shall we respond to them? Shall we order them out of our homes, cut ourselves off from them? I think not. I think it is important, though it will be trying, to keep the lines of communication open between us.

We ought to try not to hate them, be disgusted with them, shout and snarl at them, for this will only drive them deeper into their relation with the group, for there they will find acceptance and confirmation.

We ought to be as patient as we can, realizing that the people are doing what they feel they must do. They are as much to be pitied as censured. They are terribly frightened. Everywhere they look they see Communists. They don't know whom to trust, whom to depend on.

Don't condemn them. Don't threaten them. Let them talk about their views. Question them closely. Sometimes just hearing their own words spoken in the presence of someone who is calm and rational will help them to feel their absurdity.

Be patient. Be firm. This too will pass, if we are alert and watchful.

On 3/21/61, [redacted] Attorney, Canadian, Texas, advised SA [redacted] that he attended a meeting on February 20, 1961, of the COMMITTEE FOR INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM. He said the organization was in favor of impeachment of Chief Justice WARREN and quoted the American Bar Association as favoring such action. He said this made him mad since he felt the organization was misquoting some remarks of American Bar Association members. He said this organization, he has determined, is the local outlet for the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, which he considers Fascist and un-American. On 5/19/61, MR. HARRY MC CORMICK, reporter, Dallas Morning News, telephoned and advised SA W. HARLAN BROWN that he had determined from an informant he declined to name that the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY in Dallas is currently trying to get some members into the Communist Party in Dallas in order to determine the identity of the CP members in this area. It is the idea of those in the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY in Dallas to personally harass each CP member they can identify, one example being that society members plan to put sugar in the gas tanks of automobiles belonging to CP members. MC CORMICK stated that recently the Dallas Morning News had published articles on the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, which information was principally supplied by [redacted] for the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, who is connected with the NORMALEE DRESS SHOPS in Dallas. MC CORMICK also identified [redacted] and [redacted] who are employed by [redacted] as being members of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. b6 b7C b7D

The aforementioned is being submitted to the Bureau for information, it being noted that Dallas informants have not reported any applications for admittance into the CP in this area during recent weeks.

[redacted] advised that based upon contact with friends of hers who are either members of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY or who have friends of the organization, she believes that the Society has close to twenty groups in Midland. Each group has from ten to twenty members.

The different groups are composed of people from all walks of life. The organization has among its membership, doctors, lawyers, housewives, etc. [redacted] advised that based upon conversations with her friends, the bulk of the membership are interested in this Society because they have been alerted to the dangers of Communism and this is the first concrete thing that has come along to give them an outlet for their emotions and feelings.

[redacted] advised that in her opinion the members whom she knows are all good solid Americans. There are just a few who are radical in their thinking and want to take some action such as a move to impeach Chief Justice WARREN.

The organization in Midland has its membership to a great extent composed of members of the political party known as the Constitution Party. It is her opinion that the Constitution Party is using the group as an excuse to keep its membership and followers together. The members have taken an active interest in local elections in Midland and Odessa and have shown some criticism of the manner in which the schools are operated. They have put up persons to run for the school board.

[redacted] also advised that she believes that there are probably twenty groups in Odessa. Mayor CLARK of that city recently was quoted in the Odessa paper where he spoke in glowing terms of the purposes and actions of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. Recent adverse publicity of the organization has caused some members to re-evaluate and for some to drop out entirely. b6 b7C b7D

There is also indication that the cities of Fort Stockton, Pecos and Monahans, Texas, all have some members in the Society.

No further inquiry will be made in this matter, UACB.

Principally of interest to [redacted] was the information to the effect that Burrows, one of Cleveland's leading book stores, does not have for sale the Director's book "Masters of Deceit" and it was felt by the Society that it could all be part of a conspiracy to keep the Director's book from the public.

RICHARDSON, TEXAS
REQUEST FOR BUREAU REPRINTS BY MAY 17

By letter dated 5-11-61, received in the Division 5-16-61, [redacted] congratulated the Director on his 37th Anniversary and also requested 150 copies of a Bureau reprint to be distributed at a "patriotic meeting" in Dallas on May 17. Mr. Tolson inquired as to why a telegram was not sent on 5-16-61. This matter was handled by SA Hobson H. Adcock, who has submitted the following explanation:

b6
b7C

By communication dated 3-23-61, SAC, Dallas advised that a woman who had attended a meeting of the John Birch Society in Texas at which [redacted] had shown "Communism on the Map," reported that she considered the group subversive and she furnished a list of those in attendance. We have had no previous correspondence with [redacted]

For the following reasons it was decided not to send correspondent a wire advising him that the reprints he requested were not available:

1. [redacted] has been favorably disposed toward the John Birch Society in the past and, therefore, it is not illogical to assume that the "patriotic meeting" of May 17 was also under the auspices of the John Birch Society. SAC Letter 61-14 dated 3-21-61 classifies the John Birch Society as an irresponsible organization attempting to capitalize on the FBI's prestige. It states that no Bureau publications of any kind are to be made available to this Society or to any of its representatives. It is further noted that [redacted] has been instrumental in showing the film strip, "Communism on the Map" which is not the type of information that should be even indirectly endorsed by the FBI through permitting the distribution of our reprints at its screening.

2. It is obvious from correspondent's letter that he was merely using the Director's 37th Anniversary as a vehicle in order to obtain favorable consideration for his request for reprints and it is not inconceivable that members of [redacted] group are aware that it is impossible to obtain Bureau reprints through normal requests.

3. It was presumptuous of [redacted] to set so short a deadline for furnishing reprints.

9 MAY 25 1961

See next page.....

4. Due consideration was given the incoming letter and it was decided to acknowledge the congratulations and, because of the background of [redacted] to decline to send reprints for possible use in connection with a John Birch Society meeting. Accordingly, to accomplish these two objectives, it was judged a letter would be the best means of communication.

In summary, this matter was handled as it was because it appeared obvious that [redacted] was trying to exploit the Director's 37th Anniversary to gain his own ends. [redacted] activities in the past in showing "Communism on the Map" and his being affiliated with the John Birch Society further strengthened the belief that no special consideration should be shown either his request or his congratulatory message.

The note on the yellow setting forth [redacted] affiliation with the John Birch Society and "Communism on the Map" was intended to reflect why this correspondence was handled as it was. Hereafter, we shall try to be more specific as to why we are handling a letter in a certain manner.

On May 5, 1961, [redacted] volunteered information that one [redacted] Casper, had just returned from Arizona where he attended a training school for "Coordinators of the John Birch Society."

On May 10, 1961, [redacted] telephonically contacted the Resident Agent at Casper requesting information as to where he could obtain the Director's book "Masters of Deceit." [redacted] was advised that copies of the book could be purchased at the local bookstore in Casper.

b6

[redacted] then advised that he was organizing a study and discussion group regarding Communism and intended to use the book "Masters of Deceit" as the "Bible" for this group. [redacted] volunteered that although he had read the John Birch Blue Book, he was not a member of the John Birch Society. He advised he had recently returned from Phoenix, Arizona, where his sister had informed him that the John Birch Society had induced 400 Texaco credit card holders to return their credit cards to the Texas Company because that Society considered [redacted] sponsored by the Texaco Company, to be too "socialistic."

The May 15, 1961, issue of the "Casper Tribune-Herald" contains an article reflecting that plans were underway to form an anti-Communist study forum and that the group

The following is submitted to the Bureau for its information:

The Minneapolis Morning Tribune, a daily newspaper published in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on May 25, 1961, reports that there are 15 chapters of the John Birch Society in the State of North Dakota.

This same paper in its issue of May 21, 1961, reports that a John Birch Society chapter was in the process of being organized in Bloomington, Minnesota. Whether this chapter's organizational work is finalized has not been reported and it is the only potential chapter known to this office in the State of Minnesota.

The Minneapolis Division has conducted no investigation concerning this society and as is indicated, this is for information only.

REC-11

On 4/12/61 Mr. Kenneth O'Donnell, Special Assistant to the President, by routing slip referred to Assistant Director [redacted] a letter he had received from [redacted] Massachusetts, dated [redacted] Mr. O'Donnell advised he was sending it for our information only and not for us to take any action.

In his letter [redacted] related that one [redacted] immigrated to the United States from Germany; obtained the position of [redacted] Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society (JBS); alleged Welch hired [redacted] because he thought she was a Nazi and, therefore, took her into his confidence; and [redacted] left Welch's employment because she despised his alleged Nazi-type activities. According to [redacted] allegedly furnished an "incredible history, purposes and activities of the Welch organization" to an agent of Army Intelligence who made a tape recording of the interview.

Bufiles contain no identifiable data concerning [redacted] or [redacted] b6 b7C

Memorandum Baumgardner to Belmont captioned as above dated 4/14/61 recommended that for our information and consideration we should secure through Liaison the tape recording of the [redacted] interview made by the Army in order that we can determine exactly what allegations have been made by [redacted]

It was determined that the tape recording was not available but Army has furnished us with a copy of the typed report of this interview. This interview was conducted on [redacted] at which time [redacted] Massachusetts, and was employed as [redacted] She stated that shortly after her arrival in the United States from her native Germany in [redacted] she visited the German Consulate in Boston in an effort to gain assistance in obtaining employment in Boston. she spoke with a [redacted] and after outlining her considerable journalistic experience [redacted] suggested she contact Welch. She contacted Welch and after a brief discussion during which he ascertained her clerical experience and satisfied himself she was not a communist she was assigned to employment in the office of the JBS. According to [redacted] Welch opined, concerning her attitude toward communism, that all Germans are still Nazis at heart and, therefore, anticommunist. According to [redacted] she spent approximately [redacted] in this office half of which time was spent reading material published by Welch by way of indoctrination into the office and the remainder of the time she spent in doing [redacted] (It is noted that nowhere during the interview does she state that she did other than [redacted] or that she held the position of [redacted] in his letter.)

The majority of the information furnished by [redacted] during the interview related to the general set up of the office and the identities of the various personnel employed in the office and what their general duties were. Most of the information furnished by her regarding JBS was of a general nature concerning the Society and Welch. According to her most of her time until she quit [redacted] of Welch and the Society. She stated she quit her position because "of a distaste for the type of work being conducted by him (Welch), which seemed to be strikingly similar to the activities of Hitler prior to his rise to power." She did state, however, that Welch maintained extensive files on leading political, military and business leaders of the world and that the material for these files was made up mainly from material contained in newspapers and various publications. She stated that typical selections under the section dealing with "communists" were the names of U.S. Senator John Kennedy, General George C. Marshall, former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt as well as members of the U.S. Supreme Court and the American Bar Association.

SUBJECT: INQUIRY REGARDING JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
FROM CONGRESSMAN TOM V. MOOREHEAD

By letter dated May 19, 1961, Mr. Tom V. Moorehead, Representative to Congress of the Fifteenth District of Ohio, wrote to the Director stating one of his constituents had recently written him for information concerning the John Birch Society (JBS). The constituent stated the John Birch Society had the Director's approval and he requested to know whether any Federal pamphlets were available concerning the Society.

We have been replying to such inquiries by pointing out the following: "In connection with your inquiry, may I point out that the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and neither makes evaluations nor draws conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. In light of the foregoing, I can assure you that I have made no comment concerning the group you mentioned nor has any representative of this Bureau."

BACKGROUND:

Tom V. Moorehead is a Republican Representative of the Fifteenth District of Ohio. He was formerly Mayor of Zanesville, Ohio, and served in that State's Senate. He was formerly active in the real estate and insurance business in Zanesville for more than 25 years and was elected to the 87th Congress 11-8-60. Bufiles contain nothing derogatory concerning Moorehead.

Pages 7213-7214. Congressman Rousselot, (R) California, submitted two articles written by [redacted] concerning the John Birch Society, which appeared in the Los Angeles Herald-Express. Mr. Rousselot stated "it is refreshing to find a newspaper reporter who will look into the facts before writing about the John Birch Society." MAO TSE-TUNG: AN UNLIKELY TITO

Senator urges Peking's economic and diplomatic isolation

SHOULD WE RECOGNIZE RED CHINA?

By Paul H. Douglas
U.S. Senator, Illinois

THE PAST few months have seen the rise of new efforts to convince the American people of the desirability of closer diplomatic, economic and cultural relations with Communist China. The opposition to such a policy is neither conservative nor liberal, but rests on the highest degree of bipartisanship. The Committee of One Million (Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations), with which I have been associated since its inception in 1953, represents all political philosophies. Its members include Senators Ralph E. Flanders, Irving M. Ives, Jacob K. Javits, Mike Mansfield, Richard L. Neuberger and Margaret Chase Smith.

Those who advocate closer ties between the United States and Communist China base their arguments on two assumptions:

1. The Communists are in firm and permanent control of the mainland of China. Even though we do not like the Peking regime, it is in power and will be there for a long time to come. There is little that we, or the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, can do to change this situation. Therefore. unless we wish to ignore 600 million people, we must deal with the Peking regime.

2. Chinese Communism is different in certain aspects from Soviet Communism. Expanded trade and cultural relations between the free world and Communist China will drive a wedge between Moscow and Peking and perhaps even make a Tito out of Mao Tse-tung. Through such trade and cultural relations, ties between Red China and the free world will be strengthened with the corresponding weakening of the ties between Peking and the Kremlin.

The Committee of One Million believes that both these assumptions are false. as were the similar premises used in the 1930s to justify Western relations with Japan, Italy and Germany. Until Pearl Harbor, all too many individuals in the United States believed that (1) the governments of Japan, Italy and Germany were in firm control of their peoples, and (2) trade and cultural relationships with the Axis powers would somehow convince them that we wanted only friendship and "coexistence" —if sufficient concessions were made, the Axis powers could be split.

Such trade and appeasement came to an end in the tremendous holocaust of World War II. The scrap metal which the United States shipped to Japan was turned into bombs which devastated half of Asia. Oil sold to Italy in 1936, on the theory that "to restrict trade means to restrict freedom," powered the planes which strafed Ethiopia and encouraged Mussolini's quest of empire. High-level diplomatic relations and negotiations with Germany ended in the disaster at Munich. The Luftwaffe and the Wehrmacht were built as a result of trade which. at the start, was limited to "non-strategic goods." The end result of this policy was the death of millions of men, women and children and the destruction of entire cities and peoples.

One might think that this bitter historical lesson would be deeply ingrained in the intellects of all free men who survived. Unfortunately, many prominent individuals and organizations still call for expanded trade and cultural relations and, ultimately, diplomatic relations with Mao Tse-tung's China. Their arguments are based on wishful thinking rather than fact.

Information reported by Peking itself refutes the idea that the Communists are firmly entrenched on the mainland. Mao's "let-a-hundred-flowers-bloom" campaign uncovered broad opposition to Communist rule in China that had to be crushed through the current "rectification" and "anti-rightist" drives. We have reliable reports of anti-Communist student demonstrations; official reports of the "relocation" of tens of thousands of intellectuals from urban areas to farms; the visible evidence of a constant stream of refugees to Hong Kong and Macao; the report of Shih Liang, Peking's Minister of Justice, that the "People's Courts" had dealt with 364,604 "counter-revolutionary" cases in a 17-month period. These are strong indications, indeed, that all is not well in Communist China.

The second assumption—that Mao might become a Tito—seems to have been shattered by Peking's joining with the Soviet Union in the most vigorous denunciation of Tito's recent deviations. Its attitude on "revisionism" today is as clear as was its support of the brutal Soviet intervention in Hungary.

THERE APPEAR to be only two alternative lines of action open to U.S. policy: either expand trade and cultural relations with Red China, which is the first step toward its admission to the UN and recognition by our Government; or continue and strengthen our present policy of resolute opposition to any political, diplomatic, economic or moral assistance to Red China.

Let us examine the possible results of the first of these two alternatives: We have already agreed to actions by our allies to ease their restrictions on trade with Red China. The moment our own trade restrictions are eased substantially, the prestige of the Peking regime will begin to mount in Asia. The economy of Red China, which by its own admission is facing serious difficulties, will be bolstered. In a recent speech, the Deputy Minister of Economic Planning of the Peking regime called for wide-scale economic retrenchments and admitted critical shortages of pig iron, steel and lumber; shortages in meats, totalling 20 million hogs; shortages in edible oils; shortages in cotton, totalling 20 million tons; shortages in coal which led to the destruction of railroad cars for fuel in Inner Mongolia. Expansion of trade would act as a rescue operation. The power of Communist China would be considerably enhanced.

Then, American newspapermen and businessmen will go into Red China and begin dealing with Communist Government officials. Pressures will increase for U.S. Government officials to be stationed in Red China to assist our citizens. The next step would be establishment of U.S. consular offices—which would inevitably lead to recognition of the Mao regime. Somewhere along the line will come admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The moment that our Government recognizes Peking, the key will be turned on the prison that is mainland China. We will have told our present allies in Asia that they would have been better off as neutrals, and indirectly told the neutrals that they might as well give in to the Reds now as later.

If Communist China is admitted to the UN, the Charter of that organization would, I am afraid, be another "scrap of paper" to be tossed into the pile of discarded international documents. Many forget that the Charter did not provide for universality of membership, but restricted it to peace-loving states. Communist China can certainly not be designated as a peace-loving state after its aggressive war in Korea, its violation of the 1953 armistice terms and its aid to subversive movements in Vietnam and Laos. True, we already have some aggressor states in the United Nations. But why should we add to their number and, in addition, give the aggressor a seat on the Security Council?

Furthermore, if we recognize Peking, we will have helped solidify one of the most potent fifth columns in history. The 12 million overseas Chinese living in Southeast Asia will have little choice but to give their allegiance to Red China, and to try to deliver into its control the countries where they have great power: the Philippines, Vietnam, Indonesia, Singapore and Malaya, Thailand, and Burma. And our own citizens of Chinese descent will be subjected to blackmail and coercion, through their relatives in China, by the diplomatic representatives of the Peking regime.

Admission of Red China—which would entitle it to China's permanent seat on the UN Security Council—would tie up the Security Council completely, and thereby encourage aggression by both the Soviet and Chinese Communists. For the sake of expediency, and a few dollars' profit, we will have made valueless the sacrifice of 35,000 American boys who died in Korea resisting Chinese Communist aggression.

What of the other road—that of non-recognition and no trade?

Following this road, we will strengthen our national security by adhering to the intelligent principle of steadfast support of our allies and refusal to build up our enemies. By helping to strengthen freedom among our allies and helping to build sound economies and political systems in Asia, we will demonstrate the value of a free society as opposed to slavery under Communism. Continued economic pressures from without could cause greater economic pressures from within to force Peking to make basic concessions to the Chinese people. If there is any chance at all of dividing China from the Kremlin, it must come by forcing Peking to turn from Moscow because the Soviet Union cannot supply China's needs, rather than by making it easy for both countries to survive.

The argument is sometimes heard that we must be "realistic" and "practical"—the implication being that to be realistic and practical we must deal with Communist China. In contrast, our Committee of One Million insists that, to be realistic and practical, we must not recognize Red China or admit it into the UN. To do so would be to invite disaster.

advanced. With the tyranny of a completely lawless dictatorship as the ultimate stage and goal.

Of course none of this just happened. The tremendous forces at work, deliberately to speed up this degeneration of our republic, can best be typified by the large foundations. They have for decades been working under the secret but visible directive: So to change the economic and political structure of the United States that it can be comfortably merged with Soviet Russia. They have set the pace for the whole demagogic tribe that—many of them unaware of where they were heading or who was pushing them—has sought not only to make us a democracy but to convince the American people that we are supposed to be a democracy. For acceptance of that change, from a republic, is an all-inclusive step of tremendous importance on the road to the rule of a Communist tyrant, with neither laws nor precedents nor traditions to restrict his cruel power. The glorification of "majority rule" as the unchecked and immediate arbiter of the fate of minorities and majorities alike is the great and dangerous criminal fraud, which our forefathers so much feared, and tried as well as they knew how to prevent.

In summary, democracy is government by majority vote, whether direct in a pure democracy or by one step removed in a representative democracy. It provides no protection of the rights of minorities nor even of the best interests of the majorities themselves, against the sudden whims of the electorate or the results of the voters' gullibility. And those who, through ignorance or greed or indifference, will allow their glorious republic to be converted into so despicable a pretense of civilized government, deserve the ultimate enslavement into which that transition is designed to lead them. But the framework of what was given us by our ancestors is not yet destroyed. The destruction now going on can be stopped and inner damages can—with enough determination—still be repaired. Ours is a republic, not a democracy. Let's keep it that way.

On The Differences Between

A DEMOCRACY AND A REPUBLIC

Historically both words, democracy and republic, have been used with a wide variety of meanings and shades of meanings. Nor is there any denial that these shades overlap to some extent. But there is a tendency, permitted by even some of the best dictionaries, to regard democracy as the generic term, and a republic as merely one species of democracy. This is not supported by either etymology or history.

The word democracy comes from the Greek, and is concerned from the very beginning with the form of rule, or the source of governmental power and the method by which it is exercised. It meant rule by the people instead of rule by an autocracy or oligarchy. And so rapidly and completely did demagoguery cause this rule by the people to degenerate into mobocracy that by the time of Aristotle it was considered very unflattering to any government to speak of it as a democracy.

The word republic comes from the Latin, and designates only "the public affairs" or the "common weal," without regard to how those public affairs are conducted or the common well-being is achieved. None of the Greek city states, in which democracy originated, ever had a republic, or anything resembling one. But since then, and before the Communists deliberately prostituted so much of our language into deceptive reversals, the term has been applied, almost universally and with ready acceptance, to such widely different states as Rome in its earliest centuries, Venice, Poland in the 16th through the 18th centuries, the United Netherlands Confederation of the same period, the Swiss Republic, various French governments, and the United States of America. Some of these were monarchies (even at times absolute monarchies), some were oligarchies, and some were representative democracies, so far as the form of government is our concern. But what made these states republics, in the minds of statesmen and political scientists and historians and the informed public, was the fact that each of them (in theory, anyway) was ruled according to the well established laws—whether set forth by statutes, by precedents, or by written constitutions—and not simply by the whim of the monarch, or of the oligarchy, or of a temporary majority of the voters. "The rule of laws, not men," is one of the soundest of all the copybook maxims. And it is the essence of the whole difference between a democracy and a republic. Democracy is the rule of men, not bound by laws—or tradition or precedent—whenever mob psychology can be built up by demagogues to support the demagogues' disdain for the restrictions of law. A republic is rule subject to laws—and tradition and precedent—which laws cannot be changed except by due and deliberate process according to their own provisions.

Except when utilized by very small units, such as a tiny Greek city-state or an American township or village, democracy has never worked satisfactorily as a form of government. Especially when the size of the unit becomes such that "pure democracy" is no longer practicable, and it is necessary for the voters to select representatives to make the actual decisions and do the governing for them, does the deterioration into a mobocracy always become rapid and disastrous. The whole life cycle of a "representative democracy," from early stability through mobocracy and murderous cruelty to counter-revolution and stability once again, was telescoped by the French Revolution into a period of a few short years. This was because of the excessive steam pressure of the forces at work. But the pattern was an exact one for the course of a "representative democracy," as a form of government for large units, nevertheless.

Although our republic was established before the French Revolution had supplied this horrible example, our founding fathers were well aware of the faults and dangers of a democracy. They wanted no part of one for our national government. In fact, while our constitution goes so far as to guarantee a republican form of government to each of the several states, it does not even mention a democracy or a democratic form of government once. And one of the very few times the Federalist Papers (which tell us most of what we know about the thinking that went into our constitution) even mention a democracy, is in Federalist Paper No. 10, where Madison does so in order to show us its disadvantages.

A Democracy And A Republic

If Washington and Hamilton and Jefferson and Madison and all of the other great men of our constitutional convention had not believed that a constitutional republic was the best of all forms of government, they would have provided something else. For theirs was a clean slate on which to write. They did so believe, and both man's age-old experience with government and his most carefully reasoned theories support their choice.

But a republic, even if in the form of a monarchy or an oligarchy, does presuppose the ultimate responsibility of the governors to the governed. A king "by divine right" cannot head a republic, but only a king by—in theory, anyway—the consent of the governed. So that the governed do have the inherent right, and usually the opportunity, to make changes even in the basic laws through which the republic functions. And when the governmental form is the same as that of a "representative democracy," the danger of a breakdown of the legal guard rails of the republic is always present and usually becomes worse with time. So that the greatest fault of a republic is the likelihood of its deteriorating into a democracy. And of this, too, our forefathers were well aware. When Benjamin Franklin was asked, at the end of the Constitutional Convention, "What have you given us, Mr. Franklin?", his answer was: "A republic, Madam, if you can keep it!"

His fear was well founded. For today, because of the utterly unjustified and steadily increasing violation and disregard of our constitution itself, we have already gone far towards losing that protection of laws, against the schemes of demagogues and the whims of the electorate, which made us a republic instead of a democracy. The formerly slow erosion of our constitutional guarantee became a rapid rotting away under the Franklin Roosevelt Administration and those which have succeeded it. First, the Executive Department began to attack and circumvent the Constitution. Then the Legislative Department began supinely to surrender its rights and to fail in its duties under the Constitution. And then the Judicial Department began, in brazen and criminal violation of the oaths of office of individual justices, to change the Constitution by fiat of the Supreme Court, and of lesser courts. Until today the conversion of our republic into a democracy and the preparatory steps for making it a mobocracy are already far

Lenin established the movement known as Bolshevism in 1903. He had 17 supporters. A few years later he conquered Russia with a party of approximately 40,000 members. By 1959 the party of Lenin controlled one billion persons. "In one generation," says Dr. Schwarz, "the godless Communists have brought under their control 12 times as many as Hitler ruled at the beginning of World War II, 12 times as many as the Japanese ruled, and six times the population of the United States. In less than half a century, they have conquered far more than the total number of the world's population who have heard the minimum story of Christ from any source after nearly 2000 years."

The answer to the problem of combating the Communists lies in the area of education —education of the masses to the menace that is engulfing them while they are not aware of it. The Communists have stated their plans and they are right on schedule. It is not easy to recognize a Communist. They are shrewd and disciplined; the truth to them is what the party heads — the Presidium — says is the truth.

It is all very terrifying, particularly so because so many millions, even billions, are the unwitting tools of the Reds.

Every American should read this book. The various Foundations which are always "doing something" for people around the World, might well see to it that "You Can Trust the Communists" is available to everybody who can read, and who is able to work individually to prevent our destruction. I cannot emphasize this too strongly.

YOU CAN TRUST THE COMMUNISTS

...to do exactly as they say! Find out why... in this fascinating, true history that gives you the inside facts on how Communism affects you... and tells you what to do about it.

"I am sure that if there were any doubts as to the aggressive intent of the communist doctrine, these were dispelled by your vivid description of the philosophy of the world domination as outlined by the Soviet leaders."
—Marshall S. Roth, Major General, USAF

YOU CAN TRUST THE COMMUNISTS
by Dr. Fred Schwarz (Prentice-Hall, Inc.)

— This detailed expose of Communist mechanizations toward its long objective of world conquest should be read by every American, especially by the millions who are unaware of the insidious and subversive tactics employed by our enemy in its determination to win the class war which it believes will destroy Capitalism, which means the United States. It is a terrifying account of intrigue, deception, fake promises, illegal acts, "brainwashing," seduction of the intellectuals and shrewd manipulation of dupes, many of whom believe they are anti-Communists but actually are the tools of the Kremlin. And the hour is late to meet this challenge.

The title, "You Can Trust the Communists" is deceptive in that you can trust the Communists only to do precisely what they have said they will do. Their intentions, beliefs and methods have been stated many, many times and there has been no deviation from the course they plotted under Lenin, carried on by Stalin and Khrushchev. They have proclaimed a fight to the finish with Capitalism and the war is prosecuted relentlessly on schedule. The author is Dr. Fred Schwarz, an Australian who has traveled around the world to attack the Communists and to warn all of us of impending danger. He has spoken in St. Louis.

For those who have the will to be informed —hence, able to meet the Red challenge— this is an invaluable handbook.

He describes how cells and fronts are formed. He reveals the studied technique of "brainwashing." He tells about the discipline and sacrifices demanded from every party member as well as the fellow travelers and sympathizers, even to the point of confessions of guilt which actually does not exist. This causes men and women to stand in the dock and admit they are "traitors and unfit to live" because they have betrayed the working class, which they have not.

It is not easy to become a party member. The Communists have never aimed at the conversion of great masses of people. "Their whole concept," writes Dr. Schwarz, "is that of a small party, compact, mobile, disciplined and dedicated, consisting largely of an intellectual elite. It is the task of this small group to utilize scientifically the social forces that move and direct the masses of the people, so that the Communist party may come to power over them, and impose forcibly the Communist program.

"The program of Communism is to recruit into the services of the party great numbers of individuals most of whom are unconscious that they are serving the Communist purpose."

Among the latter are students around the world who play the Communist game to the hilt although the majority of them are not Reds, perhaps are openly anti-Communist. They are the notable dupes, the psuedo-liberals who entertain delusions of making the world better by aiding and abetting the diabolically clever men in Moscow.

tive. Our apathetic complacency must be replaced with a vigorous ideological offensive. The current military stalemate must be maintained at all costs. We must immediately stop all trade with Communist countries using slave labor. Leadership of the free world requires strong morals and courage of conviction. We must make a distinction between right and wrong, good and evil, and defend the policy at all costs. Compromise means slavery. Foreign subsidies to proven friends should be continued, but aid to Communist or middle-of-the-road countries should be stopped. We should declare the Communist movement an outlaw in the community of civilized nations. Using every legitimate means at our disposal, including the underground movement in captive countries, we should encourage the people in captive nations to throw off the yoke of bondage and pledge our assistance when the will for freedom displays itself as it did in Hungary, Tibet, East Germany and Poland. To paraphrase Lenin, "Captive peoples of the world, revolt; you have nothing to lose but your chains."

We must successfully answer and defeat the challenge of Communism or we shall be destroyed —and with us, the freedoms and entire precious heritage which our forefathers have fashioned for us through the centuries. We cannot afford to lose. We can WIN.

PEACE or VICTORY

PEACE or VICTORY

by W. P. Strube, Jr.

PEACE APPEARS in many panoramic attires. It may be real or an illusion. There is the peace of ignorance. A person, like so many in America today, may have peace simply because he is uninformed. In not knowing the facts, he remains undisturbed. "Ignorance is bliss." There is the peace of mental gymnastics when an individual pretends things are not as they are, and, at times, convinces himself contrary to the truth—the proverbial ostrich with its head in the sand. Among many today we find the peace of fatalism, "What will be will be." Such individuals hold to the belief that man cannot change destiny. Such peace dooms man to helplessness and serves as a defense for laziness.

There is the peace of anesthesia, making a man insensitive to reality. It may be brought on by alcohol, dope, or just the intoxication of entertainment. This is the peace of escape. Some men will do whatever is necessary to keep numb to reality. Physically, if a man does not feel pain, he may become sedated to its cause and ultimately destroyed by indifference. False peace disarms an individual, or a nation, and places either at the mercy of the facts.

Today, the Communists have confronted us with a decision—submit or be crushed. Illustrating this on an individual basis is possible because of our Korean experiences. Many of our P.O.W.'s relate the facts. The Communists deprived them to the point of death—inadequate rations, severe cold resulting in influenza, pneumonia and apparent death, to be suddenly surprised in the Communists' provision of food, hospitalization, multiple vitamins, antibiotics, and physical restoration of health. This was then followed by another cycle of fatigue and suffering to the point of death or insanity. Our men reported after several of these circular nightmares that they became eternally grateful for the Communists having saved their lives, completely overlooking the fact that they had been responsible for the suffering. This same principle is being used by the Despots of the Kremlin in international affairs. Threaten in the Mideast, talk peace; shell Quemoy on alternate days; make demands in Berlin with the alternative of surrender or nuclear war. From a human viewpoint, these alternatives are tantamount to a condition of anxiety relieved by a false temporal security. America lets herself be distracted by trouble, and then takes refuge in unreality. Many Americans today are actually grateful to Khrushchev for having kept us out of a nuclear war, overlooking the fact that he is the man primarily responsible for world tension.

Lasting peace from a human viewpoint can only be built on a foundation of justice and moral responsibility. Justice and moral responsibility, as we know them, are completely alien to the Communist system. America is naive to stake her future on any agreement or treaties with the Communists. The Communists may temporarily honor an agreement, even when it works to their disadvantage. They are ready to accept such tactical losses while awaiting their opportunity to break the agreement, and by so doing, advance their plans for world domination.

We must accept the fact that Communist pressures will continue as long as their goals remain unchanged. Conflict is the chief instrument of their drive to remake their people, and the world, in accordance with their Communist blueprint. We must, therefore, be prepared for a long siege of continuing pressure. "Like it or not, the great and inescapable task of our epoch is not to end the cold war, but to win it."—Eugene Lyons.

Is there another alternative to atomic annihilation or surrender? Yes, there is. The peace of God is the only authentic peace. It works with things as they are. Apart from Jesus Christ, a man has two alternatives when faced with cold, hard, and brutal facts—ANXIETY or FALSE SECURITY. Either he lets himself be distracted by troubles, or he takes refuge in unreality. The peace of God mobilizes a man, enables him to keep his equilibrium in the face of the facts, makes him poised, efficient and capable. He is the master, never the victim of circumstances. He is aware of the facts, and more than a match for them in the strength of Christ. Christ said, "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

How do we go about winning the cold war, once we have shaken off the crippling fear of atomic war? First, VICTORY must be our objec-

THE RED'S PROGRAM FOR THE CHURCH

by Mrs. Helen Sigrist

Former Communist Party Member

LAST fall a delegation of Australian churchmen visited Red China, and came back delighted with both the economic state of China and the freedom they felt the church has under Communism. This spring representatives of Japanese churches made a similar trip, with most of their reports being equally optimistic. Can we believe such reports? If not, what happens to well-meaning churchmen when they take conducted tours of Communist countries? Have they undergone some mysterious "brain-washing?"

"Brain-washed" Clergymen?

Yes, in a very real sense such delegates are "brain washed." Churchmen are especially easy to influence unless they understand the meaning of Communism. They're idealists. They've been taught to look for good rather than bad. Most of them are not well grounded in economics or political science. Communists consider them the most naive section of the world's population, though they'd not put it as gently as that.

Besides this, if they have fought Communism it's too often because of what they thought it was, not for what it really is. They've thought all Communists are out for personal wealth or power, and then they meet one who has obviously sacrificed much for the movement and would give his life for it, expecting no reward in heaven and nothing now but the thought of building a new world. They've heard of free love, and find among Young Communists higher moral standards than among most non-Christians of the free world. They've pictured all Communists as sadistic, humorless maniacs, and meet some who chat about Beethoven and laugh easily at little incidents, as people laugh everywhere. They decide they must have been wrong about Communists, and are disarmed.

Then the churchmen hear for the first time from able speakers the "other side" of the story of colonialism and exploitation and how the church followed the advance of imperialism, and it seems to make sense. They see illiteracy being reduced, and they see no more beggars. They see that though the country is still poor, yet people have enough food to live. They talk to church leaders who say that the Communists have made a deal with them and they are free, if only they are loyal to the government. And the churchmen go home believing—brainwashed because they didn't know what Communism was when they went, and they still don't know.

Then what is Communism?

First, Communism is an ideal society of which men dream, in which there would be no war, crime nor poverty and very little sickness, in which each person would work for the love of it and receive all he needs. Communists never claim to have such a society, only that it will grow once capitalism is dead and there is no more need to keep a war machine. Theirs is Satan's dream of heaven without God. They might succeed except for the fact that it is man's fallen nature that is responsible for the evils of his society, not the other way around.

Second, Communism is a movement to destroy the old world and build the new through the instrument of the Communist Party, which is never intended to be more than a small, resolute, thoroughly convinced minority. This Party works openly, and secretly. It enters organizations it hopes to win over, others it hopes to sabotage and smash, others it intends to neutralize. A majority of the people may not favor its program before a successful revolution, but the majority must be neutralized, that is, be unwilling to fight to the death against them. Let us never think that Communists would rest while any tiny portion of the world was not in their control. As one of their songs goes, "We want the earth and all that's on it...."

Third, Communism is a philosophy of life, one that is often called a religion because it gives men something to live and die for. Many Communist theories have changed since the days of Marx, as no one can predict economic and political developments with complete accuracy. Communists adapt to new conditions or forget some of their theories. But the basis can never be changed, and it's well for Christians to remember this if they think of cooperation with Communists. That basis is materialism. Communist teaching means nothing if there is even the possibility of the supernatural in the universe.

Most educated people have heard the Marxist phrase "Religion is the opiate of the people." Do Communists really mean that? They certainly do, and they hate every expression of religion, especially Christianity. I know that as a Communist I hated the God I said didn't exist with a fury that is beyond the understanding of all who haven't felt it. I hated the sight of a church or a Bible or a minister. The Communists I knew felt the greatest contempt for England's Red Dean of Canterbury and other religionists who helped us, even when it was clear that their "surpernaturalism" was little more than words. For all that, we always had a smile and a warm handclasp for the pastor or the Sunday school teacher who wandered our way. We had learned to stomach many things we didn't like for the sake of the cause, and we could greet these people because we had to, even if it meant prattling piously about "Comrade Jesus." Many a church participated in Communist-sponsored movements on welfare problems or education or segregation or civil rights. (Communists are not too alarmed when they happen to be unpopular for the moment. Look what happened in China!)

Communists intend to destroy the church. They want to do it as quickly and efficiently as possible. They plan to wipe from the memory of man all thought of religion except as a myth believed by ignorant ancestors. Why then do Russia and China guarantee freedom of religion in their constitutions? Because Satan learned something in Nero's day and will not make the mistake again of giving a simple and quick choice between Christ and death. The freedom promised on paper, and the limited freedom in practice, seems to the Communists the quickest way to kill Christianity. Besides they intend to use the church in its dying years.

Clergymen Confused

A happy Australian churchman reports that Red China has had to "come to terms with the church." But remember, the Communist goal is to neutralize antagonism. The church is required not only not to oppose the government, but to support it loyally, and this brings into submission not only church members but all in their circles of influence. Leaders are asked to condemn foreign missionaries as agents of imperialism, and it doesn't seem an issue worth dying for so they do it, even though such of them as are truly born again received life in Christ because of the ministry of these missionaries. The church must tell outsiders that it is free—and so word spreads throughout the world, and antagonism is softened, and nations are prepared just a little more for the day of their own disaster. In Communist theory, everything is political, whether astronomy or child care. Chinese Christians may think they have not compromised in matters of faith—and who are we to condemn them, who have not been under like pressure?—but is it really the government that has come to terms, or is it the church? For the Chinese Communists, the church has become a political agent, quietly cooperating, until the time comes for its death.

Meanwhile Communist strategy is to take from the church the youth, its future leaders, by compulsory teaching of materialist science; by arranging activities conflicting with church programs, they plan to isolate the younger generation and only a handful of "odd numbers" will cling to religious faith. The church is restricted in its publications, is denied the right to conduct schools as it used to do, is usually unable to hold open air meetings, and so on. It meets a steady stream of anti-religious propaganda. Yet this is proudly described as freedom.

Much is made of the fact that in recent years no one has been imprisoned or killed on the charge of being a Christian. True. As Christianity is not itself a crime on the books, those whose preaching is zealous and who seem to the government to have too little enthusiasm for Communism, are arrested on some small technical charge, or on some frame-up, or are accused of being spies because of past association with missionaries. Through unrelieved pressure that breaks the spirit, many come to believe that their Christian work may have been part of a foreign plot to control Chinese minds, and they confess and are reeducated along Communist lines. Others receive strength to resist, and are never heard from again. No one is given the chance to die for Christ as the world sees it. The Lord sees it otherwise.

There is nothing unique about the Communist tactics in dealing with the church, as it is good Marxist-Leninist theory to have an immediate goal that seems quite different from the ultimate goal. Communists are internationalists—yet they support every nationalist movement, either to direct it, or in the hope that it will weaken the great world powers. Communists promise small farms to poor peasants when estates are divided—yet they soon coax or force them to join collectives. Communists scream for academic freedom when Red teachers are discharged in capitalist countries—but themselves give far less freedom. Communists work in trade unions in every country before the revolution—but afterward render them almost functionless. Communists support pacifist groups to cripple their enemies—but are far from pacifist themselves. It's no wonder that they use a promise of freedom as a means of killing the church.

Now we know that God is able to overrule Satan's agents, human or otherwise. He can comfort and strengthen Christians and give them wisdom. Even the newest Christian has the promise that it will be given him what he should say in a day of trial. In answer to prayer in China and outside, the Holy Spirit can frustrate the destroyers and give revival. Perhaps then the Communists would turn to violence in desperation, but even that could build the church.

Delegations Destroy Church

Will the Chinese church be benefited, however, by the sending of delegations who come back with rosy reports? No. Such reports injure the church, both in China and outside. The Chinese church will lose because the reports will not arouse Christians to pray earnestly for China and the believers there, but will remove all sense of urgency or pressing need. We will lose because we will go on our complacent way, crying peace when there is no peace, unmoved at the disaster that has overtaken a large part of the world. We will be lulled to sleep, while Communists, sneering at our stupidity, work night and day to destroy faith in the world. Then one day the Red government will ask the church of Jesus Christ in China to send its sons to fight with the blessing of the church. When they march, we who have helped build their power by an easy policy of accepting and speaking well of this Satanic force will see our mistake, too late.

Must we then desert our brothers in China? Is there nothing we can do to help them? We should by all means seek to do anything we can that is a real help. Until we are sure that some other means will not do more harm than good, we can pray. Not a vague mumbling of "God bless the Christians in China," but real intercession, the prayer that costs and that releases the power of Almighty God. Perhaps those who know the Chinese church best could mobilize this prayer by a campaign suggesting specific needs, real goals. Let us never say "It seems we can do nothing but pray." Let it rather be, "God is omnipotent—and we can pray!" ★ to be reported; the Communists then took the babies "10 to 15 days after birth."

One Communist technique was to show movies to boys and girls, then tell them they would see more of these in China. If the child was willing to go the parents were forbidden to interfere; if the child didn't fall for the trick the parents were blamed, taken before a public meeting and beaten. The investigators found evidence that some parents who objected were executed.

Children who escaped transfer to China were indoctrinated in Communist schools set up in Tibet. In some areas food was denied children whose parents did not send them to these schools. Young people were encouraged to harass parents resisting Communist ways. An 18-year-old boy saw his father with a prayer wheel, began kicking him brutally. When the father tried to protect himself Chinese soldiers intervened, said the youth was within his rights, and let him continue. Later the father drowned himself. The Red policy was to produce planned chaos, uproot the old family order. One boy was asked by the Chinese whether his mother had ever beaten him, then told it was now his turn to beat her.

After nine years of this reign of terror, the Chinese Reds delivered the ultimate insult: in March 1959 Lt. Gen. Tan Kuan-san, political commissar of the Chinese army in Tibet, sent a crude letter directing that the Dalai Lama, the god-king of Tibet, present himself unescorted at the Chinese military headquarters. This order was virtual blasphemy because religion required that the Dalai Lama, who is the Living Buddha, should not appear in public without his escort of senior abbots and courtiers. Behind it, also, was the threat that the Dalai Lama was about to be abducted, isolated from his advisers, then converted into a helpless tool of Communism.

The result was the dramatic escape of the Dalai Lama to India, where in freedom he told the investigators, "The Chinese Communists invaded Tibet in the name of 'liberating' Tibet. Liberation has come to those brave countrymen of mine who died fighting in the cause of Tibetan freedom. The rest of my country is enslaved by a foreign power known for its ruthlessness and expansionist policies."

The flight of their god-king touched off a nation-wide revolt which the Red conquerors crushed with hideous brutality. Though thousands of Tibetans were slaughtered, pockets of resistance remain in less accessible areas.

Twelve years ago the member states of the United Nations agreed on a Convention for the Prevention and Punishment of Genocide, the gravest crime of which any nation can be accused. Regarding the Red Chinese actions in Tibet, the Dalai Lama said, "As I understand it, it is not necessary for the perpetration of genocide to destroy the major portion of the population. It is enough if an alien power, by mass killings, deportations and immigration, so changes the face of the country that the people become a minority, that their religion is exterminated, their culture destroyed, and even their identity. This is happening in Tibet."

TERROR IN TIBET

The shocking proof of how the Chinese Reds use torture and mass murder to wipe out the religion and folkways of an ancient nation

By Lowell Thomas

Prior to 1950, Tibet was an isolated, mountainous country in south-central Asia. Its two million inhabitants (or there may be two or three times that number—no census has ever been taken) were devoted to prayer and worship. But in October of that year, inner Tibet, the land ruled by the Dalai Lama, was invaded by Red China, a grim nation of 670 million, whose leaders have proclaimed that "religion is evil." Since that time, there have been many rumors of Red oppression, torture and murder.

I heard, for instance, that one of my friends, Tsarong Shapé, had been tortured and killed. Tsarong for many years was the No. 1 cabinet minister in Lhasa. Lowell Jr. and I visited him in 1949, and found him in retirement. When the Reds swept down in 1950 he fled to the Indian border. Later the old statesman returned to Lhasa. Instead of allowing him to live quietly with his people, the Chinese put him in chains, dragged him through the streets until he was dead. This I heard from one of his Lhasa neighbors. So I wouldn't call it a rumor.

At any rate, for the first time we now are given the facts—and the facts are even worse than the rumors. The detailed story of Tibet's tragic era has been set down with judicious care in one of the most appalling documents ever assembled by objective investigators. The document is the 345-page report of a legal inquiry committee set up by the International Commission of Jurists, a politically free, non-government organization. The distinguished members of the committee included a judge of the supreme court of Ceylon, a former justice of the supreme court of Burma, an ex-prime minister of Thailand, the president of the Philippine Bar Association, and lawyers from India, Ghana and Norway.

To find out the real story of Tibet, the investigators held hearings in India, where more than 50,000 Tibetan refugees, including the Dalai Lama, had fled. They received statements from a large number of these refugees, then subjected many of them to searching direct examination. They also secured copies of what the official Red Chinese and Chinese-controlled Tibetan press and radio were saying during the dread decade. The picture that emerges is almost too horrible to believe.

What Buchenwald was to the 1940's, Tibet was to the 1950's. The Chinese Reds came into Tibet with a systematic design to obliterate its Buddhist religion. Torture and murder of religious leaders were part of the plan. So were humiliation, degradation and ridicule.

Consider the case of the three lamas, Shar Kalden Gyatso, Arrok Dorji Chung and Sharong Karpo. They were taken before a meeting which the Red Chinese forced Tibetans to attend. First, the Tibetans had to watch Chinese women beat the lamas and pull their hair out. Then, under threat of death, they were forced to join in the beatings. The lamas were next placed in a pit and the Tibetan people made to urinate on them while the Reds in ridicule invited the lamas to fly out of the pit. Finally, the lamas were chained together around the neck, forced to carry human excrement in baskets, and taken from village to village by Chinese soldiers for display before the inhabitants.

Such taunting, often as a prelude to execution, was a technique widely used to discredit lamas and their religion in the eyes of Tibetans. At the Trasang monastery the monks who refused to work were imprisoned in a room without food for four days—and told by the Communists that their God would provide. At Malung, when Phuntsog Norbu, a hermit lama, died after five days without food and water, the Chinese summoned the people, forced them to look at the corpse, told them that God had done nothing for the lama, so they had better give up their religion. At another monastery a monk, Turuklu-Sungrab, protested when Red soldiers used the scriptures for toilet paper. His arm was cut off above the elbow by Chinese who then told him that God would give it back to him.

The Reds seized one lama at a monastery in Derge, harnessed him like a horse, made him eat grass, then compelled the village people to ride him and beat him. When the treasurer of the Sakya monastery was beaten, the villagers who did not beat him hard enough were themselves beaten. Five persons died after one such public beating.

No conceivable indignity was overlooked by the Communists in their efforts to undermine the religious faith of what had been one of the happiest peoples on earth. Beggars were forced to kill dogs, skin them in front of cathedrals, then burn their bodies inside in place of incense. Sacred pictures were defiled, religious images dragged through the streets; horses were stabled in temples; tea caldrons were removed from monasteries for use by soldiers as urinals. People were forbidden to carry rosaries, to use prayer wheels and to burn butter lamps before Buddhist images.

Most of the lamas (the priests, teachers and learned men) were killed; the monks were secularized. The apparent reasoning was that elimination of the lamas would bring an end to religious teaching and organized worship. Secularizing the monks, however, would both discredit religion and enable the Communists to get some work out of them. For the invaders were constructing power stations, bridges, airfields, a network of roads inside Tibet and two major highways linking Tibet to China. One, the Tibet-Sikang highway, called for 1400 miles of construction across 14 mountain ranges and 12 rivers, at an average height of 13,000 feet—supposedly the world's highest road. Tibet's more than 300,000 monks were too valuable a labor force to be wasted before firing squads.

The monks were worked from dawn to dark without a break; even while eating they had to work. If they showed no cuts or blisters on their hands they were accused of not working hard enough. If the allotted task was not completed they were allowed no ration. Women, too, including nuns, were forced to work on the roads.

Meanwhile, the Reds were pushing their campaign to force monks (and some lamas) to marry or live with women, brought from China for the purpose. The investigators found evidence that this calculated insult to religious beliefs was sometimes backed up by threats of beheading, torture, starvation. At the Nangsang Gompa monastery the Reds ordered one monk, Derkong Chozey, to stop praying, get married and go to work. He refused, and in September 1958 the Chinese swept into his hermitage, burned the prayer books and seized all religious articles. Then they called an assembly of the local people and machine-gunned Derkong Chozey to death in front of the crowd.

The investigators found ample evidence of mass executions. One nomad testified that while hiding in the hills he saw lamas whom the Chinese had gathered from the monasteries of one district. He estimated that in 15 days about 1000 of them were executed in public. Another 300 from the wealthy class were summoned to a large field, "lined up and shot, one by one, in front of the people."

Usually the Red Chinese favored condemning, torturing and executing a few lamas at a time—as they had tortured and executed my friend, the aged ex-cabinet minister, Tsarong Shapé. The committee found evidence of death by burning, crucifixion, drowning, burial alive. Through the whole catalogue of horror run several common threads: the fake charges repeated in front of people forcibly assembled, the brutal torture for the public to see, then death. At the Litang monastery they compelled villagers to witness a fiendish test: whether lamas could save their own lives. Two lamas, Nori Gen and No-Sog Gen, were brought out and shot—but not fatally. Then boiling water was poured over Nori Gen and he was strangled. No-Sog Gen was stoned and finally felled with an ax. The helplessness of the lamas was, according to the Communists, proof that they could not help others.

Nor were the atrocities confined to religious leaders. In one village the people were called together to witness the fate of two devout laymen, Chopel Gyaltso and Dolma Kyap. They were tied to a tree while the Red Chinese made an announcement: here are two men who had faith in religion and gave money to the lamas; letting them live would be a bad example for young people. So the two were taken to the edge of a trench and shot in the back.

In their systematic anti-religion plan the Red Chinese paid special attention to Tibetan children. As those of us working on the Tibetan refugee problem had already learned, the International Commission of Jurists found that children had been hauled off to China by the truckload. "The main reason for the transfer of the children," the investigators concluded, "appears to be that the Chinese wished to remove them from parental and religious influence. Transferring large groups of young children to the environment of a Communist society from one that is deeply religious would result in producing a new generation far removed from Buddhism, whether the children ever returned to Tibet or not."

In the first years of the occupation the Reds concentrated on children 8 to 15 years old. Then they began taking younger children, then infants. In certain areas all births had everything, even our life, in order that social justice shall triumph. But you people are afraid to soil your hands."

Are you practicing your Christianity? Are you living daily for Christ? Do you let the cares of this life—making a living, keeping house, going to school, even church activity—keep you from full abandonment to your Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ? Oswald Chambers, in his daily devotional book tells us that Christ says in effect to. His disciples, "Don't rejoice in successful service, but rejoice because you are rightly related to Me." Do you guard your fellowship with the Lord, your daily life of prayer and Bible reading? What are you living for? Whom are you living for?

If you do really love Him, are you sharing the good news? I didn't ask you if you were a preacher, but are you letting your fellow workmen, your neighbors, your schoolmates know that Jesus Christ means everything to you, and that you want to introduce your Saviour to them also?

How about your pocketbook? Does God have it as well as your life and witness for Him? A known Communist in San Francisco said that besides giving one-third of his day to Communism, he also gave half of his income. Do you really give to the cause of Christ and the spread of His Gospel as if your life depended on it? You had better, for it does! Most Christians do not even give the minimum tithe or tenth. We are content to be Christians of convenience. We give out of what is left over (if anything) after buying new homes, new cars, washers, dryers, sports equipment and so on.

I cannot conclude without this word to someone who may be reading this and who is yet a stranger to the family of God and dead in trespasses and sins. If the Communists do achieve world domination, I should a thousand times rather fall into their torturing and cruel hands than to leave this life unprepared to meet God. "The body they may kill," wrote the hymnwriter. But Christ said, "Rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell" (Matthew 10:28). You may have to face a firing squad after a few more years here on earth, but you don't have to face an eternity in hell after this life is over. When the books are opened in eternity, it won't be a question of what you lived and died for politically, but what you did with Jesus who is called Christ. "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God" (John 3:18).

Why not ask Jesus Christ, God's only begotten Son, to come into your heart right now, take away your sin and give you life that never ends. Then live all-out for Him. God is still on the throne. He will finally put all His enemies under His feet, but you and I can and must have a real part in this victory. "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Ephesians 5:14).

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

"WE ARE THE YOUNG AND AGGRESSIVE," Nikita Khrushchev said, when Americans ventured into Lebanon, "and you are the decadent civilization! We will wipe the memory of capitalism from the face of the earth!"

Communism fully intends to conquer the world by or before 1973, and the Reds consider their program to be as much as five years ahead of schedule. In fact, many of Communism's leaders openly boast that they will have a dictator in Washington, D. C. within the next decade!

"When we conquer the United States," Khrushchev is reported to have said, "Sixty million Americans must be removed." Can this possibly happen here in America? A few months ago in Salem, Oregon, an evangelical pastor was approached by a Communist Party member in an effort to soften up the Communist cause. When the pastor resisted, he was told that the Communists have a complete record of pastors and members of the churches of Salem in their files ready for action at the appropriate time!

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

If the Communists did get control of our country, what would this mean to you and to your church? An official publication of the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives points out that if Communism should come to the United States it would mean that:

1. If you belong to a church, you must prepare for persecution.
2. The Communists would destroy every copy of the Bible they could find.
3. It would be illegal for your children to attend Sunday school.
4. The Communists would indoctrinate your children in atheism.
5. Church weddings, funerals and baptisms would be illegal.
6. Missionary work would be absolutely forbidden.

Yes, it can happen here, unless you and I, and all Americans decide to get busy and do something about it. What can I do, you ask? Rev. W. S. Mooneyham, editor of an evangelical magazine, says: "Face the facts, no matter how unpleasant. The Communists say this is a fight to the finish. Believe them! Khrushchev says, 'We will bury you.' He means it! Keep your head out of the sand and face the issue squarely.

"Don't be complacent. John Noble, who vanished for nine years in a Russian slave camp, said, 'We are drowning in a sea of complacency. Americans simply do not want to care.' You are your brother's keeper, including the 28 million in slave labor camps behind the Iron Curtain.

"Finally, agitate as a Christian for the righteous forces to take the initiative. We have been on the defensive. A personal acceptance of the gospel message is still the best deterrent to the spread of a godless atheism."

Do you see the peril that is at our very doorstep, and also the challenge that faces us? Then let these words from an article in a French Communist paper, "Paix et Liberté," burn with conviction into your heart: "The Gospel is a much more powerful weapon for the renewal of society than is our Marxist philosophy. All the same, it is we who will finally beat you. We are only a handful, and you Christians are numbered by the million. But if you remember the story of Gideon and his three hundred companions, you will understand why I am right. We Communists do not play with words. We are realists, and seeing that we are determined to achieve our object, we know how to obtain the means. Of our salaries and wages we keep only what is strictly necessary; and we give the rest for propaganda purposes. To this propaganda we also consecrate all our free time and part of our holidays. You, however, give only a little time and hardly any money for the spreading of the Gospel of Christ. How can anyone believe in the supreme value of this Gospel if you do not practice it, if you do not spread it, and if you sacrifice neither time nor money for it? Believe me, it is we who will win, for we believe in our Communist message and we are ready to sacrifice any expert on the scene should have known, must have known: Castro's revolution was a Communist revolution. Who sold the U.S.A. and the Department of State itself on the idiotic theory that Castro was our friend? An expert who was right on the scene to see and hear all and report the facts! Herbert Matthews of the New York Times gave America a mythical picture of Castro from the very start. Make no mistake about it, the advisors on the fourth floor of our State Department know Mr. Matthews personally, and they used his reports to justify their traitorous decisions on Cuba and Castro. Certainly, it seems inconceivable that Herbert Matthew's on-the-spot reports did not hint at all of the existence of a danger to the Western Hemisphere. Even after the take-over, when the execution squads were busy and decent Cubans were seeking asylum in America, Matthews continued to hurl misinformation into the face of history. Castro was NOTHING before Matthews. After Matthews, there came American support, and Castro came into power. Tell us, New York Times, is it true that when Castro paid his first visit to the States, he had a secret meeting with Herbert Matthews? If so, what was said? Did Castro thank Matthews, perhaps? Or did they pluck a chicken together? And tell us, New York Times, are your expense accounts open to impartial eyes so that we can see just how much American money you are channeling into the Cuban economy through your reporters? Is the sum out of line with what is allowed for reporters elsewhere? Tell us!

When it was first announced that Khrushchev had been invited to visit the United States, thoughtful men worried that captives behind the iron curtain would think we were abandoning them in favor of the butcher who PERSONALLY led the slaughter of millions. The Times paved the way editorially in the propaganda drive that hypnotized our nation by saying, "... he is entitled to and must receive not only adequate protection but also all the usual courtesies."

In the third stage of brainwashing, an "A plus" to the New York Times.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

A norm for passing judgement:

If a newspaper thinks that Mao Tze-tung is an "agrarian reformer" and that Fidel Castro is an "agrarian reformer," it is then safe to assume that said newspaper is an "agrarian reformer" newspaper.

Replace the modifiers where you see fit.

FINAL STAGE

Be careful what newspaper you support; and even then, do not believe everything a big tabloid tells you. Pass along this word of caution. Let free speech hasten the liberation of our captive press.

Do not be depressed. Communism is atheistic, and it is the atheist who must fear death. America is a God-fearing, God-loving nation at its roots. Be they ever so long and hard-fought, the final stage in all our battles with communism must be our victory. The gates of hell shall not prevail against us.

Compromise with injustice is the lowest form of tyranny.

November 1960 — Subject: Newspapers

THREE STAGES

It is wrong to suppose that Communists would turn a newspaper they had taken over into another Daily Worker to tell us in just so many words that communism is the wave of the future. They are too clever to alienate us when they really want to fool us all the way to defeat. The Reds would begin by having their paper turn gradually left in the arts. Music, movie, radio, TV, and book reviews would start pushing party line insidiously. Later, when the first stage of brainwashing had been passed, the newspaper would move on to the second stage and attack anti-Communists on the national scene, all the while proclaiming spread-eagle opposition to communism abroad. Finally, the newspaper would reach the third stage of brainwashing and, through lies cunningly fed the public, would aid the various causes of communism around the world.

By way of showing the power of the press and the reason why Reds want to control newspapers, let us examine one large American daily, the New York Times. We are not saying that the Times is a Communist paper. We are not saying it is not a Communist paper. We ARE saying it owes some explanations to the American people and some answers to questions being asked around the country. We ARE saying it represents our three stages to a remarkable degree.

FIRST STAGE

Back in the 40's, the New York Times had already presented patrons of the arts with quite an array of staff critics.

Howard Taubman, music editor, once signed a Communist-sponsored petition to Pres. Roosevelt asking that the United States declare war on Finland, which was then resisting Soviet invasion. What type of artist might we suppose was being plugged hardest by Taubman? John Martin, dance critic, had for himself a half dozen recorded affiliations with Red fronts. But Olin Downes, music critic, beat him out with a couple of dozen such connections. Then, we had the column in the Sunday dramatic section called "Rialto Gossip" by Lewis Funke. Funke never did have much stomach for Fascists in the arts. Rightly so! However, he did give generous amounts of space for all sorts of Red performers and Red producers, never bothering to acquaint the reader with the character of the artist he was being encouraged to support. In fact, there were some who suggested, even back in the 40's, that Funke seemed to give left-wingers a disproportionate amount of good publicity. And what did our little pink artists do with the profits culled from our patronage?

The Times book review section is a study in itself. Even today, a book like The Pentagon Case is ignored, and Richard Rovere, author of Sen. Joe McCarthy, a book generously seasoned with lies, is praised without mention of his (Rovere's) having been connected with the notorious New Masses. The trend goes 'way back, however. On June 22, 1947, Owen "let South Korea fall" Lattimore wrote in a Times book review: "From Edgar Snow's Red Star Over China to Theodore White and Annalee Jacoby's Thunder Out of China, the list of names is distinguished —— and most of these writers won their distinction solely or primarily by what they had to say about China. Israel Epstein has without question established a place for himself in that distinguished company..." Epstein's book: the awful Unfinished Revolution in China. Epstein himself: named under oath by a government witness as a Communist.

The New York Times gets an "A plus" rating for meeting the first-stage brainwashing requirements in its treatment of the arts.

SECOND STAGE

Keep in mind this directive issued by Lenin: "We can and must write in a language which sows among the masses hate, revulsion, scorn and the like, toward those who disagree with us."

The New York Times has written about many men it disagrees with, but it usually manages to maintain an air of respectability. Hitler or Mr. K. never received the treatment accorded Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy by the Times. The staid newspaper descended to the gutter to throw mud, twist quotations, make insinuations, censor out facts, and join with the Daily Worker's satanic crusade against "McCarthyism." Was McCarthy the enemy, rather than Alger Hiss, the Rosenbergs, Harry Dexter White, et al?

This same paper allowed 15 column-inches on 3/25/51 to an attack on a student loyalty oath at the University of California. Thereafter, many such attacks occurred. They still occur. Although it is a matter of record that Red school teachers have been involved in atomic espionage, in recruiting youths for their conspiracy, and in disruptive tactics against our school systems, the Times opposed the Feinberg Law, which bans Communists from holding teaching jobs in New York State. The entire Red offensive on our institutions is led by an illogical appeal for exaggerated "academic freedom," which says you have no right to stop your deadly enemy until after he has murdered you. The promulgation of such nonsense by the New York Times has been hardly distinguishable from that of the worst Communist front outfits. Most efforts to weed out pornographic movies and books such as Lady Chatterley's Lover have been lamented by the Times as "censorship." If a Pure Food and Drug Act is necessary, are there no curbs on moral poisons? Why doesn't the Times report the available facts about Communist support of pornography in America? A Times editorial once expressed "very serious doubts... about the validity of this entire investigation of screen actors by the House Un-American Activities Committee." Would it not seem more appropriate for the House Un-American Activities Committee to express very serious doubts about much of what goes into the New York Times?

On domestic issues, the Times long ago proved itself opposed to those who fight communism hardest and somewhat prone to defense of many fellow-travelers infesting our house. Here, too, the Times gets an "A plus" for brainwashing.

THIRD STAGE

International communism has spread across the earth's surface in a mysteriously efficient manner since the end of World War II.

One of communism's biggest victories was the fall of China. When Mao Tze-tung started his drive, many school children and inarticulate strap-hangers on busses were perceptive enough to call Mao a Communist. Not the New York Times! The Times told us not to worry because he was only an "agrarian reformer," one dedicated to a program entirely different from that of the Soviets. How many million Americans were kept inactive by that assurance from the Times? Inactive, while men like John Stewart Service, John Carter Vincent, Owen Lattimore, and Henry Wallace saw to it that we withdrew aid from Nationalist China. Oh, Times editorial writers, weigh well these works: 400 million people enslaved in China; 18 million mainland Chinese murdered; missionaries jailed and tortured diabolically; Red Chinese wars spilling blood in Korea, Tibet, Indochina, Malaya, and Laos. Either you believed what you told us, or you did not. If you believed that those barbarians were "agrarian reformers," apologize for your stupidity to the American people and the civilized world. If you did not believe it, have the courage to fly your true color.

Fidel Castro, while still in Oriente Province, was surrounded by Communists. His brother Raul, who kidnapped Americans, is a Soviet-educated Red. Ernesto "Che" Guevara, Fidel's principal aid, is a man who worked up Communist riots in Guatemala before he went to Cuba to join Castro. These men, and others in their company, were being praised by Moscow publications while Batista was still in power. The average American could not have known what Listed below are 31 of the over 700 government corporations showing their losses. These compete with taxpaying private enterprise and are destroying the natural and needed growth of business to provide jobs for an expanding population. Question No. 2 is: "Where will the government get its money to operate on?" The answer is Section 8 Article I of the Constitution: "The Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes, duties, import and excise to pay the debts and provide for common defense and general welfare of the United States, but all duties, import and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States."

a) Duties are custom taxes; import and export.

b) Excise are sales; cigarettes, amusement, corporation and business.

These bring in 48 billion dollars per year, now, which more than meets the needs of government, if the government got out of business.

$38,000,000,000.00 DOWN A RAT HOLE

You will be asked by many people - "How can the Government operate without the Personal Income Tax?" The answer is simple.

Not one penny of your personal income tax is used by the Federal Government to finance any part of the government authorized by the Constitution of the United States of America. It does not pay the President, the Vice President, Senators, Congressmen or any other person on a job authorized by the Constitution.

Now here is how it is used. In excess of $6 billion is used to pay farmers to grow more wheat, corn cotton, tobacco, ect. than the public can consume; and they are also paid for not farming. In excess of $5 billion per year is used as so-called Federal Aid to states, which has been one of the tools used by the Federal government to destroy the sovereignty of the states. Approximately $4 billion per year is being used to construct in foreign countries highways, airports, shipping canals, and to build plants in foreign countries which are competing with American private enterprise and with no investment in their plants. It is used to finance the TVA program and the TVA Fertilizer program which compete with private enterprise.

It is used to finance over 700 large Government owned corporations that are split into 3,000 companies, and each competes with every known phase of American private enterprise, and this is done TAX FREE, RENT FREE, OVERHEAD FREE and with no possibility of loss, they just RAISE OUR TAX. The value of these government-owned corporations is estimated from 50 to 100 billion dollars, and if these were sold to private enterprise, this amount of money could be deducted from the national debt, and these same corporations would go on American tax rolls, paying corporation tax, city tax, county tax and school tax; thereby helping to finance all local issues, and since it would eliminate the annual loss of 38 billion dollars, which is the exact amount of personal income tax paid, the personal income tax can and should be abolished.

It is estimated these corporations would pay corporate income taxes to the Federal Government in the amount of 81/2 billion dollars per year, and this could be used to reduce the debt annually, and through the repeal of the 16th Amendment, the United States of America could and should be debt-free within a period of 25 years.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS "CO-EXISTENCE"!!

In the Communist dictionary "co-existence" means take-over by every method short of a shooting war. Khrushchev observed in Warsaw in 1956:

"But of course we must realize that we cannot co-exist eternally. One of us must go to his grave. We do not want to go to the grave. They (the Western powers) don't want to go to their graves either. So what must be done? We must push them to their graves."

Mr. Boris Ponomarev, who is described by the Daily Telegraph of London as "in charge of Communist Parties in the Western World", is reported -- August 13, 1960 -- as writing in Pravda, "Peaceful co-existence is another kind of class struggle between socialism and capitalism".

R. Vaitheswaran, Lecturer in Economics at Hyderabad University, India, was for six years a member of the Communist Party. Of those six years he spent two and a half in jail. Recently in the Indian Administrative Service examination he was placed first among 23,000 candidates. Speaking at the MRA Assembly at Mackinac, July 1959, he said:

"How can these be co-existence when the Communists have decided to fight until they rule the world? Communism would not be Communism if it were not a fight to the bitter end.

"By 'co-existence' Khrushchev means that Russia retains the right to rule unrestrictedly in her own sphere. He also means freedom for Russia to spread her own ideological poison through her state-subsidized theater and propaganda, and to engineer internal revolutions and crises through the Communist Parties of the world.

"The Communist Party in every country is a united force fighting for a single world revolution.

"Co-existence gives the Soviet the right to infiltrate the democracies without the democratic countries having the right to say what they like about Soviet behavior.

"Russia goes unchallenged when she publicizes on every continent the racial division of Little Rock and the decadence of Hollywood. But America is met by strong opposition when she expresses sympathy for the captive nations.

"China is free to destroy Tibet, But America is not free to rescue Hungary.

"And the most shocking thing of all is, not that China and Russia are what they are, but that we have become what the Russians and Chinese would like us to be -- their willing tools for our own destruction.

"Moral Re-Armament is democracy's true ideology It gives democracy the moral fiber it lacks today. That is why the choice for the world is not war co-existence. It is Moral Re-Armament or Communism."

In a front-page feature article in the Neue Zuercher Zeitung, August 13, 1960, Salvador de Madariaga writes, "The phrase, "We intend to talk to the Russians', which is being used by the Soviet Union all over Latin America, has been created solely by the two Anglo-Saxon powers. Mikoyan was in Cuba, but before that he was in the United States. Khrushchev is going to visit Cuba, but before that he was received with full honors in the United States. The dagger which was designed to attack the West was forged in England and sharpened in the United States.....

"Whom the gods wish to destroy they first strike blind'".

On the eve of Khrushchev's visit to the United States, Dr. Frank Buchman drew the right battle-line in a statement which concluded, "Our destiny is to obey the guidance of God. The true battle line in the world today is not between class and class, not between race and race. The battle is between Christ and Antichrist. 'Choose ye this day whom ye will serve'."

WHY

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

"The best short answer I have ever read to a question that puzzles so many Americans."

DR. J. B. MATTHEWS

WHY PEOPLE BECOME COMMUNISTS

THE AVERAGE AMERICAN, on being shown the present reach and constant progress of the Communist conspiracy in this country, is exactly like the farmer being shown the giraffe. He simply insists that there isn't any such animal.

A main reason for this willful blindness is an inability of the typical American to understand how or why other Americans, very much like himself, could possibly have become Communists. This failure to comprehend or to believe is in turn due to a completely erroneous premise. He thinks that those few misguided souls, who do actually join the strange Communist sect, are moved by some unique and mysterious reason which is beyond the discernment of "normal" people.

There is, of course, no such clear-cut formula for converting any human raw material into the Communist product. The reasons why people become Communists are numerous, diverse, overlapping — and quite orthodox expressions of human psychology. Some of these reasons have been conscientiously reported, by such reconverts to Americanism as Elizabeth Bentley and Whittaker Chambers, out of deep personal experience. Arthur Koestler, George Orwell, and many other writers have brought detailed knowledge and penetrating insight into discussions of what makes a Communist and what makes him tick. We have neither the wish nor the ability to add anything new to the convincing analyses that are already available from many sources. But we shall try to summarize, in a few pages and plain language, the major inducements whereby Communism recruits and maintains its followers.

The Star Gazers . . .

1. We should begin our list with the appeal of Communism to the idealism of its prospective converts. For historically —though not currently—this has been the movement's greatest drawing card.

The young man or woman dreams of making this a better world. He sees poverty, suffering, injustice, and class distinctions around him. He is told that socialism will abolish these things. He does not know that the very poverty, suffering, injustice, and class distinctions at which he is looking have been reduced, by the americanist form of society, to their lowest levels ever reached, at any place on this planet or at any time in history. He does not know that their reduction to a further minimum is directly dependent on, and proportional to, the freedom of individuals from government paternalism. Many socialists never learn this, despite the clear and irrefutable evidence of all historical experience. Those who do, and remain socialists, carefully keep this knowledge from their young nibblers at the communist bait.

Even less does the idealistic young man know that socialism itself, far from eliminating poverty, suffering, injustice, and class distinction, will inevitably increase them all. He is given no warning that socialist plans automatically require an increasing regimentation of individual lives, which does not and cannot stop short of actual slavery of the citizen to the state. These facts, too, the socialists are careful to hide from him. Indeed, all but the most hardened among them are equally careful to keep these facts well hidden beyond the range of their own conscious attention.

Who See Only The Stars . . .

So this idealistic young man becomes convinced that socialism offers not only a way, but the only way, to bring about the brave new world of which he has a vision. He accepts the term communism as meaning socialism in its ultimate and most beneficial form. He is led to believe that Communists are the most sincere and praiseworthy of all those who profess to be socialists. For only the Communists are willing to dedicate their lives to the active fight to establish a world-wide collectivist

Utopia. He is daily taught that the noblest plans are thwarted and delayed only by the willful selfishness of those who exploit their fellow men in a capitalistic system; of those who gain personal advantages from the poverty, suffering, injustice, and class distinctions caused by their exploitations. So he comes at last to accept Communist doctrine, that any means are justified in order to impose a communist organization of society on the whole world for its own good.

By this time the idealistic young man, his soul suffused with a thrilling glow of self-abnegation and self-submersion into a great cause, has become merely a cog in the Communist machine. More and more do action, discipline, and the momentum of the machine displace deliberation in his consciousness. He learns under relentless pressures to be ever more resolute and "realistic", in accepting and carrying out duties assigned to him in furtherance of Communist aims. Finally even treason and murder become methods to condone, or virtuous actions to be performed, when they serve the needs of a crusading army which is marching on to total and glorious victory. To him Communism has now become a fervent and overpowering religion, requiring unquestioning faith on the part of its devotees, and ruling out all other loyalties.

The Lonely Hearts . . .

2. Another attraction of Communism depends on the basic lonesomeness of so many individuals. The Communist program not only gives meaning and purpose, however criminal, to lives which otherwise would be empty of both. It gives a sense of belonging, of sharing the comradeship and objectives and total strength of a vast army of fellow soldiers, to individuals who otherwise would feel lost and alone and unwanted.

There is a need in each human spirit to be a part of something greater than one's self, to lessen the futility of an egocentric existence by doing something that is important to a group. The feeling is present in all of us, and very strong in many. Throughout America today this need accounts for billions of hours of work on the part of millions of individuals in tens of thousands of voluntary associations, clubs, societies, and organizations of every conceivable variety. But the Communists make far more capital for themselves out of this instinctive behavior than any other group. They do so by their unceasing reiteration of the glories of their cause, by the extensiveness of their disciplined direction of an individual's efforts, and by the consciousness which they instill into each convert of the vastness and power of the organization to which he now belongs. Membership in the Communist Party, or adherence to its organizational hive, is more demanding, more exclusive of other interests, and of far more significance in its impact on the individual's own life, than any other loyalty that individual may assume anywhere in the world today—with the single exception of devotion to fundamentalist Christianity. For this very reason a consuming loyalty to the Communist movement is the most satisfying burial of self in something larger that—again excepting fundamentalist Christianity—our contemporary world can offer. It is tragic but true that many a miserable free man is changed by Communism into a happy slave.

Big Snobs With Little Equipment . . .

3. A very important appeal of Communism, not nearly so deserving of sympathy as those discussed above, is to the intellectual snobbishness of the sophomoric mind. There is nobody as fond of the adulation of the "intellectuals" as the pseudo-intellectual who has acquired the jargon, without the knowledge, of ideological scholarship. Being treated by these "intellectuals" as one of them, and hence as superior to the bourgeois herd of Philistines, is the greatest thrill an addlepated "liberal" can enjoy. And the real Communist scholars, unlike those in any other field, are willing to go along with and encourage the pretensions of a superficial phoney, if their doing so serves any Communist purpose.

Frequently it does. For such an individual, through inherited wealth, or high political position within the family, or the possession of a famous name, or through some other fortuitous means, may be able to supply prestige or money or influence to Communist friends and to Communist enterprises. In that case even the most deeply learned of the Communists are entirely willing to put their tongues in their cheeks, cross their fingers, and lead their patron to believe that he is a reincarnated combination of Plato, Hypatia, and John Stuart Mill.

Many of these victims of flattery, especially in the upper social or political levels, do not join the Communist Party or actually become Communists in any technical sense. For Communism is a serious business. There is nothing the Communists can afford less, or dislike more, than to be made to look ridiculous. And half-baked exhibitionists as prominent—or as conspicuous—as Eleanor Roosevelt, Henry Wallace, and William O. Douglas, would not be wanted as Party members. But many a gain for the Communist side, in the Cold War game, has been made by such players, who either didn't know or didn't care that they were carrying the ball for the Kremlin's team. They were too constantly puffed up and exhilarated by all the applause and mental back-slapping from real members of that team.

And Just Little Snobs . . .

At the lower levels, however, men who bask in the fellowship and flattery of people whom they inwardly regard as their intellectual superiors—and also as their superiors in daring, initiative, and leadership—are to be found in almost every Communist cell. The likelihood that they will make laughing stocks out of themselves, in any way that would reflect ridicule on Communist activities, is minimized. It is taken care of by the same discipline and detailed supervision that turns these would-be eggheads into useful work horses for the Communist Party. A great many of the half-educated pedants of the academic cloisters, in particular, belong in this classification. They join, or affiliate themselves with, the Communists, because their acceptance into such "progressive" circles gives reassuring external support to their false show of scholarly standing—which otherwise is not convincing even to themselves.

The Green Sickness . . .

4. Since the academic world supplies so much more than its proportionate share of American Communists, the above discussion leads easily into the next compartment of motivation. The label over that compartment is "Envy." College faculties are not the only source of men who are made Communists by envy, of course. Also, many other motives besides envy, or on top of envy, play their part in making Communists out of Phi Beta Kappas. But "operation envy" is simpler to explain and easier to understand in connection with collegiate raw material than any other. We'll develop our argument through an illustration.

John Jones and Bob Brown were classmates in the liberal arts college of Ivy University. When they graduated, John stood third from the top of his class, Bob stood third from the bottom. Today, twenty years later, Dr. John Jones is making seven thousand dollars per year as an associate professor of history at Siwash College. Mr. Robert Brown is making forty thousand dollars per year as vice-president in charge of sales of the Siwash Soapsuds Company. To the professor this is conclusive evidence of the injustice of a capitalistic society.

For Dr. Jones not only has much the more brilliant mind of the two. He is well aware of that fact. Also, he has applied that mind diligently in his profession. Whatever there is to know about history, he knows it; and what he doesn't know isn't knowledge. He has an adequate familiarity with the fundamentals of literacy in many other fields. He is conscious and proud of having acquired that honest scholarship through hard work, done by a good brain. Mr. Brown, on the other hand, hasn't read a book since Forever Amber was all the rage. His intellect is only fair, and the idea of using it for anything more recondite than how to deal in commodity futures would strike him as absurd. Yet Brown is president of the Siwash Country Club, while Jones cannot afford to be a member.

And The Wrong Cure . . .

Over the years, while this difference in financial status was evolving, Dr. Jones succumbed to increasing bitterness towards a sociological system that made such a difference possible. He resented the importance and the unfairness (as he saw it) of the money rewards as bestowed by a capitalistic society. He longed for a world in which money had either been abolished altogether, or had been relegated to a role inferior and auxiliary to that of ration coupons, allocations, permits and favors issued by governments. And Dr. Jones was a man who followed his resentments and theories to what seemed to him to be their clearly indicated destinations. He became a Communist.

Of course Professor Jones overlooked many things in his comparative appraisal of the efforts, the contribution to society, and the rewards of Salesmanager Brown and himself. Chief among them was the fact that he had chosen an academic career because of his distaste for, or unwillingness to engage in, the competitive struggle for financial success. Jones loved books and learning more than business and a larger pay check. It was his privilege to follow that preference. But to quarrel with the price put on his labors and accomplishments, by a free-market economy, was to set up his own egocentric sense of values as superior to that which automatically represented the total consensus of his fellow Americans. To follow his sense of values for himself was praiseworthy; to insist that everybody else accept it too was sophomoric arrogance.

In the second place, Dr. Jones is pleased with himself that he has never subjected his personality to the "vulgar" demands of salesmanship. He is proud of his solid standing in the cap-and gown fraternity; of the respect for his learning on the part of his peers; and of many rewards which have come his way, of a kind that he doesn't think Brown would even understand. He considers the publication of his one book so far as a much more satisfying and important form of recognition of his worth than Brown's larger pay check; and he admits his presidency of the regional Association of Historians is a far more substantial honor than Brown's presidency of the country club. Yet he covets all that Brown has too.

Finally, Dr. Jones had never evaluated, nor even become aware of, the most significant terms in his equation. In order to reach a job at forty thousand dollars per year, in competition with other men after the same goal, Bob Brown had given of himself, in efforts more determined and in ways more demanding than John Jones ever dreamed. Jones feels virtuous because he preferred to avoid the strains and exactions of a competitive business existence. He doesn't realize that maybe Brown would have preferred to avoid them, too. But Brown considered the forty thousand per year, and such incidental returns as being president of the country club, as worth the cost out of his life and peace of mind. He may have been wrong, but the choice was his—just as Jones' choice was his own. And Brown, in the course of meeting the competition which he thus chose to face, helped the productive American economy to make available to Jones, at prices which even Jones could afford, the clothes on his back, the refrigerator in his kitchen, the car he drives, and even the books which he reads.

But Dr. Jones doesn't understand the processes through which he obtained these comforts in exchange for what he offered, nor Brown's part in those processes which made him worth forty thousand dollars per year to his firm and to the productive economy. Jones wants to have his cake and eat it too. This is something which the Communists promise to all fools who will listen, and especially to fools with a doctor's degree. And they obtain converts on the strength of these promises, despite the oft proved fact that in a socialist society both

Jones and Brown get less cake, either to have or to eat, than in any other.

Tugwell Turns A Phrase . . .

We are not primarily concerned here, however, with the fallacy of the reasoning, or the unfairness of the invidious comparisons, which made Dr. Jones a Communist. We have wished merely to illustrate how envy serves as a Communist tool. Skillfully used by dedicated hands, it molds many a lukewarm prospect into an ardent member of the Party. And envy itself is only one model of the psychological tool called hatred, which is found in every Communist work box.

For hatred is a very powerful emotion among human beings. In the early days of the New Deal, Rexford Tugwell emphasized the importance of bitterness — toward capitalism and capitalists—in the campaign to bring about those social changes advocated by himself and his fellow "liberals". He urged the faithful to spur themselves on "by an energizing hatred".

The driving force in the whole life and philosophy of Karl Marx was hatred—of everybody who was not as foul as himself. (Which was quite a large order, as the reader may easily verify by studying the details of Marx's personal life.) Hatred was the one, and the decisive, contribution of Lenin to the mood of the Russian Revolution of 1917, whereby he converted it into the October Bolshevist Revolution and a Communist strike for power. We find countless exhibits of the same brand of sulphurous hatred coming to the surface in contemporary America, as in the desecrative utterances of Milton Mayer or the obscene blasphemies of Langston Hughes.

Both Seed And Harvest . . .

Hatred, of the laborer for his boss, of colored people for their white neighbors and vice-versa, of Protestants for Catholics—wherever there is a climate in which it can be cultivated, hatred is both a product of Communist effort and a necessity of Communist progress. Sowing the seeds of such hatred and nourishing the crop is the constant work of many thousands of busy Communist minds and hands, both trained to make the greatest possible use out of every tragic opportunity. One result of all this fomentation of hatred is the continuous recruitment of additional workers, attracted to the trouble-making by a sympathetic feeling for its ostensible aims. These recruits range from Negro tenant farmers to the presidents of great universities. And identically the same envy or hatred of their fellow men, whom they consider better treated than themselves by the American system, may be the most powerful impulse to the acceptance of Communism on the part of both.

Involuntary Captives . . .

5. But not all Communists become such by persuasion and indoctrination. Many are driven into the fold by blackmail, terrorism, and other forms of coercion. The ordinary reader will say to himself: "Oh, sure. Unfortunately some men are undoubtedly driven by such methods to carry out Communist orders, or even to work on their own initiative to advance Communist causes. They never turn into real Communists, however; and they are always ready to break away from their Communist associations at the first opportunity." This conclusion would be correct in some cases, but in a great many it would not.

Mr. X, when quite young, drank too much one night, got into a brawl in the local tavern, killed a man in the fight which developed, and served three years in the penitentiary for manslaughter. On leaving prison he went to another city, where nobody knew anything about him or his past, started over, and has led an exemplary personal life ever since. He went to a law school in the new city, passed the bar, began the practice of law, got married, had two children, and, at the age of thirty-one or -two was struggling along like most of us to "get ahead" in the world.

Primarily as a result of his undergraduate days in an Ivy League college, Mr. X was a "liberal" in local politics, but only to the extent that was currently fashionable. Suddenly, out of a blue sky, he was offered a job in our State Department in Washington. The offer seemed to be solely the result of his friendship for another and more prominent lawyer in the town. It was made to sound entirely plausible to Mr. X by the kind interest of this importantly-connected fellow liberal in Mr. X's career, and by complimentary comments concerning Mr. X's special fitness for the position. These comments also conveyed a reasonable expectation of rapid advancement in government work. Mr. X accepted the appointment, with a few secret regrets about his hidden past, but without any suspicion that the Communists already had him and that past under their untiring observation.

Become Enthusiastic Converts . . .

In Washington Mr. X did "get ahead" in the State Department. He discovered early that the more he leaned to the left, the more favorably he was regarded by those associates and superiors who were paying the most attention to him, and the more his responsibilities increased. Also, he was encouraged to "liberalize" his views still further by the strength and unanimity of the "liberalism" around him. Caught up in the flood of "enlightened democracy" and one-worldism at work, Mr. X found it a thrilling and happy experience to float along on so benign a wave.

Then a crisis arose. Mr. X found that he was expected to do something, or to take a position, which was so "liberal" that, even to his now slanted sensibilities, it bordered on treason. He rebelled, reluctantly but firmly. And that brought a gentle but equally firm awakening. Mr. X was led, politely and affectionately, to see that a "reactionary" could not be allowed to block the wheels of humanitarian progress, even if his past had to be revealed to get him out of the way of those wheels. He could take his choice. He could be smeared as a jailbird, and tossed out of his job as a "fascist traitor" to the cause of true democracy. Or he could continue to work and advance as a member of the noble brotherhood of courageous forward-looking, dedicated souls, who were striving to bring justice and peace and equality and democracy to the whole world. Disturbed, but wishing to be convinced, Mr. X went along with the noble brotherhood.

From that point on the screws gradually tightened on the sides of the trough in which Mr. X moved forward. But so long as he didn't try to jump out of that trough his progress became even faster and more assured. He soon realized the real terms of the two courses open to him. One was to fight an organization which, as he already saw, was too well entrenched and too insidiously powerful for him to make any impression against it. The other was to do the bidding of that organization; to let himself become ever more closely allied in aims and in spirit with its members and dupes; and thus to reap all the rewards of increasing power, prestige, and remuneration which that organization could throw his way. In due course Mr. X wound up as a full-fledged and consecrated Communist, doing his important part to advance the purposes of the international Communist conspiracy — and giving as much of his energy as directed to bringing other prospects along exactly the same path that he himself had followed.

And The Victims Are Varied . . .

It is not only in every branch of the American government that blackmail pressures of this kind have been used, and are being used effectively today, by the hard-core Communists. Skillfully adjusted versions of the same basic mechanism are at work in our educational world, scientific world, and every area of public influence and authority. Nor is it only the man with a jail term behind him who is the victim of such smooth coercion. The stick for resistance and the carrot for submission are employed very cleverly, complementing each other, on many a poor soul who has been trapped into wearing the Communist harness.

We took Mr. X for our illustration simply because this article is dealing with the question of why "normal" people become Communists. In actual fact the blackmail approach is most widely and profitably used by the Kremlin's agents on brilliant men who have the extreme misfortune to be homosexuals. Such men seem to gravitate almost automatically into government service. They have a built-in and fundamental predisposition to resent the accepted standards and beliefs of our society. They also have, always over their heads, a threat of personal disgrace far more disturbing than the record of a jail sentence. So these unfortunate individuals become easy putty for molding by Communist techniques into disciplined and devoted members of the Party. Also, because of the introvert brilliance of their minds, and their obsessive desire for success and public recognition to counterbalance a guilt-consciousness that is ever with them, they develop into some of the most high-placed and potent Communists in any government. For these reasons it is not too surprising or unusual to find one of these agents of the conspiracy smoothly and subtly promoting its aims, as a high functionary of our State Department or as the administrative head of some great international organization.

"Most Flagrant Of The Passions" . . .

6. This brings us logically to the next classification, which consists of those who are converted into Communists by the appeal of the carrot, without any brandishing of a stick being necessary. And the most effective carrot—especially for the ruthlessly ambitious spirits whom the Communists wish most to have on their side—is the promise of personal power.

In Russia, since Stalin consolidated his dictatorship and liquidated all of the old Bolsheviks along with whatever idealistic revolutionary fervor still remained; in China almost from the very beginning of the Communist drive; in most other countries since Stalin's control over international Communism became virtually complete; everywhere, for the past two decades, the sheer lust for power has been the primary motivation of those who achieved high standing in the Communist "aristocracy". What has been presented to the world as a revolutionary movement based on ideological considerations, and what is still so presented to the outside masses and to millions of its own proletariat today, long ago degenerated in fact into a plain conspiracy of gangsters.

So the cunning man without conscience, in any country, who sees in the whole vast Communist apparatus the opportunity and means of achieving power over others, may join the Party for that ultimate purpose. The more clearly he sees from the very beginning that the Party's ideological pretenses are merely a sham and a weapon, so far as those in the top ranks are concerned, the more rapidly he advances within the hierarchy. In time he benefits at the level of baron, earl, or prince, from all the labor of the serfs at the bottom of the Communist organizational pyramid. And whatever his position at any given moment, in this unconfessed but rigid order of ascending privilege and power, he never ceases scheming and striving to climb higher still.

Even As Gould And Capone . . .

In the United States of the nineteenth century such men would have set out to acquire this desired power through amassing great wealth by almost any means. Some of them still do. A generation ago men like Al Capone went into the rackets. Some of them still do. Twenty years ago men of the same type went into the lush fields of mushrooming labor unionism. Many still do. But increasingly over the past two decades men with this lust for power have gone into the vastly more expansive racket of imposing a secret Communist gangsterism on all the rest of America.

There are differences, of course. The earlier racketeers were willing to use almost any means to accomplish their ends. The Communists use any means, without qualification. The power of these earlier overlords was less tangible but more visible than that of their Communist counterparts. In America today, for obvious reasons, the most powerful and successful Communists are the secret ones, whom the public—and most of their Communist underlings—do not even suspect of having Communist sympathies. The fact that their power is exercised behind the scenes, and that their authority and standing are known only to an inner circle, apparently adds to the thrill for men with minds of a certain type.

But the differences fade away before the likeness, in the paths and aims that have been pursued—with one exception. Because of the importance attached to the ideological argument, in the arsenal of Communist weapons, education and suavity are of far more value to the ambitious Communist than they ever were to the buccaneering financier, to the Tommy-gun gangster, or to the boss of a hoodlum battalion in some so-called labor union. So the Communist racket has attracted far better educated, more deceptive, and hence more dangerous men, to its ranks. Then, out of these lower ranks, the most cunning, most ruthless, and most dangerous have risen to be its leaders.

"The Way To Promotion And Pay" . . .

7. Finally we come to the pure opportunist. Here is the man who does not consciously chart the course of his own future. But he does want always to float with, instead of to struggle against the current. And he is keen enough to sense the direction of the current, even in waters that seem placid to the less shrewd observer. It is a frightening fact that he and his kind now probably constitute the largest single source of converts to Communism—or at least to an actively sympathetic attitude towards Communists—as more and more "wise guys", even in America, become convinced that Communism really is "the wave of the future."

Whether these contemporary vicars of Bray are correct as to the ultimate total victory of the side they have chosen remains to be seen. But the evidence of their wisdom, as to the immediate practical and material results of their betrayal of both country and civilization, is visible on every hand. To pay off, this betrayal does not even have to be active or premeditated; it can be passive, or unintentional, or both. So strong and all-pervasive has now become the Communist influence and the secret Communist strength in this country, that you do not even have to be pro-Communist to reap the rewards of Communist favor. All you have to do, for the ubiquitous wheels of this conspiracy to start turning on your behalf, is to be visibly and vigorously anti-antiCommunist. You fight to put down the enemies of the Communists, and they will fight, in dozens of ways which you cannot see and may not suspect, to lift you up.

The adherents to the anti-antiCommunist line range all the way from active participants in the Communist conspiracy to good patriots who are honestly duped into belittling the menace of that conspiracy. But all benefit from following it.

For Example . . .

Isn't it arguable, for instance, that Nathan Pusey's bitter opposition to McCarthy was an important factor in having him chosen as president of Harvard University? Or that General Zwicker's promotion in rank was largely due to the same influences at work behind the scenes? These influences wanted not only to reward Zwicker for his testimony, protecting the protectors of Communists; they wanted the whole American public to see that such acts of anti-antiCommunism would be rewarded.

Does anybody believe that Dore Schary's leanings to the left did not materially aid his meteoric career in Hollywood? Or that Drew Pearson's column would be syndicated in as many newspapers today, if he had not done such a grand job in the past of making trouble for those who made trouble for the Communists? Or that Walter Reuther would already have such tremendous and growing power in the American labor movement, if he had not once written a letter glorifying Soviet Russia and urging an equally glorious form of society for the United States?

And In Reverse . . .

The other side of the coin has the stamp of the same regime. Does anybody think that George Meany's standing and future in the AFL-CIO have not been seriously damaged by, or will not gradually be undermined because of, his outspoken opposition to international Communism? Or that John O'Donnell's syndicated column has not been turned down by newspapers—even good newspapers which would really like to carry it—because of his known intolerance for traitors in our midst? Or that Corinne Griffith's movie career was not hurt by her crusading speeches in opposition to Communist doctrines? Or that General Kirk Lawton's retirement was not forced as a result of his patriotic effort to help in the exposure of Communists under his command at Fort Monmouth? Or that so brilliant a teacher and sound a scholar as Felix Wittmer would not long ago have become the president of some university but for his anti-Communist lectures and books?

Enough specific illustrations of Communist favor and disfavor at work, in every field of American opportunity, could be given to fill many magazines the size of this one. But the benefits of fellow-traveling for profit—unintentional or otherwise—are only presented as background for the real point of this section. We are concerned here with those members of our society, with great cleverness and little conscience, who observe the unfailing effectiveness of Communist hands pulling countless strings. They carry their analysis of the significance of this observation to its logical conclusion. Guided by that conclusion, they go all of the way into membership in, or affiliation with, the Communist Party.

No List Can Be Complete . . .

This catalogue of reasons why people become Communists is by no means comprehensive. We have, for instance, barely touched the edge of the thinking expressed by "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em." The target most vulnerable to this shaft is the very man who sets out most energetically to fight the Communists. He gradually finds, on digging in, that they are so much more insidiously penetrating every cranny of our collective existence, and are already so much further advanced, than he had ever dreamed. He succumbs to a feeling of hopelessness over the blind complacency of his fellow citizens, and over their unwillingness even to take an honest look at the flood creeping up around them.

It is all right to say, and it is true, that a man who goes over to the enemy for such a reason didn't have the right stuff in him in the first place. But it is certainly no secret after these thousands of years that the "stuff" in individual human beings varies a great deal. It is also no secret that most of the readers of this page can name a man, once holding a high position in American political life and highly respected for his firm opposition to the schemes of the Left, who is now ardently wielding a whitewash brush for his pro-Communist and Communist pals. He was badly beaten by the Communists — working through the usual "liberal" front—so he went over to their side. And he is merely one example of these defectors because of despair.

Then there is the phony reason, given by the Communists themselves, and even more noisily shouted by their gullible "liberal" stooges, that men become Communists as a result of their own poverty and illiteracy. The truth is that the overeducated man in highly industrialized and prosperous America is a far easier prey to Communist arguments than the most miserably poor and illiterate peasant of non-industrialized Asia. The more poverty-stricken and more ignorant the population of any country or any area may be, the more completely do the Communists have to depend on force and terrorism—with less help from an ideological fifth column—to impose their police-state rule. Our humanitarian instincts make us wish very much to see the standards of living and of literacy raised in all the poorer nations of the world—but not as a means of saving those nations from Communism. It takes at least a little learning and a little leisure to make the Communist sophistry a dangerous thing.

And The Motives Combine . . .

There are other reasons, both real and imaginary, for the steady influx into the Communist camp. But we believe our list includes the most important. We have presented these appeals and motivations which make men Communists, however, as if each one acted alone; as if each appeal was successful only if the right type of "persuasion" was applied to exactly the matching susceptibility in a prospect for the Party. And of course this is not the case.

With the single exception of the man who is propelled by pure idealism alone, into a foul conspiracy which he mistakes for a self-sacrificing brotherhood, every convert to Communism has been pulled into the fold by a combination of reasons and arguments of varying proportions. Nor do the indoctrination, persuasion, and coercion ever stop, even after he has become a veteran Party member. Only the very clearminded, the very brave, and the very determined, ever break completely out of the web that binds them, once they have put themselves within its toils.

And so, year by year and month by month, the Communist flood rises. Especially do the secret members of the Communist conspiracy — which outweigh the open members in America, in both numbers and importance, by at least ten to one—increase their permeation of our whole social body. They go about their daily business or professional jobs, and their social and civic undertakings, exactly as do you and I, with nothing outward to distinguish them from loyal citizens. But the power and reach of their cumulative effort are visible on every hand, in the results they steadily achieve. You merely have to look each New Year's Day at how much closer the United States is to becoming a Communist nation than it was a year before, at how much closer the whole world is to becoming a Communist empire, to realize how unmistakably and steadily the Communists are winning their Cold War everywhere. They are winning it in, among other places, the press, the public, the radio and television media, the labor unions, the schools, the courts, and the legislative halls of America. They expect to go on winning it while most of us refuse to believe that, in our country, anybody but a few crackpots ever become Communists. We had better start believing — fast — the overwhelming evidence of our sense and our senses.

Nine Men AGAINST America

THE STORY OF THE SUPREME COURT AND YOUR LIBERTIES

AN AMERICA'S FUTURE PAMPHLET

Said THOMAS JEFFERSON in 1821

"It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression . . . that the germ of dissolution of our federal government is in the constitution of the federal judiciary; an irresponsible body — for impeachment is scarcely a scarecrow — working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little today and a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief, over the field of jurisdiction, until all shall be usurped from the States, and the government of all be consolidated into one.

"To this I am opposed; because, when all government, domestic and foreign, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the center of all power, it will render powerless the checks provided of one government or another, and will become as venal and oppressive as the government from which we separated."

Nine Men Against America

THE STORY OF THE SUPREME COURT AND YOUR LIBERTIES

BY ROSALIE M. GORDON

What It Means to YOU . . .

You are an American. You love your country. You think it is the greatest and finest nation on earth. You feel, of course, there is plenty wrong with it, but that, after all is said, somehow we will always come out on top. You seldom think consciously about it, but you feel you have the protection of such a charter of freedom as man has never before known. It guarantees to you a system of government and a mode of economic life which, whatever their faults, have brought you the highest degree of freedom and abundance among all the world's inhabitants.

Then, one day, quite by accident, you are shocked out of your complacence. You pay a visit to your son's schoolroom. His teacher is expounding to the class — including your son — some theories that sound strangely alien to you. They are alien to sound American thinking, but this teacher doesn't label them as such. He seems to be telling your son and his fellow students that these theories are the right ones — the best ones. Sorely troubled, you go to the principal. You say:

"Who is this man? He sounds like a communist to me — or at least a fellow-traveller."

The principal answers: "He is."

You look astonished: "Then what's he doing here — in a local public school that I help support with my taxes?"

"We fired him," the principal says. "We have a law in this state that a teacher in one of our schools who is called before an investigating committee and hides behind the Fifth Amendment to conceal his communist connections is subject to immediate dismissal."

"Then how did he get back in here?" you want to know.

"The Supreme Court of the United States made us reinstate him in his job — with back pay too!"

Or you overhear one day a conversation among three or four men. It might go something like this:

First Man: "We couldn't trust too many. We'd have to use them carefully."

Copyright 1957, Rosalie M. Gordon

Second Man: "We don't need many — just our hard core who have been thoroughly trained. We place them in strategic spots."

Third Man: "They're all well indoctrinated with revolutionary techniques. We've done a pretty good job on the softening-up process — and now we can even talk openly about overthrowing the government, if that should be necessary."

Second Man: "And our group can handle both — the propaganda, and the action when the time comes."

First Man: "What are the strategic spots?"

Third Man: "We won't discuss that too exactly. But generally let's say New York, Chicago, L. A., and of course Washington, D. C., and maybe a few others."

You wait to hear no more. You rush to the nearest office of the FBI. You tell the agent in charge what you have heard. You describe the men as well as you can. The agent looks at you sadly. He says: "Yes, we know the men. We've been watching them for a long time."

"Then why don't you arrest them?" you demand.

"A while back we could," he replies. "Congress gave us a law under which native enemies of America who advocated the overthrow of the government could be indicted and prosecuted. But now — now it's different. The Supreme Court says that when these saboteurs talk about overthrowing the government, they can't be touched. We have to wait until they spell out specifically how they're going to do it and actually try it. And then—."

"And then," you finish, "it might be too late."

Or perhaps you need an attorney to handle a small matter for you. You pick one at random from the accredited list in your state and go to see him. You aren't talking to him long before you realize that if you give this man your case, you will have a communist representing you. You leave his office in a rage and go to your State Bar Association. You demand to know how this young man, only just out of law school, can be an accredited attorney in your state — particularly in the face of all we now know about the communist conspiracy. The Bar Association official patiently explains to you that the Bar Examining Board in your state has had a rule for some time that any would-be lawyer who is a known communist or who refuses to say whether he has communist connections is not admitted to the bar and permitted to practice before your courts. BUT — he says, that was the rule. Now the Supreme Court of the United States has stepped in and told us — a sovereign American state — that we cannot set the standards for who shall and shall not practice law before our own courts. In other words, the Court says we can't keep a man from taking the bar examination in this state because be is a communist.

By this time your mind is in a whirl. What's going on, you ask yourself. What's happening to us — to me, to my country? Surely something is wrong somewhere. You've never had too much use for politicians generally — you consider them a more or less necessary evil. But one thing you know — when all else fails, there has always been one last resort for the protection of Amecicans. It is in the Congress of the United States — your elected representatives — and particularly in the congressional power of investigation — the power of exposure of wrongdoing and subversion and other evils.

So you go to see your congressman. You start to tell him of your experiences. Then you notice an odd expression on his face. You stop. Despairingly you ask — "You don't mean — you can't mean — ?"

"The Supreme Court?" he answers. "Yes, we on the congressional investigating committees have gotten it too. You know, throughout our history, Congress has always had the right to question witnesses. If they wanted to, they could protect themselves with the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination. But when any subversive or grafter refused to answer other questions, we could cite him for contempt. And our courts have generally backed us up. We were the last resort for Americans to get the information they must have to protect their lives, their liberty and their property."

"But now —" he sighed, "now the Supreme Court says that before we can make a witness answer questions, we have to spell out for him not only the exact purpose of our committee but also the exact pertinence of the question to that purpose. Just imagine! We investigate in order to get for ourselves and our constituents — you — the information we need to write necessary legislation. But now, according to the Supreme Court, we have to know exactly what we're going to do and how we're going to do it — and explain it all explicitly to the witness — before we get out of him the information we need in order to decide what we're going to do and how to do it! You can see that the Supreme Court has just about put an end to our investigative powers. Certainly it has crippled them almost fatally."

All this and very much more — actual assaults on the liberties of Americans and on their means of protecting themselves against tyranny from within and without — has been brought about by a Supreme Court composed of nine men — nine men against 170 million Americans. Who are these men? What makes them tick? How did it come about that so few — these particular few — were in the right spot at the right time to do so much harm? What is it they have done? And how have they done it? How does it affect you, your children, your business, your job and your freedom? You must know the answers to these questions, because the future of your country — the country you love — is at stake.

How It Began . . .

THE STORY BEGINS a long time ago, but within the clear memory of many living Americans — in the year 1937. Franklin D. Roosevelt was President of the United States. He had just been re-elected for a second term. During his first term, in a complete reversal of all his campaign promises, he demanded of Congress a whole brace of laws which would change completely the entire concept and nature of our form of government and our way of doing business. Helped along by the severity of the economic depression in which the country was then caught, he prevailed upon a compliant Congress to pass these laws. They were supposed to end the depression. In fact, that was the basis on which they were sold to the people by the growing coterie of leftwing philosophers who surrounded President Roosevelt. But they didn't end the depression. If anything, they prolonged it because they were not designed to restore to health our traditional system, but to confuse it, undermine it and eventually to destroy it.

These laws were challenged in our courts, and eventually they reached the Supreme Court of the United States. The Supreme Court, pretty generally during our years as a nation, has commanded great respect among most Americans. This has been because Americans were aware, consciously or subconsciously, that it stood as the final bulwark against any and all attempts to tamper with the charter of our liberties — the Constitution of the United States.

The Supreme Court was set up by the founders of our republic to settle disputes that might arise as to the meaning of the Constitution, and the laws made under it, affecting the rights of individual citizens and of the sovereign American states. In other words, the Supreme Court's job is to interpret our Constitution and laws according to the very special type of government which that Constitution blueprints.

We must never forget that ours is a unique form of government. There never has been anything like it either before or since the adoption of our Constitution. That Constitution not only guaranteed to each American the greatest individual freedom ever known to man, but it gave to us a system of government that could make good on the guarantee. Put simply, ours is a federal system. In the beginning there was no central government. There were 13 sovereign states — 13 independent republics. They banded together and created a federal government for their own protection against foreign enemies, for the protection of each state as against other states, and for the protection of each citizen within each state as against the citizens of other states. The federal government was the creature of the states. To make sure that it would never become powerful enough to oppress either the states or their citizens, it was given very limited powers. And those powers were broken up among the Executive (the President), the Congress (the Senate representing the states and the House representing the individual citizens of the states), and the Judiciary (the federal courts).

It was this which made our system unique. For it was the first and only system of government in history which made impossible the growth of an all-powerful central government. Only under an all-powerful central government — be it republic, monarchy, democracy or dictatorship — can the forces of communist or socialist or fascist tyranny operate. They must have complete central authority; otherwise their hateful tyranny cannot withstand the revolt of men who wish to be free.

That was the particular and special genius of the American system — that under our Constitution a communist, socialist or collectivist tyranny of any kind was impossible. And the Supreme Court of the United States was there to see to it that if the Congress or the President or both should ever attempt to impose laws on the people or the sovereign states which did not conform to the Constitution, the Court would declare them invalid — unconstitutional — and therefore null and void.

And so, during President Roosevelt's first term, as one by one the laws which he had induced Congress to pass came before the Supreme Court, it applied to them this constitutional test — and declared nearly all of them unconstitutional. The Court at that time was made up of a distinguished panel of jurists. They represented all shades of opinion — from the so-called conservatism of Justices Sutherland, Van Devanter, McReynolds and Butler, to the so-called liberalism of Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo, and the sort of middle philosophy of the Chief Justice, Charles Evans Hughes.

But these men were well versed in constitutional law and, whatever their opinions, their philosophy was basically American. This is best illustrated in their action on the most important of the New Deal laws — the NRA. In the NRA, the Congress had handed over to the President dictatorial powers by which the central government would have complete control in the management and regulation of every phase of American industry — big and little, from the smallest tailor shop in an American town to the giant steel industry. Although most Americans did not realize it at the time, the NRA was patterned almost exactly after the fascist corporative state which Mussolini had set up in Italy. All nine justices of the Supreme Court joined unanimously in declaring the NRA unconstitutional.

Actually, many of the New Deal laws which the Court declared unconstitutional had created such a shambles in our economic and social life that it came as something of a relief, even to many members of the New Deal inner circle, when the Court killed them. But President Roosevelt was angry. He began to vilify the Court and its members, and this vilification was taken up and expanded in the press, magazines and radio by the New Deal hangers-on and the growing legions in high places of the socialist revolution. These latter saw with clarity that America could never be turned into a centrally-dominated collectivist society so long as the Constitution stood as the supreme law of the land and the judges of the Supreme Court interpreted it according to its true meaning.

Immediately following President Roosevelt's inauguration for his second term, almost his first act was to launch an all-out attack on the Supreme Court. He demanded of Congress a law by which he would be allowed to appoint a new judge to the Court for every judge then sitting who was 70 years of age or more and thus bring the membership of the Court from nine up to 15. This would have allowed Roosevelt at once to appoint six New Deal justices to nullify the votes of the Court of six sitting judges who were 70 years of age. In this way, he could get his unconstitutional New Deal schemes declared valid.

This, of course, was the famous "court-packing" scheme. It set off one of the greatest debates in the history of Congress. Mr. Roosevelt thought he had Congress in the palm of his hand, but this scheme was too much even for that New Deal body. The fight on the court-packing plan was actually led by members of Mr. Roosevelt's own party and in the end, after months of angry debate, it was killed. This looked like a stinging defeat for the President — and it was — but Congress unknowingly put into his hands the power he was seeking. It did pass a law permitting Supreme Court justices to retire at 70 on full pay. Weary and disgusted with the attacks on them personally and on the Court generally, two of the older justices retired. Time and death did the rest. In the two years following the defeat of the court-packing plan, Roosevelt was able to name to vacancies on the Court four new justices — Hugo L. Black, Stanley F. Reed, Felix Frankfurter and William O. Douglas.

Justice Black, today the oldest member of the Court in point of service, though not in age, is the enigma of the bench. He is an Alabaman who, as a member of the Senate in the early New Deal days, went to the limits of congressional power — and beyond — in lashing out at so-called lobbyists. The "lobbyists" were private business interests — the favorite whipping boys of that day — and Senator Black used tactics which made the late Senator McCarthy's attacks on communists seem mild by comparison, a fact conveniently forgotten by McCarthy's enemies. Perhaps because of his antipathy to p r i v a t e business, he was Roosevelt's first appointment to the Supreme Court, despite the fact that his previous judicial experience consisted of 18 months as a police-court judge.

But for all that, Justice Black had a sharp and busy mind and was one of the hardest working and most industrious members of the Court. But a busy mind is not necessarily a straight-thinking mind, particularly when subjected to unexpected pressures. Shortly after Black's appointment, it was revealed that he had once been a member of the Ku Klux Klan. He had to admit the truth of the charge, but he stayed on the Court and his sharp mind has been busy ever since proving how "liberal" he is. He became known as the leading dissenter on the Court, though in recent years, as the Court swung more and more to the Left and thus closer to Justice Black's philosophy, his dissents have gradually lessened. His own words are the best indication of the contempt in which he holds the American system and its Constitution. In 1955 he declared "The world could not do better than to follow the political and social ideas" of the late Dr. Albert Einstein. Dr. Einstein may have been a great mathematician, but his "political and social ideas" were in direct conflict to everything we know as American — so much so that he once advised a young man to treat with disdain the efforts of congressional committees to ferret out the communist termites in our midst.

Roosevelt's second appointee to the Court, Justice Stanley Reed, was from Kentucky. He, too, had no previous judicial experience — was, in fact, a reliable New Deal bureaucrat. He had been Roosevelt's Solicitor General and before that chief counsel to the RFC. No doubt it was his advice in that post which endeared him to Roosevelt. A question arose as to the constitutionality of a New Deal measure and Reed advised the Attorney General that he should take the position that while the act might be unconstitutional, it was all right because it didn't do anybody any harm! But in recent years, the Court went too far to the Left even for Justice Reed and in some of the more extreme cases he began to dissent. Nevertheless, he established his contempt for the Constitution when, in 1937, he made a speech in which he sneered at fixed precedents in law and spoke of the "stagnation of slavish adherence to the past."

Next in order on the newly packed Court came Justice Felix Frankfurter, now the oldest member in age. Justice Frankfurter's philosophy is not an easy one to classify, perhaps because he really hasn't any but suits his views to the exigencies of the moment. That, of course, is any man's right, but the Supreme Court of the United States is hardly a forum for intransigent "thinking." He has been called everything from a communist or socialist to a rank reactionary. He is none of these. The overpowering motivation of his life seems to be a desire to pull strings. He would have made a marvelous puppeteer. So slight is his concern with constitutionality and law that he has not only reversed decisions of innumerable preceding courts but has on occasion even reversed himself.

As a professor of law at Harvard he had at his disposal the malleable minds of hundreds of American youth. Before, and especially after, the advent of the New Deal, when he found himself able to place many of his pets in sensitive Washington jobs, he was in his glory. They were his "boys" — and through them he was molding the policies of a nation. So heady a drug was not one to be lightly relinquished by a man of Frankfurter's turn of mind. He was opposed to Roosevelt's court-packing plan, but Roosevelt had it in his power to cut the strings by which Frankfurter controlled his puppets. A man with strong convictions about American constitutional law could hardly have remained silent in the face of Roosevelt's daring assault on the Court. But Felix Frankfurter managed to stay quiet.

Not long after, despite a total lack of judicial experience, he got his reward in an appointment to the Supreme Court — a position from which his string-pulling became more effective than ever. It was he who restored Dean Acheson to the good graces of the administration, after Acheson left the New Deal in its early days in a disagreement over monetary policy. Frankfurter had him named Assistant Secretary of State. Acheson would one day become Secretary of State — and refuse to turn his back on Alger Hiss. Felix Frankfurter was a character witness for Hiss at his first trial. Hiss had been one of his "boys."

The Justice is a man who talks about everything and anything — and when he talks brooks no interference from lesser minds. It took the sharp-tongued daughter of T. R. — Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth — to stop Frankfurter in the midst of one of his dissertations at a Washington dinner party. He was busily engaged — as a defense of his protégé Acheson — in a tirade on the administrative and military misdeeds of General Douglas MacArthur. Mrs. Longworth, failing in all attempts to correct Frankfurter's statements, finally rose, left the table — and the room — with one parting shot: "I refuse to turn my back on General MacArthur." The same Justice Frankfurter who could speak sneeringly of MacArthur would several years later join Justices Black and Douglas in disagreeing with a majority of the Court when it refused a stay of execution for atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

If Justice Black is an enigma, and Justice Frankfurter's slippery slide back and forth across the bench makes it difficult for us to tag him, at least no such uncertainty surrounds Roosevelt's fourth appointment to the Court — that of Justice William O. Douglas. Justice Douglas is an out-and-out leftist. He is also something of a publicity seeker, who has broken all precedents in conduct of Supreme Court justices by engaging in partisan debate outside the Court. Or perhaps his yen for public notice — evidenced by sojourns to Russia, 189-mile hikes in Maryland decked out in a Western-style hat, being thrown by a yak in Kashmir (these and other adventures generally resulting in magazine articles and books) — perhaps all stem from disappointment at having once had the presidency of the United States almost within his grasp, only to see it slip from him because he was too leftish even for the leftists.

Douglas had the whole left-wing faction of the Democratic Party behind him for the vice-presidential nomination at the 1944 convention. That was the convention at which Vice-President Henry Wallace was dumped. It was also the convention at which the vice-presidential nomination was tantamount to the presidency, since all the insiders knew Roosevelt had not long to live. Douglas was Roosevelt's personal choice, but the professional politicians wouldn't swallow Douglas' radicalism, especially on top of Henry Wallace. So Harry Truman got the nomination — and the presidency — and Douglas stayed on the Supreme Court.

Not once — either before or since that incident — has Douglas deviated from the left-wing position in any such cases that have come before the Court. It was he who issued the order, immediately removed by the full Court against the protests of Douglas, Frankfurter and Black, staying the execution of the Rosenbergs. He has gone outside the Court to plug for the admission of Red China to the United Nations and for American recognition of that same Red China. He wants the UN charter amended to permit the formation of a world government, and he has accepted a one-thousand-dollar award from the left-wing Sidney Hillman Foundation. He makes speeches to CIO conventions and thinks Commie-loving Nehru of India is "not a dangerous man but a great bulwark against communism."

He goes out of his way to stay in the good graces of the Russians. On one of his numerous trips he criticized the Soviet Asiatic republics as colonies of Russia. Pravda jumped on him for this, whereupon he took occasion to praise the cultural achievements of Asiatic Russia, and, at a press conference in Washington at which only Russian (not American) reporters were admitted, said he was very impressed by the progress he found among Russian courts, lawyers and judges — a statement which must have fallen strangely on the ears of those Russians who had seen their relatives and friends executed or banished to Siberia by those same courts and judges.

Douglas, too, had had no previous judicial experience when named to the Court. And so it was easy for him to tell a college audience in 1949 that the only answer to communism was the Welfare State, with much less emphasis on property rights.

These four — Black, Reed, Frankfurter and Douglas — and additional justices named during Roosevelt's regime proceeded to perform a major operation on the Constitution of the United States by removing many of its vital organs. Succeeding justices named by President Truman, and particularly by President Eisenhower, just about completed the job — so much so that we might say that the body of the Constitution remains, but only as a mere shell, devoid of arteries, veins, heart and lungs. And in the manner of quack medicine men, they performed the operation without the permission of either the patient or his guardians.

There is only one legal way in which the Constitution can be changed — by amendment instituted by the sovereign states or by the Congress and concurred in by three-fourths of the states. These lawless judges simply usurped the powers of the states and the people's representatives and had themselves a ripping fine time — tearing to pieces the charter of freedom of the American people.

With the appointment of the new judges by President Roosevelt from 1937 on, the socialist revolutionaries in America had what they needed — a Supreme Court which would ignore the rights of the states and set up the central government in Washington as the all-powerful element in American life.

The justices went about their demolition job on the Constitution in the manner characteristic of the "liberal"-leftist cohorts of the past 20 years. They simply changed the meaning of a few words and phrases whose true intent had been thoroughly understood — and interpreted — by Supreme Courts for 148 years. A single example is sufficient to show the diabolical cunning involved in the usurpation by the judges of the rights of states and citizens.

The destruction of the rights of the states was the primary objective because, as we have pointed out, in no other way could a collectivist society be imposed on America. In the newly-constituted Court, Mr. Justice Frankfurter struck the first blow for the Constitution-wreckers. He did it by twisting out of all recognition one little phrase in the Constitution which gives the federal government power over "interstate commerce." The Constitution left in the hands of the sovereign states all powers of regulation over their internal trade, business and commercial operations. But it recognized that when citizens of one state traded with citizens of another state, the only possible regulatory body would be the Congress in Washington. And so it gave Congress the right to regulate trade which crossed state lines. That trade, and that alone, came within the regulatory power of the federal government, and it had been so held by innumerable Supreme Courts.

But this did not suit Justice Frankfurter and his revolutionary colleagues on the Court. So he cooked up a brand new decision — with no precedent in law or fact — to allow the federal government to intrude into purely state functions. There was a loft building in a New Jersey town. One of the tenants was a clothing manufacturer who sold most of his product in other states. He was, of course, clearly in interstate commerce and thus subject to federal regulation. But, believe it or not, Justice Frankfurter declared that the building — inside a town inside the sovereign state of New Jersey — was also in interstate commerce because that one tenant, among many others, was engaged in interstate commerce.

But that wasn't all. By means of this judicial "reasoning" Justice Frankfurter went further, and said that because the building was in interstate commerce, so was the elevator man — and the women who washed the windows! If you, a small businessman — or you, a worker in a state industry — or you, just an average citizen going about your daily duties — ever wonder how it has come about that the spreading hand of the Washington politician has come to rest so heavily on all your activities, there is your answer, supplied by Mr. Justice Frankfurter.

The Last Bastions Are Stormed

AFTER this, one decision followed another from the packed Court, each of them designed to further break down the constitutional bars against growing usurpations of the Washington government. The remaining years of the Roosevelt regime and those of the Truman Fair Deal saw generally a continuation of the same type of Supreme Court appointments and, with one or two exceptions, the same type of decisions. As Dwight D. Eisenhower took office in 1953, the sovereign American states and their citizens had become bound about in the ropes of federal authoritarianism until it seemed that only a St. George could cut the knots. The Roosevelt-Truman Courts had slashed a gaping hole in the Constitution and through that hole could now march all those who wanted to bring to Washington complete domination and control over every phase of our economic life — something never before possible under our Constitution.

Thus we were carried a long way along the totalitarian road. But it was by no means complete. Americans going about their business paid too little attention to what was happening to them. They still thought they were living in free, sovereign states that would protect them against the ultimate tyranny of an all-powerful central government.

In a way, they were right, for there remained two major bastions which the revolutionists had to take before their task was finished. One was the public schools, where the minds of future generations could be controlled. The job there was being done partially by the "modern" educationists — the progressivist revolutionaries. But the outcries against them were rising. And the schools were still locally controlled. Hard as they tried, the collectivists in Washington had so far been unable to bring the state and locally supported and managed public schools under their direc tion.

The other was our awakening tc the communist-socialist menace in our midst, and our efforts — through both state and national action — to protect ourselves and our liberties from the home-grown and imported practitioners of the worst tyranny the world has ever known.

We had a right to expect, with the first change of national administration in 20 years, that these two bastions at least would be protected. But it is one of the greatest tragedies of our time that Eisenhower appointees to the Supreme Court, plus holdovers from the Roosevelt-Truman era, have given to those who would bring all power to the center the means to storm these last two bastions. We are thus brought face to face with perhaps the greatest constitutional crisis in our history.

In September, 1953, following the death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, who had been named to the Court by President Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower appointed Earl Warren of California as the new Chief Justice. It was an amazing appointment in every way. For the first time in 43 years, a man with no previous judicial experience was named directly to the post of Chief Justice of the United States. Warren's background was wholly political — three times governor of California, where his smiling, happy personality and his ability seemingly to be all things to all men had won him the nomination of both Republican and Democratic parties.

It is also believed that Warren's appointment was the first occasion in our history when a president cited an appointee's political views as his reason for naming him. The President said Mr. Warren was a "middle-of-the-roader." That was before the term "modern Republicanism" was invented. They both mean the same thing, or, as one sapient observer recently remarked, an elephant trying to make a jackass of himself. It had been generally believed that the appointment would go to Arthur F. Vanderbilt of the New Jersey Supreme Court, a past president of the American Bar Association who had an impressive record as a jurist. But one day Attorney General Brownell flew out to Sacramento, came back and announced the Warren appointment. He probably could have saved himself the trip. Earl Warren had delivered the California vote to Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican Convention. Now he had his reward.

The Senate did not confirm the Warren appointment until the following March. A good many senators were troubled by Warren's lack of experience for the job, and about his seeming agreement with the leftists and anti-anti-communists when he had deplored "McCarthyism" several years earlier. But these were the halcyon days of the "great change" in Washington and the appointment went through. Two months later, on May 17, 1954, the Warren Supreme Court issued its revolutionary decision — a unanimous one — in the school segregation cases.

What the Court did in that decision was not to settle the issue of segregation or integration of Negro and white pupils in the public schools. That is an issue that will plague us for many years to come — intensified almost beyond reason by the Court's decision. What the Court did do was to storm one of those last remaining bastions of a free people we have previously mentioned — the locally controlled and supported public school systems of the sovereign states. For by that decision the Supreme Court handed to the central government a power it had never before possessed — the power to put its grasping and omnipotent hand into a purely local function. If the federal government can tell the public school in your town — whether in a northern, southern, western or eastern state — whom it shall or shall not admit, the next step is as logical as that Winter follows Fall. It will not be long before the socialist revolutionaries will have what they want — control by the central government of what to teach and what not to teach, how to teach it and how not to teach it in the public schools of America.

In order to bring about this revolution of totalitarian proportions, it was necessary for Justice Warren and his colleagues to ignore 165 years of Supreme Court history and a decision of the Court that had stood unchallenged for nearly 60 years.

In 1896 a case arose under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. This case (known as Plessy v. Ferguson) involved a state law providing for segregation of races on railroad trains. That was the case in which the Supreme Court, knowing that under the Constitution it had no right to interfere in the affairs of the sovereign states, but also cognizant of its duty to protect the rights of individual citizens, established the principle of "separate but equal facilities." In other words, the Court declared that so long as a state provided the same facilities even though they be physically separated, for whites and Negroes (or impliedly for girls and boys or men and women) it was fulfilling its duty under the Constitution.

Following this decision, the Supreme Court in several cases involving schools upheld this eminently fair — and constitutional — interpretation. And when the Court included such distinguished judges as Chief Justice Taft, Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone, it said unanimously that segregation in public schools had been "many times decided to be within the constitutional powers of the State legislatures to settle without interference of the federal courts under the Federal Constitution." (Italics added).

Faced with a body of law and precedent like this, what was the Warren Supreme Court to do? It did something unprecedented in our history. It threw out the window the Constitution and all previous Court interpretations, and arrogated to itself a function reserved only for our representatives in Congress. It wrote a new law — something the Supreme Court has no right to do — and proclaimed it the law of the land by judicial fiat. And we have since had the sorry spectacle of the President of the United States attempting to enforce this unlawful "law" by sending federal troops into a sovereign Ameri can state. But the socialist revolutionaries have what they want — the opening wedge for complete control of education by the central government.

What possible excuse could the justices give for this unwarranted seizure of power? Chief Justice Warren wrote the revolutionary decision involved, and it is he — who likes to be liked by everybody — who is credited with "harmonizing" the Court and bringing about the unanimous decision. But his legal knowledge was admittedly rusty. One admirer said he "studied far into the night to polish up his knowledge of constitutional law." More objective observers believe it was Felix Frankfurter who supplied the "studies" and cajoled the more reluctant members of the Court into going along with the decision.

In any case, the "authorities" to which the Chief Justice and his colleagues turned to justify their unlawful decision are almost beyond belief. One of them was a so-called "social science expert" employed by the NAACP — the principal plaintiff which brought the cases before the Court. Another was a leading exponent of progressive or "modern" education who has been cited by a congressional committee as having been connected with at least 10 communist-front organizations. Still another is a sociologist who has 18 communist-front connections to his credit. First and foremost among the Court's "authorities" was a book compiled and partly written by a Swedish Socialist. He had no knowledge whatever of race problems in America. He was brought over here and given a grant by the Carnegie Foundation to produce a book on the subject. Being a Socialist his contempt for the American Constitution is complete. He called it "impractical and unsuited to modern conditions" and said its adoption was "nearly a plot against the common people." This Swedish Socialist had 16 collaborators who contributed 272 articles and portions of his book. Every one of these 16 had communist-front affiliations. He subsequently wound up in the United Nations, but even that body of outright and hooded leftists couldn't stomach his acceptance of communist statistics and he had to resign.

These, then, were the "authorities" used by the Supreme Court to overturn 165 years of American constitutional law. But who were the justices who concurred in such infamy? We have already had a look at five of them — Chief Justice Warren, and Justices Frankfurter, Reed, Black and Douglas. The other four justices on the bench at the time of the segregation decision were Jackson, Burton, Clark and Minton.

Robert H. Jackson was another of the Roosevelt appointees to the Court — and still another with no previous judicial experience. He had been a lawyer in upstate New York when he was brought to Washington in 1934 as general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau. While there, he handed down a ruling allowing the busy money-making wife of President Roosevelt to deduct more than the maximum of 15 percent of earnings for charitable contributions. After that, his rise was rapid. He became an Assistant Attorney General, then Solicitor General, then Attorney General — where he led the fight for Roosevelt's court-packing scheme before Congress. In 1941 he was named to the high court.

Justice Jackson was known for his caustic tongue and for a while carried on a feud with Justice Black because he (Jackson) wanted to be Chief Justice and believed Black was blocking his appointment. As the years went on he became somewhat more conservative in his views, but in the segregation decision he harked back to his original feeling about the Constitution. He said in 1940: "The national government has won its long fight to free itself of unwarranted limitations." Jackson died five months after the segregation decision, leaving the Court open to another Eisenhower appointment to which we will come in a moment.

Justice Harold H. Burton is a Truman appointee — somewhat the same brand of "modern Republican" as the Chief Justice. He was a crony of President Truman from his Senate days. His claim to the Supreme Court appointment was that he had once been mayor of Cleveland. He had no judicial experience whatever and was once known as the member of the bench who wrote the fewest opinions. But Washington party-going was something else again — it was a rare one indeed that was not graced by the presence of Justice Burton. He is still on the Court and in the last year or two has managed to join in a few dissents against the overwhelming rush of the left-wing majority.

Justice Tom C. Clark of Texas, became, in the 1956-57 session of the Court, the chief and often the lone dissenter. But he went along in the segregation decision and, in fact, was the author of one of the worst subsequent decisions of the Court — that which takes away from a state or city the right to fire a teacher who will not reveal his communist connections. Clark too, was a Truman appointee, also with no judicial experience. Most of his career was spent in New Deal and Fair Deal bureaus, winding up as Truman's Attorney General. It has been said that Truman named him to the Court to put him beyond the reach of congressional investigators who were looking into the mess of corruption and "fixing" during those days. However, a House Judiciary Committee later absolved him of any personal wrong-doing, but reprimanded him for "withholding his cooperation" with the committee's work.

Justice Sherman Minton, the last of of the nine who rendered the segregation decision, was the only one who had had any real previous judicial experience. But it is interesting to note how he got it. He was elected to the Senate from Indiana in 1934. He was an ardent New Dealer who fought hard to put over Roosevelt's court-packing plan. He was noted for his willingness to do anything Roosevelt wanted — in fact, he himself boasted that he was a "rubber stamp" and a "100 percent New Dealer."

After six years of this, the voters of Indiana got fed up and defeated him. He was wandering around Washington looking for a job when Roosevelt named him to a $10,000-a-year post as a White House administrative assistant. Four months later a circuit judge in Chicago died, leaving vacant a $17,500 job and Roosevelt handed it to Minton. There he remained for eight years, until Truman plucked him from the Chicago bench in 1949 and put him on the Supreme Court. In a recent term of the Court he joined Justices Reed, Burton and Clark in a few dissents, but when the session ended, he resigned and gave to President Eisenhower his third appointment to the Court. Justice Stanley Reed's subsequent resignation in 1957 gave the President his fourth appointment.

These were the men — Warren, Douglas, Black, Frankfurter, Minton, Clark, Reed, Burton and Jackson — who, on the "authority" of a batch of left-wing nobodies, did what no Congress of the United States had ever permitted. They put the hand of the central government directly into the public school systems of the American states.

It is this Court as constituted at the time of that decision, and as reconstituted by President Eisenhower with the appointments of Justices Harlan, Brennan and Whittaker — in addition to Chief Justice Warren — which has stormed that final bastion mentioned earlier — our efforts to protect ourselves against the communist conspiracy in America.

Justice Charles E. Whittaker, who replaced Justice Reed, we may dismiss quickly since he is too recent an appointee to have had any part in this foray. He is considered another "modern Republican" though he personally refuses to classify himself. He has had some judicial experience of rather brief duration — eight months on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and District Judge for two years before that — both appointments at the hands of President Eisenhower.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, appointed in 1955 to replace Justice Jackson, is also rather short on judicial experience. He served one year on the Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. It is believed he was appointed to that post because Eisenhower contemplated eventually giving him a Supreme Court appointment. He seems to possess a naiveté that does not sit well on a Justice of the Supreme Court. He had been a member of the Atlantic Union Committee since 1952. During the hearings on his appointment, the purposes of this organization were read to him. He expressed astonishment that he had been supporting a group favoring the sinking of United States sovereignty into a union with Great Britain and other European countries. There had never been any secret about Atlantic Union's purposes, but it was only at this point that Mr. Harlan disassociated himself from its objectives. While it may not be significant, it is interesting to note also that Justice Harlan's grandfather was the lone dissenter in the Plessy v. Ferguson case of 1896, which established the principle of separate but equal facilities.

Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., of New Jersey, who succeeded Justice Minton, has at least had considerable judicial experience as a judge of New Jersey's Supreme Court. Nobody seemed to know much about his views when he was appointed, though one official described him as a "middle-of-the-roader" (another one!)—this time a "modern Democrat." It is believed he was appointed chiefly because he is a Catholic and there was no Catholic on the Court. However, Justice Brennan gave us a good peek into his mind, when, as his first job on the Court, he wrote the decision opening the FBI files to the communists, to say nothing of assorted crooks, grafters, narcotics peddlers, etc. Fortunately, Congress somewhat corrected this outrageous decision before it adjourned in the Summer of 1957. And to his credit, Justice Tom Clark wrote a stinging dissent to Justice Brennan's decision. But Warren, Black, Frankfurter, Harlan, Douglas and Burton went along with Justice Brennan.

In the three years since the segregation decision — and particularly in the last year or two—the Supreme Court has struck down practically every bulwark we have raised against the communist conspiracy in America. In doing so, it has also continued to wipe out state lines and actually to leave the sovereign states helpless in the face of subversion. The examples given at the beginning of this pamphlet are only a few of the many decisions that have flowed from this revolutionary tribunal like manna for all those who would wreck our form of government.

Besides taking away from the states the right to say who shall or shall not practice before their courts; the right to fire communist teachers in their schools; and sadly crippling Congress in its exposure of subversives, the Court has broken down the government's own security program by declaring that security risks employed by government bureaus — and paid by American taxpayers — could not be dismissed unless they were in so-called "sensitive" positions. President Eisenhower's appointee, Mr. Justice Harlan, wrote that decision. He also wrote another one restoring to a post in the State Department a gentleman whose leftist views even Dean Acheson had to recognize and who had actually been involved in the infamous Amerasia case when 1700 secret government documents turned up in the office of a communist outfit in New York.

Chief Justice Warren, in 1956, wrote a decision taking away from the sovereign states the right to punish sedition within their borders. He did this on the fantastic grounds that we had a federal law covering this matter and that therefore the state laws against sedition were null and void. He so held despite the fact that Congress, in passing the federal law, had no intent or purpose whatever of interfering with the state laws. Then, a year later, Mr. Justice Harlan wrote another decision practically nullifying the federal law, which Justice Warren had said gave the states all the protection they needed against sedition! It was Justice Harlan's decision which makes it nearly impossible to prosecute conspirators against America until they actually physically start overthrowing the government.

In the past three years the Supreme Court has issued at least 15 decisions designed to put the meddling fingers of the federal politicians further into state affairs, and to completely break down all our defenses against the communist conspirators in our midst. Chief Justice Warren wrote five of these decisions and concurred in all of them. Justice Harlan wrote three of them. Justice Brennan wrote one. Justice Harlan dissented in only two of the 15 cases. That is the record of the Eisenhower appointees to the Court. Of the remaining decisions, Justice Black wrote two, Justice Clark one, and three were unsigned. All 15 were concurred in by, besides Chief Justice Warren, Justices Frankfurter, Douglas and Black. In other words, the Chief Justice has aligned himself completely with the extremely leftist members of the Court. There were five dissents by Justice Reed, five by Justice Burton and three by Justice Minton. But Reed and Minton are now no longer on the Court, thus leaving Justice Clark, who filed eight disagreements — some of them excoriating his fellow justices as impliedly giving aid and comfort to the communist enemy — as almost the lone dissenter.

Along with this has gone a continuation of the practice of the Roosevelt-packed Court in taking from the states and their citizens control over their own resources and their own livelihood. In 1954, again under the chief justiceship of Earl Warren, the court seized from the southwestern states control of natural gas production. Today it is natural gas; tomorrow it could be your corner grocery store or filling station — or local newspaper. In 1956 Mr. Justice Douglas wrote an opinion, concurred in by the entire Court, ordering three citizens of the sovereign state of Nebraska to join a union if they wanted to keep their jobs. Thus the Court capped a whole series of previous decisions establishing over the rank-and-file of American workers what Donald Richberg has so aptly called the "Labor Union Monopoly."

In the light of this whole sorry record, we need not be surprised at the jubilation in communist circles over the Supreme Court of the United States. In fact, the communists even held a rally in September, 1957 to, in the words of the communist Daily Worker, "pay honor to the U. S. Supreme Court and its recent decisions" and to "hit out at attempts to undo the decisions."

To Turn the Tide

BUT ALL THOSE who are devoted to our American way of life, and who believe it is worth saving against the encroachments of the collectivist sappers, are agreed that if it is to survive something must be done about the Supreme Court. A number of proposals have been made — and undoubtedly more will be made in the future — for dealing with this great crisis in our history. The major ones are briefly listed here, not because they are either the most or the least effective, but so that Americans will know what they are and be able to think intelligently about them and about the overriding problem of our times with which they are meant to deal.

FIRST, of course, is the constitutional provision which states that any official of the United States "shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors." The Constitution also provides that judges "shall hold their offices during good behavior." The impeachment process, of course, is a long, difficult and cumbersome one and has been used only a very few times in our history.

SECOND: There is a proposal that a limit — four, six or ten years — be placed on the terms of the Supreme Court justices. At present the justices are appointed for life. But congressmen, senators, even the President, serve for fixed terms. Why, it is asked, should not the justices?

THIRD: A proposal first made by David Lawrence, that judges be reconfirmed by the Senate at stated intervals. At present, they are confirmed only once — when first named to the bench. This proposal would give the Senate a check on the justices, say every four years or so.

FOURTH: A proposal made by Senator Stennis, and now taken up by others, that at least one of each two successive nominees to the Court should have had 10 years of judicial experience. This would eventually provide a Court on which at least half the justices had had previous judicial experience. This proposal stems from a startling discovery which Senator Stennis made — that since 1932 the Court had departed from decisions previously rendered on 35 occasions, whereas there had been only 29 such reversals in the entire history of the Court before 1932.

FIFTH: It has also been proposed that the President be deprived entirely of the power of federal court appointments and that the Senate should elect all federal judges.

SIXTH: Another important proposal revolves around a provision of the Constitution. This provision states:

> "In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make." (Italics added).

What this section means is that Congress can make regulations and exceptions as to the type and kind of cases which could be taken on appeal from lower courts to the Supreme Court. In other words, Congress could say, for instance, that once a state court has upheld the constitutionality of a state sedition law, or a state school law, or once a lower federal court has upheld the right of Congress itself to protect the citizens against subversion, the matter would end right there. The Supreme Court would have no right to hear such cases on appeal and perhaps reverse the decisions.

SEVENTH: Another proposal is nearly as old as our government itself. It has been used on a number of occasions — both successfully and unsuccessfully—by the sovereign states. It is called "interposition" and has been most recently fully expounded by the brilliant young editor of the Richmond News-Leader, James Jackson Kilpatrick.

Interposition is based on the Virginia Resolution of 1798, written by Thomas Jefferson and James Madison. That resolution reads:

> "In case of a deliberate, palpable, and dangerous exercise of other powers not granted by the said compact (the Constitution), the States who are parties thereto, have the right, and are in duty bound, to interpose for arresting the progess of the evil, within their respective limits, the authorities, rights and liberties appertaining to them."

What this means is that when the Executive, or the Court violates the Constitution by usurping powers which the Constitution forbids, the states themselves — three-fourths of whom form a power without which there would be no Constitution and no federal government — must interpose to "arrest the progress of evil" being committed by their own creature (the federal government), and force it to conform to the body of laws (the Constitution) which the states set up to govern its conduct.

EIGHTH: Last but by no means least is a proposal made by the well-known writer and commentator, John T. Flynn, which would seem to be a necessary prerequisite to all other reforms of the Court. It is that all decisions of the Supreme Court, from 1937 to the date of the adoption of the proposal, should be declared to have no force and effect as precedents in judicial or other proceedings in determining the meaning of the words, sections and provisions of the Constitution. The purpose here is obvious. It is to enable all future Supreme Courts, no matter how otherwise reformed, to disregard the usurpations of the Court in the last 20 years. The judges would return to the body of law and precedents set up before the usurpations began in order to decide on all future cases that would come before them.

The John Birch Society

The sight of a group of Americans saluting the flag in a living room (that of Chicago executive S. J. Conner) might be considered a welcome resurgence of old-fashioned patriotism in a time when many traditional American virtues seem to be fading away. But the very group to which these people belong has been a subject of controversy and concern. They are members of the John Birch Society, an organization that has spread a scattering of its chapters from coast to coast. The question that overhangs the society is whether its members are truly constructive American patriots or whether they are people who feel that flag-waving and what their critics call witch-hunting are substitutes for intelligent service to the nation.

The guiding spirit of the John Birch Society is a retired Belmont, Mass. candy manufacturer named Robert Welch (p. 130), and its patron saint, John Birch, is a young American who was killed by the Chinese Communists in 1945 (p. 128). According to Welch's writings, Communism is the deadly enemy of America—an incontestable proposition—and many of the most important figures in American public life have abetted the Communist conspiracy for nearly three decades—an incontestably scurrilous charge.

PATRIOTIC OR IRRESPONSIBLE, IT IS SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY

In Welch's own view, Dwight Eisenhower was guilty of "treason" and his brother Milton Eisenhower probably was his "boss within the Communist party." Brothers Allen and the late John Foster Dulles have been Communist supporters. The fight for civil rights is as much a cloak for the Communist takeover of America as the claim that they were "agrarian reformers" cloaked the ambitions of the Red Chinese. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren ought to be impeached for his "unceasing help" to the Reds.

The John Birch Society has its roots in the frustration that many Americans feel at seeing the nation baffled, thwarted and humiliated in the cold war. But the society seeks to wish away the nation's frustration and the nation's failures by finding individual scapegoats within it. In so doing, the many prominent adherents of the society (next pages) subscribe to the illusion that by condemning a few "devils" the U.S. can be magically restored to some nostalgic Utopian condition. The members of the society, by their insupportable attacks on substantial Americans, also neglect Sir Winston Churchill's classic counsel: "If we open a quarrel between the past and the present, we shall find that we have lost the future."

Since Welch launched his society in 1958, it has built up chapters in 35 states. Its more notable backers include two congressmen, John Rousselot (above) and Edgar Hiestand, both California Republicans, and a crew of businessmen and ex-soldiers who belong to its governing council (top, right). One ranking soldier on active duty, Major General Edwin A. Walker (left), commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg, Germany, has been said to have distributed Birch tracts to his troops. President Kennedy ordered an inquiry and Walker was transferred pending its outcome.

Defenders of the Birchers contend that they are a far-out part of a conservative renaissance in America whose main respectable apostle is Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater. The enemies of the Birchers feel otherwise. Irrepressible Ohio Senator Stephen Young calls Welch a "Hitler." Attorney General Robert Kennedy says deprecatingly that the society is "in the area of being humorous."

How the Chinese Killed John Birch

CAPTAIN JOHN BIRCH (center) is shown with other Allied officers, one (right) a Nationalist Chinese. As intelligence officer he worked closely with Nationalists.

William T. Miller graduated from West Point in the class of 1944 and was sent to China as an officer in U.S. Military Intelligence, charged with assisting in the escape of downed Allied fliers. He resigned his Army commission in 1948 and is now engaged in private business in the Virgin Islands.

by WILLIAM T. MILLER

I FIRST met John Birch in 1945 when I was assigned to the same area of China where he had been operating for three years as a field agent for 14th Air Force Intelligence. A remarkable and profoundly religious man, respected by Chinese and Americans alike, Birch had come to China before the war as a Baptist missionary and had stayed on to fight against the Japanese. He was deeply concerned about the Chinese Communists and was sure they were a serious threat to China.

A few months after my meeting with Birch the war ended. I contacted John by telephone and radio at his station some 55 miles away. We were both under orders to head for Japanese-held Suchow, and we agreed that each of us would try to get there his own way. Ten days later after a 600-mile journey I arrived in Suchow- and was shocked to learn that John Birch had been murdered by the Communists when he was within 30 miles of that city. His Chinese Nationalist adjutant, Lieutenant Tung, was in a Suchow hospital at the point of death from wounds suffered at the same time. I hurried to Tung's side and from his feeble but impassioned account I learned the full details of John's death.

At the head of a mixed party of Americans, Chinese and Koreans, Tung said, Birch and he had proceeded by foot, boat and train to within about 50 miles of Suchow. At that point the railroad was being torn up by Communists. They were still busily engaged in sabotage despite the Japanese pull-out—a fact that filled Birch with anger. Nevertheless the Birch party continued on foot. At last they found their way blocked by Communist soldiers at a rail depot. Birch sent Tung to the Communist commander, seeking permission to proceed.

The Red officer listened to the request. Tung said, then turned to an aide and murmured, "Here come some more spies. We had better disarm them and find out the truth before we give them back their guns. If they resist we will kill them all." Over Tung's protest this officer ordered a subordinate to return to where Birch and the others were and disarm them. "If anything happens," the commander added, "kill this man first, then kill the rest of the Americans."

When they returned to the depot, Tung told Birch in a low voice what had happened. Birch put his hands on his hips and stared at the Communist officer. "So you want to disarm us," he said. "Are you bandits? Are you the man responsible for this?" The man said he was not. "Then take us to see the responsible man," Birch said.

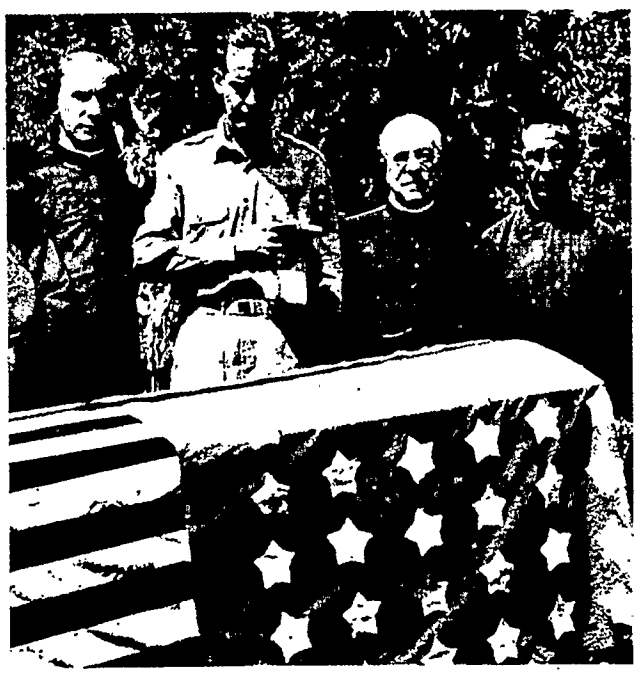
At this moment another Communist officer stepped up and said in a menacing way, "Since you are not willing to be disarmed, you may proceed- at your own risk. If anything happens to you we will not be responsible." And he instructed Birch to move his party on.

At this point Tung was sure that the Communists intended to shoot them in the back. But Birch refused to move. "I must find out what organization these soldiers belong to and who is the commanding officer," he said. "I want to speak to him." At that the Communist officer said, "All right, if you want to see him come with me." As they started away a Nationalist officer in Birch's party whispered anxiously to Tung, "Tell Captain Birch to be more polite to these Communists."

When he got a chance Tung repeated the warning, but Birch was adamant. "Never mind," he said. "You don't know what my feelings are. I just want to find out how they intend to treat Americans. I don't mind if they kill me, for if they do their movement will be finished. The United States will use the atomic bomb to stop their banditry."

Birch and Tung were led from place to place, ostensibly in search of the commander. At last, Birch got very angry. He seized the Red officer by the back of the collar. "You are worse than bandits!" he cried. Tung hastily said to the Communist, "Ignore him. He is only joking."

At that moment the commanding officer finally appeared. He pointed angrily at Birch and said, "Load your guns and disarm him!" Tung, knowing that Birch would not stand for such treatment, cried out, "Wait a minute, please! If you must disarm him, I will get the gun for you." The Red commander pointed to Tung and said coldly, "Shoot him first."



Lying in his hospital bed, Tung described to me what happened next: "In an instant I felt a terrible shock and pain, and fell to the ground, shot through the right thigh by a dum-dum bullet. Lying there in the street in a semifaint, I heard another shot fired and a voice commanded, 'Bring him along.' To this I heard Captain Birch's anguished reply, 'Wo bu dzwola'- 'I can't walk.' I must have fainted with shock at this point, for I do not recall any more words or actions until sometime later when I heard a Communist say, 'This man isn't dead yet.' At this I received a blow on my head and again fainted."

A short time later Tung regained consciousness in an open trench beside the corpse of John Birch. He was finally found by Chinese peasants and then taken by Japanese soldiers to Suchow. When I saw Tung in the hospital his gangrene-infected leg had been amputated at the thigh and his right eyeball, ruptured by the rifle butt, had been removed. Despite the severity of his wounds he eventually recovered.

As for Birch, his battered body told what had happened to him. His feet were tied at the ankles and his hands bound behind him in the typical Chinese execution pose. His leg had been shattered in the same way as Tung's and his face was mutilated by bayonet wounds. It was apparent that he had first been shot in the leg, then later bound and executed from behind while in a kneeling position. The terrible mutilation of his face was obviously an attempt to render him unidentifiable.

Birch's body was taken to the morgue in Suchow while I was there. I arranged with Japanese and Chinese Nationalist officials for a public ceremony. John Birch received a full-fledged military funeral attended by the Japanese high command and by civilian officials of Suchow. He was buried on a wooded hillside overlooking the city.

BIRCH FUNERAL, with full military honors, was attended by the author (second from left) and Jesuit priests, as well as high Japanese and Chinese officials.

Information Concerning
(Internal Security)

This morning, [redacted] called at my office to discuss what they explained were certain social problems disturbing them. [redacted] is a businessman in New Orleans who was present during a seminar in which I participated last year. He also is very active in a controversial group in New Orleans called "Discussion Unlimited." In the main this group takes some very ultra-conservative positions, is against desegregation, the extension of Federal Government into State matters, et cetera. In particular, the members of this group put great emphasis upon state's rights.

b6

[redacted] said that he is greatly concerned over the spread of communism and he hoped that he and his associates could do something effectively to combat it in New Orleans. As he talked on it was quite evident that he was inclined to identify people who disagreed with his viewpoint as being socialists, communists, or procommunists. He asked me what the FBI thought of the John Birch Society. I, of course, told him that we did not give any evaluation of organizations, and that this was not to be construed as indicating that we possessed or did not possess information on this or any other organization.

[redacted] said he was a member of the John Birch Society and that his wife was also a member. He asked me if I thought that Former President Eisenhower was procommunist, or at the very least soft on communism. I told him I certainly did not think that President Eisenhower was procommunist or soft on the subject. I pointed to the number of strong positions which President Eisenhower had taken against communism and said it was difficult for me to understand how anyone could say, or even infer, that he was procommunist. Despite my making the point very clear, I am not altogether certain that [redacted] agreed.

Mr. Belmont

[redacted] asked if I would follow the leadership of Mr. Robert Welch, head of the Birch Society. I told him I did not think the question was pertinent to our general discussion. I added that in accepting any person's leadership one should be convinced that the leadership is sound, informed, and possessed of all the well known qualities which good leadership should have.

[redacted] both said that at the time they joined the John Birch Society in New Orleans, some of New Orleans' finest citizens were members, and they had joined it because of this. They asked me if I thought they should continue on as members of the Society. I told them this was a decision which only they could properly make. b6 b7C

We continued to discuss various aspects of communism, and [redacted] expressed their appreciation for being granted an opportunity to converse in a field in which they said they are both "intensely interested."

[redacted] are visiting in Washington for a few days with their two sons. At the request of Congressman Hebert of Louisiana they were given a tour of the Bureau on 6/14/61.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The John Birch Society (JBS) was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, in order to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of the JBS as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., stated that the Society was named after John Birch, a young Christian missionary from a farm near Macon, Georgia, who was in China when the United States entered World War II. According to Welch, John Birch joined General Chennault's force as a volunteer and organized Chennault's intelligence. He rose to the rank of captain in the United States Army and served with unsurpassable bravery and brilliance throughout the war. According to Welch, ten days after V-J Day while Birch was on a peaceful and official mission for the United States Government he was brutally murdered in cold blood by the Chinese communists.

Pages A4227-A4231. Senator Humphrey, (D) Minnesota, requested to have printed in the Record an editorial from the Chicago Sun-Times of April 6, 1961, entitled "How To Fight Communism." The editorial comments on the John Birch Society stating "The Birch Society is discredited in the minds of the critics because it pursues the methods used by Communists themselves. Moreover, as Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy said last week, the Birch Society is making no contribution in the fight against communism and is, in fact, a hindrance in the fight."

Because of son's admiration for Senator BARRY GOLDWATER, she feared Senator GOLDWATER also is member. This fear is warranted she feels by remarks made by Senator GOLDWATER on Jack Paar Show and article in current issue "Time" Magazine.

[redacted] professed her loyalty to the United States and admiration for the President and Attorney General. [redacted] felt that the John Birch Society was opposed to the administration to such an extent that the administration's policies and programs might not be adopted.

It was noted that [redacted] rambled considerably in her discourse, bringing into the conversation reference to her past residences in Australia and South Africa. She remarked that were she 25 years younger she would be happy to return to South Africa and help physically to build roads, working with the natives.

[redacted] was assured her remarks would be made a matter of record and brought to the attention of appropriate officials. San Francisco files contained no reference identifiable with [redacted]

In a rambling and disconnected letter to the Director dated June 21, 1961, a copy of which is enclosed, [redacted] praises the Director, but criticizes W. C. Sullivan's remarks on communism and religion. She states that she is not afraid of Sullivan, the Director, communists or anyone. She opposes critics of the "J. B. Society" (John Birch Society) and wants to use a letter from the Director in an argument against the editor of the Columbus, Ohio, "Catholic Times." She requested information on communist infiltration of churches and the National Council of Churches.

There is nothing identifiable with the correspondent in Bureau files, although she states she wrote to the Director on 2/26/61 and received what may have been a form letter in reply. In this event, the incoming letter would have been destroyed in 90 days.

It is felt that the enclosed letter from the Director to [redacted] supports the statements of W. C. Sullivan but does not give [redacted] any ammunition in her argument against the editor of the "Catholic Times."

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on July 3, 1961 that the John Birch Society is sponsoring a picket line on July 4, 1961, commencing at 5:30 p.m. at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Beverly Hills, California. The target of this picket line is Chief Justice Earl Warren, U. S. Supreme Court, who is being honored at the Beverly-Hilton Hotel during the evening of July 4, 1961. This source advised that plans have been made to have a sufficient number of pickets marching, so that the entire hotel will be incircled so that Chief Justice Warren could not avoid seeing the picket line while entering or departing the hotel.

REQUEST FOR CONFERENCE WITH DIRECTOR

By letter dated July 5, 1961, Robert Welch, founder of The John Birch Society, wrote to the Director and enclosed a brochure concerning his organization. Mr. Welch said it was the desire of himself and 5 members of his Executive Committee to meet with Mr. Hoover in order to discuss a matter "which we consider to be of greatest importance to our country." Welch said it had nothing to do "directly" with any of the charges made against The John Birch Society nor does it involve secrets of any kind. He said he and the Executive Committee are scheduled to meet together on Saturday, July 29, 1961, in Chicago; however, they would be glad instead to meet in Washington or New York or anywhere that might be most convenient for the Director. Welch, in addition, said that if this date were not suitable, he and his group would be willing to have Mr. Hoover suggest another time and place for the desired meeting.

The 5 members of the Executive Committee mentioned by Welch are Messrs. William J. Grede, A. G. Heinsohn, Jr., Fred C. Koch, Clarence Manion and Robert W. Stoddard. Mr. Koch is on the Special Correspondents' List. Mr. Manion is the former Dean of Notre Dame Law School (1941-1952). There has been previous cordial correspondence with him as well as with Mr. Heinsohn. Bufiles contain nothing of a derogatory nature with respect to Messrs. Grede and Stoddard with whom there has been no previous correspondence.

The John Birch Society was founded in 12/58 in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts. It is incorporated under laws of State of Massachusetts; is allegedly anticommunist; has chapters thoughout the country; and has not been investigated by the Bureau. Welch and the Society in the past have been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower. As you are aware, the Bureau has been the recipient of a vast amount of mail from citizens protesting the controversial activities of both Welch and his organization. In addition, there has been an equally large volume of mail from members of this organization making every attempt imaginable to embroil either the Director or the FBI in their activities. Some of these attempts have been open and aboveboard while others have attempted to "trick" the Director into connecting himself with The John Birch Society. It may well be that Welch

Re Bonn letter to Bureau, 6-19-61.

The Daily Press Review of the American Embassy U. S. Information Service, Office of Press Attache, Bonn, contained in the No. 118, Part 2, issue of 6-28-61, the information that East German newspaper "BZ Am Abend" had stated in an article on that date that "high-ranking U. S. officers use their occupiers' position in West Germany in order to spread clear Nazi propaganda throughout their units and among the population." In this connection, the paper made particular mention of Maj. Gen. EDWIN A. WALKER, who is a member of the "John-Birch-Society" and who until recently was commander of the 24th U. S. infantry division stationed in Augsburg-Heidelberg. The paper explained the Nazi spirit of the Birch Society and said that its pamphlets were distributed and lectures were arranged in the district under the authority of the 24th Inf. Div.

MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

This is to advise the Bureau that [redacted] of the Paddock Publications, Inc., a publishing chain controlling 14 suburban newspapers in the Northern area of Illinois, has confidentially contacted the Chicago Office and advised that he has been assigned to do a feature series of articles on the John Birch Society. He has pointed out that he personally has no sympathies with this organization and that the only purpose for his anticipated application to join the organization is to secure information for his newspaper articles which he will publish after he has been able to secure information concerning the organization.

As part of his article, he anticipates making application and joining this group. He has indicated that he desires to advise the Bureau that his joining the group is only for the purpose of securing material for his newspaper articles and that it in no way indicates a personal belief or adherance to the ideals of this organization. He has indicated that as of possible personal protection, he anticipates that he will send a letter to the Bureau wherein he will set forth these facts and that he will ask that the Bureau be advised of the true nature of his activities in this manner.

This letter is submitted to the Bureau so that the Bureau may be advised concerning the background of [redacted] and his true interest in the John Birch Society. His chain of newspapers has been friendly to the Bureau and is the most prominent chain of newspapers in the area to the Northwest of the City of Chicago. Indices of the Chicago Office are negative concerning any derogatory information regarding him.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

The members of the Executive Committee of The John Birch Society are desiganted by asterisks on this letterhead, and they are briefly identified as to business or professional connections and standing on two pages near the end of the enclosed brochure.

These five men and the writer respectfully request an interview with you. The subject we wish to discuss has nothing directly to do with any of the charges made against The John Birch Society, or any of the charges reported to have been made by it or by myself personally, but is still a matter which we consider to be of great importance to our country. It is also a subject in which -- although it involves no secrets of any kind -- we believe you will be interested.

We are, of course, willing to adjust our time to yours, and to have as many of the small group present to keep the appointment, as possible, at any time you might designate. But since these men do come from various parts of the country, and are themselves all extremely busy, and all wish very much to be in on this discussion, and it is so hard to find a time when one or more of them do not have unbreakable conflicts, I hope it will seem in order for me to mention that the group is scheduled to get together on Saturday, July 29, anyway. And while we now plan to meet that day in Chicago, we should be very glad instead to meet in Washington or New York, or anywhere that might be most convenient for yourself, if you would be willing to spare the time to meet with us or have us meet with you at your office or at any place you say, for the one to two hours which we think might be required.

If Saturday, July 29 is not suitable for yourself, we shall be glad to have you suggest any other time and place, as soon thereafter as may be most convenient for yourself. And hoping that the appointment may be granted, we shall be looking forward very much to seeing you at the time and place of which you decide.

Sincerely,

Robert Welch

I have received your letter of July 5 regarding the desire of the members of the Executive Committee of The John Birch Society to meet with me. I appreciate your kindness in providing me with a copy of the booklet concerning your organization.

Unfortunately, due to previously scheduled commitments and the pressure of official business, it will not be possible for me to accede to your request. I am very sorry this situation exists, but I am sure you will understand my position.

If you, or any of the other members of your Executive Committee, have information which you believe would be of interest to the FBI, please feel free to discuss it with Mr. James H. Gale, Special Agent in Charge of our Chicago Office, located at 536 South Clark Street, or with the Special Agent in Charge of any of our other offices which may be located more conveniently for you.

Sincerely yours,

NOTICE

One copy of this brochure is being supplied free to every member of the Society. And we shall also make a certain additional amount of free distribution of the brochure from the Home Office.

But since we simply cannot afford the cost of the quantities that we know will be requested, we are obliged to make a charge for all copies except those indicated in the first paragraph above. We are, however, for obvious reasons keeping this charge just as close to the actual printing cost as we dare.

This is to advise all concerned, therefore, that the price of The New Brochure is ten cents per copy, in quantities of any size, large or small. Minimum shipment is ten copies for one dollar. Simply address:

Freedom's Missionaries

In the past, communism has had few effective, dedicated opponents. Thankfully, that deficiency is now being remedied by an anti-Communist movement—comprised of thousands of dedicated Americans from every walk of life—springing up all across the United States. The movement is known as the John Birch Society, and its sole purpose is to turn back the Communist tidal wave threatening to engulf the world.

What distinguishes The John Birch Society from anti-Communist groups of the past is that this organization knows exactly what it wants to accomplish, and it is determined to let nothing stand in its way of accomplishing it. It is not beset by petty internal squabbling over methods and procedures, but, rather, possesses boundless energy, unusual dedication and skillful leadership.

The founder of The John Birch Society is Robert Welch, a dynamic intellectual who rose from humble beginnings on a North Carolina farm to become one of the nation's outstanding business men and one of its most serious scholars. In 1958 he abandoned his business career completely, determined to devote his life to fighting the Red threat. With little money and with only a handful of supporters initially, Robert Welch has since fashioned The John Birch Society—named for a Baptist missionary who was brutally murdered by the Chinese Communists, 10 days after the end of World War II—into a vibrant, effective organization which is growing by leaps and bounds, despite a systematic, concerted smear campaign by leftists and fellow travelers.

The two principal characteristics of the society are the dedication of its members (both Democrats and Republicans, representing all religious denominations), who are made to study communism, and the caliber of its leadership, which includes high school and college instructors, top ranking military officers, and important business executives. Believing, as did Jefferson, that resistance to tyranny is obedience to God, each member has dedicated himself to the important task of awakening an apathetic public which has been lulled to sleep by the soporifics of the left.

The reason for The John Birch Society is epitomized in the words of Chesterton:

"Yea, for one great hour's triumph, not in me
Nor any hope of mine did I rejoice,
But in a meadow game of girls and boys
Some sunset in the centuries to be."

Nowhere, in any nation where the Communists have come to power, are their meadow games of girls and boys. Instead, the serenity of childhood has been replaced with forced labor camps, political indoctrination schools, and the systematic destruction of family life. By opposing communism, the society hopes to prevent the same from occurring in America.

The uninformed will doubtless scoff at the purposes of The John Birch Society, just as the uninformed always scoff at whatever they are ignorant of. But neither their calumnies, nor the deliberate slanders of influential fellow travelers, should deter this movement from its noble goal. We wish it every success in its mission.

Dear Mr. Welch:

I would like to add my own to the many expressions of appreciation which you are receiving for your fine leadership in the fight against the communist conspiracy. The John Birch Society is deserving of the encouragement and support of all who are concerned about the great inroads which communism is making in our country and throughout the world.

In some instances you have had to say some harsh things about some policies and acts of friends of mine which went farther than I would be willing to go. I feel sure, for example, that Chris Herter is a patriotic and able man and that reflections upon his honor, integrity and patriotism are not justified. Yet I agree with you that some of his statements and policies as Secretary of State did not do justice to his good intentions.

You have my moral support, admiration and best wishes.

Sincerely,

Dear [redacted]

I am happy to have an opportunity to tell you something about Bob Welch. Bob is, as you know, the editor and publisher of AMERICAN OPINION, which enjoys the reputation of being one of the country's leading publications dedicated to the cause of conservatism.

Bob is without doubt one of the most patriotic men I have ever known, and one of the hardest working for the cause to which he has now come to devote all of his time, to the complete exclusion of his private interests. He is convinced that a Communist conspiracy to impose socialist dictatorship upon the world has been in existence for years and is increasing in intensity and tempo, and in his voluminous writing and speaking has adduced enough evidence in support of his conviction to convince anyone who is willing to take the time to read or listen.

The John Birch Society is one of Bob's brain children and its symbol is the life story of John Birch, a God-fearing patriot who, after a long period of behind-the-lines operations in China, was brutally and cold-bloodedly murdered by the Chinese Communists, who were supposed to be our friends, while on a peaceful mission ten days after the war with Japan ended.

I think that the measure of Bob Welch can be best seen by a scanning of the list of outstanding Americans -- from which I exclude myself, of course -- who Bob has assembled around him as The Council of The John Birch Society.

The Communists have gone far toward taking us without firing a shot, and I have heard several of the country's outstanding men say very frankly that The John Birch Society appears to be the only hope of stemming the tide of infiltration from the East.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

"So we welcome into the Society A who disagrees with B's ideas of how to fight the Communists, and B who dislikes A, and C, who looks scornfully at them both; and D who is too rabid, and E who is too restrained, and F who can stand nobody except those who land on what he considers middle ground; and G who wants to get his gun and come out shooting (if we would only say the word), and H who wants to win the whole struggle solely by educational means, and J who thinks that militant animosity and slow educational procedures must both be subordinated to practical political action; and K, who thinks that L is too uncouth, and L who thinks that K is a stuffed shirt, and M who can't tell the difference between them; and N who thinks that every third member of the Society is a Communist infiltrator, and O who thinks any expectation of Communist infiltration is exaggerated and ridiculous, and P who thinks it doesn't matter; and Q who thinks that R is a hound for personal publicity, and R who thinks that Q is a nonentity, and S who is sure that neither is a credit to the Society; and T who thinks that V is too bossy and V who thinks that T is too mousy, and parliamentary W who thinks that even lunch should be eaten according to Roberts' Rules of Order; and X who thinks that Y is too much of a sinner, and Y who thinks that X is too much of a saint, and Z who wants to spend too much of his time worrying about somebody else's religion instead of his own.

"You will note, gentle reader, that U and I were left out of the above list. That is because U, of course, are guilty of none of these distracting or disturbing attitudes; and because I, with so much of the responsibility for the ultimate effectiveness of The John Birch Society, must—within the limits of honor and of safety—be tolerant of them all.

"We do not even want to discourage complaints, for out of a bushel of overdrawn fears and prejudices and accusations we are bound to find now and then the grains of truthful warning which we need. We may be slower to move than is liked by some who make charges or air their suspicions. While we are sure that other members will consider us too drastic in the use of our rights of expulsion, if and when we do become convinced that charges are justified. But we shall do our utmost to get members of The John Birch Society, from A to Z, to work together for the purposes of the Society, regardless of how, on the outside, they may feel about each other.

"We shall insist on loyalty to the Society while any person is a member, without concerning ourselves as to what that person says about the Society, or about your Founder, after he or she resigns from membership. We have and want, absolutely no control over or responsibility for the actions of anybody, except as a member of The John Birch Society, and then only with the frequently confirmed understanding that the same anybody is free to resign from the Society at any time."

From The May 17, 1960 Issue Of CHRISTIAN ECONOMICS

John Birch was a Baptist missionary to China and later became a U. S. Army intelligence officer in the war against Japan. As a Christian and one ardently devoted to freedom and the principles of self-government he was feared by the Communists and finally brutally murdered.

In his memory, Robert Welch, a nationally-known Massachusetts industrialist, organized The John Birch Society for the purpose of furthering the concepts of John Birch, defeating the aims of communism, promoting the principles of constitutional government and advancing the cause of freedom.

Many chapters of the Society have been organized throughout the country, and those desiring more information about this movement should write to The John Birch Society, Belmont 78, Massachusetts.

A Most Amazing Organization Leaves Members Latitude Of Individuality

John Birch is named by many as the first American casualty of the Cold War between Communists and the ever-shrinking "Free World."

Birch was a Christian missionary, born on a farm near Macon, Georgia, who was in China when the United States entered World War II. On July 4, 1942, he officially joined General Chennault's intelligence service, rose to rank of Captain in the U. S. Army, and served with bravery and brilliance throughout the war.

Ten days after V-J Day, while in uniform on a special peaceful and official mission for the U. S. government, John Birch was brutally murdered in cold blood by so-called U. S. "allies," the Chinese Communists.

As one of the members of the John Birch Society says, "You probably never heard of John Birch. This is simply because the Communists in Washington planned it that way. It took five years of determined effort... to pierce the blanket of oblivion which had been so brazenly thrown over his life, and death by Communist sympathizers in our government. As THE SATURDAY EVENING POST pointed out in an editorial on January 22, 1955, 'Amazingly, there were in Washington responsible officials who were willing to suppress news of the murder of an American officer, apparently to prevent the American people from rising in their wrath and vetoing further appeasement of communism.'

In 1958, the John Birch Society was formed of Americans who as individuals, not representatives of organizations, want to fight in hometown councils to "wake up the American people to the serious cancer of the pro-Communist activities of Communist sympathizers."

That many of those individuals are men who are nationally known — T. Coleman Andrews, former Commissional of Internal Revenue; Tom Anderson, editor of FARM AND RANCH; Spruille Braden, former U.S. ambassador to several countries; Adolphe Menjou, screen actor who has been in the forefront of patriotic movements in recent years; Dean Clarence Manion, former dean of Notre Dame Law School—does not eliminate the individual character of the Council membership.

It is this note that makes one of the recent bulletins of the John Birch Society fascinating — since it underlines that which keeps so many organizations from attracting widespread membership. We commend the reading of the following paragraphs to any person who is seeking, as the Society does, "less government, more responsibility, and a better world."

April 19, 1960

Dear [redacted]

In reply to your April 13 letter, I have known Mr. Robert Welch for a number of years, first in the National Association of Manufacturers Foreign Relations Committee, and at meetings of that organization. Subsequently, I came to admire the splendid and patriotic job he was doing in the publication of AMERICAN OPINION. Without ever making any inquiry as to his antecedents, I came to know more or less automatically that he was a highly regarded and successful manufacturer. I have a natural fellow feeling for him because of his alarm as to the state of our nation and the courage which he demonstrated through AMERICAN OPINION and otherwise in fighting the malignant influences of collectivism and communism.

b6
b7C

Shortly after he formed the John Birch Society and I spent an entire day listening to him, I decided that at long last here was the one organization which could make the fight effectively against these disrupting influences in our country. I had for long felt that while many different patriotic organizations attacking these problems from various angles were to the good, that to become really effective, there must be one central properly organized group, with competent leadership. In the John Birch Society I found the organization, and in Bob Welch the leadership.

I trust that the foregoing covers the questions you had in mind.

With all best wishes,

Faithfully and cordially yours,

The John Birch Society

Communism has few friends in America. But none of its enemies are more dogged, determined, or downright hostile than are the members of the John Birch Society.

That band of dedicated anti-Communists still is relatively small in numbers, but it makes up in intensity for what it lacks in size. And its size is growing steadily, as more and more Americans become aware of its existence and its purpose.

Back of the John Birch Society is an uncompromising businessman named Robert Welch, who seems to live on equal parts of nervous energy, hatred of Communism, and distrust both of the United Nations and of almost every agency of the United States government. It was he who founded the Society, who named it, and who gives it the chief impetus and character.

In this day of organizations gone to seed, the John Birch Society stands apart in bold relief. It is authoritarian, and insists upon a disciplined following. It brooks no wrangling or haggling over Society policies or procedures. And it is as quick to invite members out of the organization as in, if it appears that its cause might suffer by their presence.

The cause is everything, and it is a cause of both breadth and depth. The primary objective is to halt the spread of Communism in this country. For Robert Welch contends with fervor that "incredible" inroads already have been made into the nation's legislative halls, governmental agencies, labor unions, schools, churches, and society in general. Beyond that is the goal of strengthening the hands of anti-Communists abroad, so that the Communist conspiracy may be halted everywhere.

Along with these well-defined goals is the more intangible objective of combatting collectivism in the interests of achieving "less government, more responsibility, and a better world."

In its steadfast drive toward these related goals, the John Birch Society demands of its members both sacrifice and dedication. Welch puts it in these words: "We need disciplined pullers at the oars; not passengers in the boat . . . We do not ask that you give the John Birch Society the whole of your lives, for you might as well be taken over by Communism if that be the case . . . but we do expect more work and sacrifice in this society than will be asked of you in any other organization."

Welch makes his personal bid for support in a gruelling, two-day talkathon, in which he paints a grim picture of Communist successes throughout the world, and holds out the John Birch Society as "the last best hope of saving our civilization." He and the handful of "coordinators" who help him spread the message tell their carefully selected prospects:

"It is the only alternative. Either you come into the John Birch Society and give it your best, or else you will be devoting all of your time to serving a Communist slave state."

Those who do join the society are called upon to keep abreast of both Communist and anti-Communist developments here and abroad, to spread knowledge of such developments among their neighbors, to support and sustain anti-Communists who are fighting actively in the governmental and other circles, and in general to "start shocking the American people into a realization of how far Communism has crept into this country."

Welch and his associates admittedly are bearers of ill tidings, but they make no effort to conceal their concern and their distress over the apathy of Americans generally. Their optimism, when it does show through, is couched in statements such as this:

"We do not have to lose this fight at all. There is enough strength in America to stop Communism if we can stir it to action. Our danger is immense and imminent, but all it takes to win is to build understanding."

That effort to make Americans comprehend is centered in Belmont, Mass., where the North Carolina-born Welch maintains headquarters for the John Birch Society. The Society's name stems from a young Christian missionary, a native of Georgia, who joined the United States forces in China at the outbreak of World War II. Welch tells of Birch's life and death in a little book, saying that his brutal murder in cold blood by Chinese Communists made him "probably the first American casualty" in a third World War between the Communists and the "ever-shrinking free world."

This clipping is from the Stamford Advocate, of Stamford, Connecticut. The same article appeared on November 28, 1960 in the many papers throughout the country carrying the syndicated column of W. D. Workman. Mr. Workman, who lives in Columbia, S.C., is author of the excellent book, The Case For The South, published by Devin-Adair.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY was founded, in Indianapolis, on December 9, 1958.

Its founder and present head is Robert Welch, of whom biographical notes are given at Page 28 of this brochure.

Its top governing body, under the Founder, is the COUNCIL, which was formed in December, 1959 and held its first meeting in Chicago, on January 9, 1960. The men constituting the COUNCIL are listed and identified on Pages 29 and 30.

The Society operates largely through local chapters, usually of between ten and twenty members each. Merely being patriotic or anti-Communist is not a sufficient qualification for membership. Because of our basic objectives (which will be more fully explained further along), we must have associated with us, now and in the future, only men and women of good will, good conscience, and religious ideals. For we shall strive to set an example, by dedication, integrity, and purpose -- in word and deed -- which our children's children may follow without hesitation.

As of the day this is written (January 31, 1961), we still have not begun any organizing effort in the following states: Alabama, Alaska, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, and Vermont. But we already have from one chapter to more than a hundred chapters in each of the other thirty-four states, and in the District of Columbia.

We also have a Home Chapter, which maintains contact with its members only by mail. There are now members of this Home Chapter in every state, and the roll includes several hundred of the most influential men and women in our country. Also, many of our new members first come into the Society as members of the Home Chapter, and are then transferred into local chapters which they themselves help to form, or which are formed by others in their community.

For taking the lead in establishing chapters, and for the supervision and guidance needed to keep them functioning most effectively, we have salaried staff men, called Coordinators. We also have, in many areas, men and women with other jobs who devote large parts of their time and energy to serving The John Birch Society as Volunteer Coordinators. The Society is now represented by such Coordinators and Volunteer Coordinators in about thirty states. We shall appoint Coordinators in the other states, and increase their number in the areas which are at present too thinly covered, as fast as our growth and resources will permit.

We now have several Major Coordinators, supervising the activities of Coordinators and Volunteer Coordinators. We shall add further Major Coordinators, and otherwise increase our organizational strength, from the bottom up, as rapidly as we can afford it and to whatever extent it seems wise to do so. Neither the list of our members, of either local chapters or the Home Chapter, nor their number, is ever given out to anybody. But during the twenty-six months since The John Birch Society was founded its growth has been sure and solid. We expect that growth to continue, with increasing speed and momentum, until we have the million members -- of fervent patriotism and unassailable character -- which is our goal.

From South San Gabriel, California

"I have only been a member of the Society for a few months, but I feel proud to be associated with such a fine group. . . . . I have a proud feeling in my heart. for everyone who is helping our country to survive, at this crucial time."

From Portsmouth, New Hampshire

"I thank you for the John Birch Society and would like to commend you on every firm stand taken."

From Tacoma, Washington

"We both appreciate very much the John Birch Society and all you are doing for the good of our wonderful country. We are thankful for this Society as we feel that we are really doing something worthwhile when we carry out your instructions. We wish to commend you for the fine publication American Opinion. We always read it from cover to cover and glean information that we find no other place."

Also From Tacoma, Washington

"This is the first time I have participated in the John Birch Society as an active member. It has given me a great deal of satisfaction to be able to do something. I have done a good deal of reading and exchanging views, attending meetings, etc., but never felt I was accomplishing anything. Even when I wrote my congressmen I didn't know if it would do any good. I had a forlorn feeling. Now I realize that many people concentrating on a given subject can do wonders. This is exactly as it should be. If at any time, however, I feel I can't go along with your views and thinking I reserve the right to refrain from writing or acting but will give you notice of my disagreement. Thank you for giving me a goal for which to work."

From Stevensville, Montana

"No improvement in the John Birch Society is needed at the top unless it were that its founder doesn't knock himself out. The enthusiasm at the lowest level is the fire under the effort."

From Pasadena, California

"Little did I know years ago when I heard John Birch preach that I would some day be a member of a patriotic organization named for him. I am so happy to be a new John Birch member."

From Fort Worth, Texas

"Every time I hear Mr. Welch speak, I appreciate even more the values of Qualified Leadership, and I realize that it is the lack of such leadership that has stopped other anti-communist groups from becoming effective."

From Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Patriots May Become 'Conspirators'

"Unless the trend of taking over the government by the international Communist conspiracy can be stopped, the day may not be far off when patriots will be called 'conspirators' against their own government.

"It has happened in every captive nation now in the clutches of Communists, including the Republic of Cuba.

"It can happen even here in the United States."

Such were the frightening prospects that prompted a Massachusetts industrialist to relinquish his business and dedicate himself to doing something about fighting Communism.

Widely known among the higher brackets of the business world, Robert Welch was almost unknown outside these circles less than three years ago.

Today, as editor of the much-quoted magazine, American Opinion, and organizer of the John Birch Society, he is becoming a familiar figure to tens of thousands.

Thumbnail Biography

Well-educated and world-traveled, the 61-year-old Bostonian closely observed the Socialist movement in England and the menacing growth of Communism everywhere.

In January, 1957, Welch gave up most of his business responsibilities, and most of his income, to devote practically his entire time and energy to the anti-Communist cause.

The basis of his conviction is the belief that the only thing Communists fear is having the truth about the methods and progress of their international conspiracy made known to the American people, who for the most part appeared to be complacent and indifferent.

Through the printed and spoken word he resolved to proclaim the facts about events, public personalities and issues, fearlessly and without reservation.

The time had come, he thought, to speak out.

Implementation

His objective was not to indoctrinate, but to present facts, to interpret them and to demonstrate their significance.

He had confidence in the ability of the American people to draw their own conclusions, once the facts had been made available to them.

First, he developed the outspoken American Opinion, now in its third volume, to publish the findings of his research staff of experts and present the chronology of events as it applied to the Communist conspiracy.

Robert Welch himself, author of three books, contributed his hard-hitting "If You Want It Straight . . ." section, in which he pulled no punches.

These eye-opening revelations caught on fast, but readers were not enough. He wanted them to talk about what they read and to read extensively the right kind of books.

With this thought in mind, he organized the John Birch Society one month before Fidel Castro made his grand entry into Havana and took over the government of Cuba.

Meaning of the Name

Operating largely through local chapters, usually consisting of 10 to 20 members each, the society with headquarters at Belmont 78, Mass., is an association of Americans who have voluntarily joined together to discuss problems of national importance.

John Birch, a Christian missionary in China at the beginning of World War II, organized Gen. Chennault's intelligence service, rose to the rank of Captain in the U. S. Army, served with distinction, and 10 days after V-J day, while in uniform, on a peaceful mission for his government, was brutally murdered by Chinese Communists.

"Few people recognized the name, because the Communists had planned it that way. It required five years of persistent effort by his parents, aided by Sen. William F. Knowland and other patriots, to pierce the blanket of oblivion brazenly obscuring the facts thrown over the affair by Red sympathizers in our government.

As the Saturday Evening Post pointed out in a lengthy editorial, Jan. 22, 1955: "Amazingly, there were in Washington responsible officials who were willing to suppress news of the murder of an American officer, apparently to prevent the American people from rising in their wrath and vetoing further appeasement of Communism."

So much for the biography of John Birch.

The objectives of the incorporated society make John Birch an appropriate symbol, the founder contends.

"John Birch was killed by typical Communist tactics, as a part of typical Communist strategy, in a typical Communist style war—a continuous undeclared war in which our enemies observe no rules of international law, of civilization, or of human decency," he explained.

"With his death and in his death the battle lines were drawn, in a struggle from which either Communism or Christian-style civilization must emerge with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed."

As presented in the society's Blue Book, the following objectives characterize the organization:

- To outline the nature and the frightening advance of the threats against our nation, our religion, and our civilization.
- To evaluate these dangers, and place them in their proper perspective, against the backdrop of world history and the rise of western civilization.
- To set forth a positive philosophy and program to which men of good will, religious ideals, and humane traditions may rally with confidence and determination.
- To offer leadership which can make the dedication of such men and women more constructive and more fruitful.

Patriots, Not 'Conspirators'

The society's literature points out that merely being patriotic or anti-Communist is not a sufficient qualification for membership. Good will, good conscience and religious ideals are also required.

"The conspiracy which endangers us today is tremendously more extensive and more expertly organized than was the Spartan apparatus which took over the Greek world by treachery and deceit," it states.

"The truly patriotic citizens of this country outnumber all the Communists and their agents and sympathizers and willing dupes in our midst, combined, by at least 10 to one.

"Our problem is: organization, direction, dedication."

There it is, pin-pointed. Unless the American patriot is willing to die for his country, he should be willing to work for it now. After all, it is much easier to live for one's country than to die for it.

And, of course, it is far easier to work as a patriot while there is yet time, than later to go underground as a 'conspirator' against a Red regime.—G.N.K.

by George N. Kramer, Ph.D.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY is named in honor of one of the greatest young men that America has produced.

John Birch was a Christian missionary, from a farm near Macon, Georgia, who was in China when we entered World War II. His heroism, accomplishments, and nobility of character were to make of him a legend which the Communists could not allow to live.

On July 4, 1942, John Birch officially joined General Chennault's forces in Chungking as a volunteer. He organized Chennault's intelligence service, rose to the rank of Captain in the United States Army, and served with unsurpassable bravery and brilliance throughout the war. He was frequently referred to, by both his associates and superiors, as the most important man in our forces struggling against the Japanese in China.

Ten days after V - J day, while in uniform, on a peaceful and official mission for our government, John Birch was brutally murdered in cold blood by our "allies," the Chinese Communists. This was on August 25, 1945. He thus became probably the first American casualty in that third World War, between the Communists and the ever-shrinking "free world," which is still being waged against us fifteen years later; a relentless war of which there is no end in sight.

You have probably never heard of John Birch. This is simply because the Communists in Washington planned it that way. It took five years of persistent and determined effort on the part of his parents, aided by Senator Knowland and many other good patriots, to pierce the blanket of oblivion which had been so brazenly thrown over his life and death by Communist sympathizers in our government. As the Saturday Evening Post pointed out, in a long editorial on January 22, 1955, based on The Life Of John Birch by this writer: "Amazingly, there were in Washington responsible officials who were willing to suppress news of the murder of an American officer, apparently to prevent the American people from rising in their wrath and vetoing further appeasement of communism."

John Birch was killed by typical Communist tactics, as a part of typical Communist strategy, in a typical Communist-style war -- a continuous undeclared war in which our enemies observe no rules of international law, of civilization, or of human decency. He commanded no armies, headed no government, converted no nations to his creed. His impact would have been of transient memory and comparatively small importance, had not that impact occurred at a time and in a way to supply particulars from which momentous generalizations can properly be projected. With his death and in his death the battle lines were drawn, in a struggle from which either Communism or Christian-style civilization must emerge with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed.

Partly for these reasons, but even more because John Birch -- in all of his short but outstanding career -- so typified the best of America, we have named our organization in his memory. If we rediscover some of our sounder spiritual values in the example of his life, recharge our determination from the spark of his courage, and learn essential truths about our enemy from the lesson of his murder, then his death at twenty-six ceases to be a tragedy. For in a full lifetime he could not have accomplished more.

TO STRENGTHEN AND SAFEGUARD the HERITAGE of AMERICAN FREEDOM

PROTECTING OUR FREEDOM

Many Americans who have been watching the relentless expansion of Communist power throughout the world are gravely concerned for the future of our nation — and mankind's freedom. They are aware that in 40 years of extraordinary success the Communists have already achieved most of Lenin's blueprint for conquest, which has been summarized and paraphrased as follows: "First, we will take eastern Europe; next, the masses of Asia; then we shall encircle that last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack; it will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands."

With infiltration, control of propganda outlets, and cunning political maneuvering — while our nation looked on with only mild interest — the Communists gobbled up eastern Europe; then most of the masses of Asia, including China's 500 million. And now we witness Cuba, 90 miles from Florida, being converted into a Communist stronghold, the base for widespread Latin American activities. Thus Lenin's blueprint for expansion, no matter how fantastic it may have sounded through the years, has become a reality. The U. S. A. is encircled, and within our borders the Communists are undermining our will to resist.

Freedom Isn't Free

A few million alerted Americans have watched this step by step expansion of Communism and have worried about it. A small percentage of them have become actively engaged in some kind of citizenship work to alert and arouse the remainder of our population to the very real danger. But most Americans still know very little about the nature of Communism, its tactics and strategy. It's something unpleasant to think about and they hope and trust it will soon go away. Moreover, they pay scant attention to the source of their freedom. They take freedom for granted, as something that will continue forever without any effort on their part.

Last week a group of 12 people met one evening in the town of Searcy, Arkansas, population 8,000. In the group was a business man, a college professor, a school executive, the vice-president of a corporation, a preacher, the wife of an industrialist, two women office workers, a college student, a housewife. . . . people drawn from various walks of life. They were meeting to plan a month's work on behalf of their nation. They are dedicated to the cause of freedom. They know that freedom isn't free. They are making personal sacrifices in work to pay for freedom — for themselves and for their children.

The John Birch Society

At the meeting a film on Communism was screened. A book review was given. The group's circulating library was discussed. Prospective recruits were listed. Each member of the group reported on his activities for February. Each had written a number of letters — to government leaders in Washington, pointing out, respectfully, things that might be done to strengthen our nation; to government leaders, complimenting an action; to the head of a nationwide organization, supporting a recent statement; to a corporation executive, making a suggestion; and so on. The meeting lasted nearly three hours. No one was in a hurry to get home. The month's work schedule ahead was discussed. A zeal in purpose and accomplishment manifested itself throughout the group.

This was the regular monthly meeting of The John Birch Society in Searcy. Across the nation, hundreds of similar small groups were meeting. The John Birch Society has one simple long-range purpose: to work for less government, more responsibility, and a better world. One of its shortrange objectives is to become a citizen force capable of defeating the aims of Communism. In its first year of existence, without publicity or organized promotion, its growth has been remarkable — and heartening. Any American who loves freedom and is willing to work, work, work to protect it can find intelligent direction and companionship in a John Birch Society group.

It is a unique movement. Its founder is Robert Welch, nationally-known Massachusetts industrialist. Fifteen months ago, having already given up his business responsibilities to devote his full time to the movement, he invited eleven prominent American leaders to a meeting in Indianapolis. For two days he presented the shocking facts-of-life in our world today. Then he outlined the plan for the movement he was founding. His goal, he told them, was a working John Birch group in every American community. Only people, dedicated and working at the task could protect freedom and its blessings. He asked for their moral,financial,and physical support. Whether he got it or not, he told the 11 prominent Americans, he was going forward with his plan. He got their immediate and enthusiastic support. Today The John Birch Society chapters are active in 20 states and are being formed in all 50. The movement may be contacted by writing The John Birch Society, Belmont 78, Massachusetts.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY is a group of Americans who have voluntarily joined together:

(1) To combat more effectively the evil forces which now threaten our country, our lives, and our civilization.

(2) To prevail upon our fellow citizens to start pulling out of the deepening morass of collectivism, and then climb up the mountain to higher levels of individual freedom and responsibility than man has ever achieved before.

(3) To restore, with brighter lustre and deeper conviction, the faith-inspired morality, the spiritual sense of values, and the ennobling aspirations, on which our western civilization has been built. The long-range objective of the Society has been summarized as less government, more responsibility, and a better world.

We are digging far more deeply into the problems we face, however, and building far more solidly in our coordinated effort to overcome the destructive forces around us, than can be indicated by the brief outline of our purposes given above. A more complete presentation of the background, methods, and purposes of The John Birch Society has now been given to selected small groups of leaders in different parts of the country, in full two-day meetings, more than twenty times since the Society was founded.

This presentation is available in tape form, wherever we have Coordinators to play back the tape recordings. There are now films available, of a part of the presentation, in some areas. But the most readily accessible form of the full presentation is in the Blue Book of The John Birch Society, which we brought out quietly by ourselves a few months ago because we have not wanted the publicity of commercial publication.

In this presentation we have attempted: (1) To outline the nature and the frightening advance of the threats against our nation, our religion, and our civilization; (2) to evaluate these dangers, and place them in their proper perspective, against the backdrop of world history and the rise of western civilization; (3) to set forth a positive philosophy and program to which men of good will, religious ideals, and humane traditions may rally with confidence and determination; (4) to offer leadership which can make the dedication of such men and women more constructive and more fruitful; and (5) to describe in detail the organization, function, and procedures of The John Birch Society.

Since defeat of the Communist conspiracy overshadows all other objectives at the present time, our action program for the near future breaks down into ten categories: (1) Dissemination of Americanist books and pamphlets as widely as possible; (2) increasing the circulation and readership of the best Americanist periodicals; (3) enlarging the audiences of Americanist commentators and newscasters on radio and television; (4) making more effective use -- through better planning, direction, and coordination -- of the weapon of letter writing; and (5) organizing Americanist fronts for many different purposes, including the widespread use of petitions in some instances; (6) waking up the American people to the seriousness of our danger by exposing, wherever possible, the pro-Communist activities of Communist sympathizers; (7) making it more difficult for hundreds of pro-Communist speakers to appear before thousands of unsuspecting audiences; (8) making Americanist speakers available for audiences which are

"I'm so happy to be a part of the John Birch Society, as for two months before I heard of it I was fighting in the dark -- by writing my congressmen, newspaper, etc. -- but I felt so all alone by doing so. Now I feel as though I'm hitting at the right place at the right time.
"Thank you so much for all you're doing to lead us."
From Bellaire, Texas

"It is wonderful to see that our voice is being heard. If there were not fear of us we would surely be ignored as in the past, but thanks to your organization and leadership we are finally getting through and IT'S ABOUT TIME!"
From Pasadena, California

"Keep giving it straight -- the truth will eventually penetrate, the smears and castigations mean nothing -- facts and the truth are the only important items."
From Shelburn, Indiana

From West De Pere, Wisconsin

"In order to fight Communism effectively, we must be as militant for our country as they are militant for Soviet Russia. The John Birch Society is a step in the right direction and I am proud to be a member."

"We have long wanted an organization with leadership and purpose to coordinate our efforts in behalf of America. We have just that in the John Birch Society. God Bless you for your dedication and I am proud to add my meager efforts to those who must stand or fall -- proudly -- in this 'give us liberty or give us death' battle."
From Unionville, Connecticut

"Keep up the good work. My prayers are with you."
(And A Contribution Too) From Dallas, Texas

"I endorse your policy of speaking forthrightly and firmly without engaging in euphemisms. We are dealing with an enemy who lacks any ethical sensitivity. We are at war with him, not might be or will be. We have to use war tactics."
From St. Augustine, Florida

An Error Corrected . . .

An Editors' Note

Recent controversy over the John Birch Society has resulted in a situation which the Sunflower sincerely regrets.

The situation arose from the "Inquiring Reporter" column, conducted by Jack Robbins, a Sunflower staff member, and which appeared in the Nov. 15 issue of this newspaper.

A "student" who gave his name as Thomas Goodwin, Business senior, and who was quoted as alleging that ". . . the anti-semitism that characterizes some of their literature, condemns the entire group," does not exist. Officials in the Registrar's Office have confirmed that no person by that name is registered here.

In fact, it is not now known whether or not a Thomas Goodwin does exist at all. But, the Sunflower published the name of the individual in good faith, particularly since he identified himself as a WU student.

In reporting student comments, the Sunflower does not determine in advance how much knowledge the various students have about the questions posed. The Sunflower, instead, strives to present at random what views any student may hold on a particular subject and airs them in a public forum type of column.

The reporter and the Sunflower apparently were the victims either of a campus prankster or of a hoax, and in being one of the victims, the paper inadvertently reproduced in print an allegation that subsequent investigation by the reporter showed to be unfounded.

In the words of Robbins, the reporter, "As far as I now know there is nothing anti-semitic in the literature of the John Birch Society."

The Sunflower regrets that this item in its inquiring reporter column was published under the banner of a student's opinion when it was not and that the material contained in the comment is not true, according to members of the Society and according to the reporter who made further and later investigation.

Indeed, the Sunflower regrets it whenever it, or any other newspaper, inadvertently publishes an irresponsible statement of whatever nature.

ROBERT WELCH

Born December 1, 1899, on a farm in Chowan County, North Carolina. Ancestry, full of farmers and Baptist preachers, traceable to one Miles Welch who came to this country from Wales in 1720. Educated at University of North Carolina (four years), United States Naval Academy (two years), Harvard Law School (two years), and school of hard knocks (about forty years). Came to Boston from North Carolina in 1919. Has lived in Belmont for the past twenty years. Has one wife, two sons, a Golden Retriever dog, and fourteen golf clubs—none of which he understands, but all of which he loves.

Has spent a great part of his life getting from where he was to where he wasn't, for reasons which seemed worthwhile at the time. This includes two trips to England specifically to study the effects of the Socialist government; one trip around the world; and fairly extensive additional traveling in North America, South America, Europe, and Asia.

Author of THE ROAD TO SALESMANSHIP, published in 1941 by the Ronald Press Company; of MAY GOD FORGIVE US, published in 1952 by Henry Regnery Company; and of THE LIFE OF JOHN BIRCH, published in 1954 by Henry Regnery Company. Is editor and publisher of AMERICAN OPINION, a monthly magazine which reviews current events and appraises contemporary leaders on the world-wide stage. Has done much public speaking, and will climb on a soapbox to argue against the evils of socialism whenever anybody will listen.

Has been in the candy manufacturing business all of his adult life. Was for many years Vice President, in charge of sales and advertising, of one of the larger candy manufacturing companies. Is a director of one bank, and has served as a director of several other business corporations.

Was a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers for seven years. Also served three years as a Regional Vice President of NAM, and two years as chairman of its Educational Advisory Committee. Has been active in many other business associations and committees, and in many community and educational activities — including service on the Belmont School Committee.

As of January 1, 1957, Mr. Welch gave up most of his business responsibilities — and most of his income — in order to devote practically all of his time and energy to the anti-Communist cause. Believes that the only thing the Communists now fear is having the truth become widely known, to the American people, about the methods and the progress of the whole international Communist conspiracy. For his readers or his listeners, Mr. Welch simply puts together clear but separate facts about the Communist advance, so that their significance becomes more apparent. Through this method he is trying to wake up as many of his fellow citizens as he can, to the horror and the imminence of the dangers which they face.

us could emulate your example. As a mother of five . . . . . , I feel deeply that I cannot go to my grave without trying to help give this world back to God who made it. Do not feel you need make any reply to this note."

From Skaneateles, New York

"With each day that passes I am more convinced of the necessity and merit of The John Birch Society. The immensity of Mr. Welch's undertaking and his dedicated leadership is an inspiration."

From Newington, Virginia

"Since joining the John Birch Society I believe the United States will survive the Communists' threat. Before I couldn't see how in the world we could combat traitors in government schools, churches, etc. Thank God for John Birch -- I'm with you 100% and I'm getting other Americans to join."

From La Canada, California

"Thought you might like to have a copy of the personal message from me to each of the delegates to the All-American Conference Annual Meeting at Kansas City which is scheduled to take place on November 10-11-12. It is my plan to insert a copy with each of your wonderful 'A WORLD GONE CRAZY' magazines, 250 copies of which reached me in the morning's deliveries.

"It is with pleasure that I enclose my check to cover the amounts stated in the attached duplicate invoices."

From New Bedford, Massachusetts

"I have clipped out the articles in the Boston Herald about you and the work you are doing to bring us back to what I knew fifty to eighty years ago. If the John Birch Society will only continue to work for the two things: fight Communism and work for less government, more individual responsibility, and a better world, some day we can be saved. With deep respect for a fighting, old fashioned real American . . . ."

Dear Friend Kenneth:

Thank you very much for your gracious visit of Friday morning. I was very happy to meet with you and your good friend to discuss the important need in America at the moment--the virtue of patriotism and a renewed dedication to the sacred ideals of the United States of America.

I have read carefully your description and the purposes of The John Birch Society. The twelve principles describing the general philosophy of the Society are nothing more than the Ten Commandments of God in modern language.

I am returning your materials as promised and I enclose a small check in the amount of ten dollars ($10) for the John Birch Society.

THE COUNCIL of
THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Each of the men listed below, who make up our COUNCIL, came into the Society solely as an individual, representing in no way any other group or organization. But simply for identification, we have given against each name the briefest line or two concerning other connections, or past accomplishments.

Dr. N. E. Adamson, Jr. A Boston surgeon. Assistant Medical Director of New England Mutual Life Insurance Company. Youngest member of the COUNCIL.

Mr. Thomas J. Anderson, Editor and Publisher of FARM AND RANCH, farm paper with 1,300,000 circulation.

Hon. T. Coleman Andrews. Former Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States. Now Chairman of the Board of two large (and affiliated) insurance companies.

Hon. Spruille Braden. Former Ambassador to several countries, former Assistant Secretary of State. A top authority on Latin American affairs.

Col. Laurence E. Bunker. Former Personal Aide to General Douglas MacArthur for 6½ years—during the Japanese occupation, the Korean War, and MacArthur's early months in this country after his return.

Mr. F. Gano Chance. President, A. B. Chance Company, Centralia, Missouri. Former President of Missouri Chamber of Commerce and of Associated Industries of Missouri.

Mr. S. J. Conner. President of the Conroth Company, Chicago, and with many other business interests.

Mr. Ralph E. Davis. President of General Plant Protection Corporation and affiliated companies, Los Angeles.

Dr. S. M. Draskovich. Author of Tito, Moscow's Trojan Horse. Editor-in-chief of SRPSKA BORBA (The Serbian Struggle), a weekly newspaper, published in Chicago, with sizable circulation in thirty-six countries.

Rev. Richard Ginder. Editor of The Priest, Associate Editor of Our Sunday Visitor. Father Ginder is, we believe, the best known and most widely read essayist and editorial writer in the Catholic press of America.

Mr. Wm. J. Grede. President of Grede Foundries, Inc., Milwaukee. Former President of the National Association of Manufacturers and former head of the International YMCA.

Mr. A. G. Heinsohn, Jr. President, Cherokee Mills, Sevierville, Tennessee. Author of One Man's Fight For Freedom. A very successful manufacturer and a very dedicated patriot.

Dr. Granville F. Knight. An outstanding physician and public-spirited citizen of Santa Barbara, California. Author of many scientific papers, especially on the misuse of chemicals and adulterants in foods.

Mr. Fred C. Koch. President, Rock Island Oil and Refining Company, Wichita, Kansas. Strong supporter of many patriotic movements, and especially of right-to-work legislation.

Mr. Alfred Kohlberg. Was a charter member of our COUNCIL. Now deceased.

Dean Clarence Manion. Former Dean of Notre Dame Law School. In 1954 resigned from important government appointment rather than stop crusading for the Bricker Amendment. Founded the Manion Forum, which now reaches a huge nationwide radio audience every week.

Mr. Frank E. Masland, Jr. President, C. H. Masland & Sons (carpet manufacturers), Carlisle, Pennsylvania. A leader in his community and state, who serves as chairman, vice-chairman, or active member of the boards of a great many educational, philanthropic, and industrial organizations.

Mr. N. Floyd McGowin. President, W. T. Smith Lumber Company, Chapman, Alabama. Active on many important boards of national organizations and enterprises.

Mr. W. B. McMillan. President of the Hussmann Refrigerator Company, St. Louis, Missouri. An outstanding business leader. Was, next to your Founder, the first member of The John Birch Society.

Dr. Revilo P. Oliver. Professor of Classical Languages and Literatures at the University of Illinois. Recognized as one of the very top scholars in America in his field. One of the ablest speakers on the Americanist side.

Mr. Cola G. Parker. Former President of the Kimberly-Clark Company. Former President of the National Association of Manufacturers. More recently, United States Employer Delegate to the International Labor Organization.

Hon. M. T. Phelps. Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona.

Mr. Louis Ruthenburg. Formerly President, then Chairman of the Board, of Servel, Inc., Evansville, Indiana. Former President, Indiana State Chamber of Commerce. Now retired except as an industrial consultant. Has received several honorary degrees and three Freedom Foundation awards.

Mr. J. Nelson Shepherd. President, Midwest-Beach Co., Sioux Falls, South Dakota. An outstanding citizen and strong supporter of many patriotic causes.

Mr. James Simpson, Jr. Was a charter member of our COUNCIL. Now deceased.

Mr. Robert W. Stoddard. President of Wyman-Gordon Company, Worcester Massachusetts. On board of directors of several of New England's largest businesses. Has just served two terms as President of Associated Industries of Massachusetts. Active on the boards of many educational and philanthropic institutions.

Lt. General Charles B. Stone, III, U. S. A. F. (Retired). Succeeded General Claire Chennault as Commander of our 14th Airforce, in China, and is lifetime Honorary Chairman of the 14th Airforce Association.

Mr. Paul H. Talbert. President, Paul H. Talbert Company, Beverly Hills, California. One of the most successful insurance executives in the United States. Also one of the most public spirited and influential citizens of his state of California.

The basic function of the COUNCIL is threefold: (1) To show the stature and standing of the leadership of the Society; (2) to give your Founder the benefit of the COUNCIL's advice and guidance, both in procedural or organizational matters, and in substantive matters of policy; and (3) to select, with absolute and final authority, a Successor to myself as head of The John Birch Society, if and when an accident, "suicide," or anything sufficiently fatal is arranged for me by the Communists — or I simply die in bed of old age and a cantankerous disposition. And we believe that both the growth and the effectiveness of the Society will be greatly helped by the experience, ability, and resolute purpose so strong a governing body. — RW

Dear Mr. Welch:

History has conclusively demonstrated that the one thing which the human family is ubable to overcome, is the disease and decay which inevitably result from too much materialistic luxury.

In spite of eight years of Eisenhower, with your help I have tried to maintain optimism, but the spectacle which confronts us next Tuesday is such that it seems crystal clear that we are witnessing the final stages of our beloved nation.

I am eternally grateful that it has been my personal privilege to have lived during an era which produced such courageous patriots, possessing absolute integrity, faith, terrific mental capacity and other important qualities of character, including sense of humor etc., such as you have always symbolized.

I am particularly thankful for having been privileged to have read your many superb writings, and am only sorry that it was not my additional privilege to have known you personally.

Thank you sir for the truly great and heroic battle which you have so unselfishly fought at terrific personal sacrifice, for our beloved nation. Looking at the candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency it is quite apparent that the battle you have been waging is temporarily lost, but the seeds you have sown, will bear fruit somewhere in the years that lie ahead.

With my admiration, respect and warm personal regards and appreciation, I am

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INCORPORATED

From Our Mail

These messages and extracts are selected from the thousands that now pour in on us every month. Though much too flattering, they do not feed our vanity, we can assure you. Instead, they increase our solemn consciousness of the staggering responsibility we have assumed. But they do make the unceasing hard work seem all the more worth while, and strengthen our determination to live up to that responsibility so far as it is humanly possible, with God's help, to do so. We reprint these comments here in the hope that our members, and many friends and prospective members, will share with us the inspiration received from such words of

APPRECIATION and ENCOURAGEMENT

"Since the day I saw the tape, where you appeared on the screen, I have intended to write you --

"If people who see and hear you, on that tape (film), are not stirred to their very souls, to want to be a part of this great work you are doing, there must be something wrong --"

A Housewife In California

"Again, may I thank you for all that you have done and are continuing to do, not only for me, but for this wonderful country of ours -- somehow I feel that its destiny lies a great deal in your hands."

A Student At Yale

"It is indeed good to belong to an active, directed unit of a growing army in this struggle with the Communists, and we are deeply grateful for the superb quality of the strategy, direction, and dedication provided by your leadership."

A Working Mother In Wisconsin

"My wife and I have never been so inspired as by your program and by the potential of what can be accomplished through The John Birch Society."

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: JULY 17, 1961

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages 11655-11655. Senator Clark, (D) Pennsylvania, requested to have printed in the Record an article written by Marquis Childs entitled "Birchites Finding Allies in Military" which appeared in the Washington Post of July 14, 1961. Senator Clark stated "The article refers to the ultra right-wing members of our military forces who are holding public meetings under the auspices of chambers of commerce and like organizations, in order to advance the point of view expressed by the fanatical lunatic fringe which constitutes the John Birch Society." Mr. Childs states in his article "A year ago the U. S. Naval Air Station at Glenview, Ill., initiated an 'Education for American Security' school. The speakers were for the most part professional anti-Communists who earn their living by specializing on the 'danger from within' theme. The fear of congressional and other critics of this approach is that far from uniting Americans in the face of a grave threat from the Communist challenge everywhere it has the opposite effect. By creating fear, suspicion, and hatred it sets Americans against each other. Hammering on the theme of infiltration and internal subversion, it suggests that professional agencies such as the FBI have failed to protect the Nation. Or, conversely, it implies that security agencies, preferably military, should be put in charge of indoctrination of the civil population."

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages A6337-A6339. Congresswoman Green, (D) Oregon, stated "the publicity that has been directed at the outrageous activities and pronouncements of the John Birch Society has awakened a great many Americans to the threats to our free way of life which are posed by some segments of the ultrarightwing. An article by Edward T. Folliard, appearing in the Washington Post for June 10, presents a revealing picture of the strange combination of extremists who wave the strident banners of the right." Mr. Folliard in his article stated "Some of the foremost students of Red activity in the United States--notably the Rev. John F. Cronin, S.S., of the National Catholic Welfare Conference--say that the Communist Party in this country has been 'drastically weakened.' They say that the area of Red danger now is not at home but abroad." The article goes on to state "J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is not one to downrate the threat of Communists in the United States. But even he is concerned about the thing that bothers Father Cronin--that is, the reckless charges Americans are hurling at one another." Mr. Folliard quotes from the April FBI Bulletin. This article also was placed in the Record by Senator McGee, (D) Wyoming, and appears on pages 11740-11741. Mrs. Green also inserted in the Record an article entitled "Birchites Finding Allies in Military" by Marquis Childs which refers to the FBI. This article appeared in the Congressional Record for July 14, 1961, and was brought to your attention at that time.

REC-35

At 5:45 p.m., 7/18/61, Mr. [redacted] telephone CYpress [redacted] telephonically advised SA FRANCIS W. NORWOOD at the Nashville RA. At this time he stated that he wished to furnish information relative to activities at a meeting of the John Birch Society in Nashville. He stated it was announced to all members of the group who were present at the meeting that efforts were being made to obtain the names of all the "liberals" in each area throughout the United States where there are John Birch Societies. The names and addresses of these "liberals" and any information available concerning their activities is to be sent to the Headquarters, John Birch Society, Belmont, Mass.

Each member of the Society in Nashville, Tenn., was requested to submit to the officers of the group a list of names of persons in the area whom they considered "liberal" and information upon which they based their opinion.

Mr. [redacted] also stated that some discussion was carried on concerning the fact that the Secret Service had obtained handwriting specimens from some young boy in Nashville, Tenn. He stated the significance of this was never made clear.

[redacted] was advised that any information he cared to furnish would be taken. No efforts were made to guide his activities, and no comment was made to him concerning the John Birch Society. No further action is being taken on this matter by the Memphis Division, since it does not appear that the information is of such significance that it should be disseminated.

ReBulet to Memphis dated 7/26/61.

On 7/18/61 the subject contacted the Nashville Resident Agent's office telephonically, at which time he advised SA FRANCIS W. NORWOOD that he was reporting on a John Birch Society meeting. He stated that something had been said at the meeting about the Secret Service making a young fellow give a handwriting sample. He stated that he was not clear as to what had been said but felt that this might be in part an attack on the law enforcement agencies of the Federal Government and also stated that the membership of the John Birch Society had been requested to turn lists of names of liberals in to the headquarters of the John Birch Society at Belmont, Massachusetts.

Mr. [redacted] acted extremely mysterious. He stated that he was unable to talk and terminated the conversation.

On 8/1/61 Mr. [redacted] was interviewed in person by SA NORWOOD. At this time he stated that he was not a member of the John Birch Society but that he was in sympathy with what the John Birch Society was trying to do as he, [redacted] felt that the Communist menace to the U. S. was extremely serious. He stated that he had been doing considerable reading concerning the Communist infiltration in the U. S. and that he was particularly interested in the Communist infiltration in the Methodist Church, of which he is a member.

He stated that on the occasion that he had telephonically contacted SA NORWOOD he had been unable to talk as he was calling from his apartment and that he did not want to excite his wife. He stated that the reason for his reporting the information was that he felt that it was something the FBI should know about. He stated that the information relating to the Secret Service had been information which apparently came from some sort of a pamphlet which was read at the meeting by the leader of the John Birch group. He stated that no names were given. He did not know the identity of the individual who allegedly had been made to give handwriting samples and stated that, to the best of his recollection, there was actually nothing said indicating that the Secret Service Agents had "bullied" the young man. He stated that it was his impression that this was read at the meeting to demonstrate to the meeting how the Communists would use any means to discredit a law enforcement agency. He stated that he had read that the Communists were trying to discredit the FBI and that, therefore, he thought that this information should be brought to the attention of the FBI.

He stated that he had mentioned the fact that the members of the John Birch Society chapter had been requested to send in names of liberals to Belmont, Massachusetts, because he felt that the FBI might want to know about this and might want to obtain this information from the John Birch Society, since he felt that it might be of interest to the FBI.

Mr. [redacted] stated that he has no information of firsthand knowledge concerning anyone being bullied by any law enforcement agency; that he has no information of firsthand knowledge of any efforts being made to discredit the FBI, the Secret Service, or any other governmental agency by spreading such rumors; and that he has no firsthand information concerning any liberals in the U. S. He stated that he reads considerably. He advised that he has a subscription to a publication called "Lifelines" which he states exposes the Communist menace. He stated that he also has a subscription to the "Dan Smoot Reports" and that all of the information which he has concerning the Communist menace comes from these publications and similar publications.

During the course of the conversation, Mr. [redacted] stated that he was a great admirer of the FBI. He stated that he felt that the Director was one of the great men in American history and stated that he had received from someone a copy of two articles which the Director had published in a law enforcement bulletin. He stated that he was having excerpts of these copied and that he intended to circulate them to friends and acquaintances of his showing what the Director thought of the Communist menace.

It was pointed out to Mr. [redacted] that he should not use any information from any articles published by the Director without first clearing such material with the Director and with the Bureau. He stated that he had not thought of this and that he would certainly clear any information prior to disseminating it. He asked if it would be all right to mention articles written by the Director, at which time it was pointed out to him that if he wanted to recommend to his friends that they read articles written by the Director, it would be all right to do so. He stated that he was recommending that all of his associates read "Masters of Deceit" and that in the future instead of quoting from any articles written by the Director he would refer to the article and suggest that the person to whom he was addressing his communication read the article in its entirety.

[redacted] gave the impression of being a sincere individual with regard to his concern of the Communist menace. He indicated, however, that he had very little knowledge concerning matters of this nature and while not so unstable as to be considered a psychopath he did exhibit some instability in his conversation.

In the interview of 8/1/61 [redacted] communication to the Director dated 7/22/61 was acknowledged, at which time he stated that he had also sent a second communication referring to some information which he had received from some of the publications which he had read.

No further action will be taken by the Memphis Division in this matter UACB.

(INTERNAL SECURITY)

[redacted] (protect identity) advised SA WILLIAM B. AHDERS on 8/23/61 that captioned organization appears to have been just a fad in the Midland-Odessa area of Texas. She stated that many of the influential people in the organization who had become quite rabid on the subject have dropped out of the society entirely because of the adverse publicity it has received. b6 b7C b7D

PSI continued that one [redacted] who had brought many new members into the organization has recontacted everyone she knows to have had any dealing with the organization and told them that she felt she had made a bad mistake in her fight against Communism by joining such a "crack-pot" organization and she expressed the hope to such persons she did contact that they would drop their membership. According to [redacted] seems to have succeeded in causing many members to drop out. b6 b7C b7D

Pages 14784-14787. Congressman Roosevelt, (D) California, submitted a report on the John Birch Society. This report was prepared for Honorable Stanley Mosk, State (California) attorney general, by his assistant, Mr. Edward H. Jewel, at the request of the Governor of California, Honorable Edmund G. Brown. Mr. Roosevelt stated "This report, written with an appropriate admixture of calire and carnestness, analyzes the philosophy, structure, membership, and methods of the Birchers." The report makes reference to the organizations used by the John Birch Society as "fronts." It states "Another new organization, apparently a Birch front is called realtor for American freedom, shortened to the initials RAF. Officers and leaders of this RAF group boast of their use of the realtors association to assert political strength in Sacramento, and they relate to their membership that through an ex-Army colonel, they have access to FBI information on suspected Communists. The RAF group is attended by even greater secrecy than the Birch Society itself."

SUBJECT: DEBATE ON JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY (JBS) BETWEEN CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM FITTS RYAN (D-N.Y.) AND JOHN H. ROUSSELOT (R-CALIF.) ON STEVE ALLISON RADIO PROGRAM, STATION WWDC, 10 P.M., 8-23-61

From approximately 10:00 p.m., to 11:30 p.m., on 8-23-61 Congressman William Fitts Ryan and John H. Rousselot debated the John Birch Society (JBS) on the Steve Allison radio program over station WWDC. It is noted that Allison's program which is held in the Black Saddle Restaurant in Washington, D. C., is a discussion-type program engaging generally controversial figures on controversial subjects of current national and international interests.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 6/5/86 BY SP2 [illegible]

John H. Rousselot:

In March, 1961, Congressman Rousselot asked for information about the JBS by setting forth 7 sample questions which he indicated he had been receiving from constituents. He withheld the fact that he was actually a member of the JBS for over a year. It appeared he might have been attempting to use the Bureau for his own purposes or was concerned over the membership and was honestly seeking some guidance. Because of this questionable incident, we have been most circumspect with him. In July, 1961, Rousselot endeavored to have SA Donald G. Hanning furnish his personal opinion as to what he would do if he were a member of the JBS. Hanning advised he could not comment officially or unofficially regarding this matter.

William Fitts Ryan:

Ryan had been publicly associated with the movement among prominent liberals both in Congress and out to abolish the HCUA. He has also been identified as proponent of various civil rights legislations. We have had few contacts with Ryan's office and deal with him on a circumspect basis.

DEBATE ON JBS:

The format of the debate was such that Ryan and Rousselot asked each other questions about the functions of the society and also answered questions from the floor of the restaurant clientele.

REC-7 62-104401-1141[illegible] XEROX SEP 1 1961

Statements by Rousselot:

The purpose of the JBS is as an educational facility to study the threats of communism, in addition to helping members of the JBS to protect their traditional American freedoms against the deceit practiced by the Communist Party. There is a great misconception about the tenets of the society whereby many independent statements made by its founder, Robert Welsh, have been attributed to the society and are actually Welsh's own personal views. Rousselot does not agree with Welsh on many of the statements such as the impeachment controversy of Chief Justice Earl Warren; however, his disagreement with Welsh on this point is that the high school students who will be writing the essays are not qualified for this sort of endeavor and the essay contest should be directed toward members of a group with a legal background such as the American Bar Association. He also pointed out that the essay contest is a product of Welsh and not the JBS. With respect to the statement alleging communist affiliation by former President Eisenhower with the Communist Party, Rousselot stated this is another misunderstanding and this was a conclusion of Welsh based on a long statement on why Welsh feels Eisenhower is a communist. This is Welsh's personal statement and not the JBS, and, although Rousselot agrees with some of the minor premises of Welsh, he does not agree with his conclusion that Eisenhower is a communist. The JBS doesn't favor segregation nor is it anti-Semitic, in fact some members in New York and Chicago were expelled for this sort of activity.

JMM:par (6)

Statements by Ryan:

Congressman Ryan admitted he had not read any of the JBS material and his main source of information was from newspaper accounts attributed to the society. He felt that the society was doing an injustice by being associated with the essay contest on Warren and feels this is an insult to the Supreme Court. In his statement why the JBS was doing a disservice, he chose to group it with the HCUA and said that both were causing hysteria in the country. The reason he has voted against the HCUA is he feels it has been overstepping its legal authority whereby it is a legislative agency and was not designed for the purpose of exposing peoples' ideas and beliefs. Like the JBS, it stifles freedoms by discouraging people from voicing their dissent on controversial issues.

Mention of the FBI:

In attacking the HCUA, Ryan stated he felt it impedes the investigative work of the FBI and the Attorney General and "thinks J. Edgar Hoover would agree with me that the HCUA has gone beyond its jurisdiction." However, he felt that the Director would disagree with him regarding the desirability of exposing communists. Rousselot, in answering a question as to whether a person should have the right to confront his accuser, stated he agreed that this should be so but pointed out that the FBI has also the right to protect its informants in this regard.

RECOMMENDATION:

For information purposes.

Pages 15933-15937. Senator McGee, (D) Wyoming, spoke concerning the John Birch Society. He included an article written by Alan F. Westin entitled "The John Birch Society: Fundamentalism on the Right" which was published in the Commentary magazine of August 1961. Mr. McGee stated "The burden of the article is to analyze in historical perspective the operations and role of the John Birch Society." Mr. Westin pointed out that "Whatever the specific prospects for the Birch Society—and I consider them unhappily bright—the 1960's will surely be years of expansion for the fundamentalist right in this country. Several things point toward that conclusion. - - - But, it should be said on the other side, a rejuvenated and expanded liberal movement is also likely to develop in the United States during the next few years. The signs are already present on American college campuses, where a decade of student apathy and fatalism is giving way to a revival of both liberal and (respectable) conservative political commitment. - - - At any rate, the resources are there to be marshaled, and they are potentially our greatest protection against the mounting right-fundamentalist threat."

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The Kansas City Times, a newspaper of general circulation, contained an article in the July 26, 1961 issue by RAY MORGAN, a member of the Star's Staff, reflecting efforts are being made to organize a chapter of the John Birch Society in Kansas City, Missouri. The first meeting was expected within the next week or ten days as a part of an organizing effort in other areas of Kansas and Missouri.

The above was confirmed on July 25, 1961 by [redacted] Missouri, [redacted] of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce, [redacted] of Associated Industries of Missouri, and a member of the Supreme Council of John Birch Society. [redacted] said that an organizer was working in both St. Louis and Kansas City, as well as other areas of Kansas. [redacted] of the multi-million dollar A. B. Chance Company, said, "We hope to have the organizing meeting of the chapter in Kansas City sometime within the next few days". [redacted] declined to say who the organizers were and who were working for the formation of the chapters. He said the Society has recently brought in a full-time organizer to work organizing chapters in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

[redacted] the Rock Island Oil and Refining Company and a member of the Supreme Council of the John Birch Society, said the organizer's name was [redacted] KOCH said [redacted] came from California to work for the Society and has been getting a fine response to his efforts.

[redacted] said chapters are already active in Centralia, Mexico and Jefferson City in Missouri. [redacted] said chapters have been formed in recent months in Wichita, Hutchinson and Topeka, Kansas and that there are other members throughout Kansas.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Membership in the Society is $1,000 for a life membership, $24.00 a year annual membership for men and $12.00 a year for women. There is a monthly news letter on the Society as well as other publications.

WINT SMITH, former member of Congress from the 16th District of Kansas who has long been an opponent of Communism and what he considers to be ultra-liberal, has been speaking before Society meetings throughout the United States since he retired from Congress last year.

The Kansas City Star, a newspaper of general circulation, August 13, 1961, contained a news item which reflected that about fifty persons attended a meeting of The John Birch Society, August 11, 1961, at Grandview, Missouri.

A two-hour film was shown of ROBERT WELCH, the Society's founder, reading from the Blue Book of the Society. [redacted] Kansas City, Missouri, [redacted] for Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, presided. A 45 minute question and answer session followed the film. b6 b7C

On August 15, 1961, an issue of The Kansas City Times, a newspaper of general circulation, contained the following news item:

> "A high-ranking member of the John Birch society asked his audience last night to begin fighting what he described as a massive Communist conspiracy that is seizing control of every phase of American life.
> "Speaking to nearly 1,000 persons in the auditorium of Shawnee-Mission East high school, Fred C. Koch, a Wichita businessman, asserted that internal subversion directed by the Soviet Union is eroding American universities, churches, political parties, entertainment media, the State Department and the United Nations.
> "His lecture and the film 'Operation Abolition' which followed, were given before the Northeast Johnson County Women's Republican Club.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

"Koch is a member of the advisory council of the Birch society.

"'Our universities have been one of the training grounds for communism in this country,' the speaker said.

"He asserted that the National Education association was Communist infiltrated, and had been responsible for 'Communist propaganda in this country's textbooks.'

"In a swipe at the National Council of Churches, Koch said that 'Protestant ministers have been more highly infiltrated by Communists than any other group in America.'

"Koch charged that the stage, screen, radio and television have been highly infiltrated by Communists for many years.

"Turning to politics, Koch stated that, 'the Communists have long since penetrated both the Democratic and Republican parties.' He added that Communists have had a strong influence on political leaders.

"Koch listed several methods which he said the Communists will use to 'take over America.'

"Among them were the infiltration of high governmental offices 'until even the President is a Communist--unknown to us, of course,' and a massive labor strike.

"'Nearly every man in Congress who has lifted his sword against communism has been destroyed,' Koch stated.

"About 30 persons left the auditorium before the end of the lecture, which lasted about an hour and one-half."

WHEREAS: Protections of social legislation established for the benefit of industrial workers are non-existent for migratory workers, and such non-existence constitutes special discrimination against the agricultural worker and his family;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association send letters to the Secretary of Labor and to the President's Committee on Migratory Labor, urging them to recommend to Congress passage and vigorous enforcement of legislation which will accomplish the following:

(a) Extend to all migrants the same protection and standards currently recognized as necessary in Puerto Rican and Mexican National contracts.

(b) Restrict the facilities of the Federal-State Employment System to growers whose wages, housing and working conditions meet minimum standards.

(c) Provide for federal registration of crew leaders and loans to growers for approved housing for migrants.

(d) Extend provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act to include farm workers, and revise child labor laws to include protection outside as well as during school hours.

(e) Revise the Labor Management Relations Act to include the right of farm workers to organize and bargain collectively.

(f) Develop state programs to provide adequate education and child care for migrant children.

(g) Extend the Unemployment Compensation Act to cover farm workers.

(h) Tighten Interstate Commerce Commission regulations affecting the transportation of migrants to prevent the use of defective and unsafe vehicles.

Submitted by the Community Church of New York and revised by the Business Committee. Similar resolutions submitted by petition by members of First Unitarian Congregational Society in Brooklyn, New York; by petition by members of All Souls' Church, Washington, D. C.; by petition by members of First Unitarian Society of San Francisco, California; and by petition by members of First Unitarian Congregational Society of Hartford, Connecticut.

2. MENTAL HEALTH

WHEREAS: Every second hospital bed in the United States is occupied by a mentally ill person with most public mental hospitals caring for 1,000 to 14,000 patients; and

WHEREAS: Less than $4.50 per day is spent for each mentally ill person compared with the average of $28.00 per day per patient in general hospitals; and

WHEREAS: Medical knowledge has developed to the degree that most of the mentally ill could, with proper individual care, be returned to live useful lives in society;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the churches and fellowships of the Unitarian Universalist Association study their own communities to determine whether facilities and budgets are adequate for the care of mental patients within their own communities, such facilities to include psychiatric units in general hospitals, "half way houses" for discharged mental patients, vocational and counseling services, and special classes in the public school system for emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded children.

BE IT ALSO RESOLVED: That member churches and fellowships strive to inform themselves in this field in order to give compassionate understanding towards the mentally ill as family, friends, or employers and to assist through direct volunteer service in appropriate places; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That Unitarians and Universalists accept positions of leadership in their communities where they can influence public opinion and government agencies so that the financial and medical need of the mentally ill may be met.

Submitted by petition by members of the All Souls' Church, Washington, D. C., and revised by the Business Committee.

3. CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

WHEREAS: Respect for the value of every human life must be incorporated into our laws if it is to be observed by our people; and

WHEREAS: Modern justice should concern itself with rehabilitation, not retribution; and

WHEREAS: It has not been proved that fear of capital punishment is a deterrent to crime; and

WHEREAS: Human judgments are not infallible, and no penalty should be used which cannot be revoked in case of error; and

WHEREAS: Capital punishment has not been used impartially among all economic and racial groups in America:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association urges its churches and fellowships in the United States and Canada to exert all reasonable efforts towards the elimination of capital punishment.

Revised by the Business Committee to combine resolutions submitted by the Unitarian Fellowship of Bloomington, Indiana; Boise Unitarian Fellowship, Boise, Idaho; by petition by members of the First Unitarian Society of San Francisco, California; and by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of San Diego, California.

4. PUBLIC SCHOOL INTEGRATION

WHEREAS: Denial of equal opportunities for education on account of race or color continues to be widespread seven years after the Supreme Court's unanimous declaration that the Constitution forbids it; and

WHEREAS: Such disregard for the supreme law of the land presents a moral crisis no less than that resulting from the violation of human rights involved:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association call upon the Prewident of the United States to make public statements and take other appropriate action in his discretion to clarify the moral issues and to enlist active public support for their resolution by promp integration of the public schools at all levels.

Submitted by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of San Diego, California, and revised by the Business Committee. Similar resolutions submitted by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of St. Louis and Eliot Unitarian Chapel of Kirkwood, Missouri, and by petition by members of all Souls' Church, Washington, D. C.

6. FREEDOM OF RESIDENCE

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association urges the President of the United States to promulgate an Executive Order prohibiting discrimination in Federal Housing and Urban Renewal Programs and establishing a Committee to develop a program of implementation of the same.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association urges its church and fellowships to;

1. Call upon their individual members to make all housing, urban and suburban, new or old, which they control as owners, dealers, brokers, builders, or mortgagors available to any qualified person, without regard to race, color, creed or national origin.

2. Call upon all real estate dealers, brokers, and mortgagors to do the same.

3. Request their city and state legislators to repeal all existing laws requiring racial segragation and to urge the adoption of local and state laws prohibiting discrimination in housing.

4. Stimulate, encourage, and participate in educational programs, meetings, and other activities sponsored by both governmental and voluntary agencies and designed to promote equality of opportunity in housing.

Submitted by the Community Church of New York and revised by the Business Committee. Similar resolution submitted by the Unitarian Fellowship of Bloomington, Indiana.

7. ABOLITION OF THE HOUSE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE AND THE SENATE INTERNAL SECURITY SUB-COMMITTEE

WHEREAS: The House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee have failed to accomplish the purposes for which they were established; and

WHEREAS: Over the years of their existence, the effect of these Committees has too often been only to harass people who held unpopular opinions; and

WHEREAS: The cause of National Security has been used by these committees as an excuse to call into question long-standing individual freedoms granted under the Constitution of the United States.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association

1. Request the President of the United States to recommend to the Congress the abolition of these two committees and

2. Urge all Unitarians and Universalists to call upon their representatives in the Senate and House of Representatives to vote against further appropriations for these committees.

Submitted by petition by members of the First Unitarian Congregational Society of Hartford, Connecticut, and revised by the Business Committee. Similar resolutions submitted by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles, California, and by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of St. Louis and Eliot Unitarian Chapel of Kirkwood, Missouri.

INTERNATIONAL

13. DISARMAMENT AND TEST BAN TREATY

WHEREAS: The settlement of International conflicts by war is now impossible and the prolongation of present tensions threatens mankind with annihilation by accident; and

WHEREAS: The testing of nuclear weapons afflicts mankind with disease and early death, and future generations with hereditary defects; and

WHEREAS: The continued production of armaments diverts energy and wealth from present human needs and postpones the rich future now within men's grasp:

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Unitarian Universalist Association urges, as an initial step toward controlled total disarmament, that the United States Government proceed with sincere, conscientious and continuing negotiations for a nuclear test ban treaty.

Submitted by the Second Universalist Church of Weymouth, Massachusetts, and revised by the Business Committee. Similar resolutions submitted by petition by members of the First Unitarian Society of San Francisco, California; the Community Church of New York; by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of St. Louis and Eliot Unitarian Chapel of Kirkwood, Missouri; and by petition by members of the First Unitarian Church of San Diego, California.

15. AFRICA

WHEREAS: 1960 was the "Year of Africa, notable Algeria, S. W. Africa, the Rhodesias, Mozambique and Angola, Africans are denied self-government and other basic human rights; and

WHEREAS: The newly-independent African states are greatly in need of technical and economic assistance;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLIVED: The the Unitarian Universalist Association urges:

1. That the governments of Canada and the United States tender substantial technical and economic assistance to the newly-independent African nations, to be channeled through the United Nations, and

2. That unrelenting pressure be applied to these governments to press for the political and economic freedom of those areas under colonial rule, and

3. That the newl-freed peoples of Africa, both as individuals and as nations, be accorded esteem and courtesy commensurate with the vital role they are playing in international affairs, and

4. That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the appropriate government officials of the United States and Canada.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

By undated letter printed on letterhead of The John Birch Society, Incorporated, which was addressed to "Dear Fellow American," Z. R. Cecil, Chapter Leader, Pittsburgh Chapter 881, The John Birch Society, advised that Robert Welch, founder of The John Birch Society, would speak in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday evening, October 11, 1961, at 8:00 p.m. in the Lecture Hall of the Carnegie Institute at 4400 Forbes Avenue.

The above letter continued that Mr. Welch's subject would be "Through All the Days To Be" and that the recipient was invited as one whom the society believed shared its concern for America's future and freedom everywhere, to hear this challenging address.

The letter stated that admission would be by ticket only; that there would be a seat for every ticket holder, and that questions from the audience would be welcome. A donation of $1.00 per ticket which was to go entirely toward the financing and expansion of the non-profit John Birch Society was to be sent to Z. R. Cecil, Agent, or to The John Birch Society.

On November 7, 1957, a law enforcement officer in the Pittsburgh area furnished a pamphlet issued by "For America, 1001 Connecticut, N. W., Washington 6, D. C." which indicated that one Zack R. Cecil of Pennsylvania was a member of the National Policy Committee of "For America."

According to the above pamphlet, "For America" was described as a patriotic, nonpartisan, free association of Americans. The association was said to stand for states' rights, competitive enterprise, private property and individual liberty, and was opposed to all moves toward internationalism, fascism, socialism, atheism, and communism.

By letter 9-29-61, captioned individual, [redacted] advised that former Vice President Nixon quoted from a recent address of the Director regarding the error of assuming that anyone who does not agree with us is a communist or pro-communist. According to [redacted] Nixon gave this answer in response to a question concerning whether he would welcome support from members of the John Birch Society. Correspondent stated the obvious implication was that the John Birch Society is guilty of the acts the Director referred to and inquired if this conclusion was correct. b6 b7C

Correspondent also remarked on the contrast of the Director's "solicitude" for those who are wrongfully labeled communists, but failed to find the same concern for those labeled Fascist. [redacted] wonders if this is part of the "Double Standard" referred to in "The New Drive Against the Anti-Communist Program."

Bufiles contain no information identifiable with correspondent. It would appear that [redacted] is a sarcastic, dogmatic individual whose logic and reasoning are unsound and who apparently is looking for an argument. Further, he may be a member of the John Birch Society. It is felt nothing can be gained by acknowledging his letter and, in fact, he might misuse any reply to cause potential embarrassment to the FBI. Accordingly, it is felt his letter should not be acknowledged.

Without identifying the source there was sketched for him the details of the information received by the Bureau to the effect he and [redacted] were, or had been, [redacted] some sort of "Anti-Communist organization" and in connection therewith had made statements the FBI had knowledge of the matter, "would make sure there was no trouble" if difficulties were encountered, especially in connection with the use of a gun, and had arranged for the violations of law he and [redacted] had committed and for [redacted] dishonorable discharge from the U.S. Marine Corps in furtherance of their organizational schemes.

[redacted] said he knew of only one incident which would have given rise to the above, this being on the occasion some six or eight weeks ago when a boy from [redacted] was in Abilene at the invitation of [redacted] was asked by [redacted] to go through a certain "ritual" with him. [redacted] said that had all been drinking, and he looked upon the matter as "a lark", and for the purpose of impressing this boy from [redacted] the reason for this being unknown to him, [redacted] then described the events of the evening much as had [redacted] when he reported the matter to the Dallas Office, except [redacted] said he has no

It seemed apparent to the interviewing agents [redacted] was "hedging" in the telling of his story, and he was informed as much. He was additionally told, however, that Agents were not there essentially for the purpose of "quizzing" him or attempting to prove or disprove the reports we had received, but for one purpose only, that purpose being to inform him in no uncertain terms that the FBI will not tolerate its name being used without complete authority under any circumstances, or for any purpose, and that he should clearly understand this and govern himself accordingly in the future. He was told the FBI has no interest in his or [redacted] activities so long as no federal laws are violated and same did not encroach upon or interfere with our responsibilities, but in connection with any of them we will insist they studiously avoid giving anyone the impression, directly or indirectly, that the FBI is in any way involved in them, has sanctioned them, or is lending any support to them.

He said he then took the [redacted] boy to a second place, a room in a business place on North First Street in Abilene for which [redacted] had made arrangements. There [redacted] and this boy had a lengthy conversation, but, here again, [redacted] said he was not in a position to overhear it. He said [redacted] was wearing a gun, he believes a ".45", in a shoulder holster. Where this gun had been obtained by [redacted] said he did not know. He denied ever having seen it before or since.

[redacted] was contacted telephonically at [redacted] at Hardin-Simmons College, Abilene, Tex., and subsequently came to and was interviewed at the Abilene Resident Agency on 10/4/61 by SAS COLEMAN MABRAY and KENNETH C. HOWE.

[redacted] upon being given the same detail as had [redacted] also identified the incident from which this information had probably arisen as the occasion when [redacted] visited Abilene from [redacted] was not communicative in connection with the happenings of that evening, and was not pressed in that regard. He denied having made any statements which would even imply the FBI was in any way involved, or that he had any connection or contact past or present with the FBI.

b6

[redacted] was told, as had been [redacted] the Agents were not talking to him to go over the occurrences of that evening, or any of his other activities, but wanted to specifically point out and emphasize to him, in view of the reports we had received, he is never, under any circumstances, to say anything which will directly or indirectly indicate the FBI is in agreement with, in back of, or in any way supports or sanctions any of his activities; that any such statements by him or any other unauthorized person will not be tolerated and could have unpleasant consequences. He was further told the FBI had no interest in any organizational aspirations he might have so long as there was no violation of federal law and no interference with or encroachment upon our responsibilities, but that we would insist the name of the FBI be kept out of the picture completely in connection with any such program.

No question was left in the minds of either [redacted] or [redacted] as to what the Bureau's position in matters such as the above is, and the seriousness of the affair was throughly impressed upon them. They said, following the interviews with them, they completely understood this.

[redacted] also identified the individual referred to my relet as [redacted] at the University of Texas, Austin, Texas, and a son of DR. [redacted] Texas. He advised the home in which [redacted] was that of [redacted] who has a small laboratory in his home. He said [redacted] Texas University, Austin, but added he [redacted] was not at home on the evening [redacted] was there.

On 10/5/61 [redacted] was interviewed at his residence in [redacted] by SA JAMES W. LOTT, and it was re-emphasized to him the FBI is in no manner involved in any activities of [redacted] or those of any other individuals whom he might have met or with whom he might have come into contact while in Abilene, He was told any information he might have been given in this regard by [redacted] was strictly figments of their imaginations; thatthe FBI does not tolerate such implications by unauthorized individuals and is taking definite steps to see this is thoroughly understood by all individuals involved.

The Washington Field Office advised by letter of August 28, 1961, that Senator Thomas H. Kuchel had been contacted by one of their Agents on that date in connection with an official matter. Kuchel expressed great personal concern over the activities of the John Birch Society(JBS). He has taken an active stand against their activities and they have denounced him publicly. He feels the society is seriously interfering with the FBI's jurisdiction in security matters and would like to have a meeting with the Director to discuss the specific action which can be taken both by him and the Bureau against the JBS. He also requested that he be permitted to take a personal tour of the FBI's facilities suggesting a time near the end of the present session of Congress or the week of 9-5-61.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 6/9/82

INFORMATION IN BUREAU FILES:

Bufiles reflect we have had cordial correspondence with Kuchel over the years. By letter of 7-11-61 the Director thanked Kuchel for his generous comments about the Director's administration of the FBI which Kuchel expressed in the Senate on 7-7-61. We last communicated with him by letter of 8-23-61 from the Director in connection with a constituent matter.

The John Birch Society was founded in 12-58 in Indianapolis, Indiana, by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts. It is incorporated under laws of State of Massachusetts; is allegedly anticommunist; has chapters throughout the country; and has not been investigated by the Bureau. Welch and the Society in the past have been extremely critical of former President Eisenhower. (62-104401)

OBSERVATIONS

Because of the extremely controversial nature of the JBS, particularly among many of the prominent members of Congress, it is not felt desirable the Director should discuss this matter with Senator Kuchel. However, because of Kuchel's cordial attitude toward the Bureau perhaps, at a later date, arrangements could be made for the Director to briefly meet Kuchel at a time when the Director would not be drawn into the controversial nature of the JBS.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) The Director not see Kuchel regarding the JBS.

(2) Arrangements be made for Senator Kuchel to receive a special tour by a Special Agent assigned to the Crime Records Division.

(3) You, or a representative of your office, contact Senator Kuchel and advise that his request has been relayed to the Director. However, the uncertainty of the Director's schedule will preclude his indicating a definite time to see the Senator. He should be advised the FBI has not investigated the JBS and consequently, can make no comments concerning it. During this contact, he should be cordially invited to receive a tour of our facilities here at FBI Headquarters.

SUBJECT: REQUEST RECEIVED FROM
THOMAS H. KUCHEL
UNITED STATES SENATOR (CALIFORNIA)

On August 28, 1961, United States Senator THOMAS H. KUCHEL (California), upon being contacted by an Agent of this office on an official matter, expressed great personal concern over the activities of the John Birch Society. He stated he feels the members of this society have taken upon themselves the responsibility of investigating the Americanism of various public officials and individuals. Senator KUCHEL stated he personally has taken an active stand against the activities of this society and they in turn have denounced him publicly. He stated he feels the society is seriously interfering with the FBI's jurisdiction in security matters, and he would like sometime soon to have a conference with the Director to discuss the specific action which can be taken both by him and the Bureau in connection with this group.

Senator KUCHEL also requested that he be permitted to take a personal tour of the FBI's facilities since he has heard so many favorable comments about them. He suggested that a time nearer the end of the present session of Congress would serve him best and that possibly sometime next week would be suitable.

Senator KUCHEL requested the interviewing Agent to furnish the above information to the Director. No commitments were made; however, he was advised that his request would be made known to the Director.

By letter 9-28-61, captioned individual advised she is a member of the John Birch Society. She wants "a straight, honest-to-God answer" from the Director concerning whether the FBI considers the John Birch Society a subversive or communist organization.

She professes her love for America and points out that in "Masters of Deceit" the Director stressed the communist menace and the need for Americans to fight it, but states that if the Director does not "back us up when we try to fight it," he is sending her and her associates "out to do battle with our hands tied behind our backs." All she wants from the Director is an "honest answer" and states this will determine whether she remains a "Bircher."

Bufiles reflect a prior letter from captioned individual in 1957, in which she accused the Director of lying with regard to Bureau Agents allegedly holding persons incommunicado in the Little Rock school case. Her letter was not acknowledged. She wrote again on 11-25-60, alleging a Federal Election Laws violation claiming her name was crossed out from the voting register but that she was eventually allowed to vote. Her letter was acknowledged on 12-9-60 and she was advised the matter had been referred to the Civil Rights Division of the Department.

In view of the above information, it is believed this matter can best be handled by the attached in-absence reply because it is felt if we do not acknowledge correspondent's letter, or give her a form in-absence response, she would continue to write the Bureau for a reply.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

March 1, 1960 WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

TO ALL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS:

It is an incontestable fact that our country, the symbol of the free world, is the ultimate, priceless goal of international communism. The leaders of international communism have vowed to achieve world domination. This cannot be until the Red flag is flown over the United States.

If, for a moment, the grandiose Red plan is scoffed at as being fantastic, consider that one-fourth of the land surface of the world and one-third of the peoples of the earth are now controlled by the world-wide communist bloc.

Certainly, the communist gains throughout the world are evidence enough that America, if it lowers its guard, may be someday an easy target for the Red threat. The communist plan is to conquer the United States, if not today, then tomorrow; if not tomorrow, then the next day, next month, next year--there is no timetable, no "Five-Year Plan." This is evident in the machinations of the Communist Party, USA, as shown by the analysis of its 17th National Convention published in this Bulletin.

It is indeed appalling that some members of our society continue to deplore and criticize those who stress the communist danger. What these misguided "authorities" fail to realize is that the Communist Party, USA, is an integral part of international communism. As the world-wide menace becomes more powerful, the various Communist Parties assume a more dangerous and sinister role in the countries in which they are entrenched. Public indifference to this threat is tantamount to national suicide.

Lethargy leads only to disaster. The communists have a savage plan of liquidation for a vanquished America. The blueprint can be found in the words of Mao Tse-tung, Chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, who reportedly said that it was necessary to liquidate 800,000 "enemies" to solidify communism in China. Another pattern is the plight of countless families in satellite countries who were torn apart and transported to the oblivion of Soviet labor camps.

Under communist domination in America, the first campaign of liquidation would engulf the lawyers, champions of due process of law; newspapermen, whose ageless fight for freedom of expression would have no place under totalitarianism; law enforcement officers, guardians of individual rights; governmental leaders, local, state and national; and everyone falling in the so-called "capitalist" category. Occupations and professions which the communists term "useless and parasitic" would be abolished--clergymen, wholesalers, jobbers, real estate salesmen, stockbrokers, insurance men, advertising specialists, traveling salesmen--the list for purging is endless. No citizen would escape some form of suffering under a communist regime. One need but to compare his own worth, his own ideals, his own religious beliefs with the atheistic doctrines of communism to determine his priority on the list of liquidation.

The defense of the cherished freedoms secured and handed down to us by our forefathers is the responsibility of each American. Knowledge of the enemy, alertness to the danger, and everyday patriotism are the brick and mortar with which we can build an impregnable fortress against communism. Only the intelligent efforts of all Americans can prevent the decay of public apathy from laying open our Nation to the Red menace.

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

An Analysis of the 17th National Convention of the Communist Party, USA

by DIRECTOR J. EDGAR HOOVER

Statement made to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and released on January 17, 1960.

Profaning the very meaning and spirit of the Star Spangled Banner by opening its sinister conclave with our National Anthem, the Communist Party, USA, convened its 17th National Convention on December 10, 1959, in a hotel in New York City's Harlem section. Four days later, the some 200 delegates representing other Communists throughout our Nation, adjourned in a state of jubilance.

And well they might feel in high spirits—because the Communist Party, USA, emerged from this convention more powerful, more unified and even more of a menace to our Republic.

Without question, the most signal achievement was the welding of the Communist Party, USA, into a solidly unified, aggressive force behind the militant, devious and ruthless leadership of Gus Hall, ex-convict and avowed arch enemy of the American way of life.

Hall was elected general secretary of the party at the convention, and there is virtual unanimous agreement among party powers and rank and file that he is the "Number One" man in the party. As such, he now spearheads as powerful a group of dissidents and fanatic democracy-haters as America has seldom seen within its shores during peacetime.

The Communist conspiracy in America today is led by a man who has openly boasted that he was willing to take up arms and fight to overthrow our form of government. Hall was convicted in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1934 in connection with a riot there when he was a member of the Young Communist League. During his trial he testified as follows:

Q. But you would prefer the Russian—you would prefer to be in Russia?

A. I prefer America with a Soviet government.

Q. And you are willing to fight and overthrow this government.

A. Absolutely.

Q. And you are willing to take up arms and overthrow the constituted authorities?

A. When the time comes, yes.

As a hot-blooded young Communist in the late 1930's, Hall was arrested in Ohio and charged with the possession and use of explosives. He subsequently pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of malicious destruction of property and was fined $500.

The election of the fiery Hall to lead a strongly knit Communist Party which has and always will have as its chief objective the communizing of America should certainly shake even the most apathetic American from his lethargy, especially when viewed in the light of this hardened Communist's own statements. During radio and television interviews at the convention, Hall blandly stated that the American public "definitely" has underestimated the size and influence of the Communist Party, USA. He added that the Communists in this country should make even greater strides toward increasing its already growing number of members. He boasted that the party "is growing in industry and youth" due mainly to the change in political climate.

Assuredly, there is a significant lesson for every American in this display of machinations, propaganda and opportunism which is communism itself at work within our borders. The 17th National Convention of the Communist Party, USA, was a revealing 4-day miniature preview of what our Nation would become if those who aspire to become commissars of a Soviet America should ever fulfill their evil ambitions. It is apparent that, more than ever before, each American must maintain vigilant watchfulness toward this Trojan horse in our midst.

The 17th National Convention is being hailed by the Communists themselves as a great milestone in the party's history in the United States. These gains, recognized as formidable ones, are regarded by the party faithful as their chief accomplishments:

1. Promotion of Gus Hall, strongly pro-Russian and an energetic, aggressive leader, to the number one position in the party;

2. Uniting the membership solidly behind the newly elected leadership, making the party a hard-hitting mobile weapon against the free American government;

3. Exploiting the current international political climate in an effort to make Russian policies more acceptable to American public opinion. This involves an attempt to exploit Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States as a means of furthering its own schemes for bringing about a Soviet America;

4. Implemented a number of concrete programs aimed at increasing party membership and party influence in America. Such programs include increased emphasis on party recruiting, training of leaders, collection of funds, stepping up of party propaganda, and infiltration efforts into noncommunist organizations such as labor unions, Negro groups, national minorities, etc.

The newly elected "boss" of the Communist Party, USA, Gus Hall, vaulted to the top post of the party through a combination of fortuitous circumstances and artful plotting. He has long been disgruntled at what he believed to be soft, ineffectual leadership in the party—but his ambitions have been hidden by the shadow of Eugene Dennis, national chairman and previously acknowledged leader of the party. As the date of the convention approached, Dennis still was top man in the party although there was indication that Hall had nurtured a "dump Dennis" campaign to the point where Dennis' position was indeed a tenuous one. Then came the news that Dennis would be unable to attend the convention—that he had suffered a slight stroke and that someone else would have to give the keynote address.

The scheming, opportunistic Hall rose to the occasion and delivered the address. He saw his ambitions start to crystallize. Today he is communism's champion in the United States—a powerful, deceitful, dangerous foe of Americanism.

What sort of a man is Gus Hall? We in the FBI know him as a fanatical practitioner of Karl Marx' tenet that "the end justifies the means"; a coldly calculating Communist conniver who changes tactics as easily as he changed his name many years ago. He was born Arvo Halberg in 1910 at Virginia, Minn., the son of Matt and Susanna Halberg, both of whom later became charter members of the Communist Party. As a result of his early background of having been born into communism, many of his followers regard him as literally a man of destiny who can breathe new life into the party.

Hall joined the party in 1927 and went to Russia in 1931 to attend the Lenin School where students were taught, among other things, sabotage and guerrilla warfare techniques. After returning to this country in 1933, he became active in the Young Communist League as an organizer and in 1933 entered into full-time party work as a section organizer. As a Russian-taught disciple of Leninistic communism, Hall worked hard and rose swiftly into positions of increasing power. He was elected to the party's national committee in 1945 and became a national board member in 1947. In 1950, he was appointed national secretary, a move necessitated by the imprisonment of Eugene Dennis, who was then general secretary and who was found guilty of conspiring to violate the Smith Act of 1940.

Then, faced with confinement himself after being convicted for violation of the same act, Hall jumped $20,000 bond and became a fugitive. He dyed his blond hair, eyebrows, and eyelashes dark brown, shaved off his mustache and shed 40 pounds in an unsuccessful effort to evade apprehension. Arrested by the FBI in 1951, Hall was sentenced to 3 years for contempt of court, making a total of 8 years when added to the 5-year sentence imposed for conspiracy to violate the Smith Act.

Conditionally released from prison in March 1957, Hall after his probationary period ended on April 5, 1959, immediately resumed his nefarious aim of infecting America with communism.

This, then, is the man—ex-convict, propagandist, unabashed emissary of evil and rabid advocate of a Soviet United States.

Behind this Moscow-trained, utterly ruthless Communist leader, the 17th National Convention formulated an organizational apparatus designed to make the Communist Party a hard-striking power against American society. A 60-member national committee—actually the party's politburo—was established with such veteran and hardened party leaders as Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, James Jackson, Hyman Lumer, Arnold Samuel Johnson, and Irving Potash. This national committee is theoretically the governing body of the party between conventions, but actual policy is made by the small ruling clique.

This small clique consists of the party's national officers (though a national executive committee is later to be established) who were elected after the convention by the national committee. The national officers are:

William Z. Foster, Chairman Emeritus
Eugene Dennis, National Chairman
Claude Lightfoot, Vice-Chairman
Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Vice-Chairman
Benjamin J. Davis, National Secretary
Gus Hall, General Secretary
Hyman Lumer, National Education Secretary
James Jackson, National Secretary for the South

A five-man secretariat, consisting of Dennis, Hall, Davis, Lumer, and Jackson, will be the day-to-day operating authority of the party.

Although the positions of national chairman, national secretary, and general secretary theoretically are of equal importance, Hall is indisputably the new party chief. It will be remembered that Joseph Stalin once bore the title of General Secretary of the Russian Communist Party—a position from which he became dictator of all communism.

Two important conclusions can be drawn from the national convention's leadership decisions:

(1) The party will remain in the future—as it has been in the past—an obedient slave of Moscow.—No new personalities were brought into the party's top leadership. Rather, leadership is today exercised by the same corps of hardened, disciplined, veteran Communists who feel that Moscow represents the final goal of all of mankind's hopes. So-called "right wing" Communists are not represented. They have either voluntarily resigned in complete disillusionment or been coldbloodedly purged. These "right-wingers" believed that the party in America should have some choice in its tactics of operation, not be completely bound by Moscow. This slight "deviation" cost them dearly. Communists should know there is only one road—that defined exclusively by Moscow!

Proof of the growing monolithic unity of the party is further shown in the changes made in the party's constitution by the convention. These changes eliminated features stemming from the previous convention which allowed greater freedom to local party units. The 1959 changes eliminated these rights and centralized control in national headquarters. They are in full accord with the historic Communist principle of democratic centralism which asserts that once a decision has been made in the party it must be carried out without dissent.

(2) The elimination of factionalism, making the party a more united and more compact organization.—Especially since the death of Stalin, the party has experienced factional disputes. These "factionalists" have now been liquidated or driven to cover. This was the theme of Gus Hall's summary remarks just before the end of the convention. Speaking with gusto, this new Communist commissar declared that "we" now have one policy, one line and one direction. Interpreting the convention, Hall stated it gave a mandate to the leadership to completely destroy and burn out all elements of factionalism and that the leadership must carry out the mandate. Hence, in his words, the party cannot permit factionalism.

So, in the days ahead, we can expect an ever-increasing emphasis on party discipline, with all dissidents being eliminated. This is truly in the tradition of international communism which has no place for free speech and free thought.

Every action of the convention was designed to make the party a hard-hitting, versatile and mobile weapon of attack against our form of government.

Why is the party so optimistic for the future? Why were Gus Hall and other Communists almost gleeful in speaking of communist possibilities in the days ahead?

The answer comes from the convention proceedings—an answer which, like a thread, runs through all the remarks, actions and hopes of the leadership. It is: that the recent visit of Premier Khrushchev to the United States has done much to create an atmosphere favorable to communism among Americans. In one convention discussion, for example, it was stated that as the result of the Khrushchev visit the American people have open minds toward socialism. Hence, the party must learn how to get socialism across to the people and break down "misconceptions" about the Soviet Union.

To party leaders, Khrushchev's presence in this country has eased the way for party activities. The Communists see the possibility of gaining still more influence in American society. Gus Hall, in his keynote speech on the convention's first day, was most sensitive to this point. He stated:

> . . . the central question of this convention is: What is the role of the party in this entirely new situation? How can it now move out into the broad stream of the people's movement? How can it break the bonds of its isolation and become more and more effectively a factor in the life of our nation. . . .

He then went on:

> We want to participate in, organize and lead the broadest of united front movements—on every level—in a thousand ways, in 36,000 places, on 100,000 issues—if possible, with 180 million people.

Note the scope of Communist hopes—180 million people or the entire United States.

The buoyant optimism of the party is geared to plans to take advantage of an international climate which, in their eyes, is aiding their work. Americans can look forward to a period of renewed party agitation in all fields—always hoping to increase party strength and influence. The Communists will endeavor to gain allies wherever they can be found, creating fronts, launching infiltration programs, participating in all phases of American life.

This "new hope" program of communism in the United States is geared to concrete programs both (1) building up the party apparatus itself and (2) increasing party influence in the Nation as a whole.

Party leaders realize that a strong party organization is absolutely necessary to a successful agitation program. The convention adopted a number of programs to strengthen the internal operational structure of the party.

A resolution was adopted calling for the immediate launching of an intensive membership drive to run to May 1, 1960, aimed at increasing membership by 10 percent. This resolution outlined a program which calls for each party district to advise the national office by the end of January 1960, as to its specific plans for recruitment. To show the urgency of this task, the resolution asserted that each national committee member must adopt a personal quota of new recruits. In addition, each Communist Party club must adopt a quota. Moreover, each national officer will be designated to a specific district to aid in this nationwide recruitment program.

The training of party members also must be stepped up. This will mean more party schools. In the Communist Party, education (really meaning indoctrination) is of vital importance. Every member must be deeply imbued with the principles of Marx, Engels, and Lenin. The convention also adopted reports about the status of The Worker, the party's weekly publication. It was pointed out that The Worker was the lifeblood of the party and that strengthening this paper must be one of the party's chief aims. The Worker does much to guide members, giving them the latest twists of the party line. Circulation of The Worker is now approximately 14,000, and the party wants it to be increased to 25,000 in 1960. The convention also accepted a resolution to the effect that the Daily Worker, which was discontinued in 1958, be reinstituted in the shortest possible time but preferably prior to the 1960 national elections in the United States. To the party, the Communist press represents one of its most effective methods of propaganda. In addition, it was recommended that the new national committee should set a date for the next fund drive, probably from January 13, 1960, to May 1, 1960. (The date of January 13 was selected as on this date in 1958 the Daily Worker was discontinued.)

Hence, the convention has given new guidance and enthusiasm to the party's recruiting, indoctrination and propaganda campaigns. As one of the speakers stated, this was a convention to build the Communist Party, USA.

Communist Party, USA, Follows Lenin

Virtually every move taken at the 17th National Convention of the Communist Party, USA, has its roots in the teachings of the early gods of communism. In 1902, Lenin wrote:

> We must "go among all classes of the people" as theoreticians, as propagandists, as agitators, and as organizers. . . . The principal thing, of course, is propaganda and agitation among all strata of the people. . . .

In 1920, Lenin was even more explicit regarding the manner in which the seed of communism was to be planted in fertile areas of unrest, dissension and strife:

> . . . Every sacrifice must be made, the greatest obstacles must be overcome, in order to carry on agitation and propaganda systematically, perseveringly, persistently, and patiently, precisely in those institutions, societies, and associations—even the most reactionary—to which proletarian or semiproletarian masses belong. . . .

Naive, indeed, is the minority, class or dissatisfied group which lets its banner pass into the hands of the Communists, for this banner will be held aloft by the Reds only so long as it serves the purpose of expediting the Communist objective of domination over all classes.

Youth

If for a moment any American considers the Communists to be blind to opportunity, let him consider this vile tactic which came out of the 17th National Convention:

> It is obvious to the Communist that if its party is to survive, it must attract the youth of this Nation. As newspapers and other media reveal almost daily, many of America's juveniles are in a state of upheaval—adult authority and morality have been spurned to the point where juvenile arrests in this country in 1958 increased 8 percent over the preceding year.
> During the convention, an Illinois Communist took note of the juvenile delinquency situation and proposed that if "we" provide them with a place to go and with activities, they will not be so delinquent; "we" can move them in a positive direction!

What can be more despicable or dangerous to our democracy than this sort of Red Pied Piper trickery!

Another of the major aims of the 17th National Convention was to reemphasize the recruitment of Negroes into the Communist Party by reembellishing the same old hackneyed phrases alleging that the Communist Party is the savior of the Negro. It is no secret that one of the bitterest disappointments of communistic efforts in this Nation has been their failure to lure our Negro citizens into the party. Despite every type of propaganda boomed at our Nation's Negro citizens, they have never succumbed to the party's saccharine promises of a Communist "Utopia." This generation and generations to come for many years owe a tremendous debt to our Negro citizens who have consistently refused to surrender their freedoms for the tyranny of communism.

Behind the Communists' scheme of recruiting Negroes is deceit as there is in every one of their designs. The Reds are not so interested in the Negro as they are in using him to further Communist goals. This is clearly shown by instructions issued by the Communist Party, USA, to its members as early as 1925:

> The aim of our party in our work among the Negro masses is to create a powerful proletarian movement which will fight and lead the struggle of the Negro race against exploitation and oppression in every form and which will be a militant part of the revolutionary movement of the whole American working class, to strengthen the American revolutionary movement by bringing into it the . . . Negro workers and farmers in the United States to broaden the struggles of the American Negro workers and farmers, connect them with the struggles of the national minorities and colonial peoples of all the world and thereby further the cause of the world revolution and the dictatorship of the proletariat.

The Negro resolution adopted by the convention discarded the party's historic position advocating "self-determination," meaning that Negroes should be given the right to form a separate nation in the Southern States. Stalin had defined "self-determination" in these words:

> . . . the right of the oppressed peoples of the dependent countries and colonies to complete secession, as the right of nations to independent existence as states.

The 1959 convention resolution hence represents a party admission that its position concerning Negroes is bankrupt. Time itself has shown that the party is not interested in the welfare of the Negro, but only in using him as a tool to advance party interests.

Other Minorities

During the 17th National Convention, much was made of the party's responsibility of championing the causes of such groups in the United States as the Mexicans, Japanese-Americans, Puerto Ricans, and, a relatively new target, the American Indian. Again, such pseudo concern by the party is readily made apparent by its history of exploiting any area of unrest.

As early as 1921, the Communist International laid down the following rule to be followed by foreign Communist parties affiliated with the Comintern:

> In countries whose population contains national minorities, it is the duty of the party to devote the necessary attention to propaganda and agitation among the proletarian strata of these minorities.

The choice of the words "propaganda" and "agitation" belies any "noble" motive which those who are easily beguiled might ascribe to the international Communist conspiracy.

Labor Unions

The 17th National Convention reaffirmed the party's constant aim of attempting to infiltrate and dominate labor unions to turn them into a tool for communism—to make them recruiting areas for additional members in the Communist movement.

The 17th National Convention's 10-page draft resolution on trade union problems contains the pious statement that ". . . the fact that Communists have no interests apart from those of the entire working class must be brought home to the American workers again and again."

Actually, the party's burning desire to grab control of labor unions is nothing more than an attempt to carry out one of Lenin's most necessary rules to achieve communism:

> It is necessary to be able to withstand all of this, to agree to any and every sacrifice, and even—if need be—to resort to all sorts of devices, maneuvers, and illegal methods, to evasion and subterfuge, in order to penetrate into the trade unions, to remain in them, and to carry on Communist work in them at all costs.

Certainly, the Communists' glittering generalities of "freeing the working man" and securing "better working conditions" for him can never take the place of the free bargaining system under our democracy. No semantic windowdressing will ever disguise the true objective of communism—to make slaves of working men.

The man masterminding the party's unscrupulous attempts at infiltrating labor unions is Irving Potash, national labor secretary. His sordid background indeed makes a farce of the party's claim that it has no interests apart from those of the entire working class. Born in Russia in 1902, he has an arrest record dating back to 1919 for criminal anarchy, conspiracy to influence and intimidate witnesses, conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the U.S. Government by force and violence and illegal reentry into this country.

Potash has been dedicated to the Communist movement since his early youth and has been described by a party comrade as "a guy who has never betrayed the party line." In 1931, he placed his own picture on a passport issued to another person and utilized this passport to travel to Russia to attend the Lenin School. Although Potash has stated that he considers America his home, there is no indication he has made any efforts to obtain U.S. citizenship in the 46 years he has called America his homeland. He has, however, frequently and consistently invoked the constitutional privileges of an American citizen when questioned by various congressional committees regarding his Communist Party membership and activities.

Farmers

In considering what position the Communist Party, USA, will take during the 1960 political campaign, those in attendance at the 17th National Convention were provided with a document containing a 10-point program which the party would support. One of these concerning farmers is ridiculous per se when examined in the light of the ultimate aim of Communism. Despite the slaves in the communes of Communist China and the state-owned, collective farms and farm machinery in Soviet Russia, the Communists in America have the effrontery to intone sanctimoniously that the Communist Party, USA, will support a program which will "Protect the rights of the small farmers to their land and their implements."

What else could such a program be but one small, but expedient, step toward the Sovietization of American farmers? Who can conceive of farmers being allowed to own their farms and machinery in the type of society advocated by Communists whose very name connotes a social order in which all goods are held in common by a single authoritarian party?

Political Elections

Communists know that apathy among American citizens is the chink in democracy's armor. One of the speakers at the 17th National Convention revealed the basic Communist tactic of taking advantage of every weakness when he urged members of the Communist Party, USA, to move in the primaries since 90 percent of the Congressmen are elected at the primaries.

The convention heard a report of a 5-man committee which had made a study of what the party could do in the 1960 elections. It advocated, among other things, influencing both major political parties. Also, it recommended that the party attempt to exploit labor and Negro groups to wield independent political influence. This report was adopted by the convention.

Education

The Communist Party remains deeply interested in the American college student. At a press conference, Gus Hall was asked if the party had made any inroads among college students. He replied that the party had made gains in this field, adding that there has been a change in the thinking of college students towards "nonconformity." Hall added that he based this comment on the fact that a number of requests have been received from colleges for speakers.

International Relations

As evidence of the fact that the Communist Party, USA, is a part of the international Communist conspiracy, the convention received greetings from 50 Communist Parties in foreign countries. Most prominent, of course, were the messages received from the Communist Parties in Russia and China.

A motion adopted by the convention reflects another area of growing Communist concern. This motion instructed the new national committee to create a subcommittee on Latin American affairs. Another motion called for an appeal to the conscience of the American people to give support to the "revolutionary" movement developing in Latin America.

In the days ahead, the party can be expected to give increasing emphasis to Latin American matters. Joseph North, foreign affairs editor of The Worker, gave a report to the convention on Castro and the Cuban situation. He praised the progress that has been made by the Cuban Government and said that the agrarian land reform has made the farmers more prosperous than they were before the revolution.

Juan Santos Rivera, president of the Communist Party of Puerto Rico, addressed the convention. He extended his best wishes for success to the Communist Party, USA. The party was most enthusiastic over Rivera's appearance.

Communism and the Press

One of the paradoxes at the convention was the fact the convention was closed to the press, this in spite of the party's old, old theme that the Communist Party fights for freedom. When queried by a reporter as to why the convention was not open to the press, Hall blithely stated that the party has received unfavorable treatment from the press in the past and also because there were delegates in attendance who might lose their jobs if their identities became known. Of course, the real reason the press was not admitted was because the party does not dare let its illegal aims against the United States become public. The exclusion of the press is a tacit admission that the Communist Party, USA, is a clandestine, far from legitimate organization, and that if the free press cannot praise communism, then there is no room at Communist conventions for the press. His feelings regarding the purpose of the press are revealing, too, as to what place the Fourth Estate would have in a society dominated by the Communist Party.

However, veteran newspapermen are not easily fooled, and some of Hall's answers to questions posed by the reporters quickly exposed him. For instance, Hall was asked if the Communist Party, USA, advocates the violent overthrow of the U.S. Government. Hall, convicted in Federal court for conspiring to do just that—Hall, who once openly testified that he was willing to take up arms to bring about a Soviet America, blandly said without hesitation, "No, we have never advocated this."

> "The Student Committee Against Totalitarianism is a temporary committee formed only to issue this leaflet and sponsor this poster walk. It will disband after tonight. Those who join in sponsoring this call endorse only the idea of a peaceful demonstration for democracy, and nothing else*" (U)

On October 14, 1961, the first source and also a second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on October 11, 1961, The Student Committee Against Totalitarianism sponsored a picket line protesting a meeting of the John Birch Society at the Carnegie Lecture Hall, Pittsburgh, Pa. This committee was made up of students primarily from the University of Pittsburgh. There were between 150-200 participating in the picket line. (U)

The October 12, 1961, issue of the "Post-Gazette and Sun-Telegraph," a Pittsburgh daily newspaper, contained an article entitled "Birch Society Founder Repeats Charges Here." This article reflected that ROBERT WELCH was given a standing ovation by approximately 400 who were in attendance at the meeting on October 11, 1961. WELCH reportedly stated that "The largest single body of Communists in this country is our Protestant Clergy." In denouncing the Protestant Clergy as a reservoir of communism in this country, WELCH said that about three per cent of his estimate of the nation's 200,000 Protestant Clergymen are "comsymphs," which he defined as either members of the party or sympathizers with its aims.

WELCH reportedly directed his speech at the "Communist conspiracy" and he warned that the greatest danger to this country is from internal communism. He argued that Communistic Russia would never attack the United States because to do so would be a signal for revolt in the satellite nations and in other lands dominated by communists. Instead,

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

WELCH said, the Reds plan to subvert democracy by forcing it to adopt policies which when finally effective will make this country indistinguishable from any other socialist country.

The October 12, 1961, issue of the "Pittsburgh Press," a Pittsburgh daily newspaper, contained an article captioned, "Red War Threat Phoney, Welch Declares" wherein it summarized the speech given by WELCH on the previous evening at Carnegie Lecture Hall.

This article, in part, sets out the following:

> "Soviet Russia is promoting a 'phony' war threat to divert U. S. attention from internal subversion, says the founder of the John Birch Society.
>
> "Robert Welch, chairman of the ultra-conservative organization, said genuine war with the U. S. is feared by Russia because it might trigger a world revolt against communism. Meanwhile, the Soviet Union is successfully infiltrating American Government, he contends.
>
> "Sponsors of his appearance, the Conservative Assn. of Western Pennsylvania, said 600 tickets were sold at $1 each.
> "Only twice was his address here interrupted by explosive response. Applause and laughter burst from the audience when, by way of illustrating what he described as communism's attraction for upper class intellectuals, he said:
> 'I have found more Harvard accents in Communist circles than you'll ever find in overalls.'
> "Again he was given a big hand when he charged Chief Justice Earl Warren, of the U. S. Supreme Court, should be impeached for violating his oath in opinions that 'tear huge ragged holes in our Constitution.'

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

"Mr. Welch, son of a Methodist minister, reiterated his charge that 3 per cent of the Protestant clergy--or approximately 7000 ministers-- are 'comsymps,' short for Communist sympathizers.

"He said he was convinced, however, that few if any of these are Communist converts.

" 'Protestant ministers do not become Communists... but Communists do become Protestant ministers,' he explained.

"Other Welchisms:

"Communists have been most successful in subverting top-level political, social and economic echelons in America.

"--Only 2 per cent of all Government employees in this country are Communists or Communist - sympathizers but these are key men who influence decisions.

"--Soviet Russia fomented anti-Communist revolts in Hungary, Poland and perhaps Cuba to flush its foes into the open.

"--Communists have written 'anti-Communist' tracts to throw enemies off the trail.

"--America has fallen prey to 'social and philosophical immorality.'

"--The transfer of Gen. William E. Walker from West Germany for espousing Birch Society causes was 'a terrific tragedy and a disgrace.'

"--Pro-Communist forces in the U. S. deliberately dangled Pearl Harbor before the Japanese to lure them into World War II."

The October 12, 1961, "Pittsburgh Press" also contained an article entitled, "200 Students Picket Birch Society Chief".

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

This article pointed out that the real show at the Carnegie Institute Lecture Hall was outside the auditorium as 200 students protested the appearance of ROBERT WELCH, founder of the John Birch Society.

This article, in part, sets out the following:

> "The picketers were members of the Student Committee Against Totalitarianism, formed hastily Sunday night and disbanded when the demonstration was over.
>
> "They carried signs supporting the Supreme Court, former President Eisenhower and various other public figures and institutions attacked by the society.
> " 'Supreme Court Si, Welch Nyet,' one sign read. 'Old Fascists Never Die, They Just Become Birchers,' said another."

The October 18, 1961, issue of "PITT NEWS" contained an article entitled, "Demonstrators Parade In Protest Of 'Un-Democratic'Birch Society". This article stated:

> "More than 200 University students joined in a protest demonstration Wednesday night against the meeting of the John Birch Society in the Carnegie Institute Lecture Hall.
> "The protest, which was sponsored by the temporary Student Committee Against Totalitarianism, was viewed by an official of the committee as a rejection of the 'John Birch Society as the un-democratic institution that it is!!
> "Robert Welch, founder of the conservative Society, was the main speaker at the close-door meeting which began at 8:30 P.M.
>
> "The signs, all home made, called upon the 'John Birchers' to 'Go Home,' 'Quit the Birch Society,' and to stop trying to make 'democracy un-American'.

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

> "Others said: 'Will the Big Lie work here?!', 'Hitler isn't dead, he just changed his name to Welch,' and 'Supreme Court, Si!-Welch, Nyet!'
> "The most popular sign likened a picture of Hitler to the name Welch."

The October 18, 1961, issue of "Pitt News" also contained an editorial by NATHAN FIRESTONE which was entitled, "Welch's Sour Grapes---Birch In The Lurch". This article, in part, sets out the following:

> "Robert Welch, a retired candy manufacturer and leader of the controversial John Birch Society, spoke to the Pittsburgh chapter last Wednesday evening at Carnegie Institute Lecture Hall.
>
> "The meeting began with the Pledge of Allegiance and an invocation by a Roman Catholic priest. Then Welch started to speak, nervously shuffling his notes throughout his ninety minute speech.
> "He lectured in a dry monotone with a slight trace of a New England accent. And seeming 'gun-shy' after the controversy caused by his allegation that Dwight D. Eisenhower was a 'conscious agent of the Communist party,' Welch merely inferred that people like Fullbright, Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther and Milton Eisenhower are 'comsymps' (communists or sympathizers).
>
> "Welch began by saying 'the greatest thing to be concerned about is the gradual loss of the sovereignty to the forces of international Communism.' He added, 'the Federal government is controlled by Communist influences.'
> "Welch then launched into the body of his address as he patiently told the audience that he wanted to give them 'an insight into the strategy of Communism.'
>
> "His explanation was rather confusing. Welch explained that Communist strategy was based on the 'Principle of

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

Reversal'. This is his own interpretation of the Marxian dialetic. Welch said 'the heart of the policy is to take two steps backwards and one step forward.' He was apparently confused by this, so he further clarified it by saying 'Take two little steps backwards and one giant step forward.' I believe that what Welch was trying to say is 'give small concessions to get big gains.'

"Other Welchian examples of 'The Policy of Reversal' include foreign aid, the Soviet military threat, the lie that the masses are attracted to Communism, religion and the Polish and Hungarian revolts.

"Welch stated that 'foreign aid is really designed to give aid to the Communists under the guise of fighting them.' He concluded this by saying 'the threat of outside war is completely phony, designed to speed us on the path of Socialism and Communism.' He explained that the Soviet Union couldn't even conquer Finland in 1940. Welch says that we are so strong that the Soviet Union wouldn't dare attack us.

"Then Welch, without one piece of evidence, said that 7,000 of the 20,000 Protestant clergymen in this country are Communists. He explained this by saying that it is not the ministers who become Communists, but Communists who are trained to be clergymen.

"Finally, he advised that the Polish and Hungarian revolutions of 1956 were perpetrated by the Communists to lure the underground from hiding.

"Welch concluded by proclaiming 'Our government has been the most important single force causing the advance of Communism while pretending to be against it.' "

The October 22, 1961, issue of "The Worker", an east coast communist newspaper, contained an article captioned "Pittsburgh Students in Anti-Birch Parade," which was datelined at Philadelphia, Pa. This article reflected that 2000 students from the University of Pittsburgh demonstrated against a

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, INC.

Birch Society rally at Carnegie Lecture Hall. They paraded in front of the hall for 45 minutes while 200 picketed. The article said that the police banned singing by the group. It also pointed out that on the previous night, WELCH had spoken to some 600 at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia, at which rally he was also picketed by college students.

On October 24, 1961, the first and second source, and on October 27, 1961, a third reliable source, all advised that at a recent meeting of the Pittsburgh Socialist Party - Social Democratic Federations (SP-SDF), [redacted] on the YPSL's forming the Student Committee Against Totalitarianism and the picketing of the Speech of ROBERT WELCH, founder of the John Birch Society, given at the Carnegie Institute Lecture Hall, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Wednesday, October 11, 1961. ~~XX~~ (U)

INFORMATION CONCERNING

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 6-9-82 BY [redacted]

On 11/27/61, Mr. C. H. Stanley, of the Special Investigative Division, advised that he had received a telephone call from Mr. [redacted] the Internal Security Division of the Department, asking whether the Bureau had received information from Robert Welch concerning alleged communist activities in the United States, and whether we had ever interviewed him on a "put up or shut up" basis.

b6

After checking, I called Mr. [redacted] back and advised him that by memorandum dated 9/8/60, in answer to his request, we had directed his attention to a previous memorandum to the Attorney General summarizing information then available regarding Welch and the John Birch Society and indicating that, unless advised to the contrary, no action was being taken by the Bureau. I pointed out, however, that in December, 1959, we had interviewed Welch because of language used in one of his speeches suggesting that he had access to information in FBI files; that it was made clear to him he had no such access and that the Bureau expected him to avoid the use of language in speeches or written material which suggested any such access. I advised [redacted] further that we had received copies of Welch's publication "One Man's Opinion" and several letters from Welch, but no specific information clearly outlining communist activity as to warrant our going to him for specific information or additional details, and I advised [redacted] the Bureau did not contemplate an interview with Welch.

An interview with Welch, on a "put up or shut up" basis, for such information as he might have relative to communist activity, is not considered desirable. Welch's correspondence indicates clearly his knowledge of the jurisdiction and interests of the FBI in this area and his responsibility to advise the Bureau in the event he has specific information of value. He undoubtedly would use the fact of such an interview to his advantage, either to add to his own prestige, by claiming the FBI was consulting him, or by charging harassment.

NORTH CAROLINA

By letter dated December 18, 1961, the captioned individual enclosed copies of letters he sent to Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., of North Carolina, to President Kennedy and to Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. referred to his previous letter to the Bureau in which he advised that he was a the John Birch Society and requested the Director to please make an estimation of this society. letter to Senator Ervin contains a threatening note in his reminder that the Senator is his representative and that the Senator should bear this in mind when he is representing In his letter to President Kennedy, correspondent sets forth thirteen statements which he reports to be facts and then advised the President that the Director can tell him "why." He advised the President to ask the Director why the State Department, Central Intelligence Agency and the Pentagon "goof." b6 b7C

Correspondent's previous letter was acknowledged by advising him that the FBI does not make evaluations regarding organizations and individuals and the Director could not accede to his request. Bufiles also show that handed out literature which claimed the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF) was a communist front organization. This information was carried in an article appearing in the 10-30-61 issue of the "Chapel Hill Weekly," a weekly newspaper at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, which reported a conference sponsored by the SCEF which took place at the Presbyterian church in Chapel Hill to discuss freedom of speech, worship, the press, peaceable assembly and the right to petition the government for redress of grievances. The Southern Conference Educational Fund is the subject of Bufile 100-10355. (62-104401-1377; 100-10355-982)

The following information was received 1/9/62 in strict confidence from [redacted] whose information over a number of years has been found generally reliable. This particular information is based on intelligence from a source of the informant, whose identity is not known but who, informant says, is reliable and is in a position to know. b7D

On [redacted] there is to be an important meeting at the home of [redacted] California, of the "Los Angeles Times" organization. [redacted] the "Times" and [redacted] of that newspaper. ROBERT WELCH of the Birch Society is expected to be among a select group attending. WELCH is not known [redacted] b6 b7C b7D

Identity of the others expected to attend is not known at this time.

Purpose of the meeting is to outline (1) a critique of past activity, and (2) discuss a program for the immediate future. Both [redacted] and his wife, while not believed to be members of the Birch Society, apparently have some sympathy for it, although neither Mr. or Mrs. [redacted] is regarded as an extremist to any degree. b6 b7C

[redacted] points out that it is strictly an assumption on his part, but he believes the significance of the meeting probably has to do with the fact that this is an election year which will involve such important State offices as Governor and Attorney General of California along with elections to the National Congress. He said he has never been very active in the society and had contemplated resigning from it sometime before it was written up critically in the press. I made no comment regarding this.

Mr. [redacted] indicated he was a wealthy, retired businessman, very much interested in opposing communism, and that he thought something practical could be done through the direct action methods of the John Birch Society.

THE FASCIST REVIVAL: INSIDE STORY OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
By Mike Newberry

Here is a dramatic, thoroughly documented expose which names names and gives dates about one of the most sinister organizations operating in the U.S.A. today. The author has marshalled irrefutable evidence to prove that traditional American democracy and Constitutional liberties are menaced by powerful highly-placed forces in the government, Big Business, and the Pentagon.

REALITY AND MYTHOLOGY IN TODAY'S JAPAN
By Herbert Aptheker

The author, as a delegate to 7th World Peace Congress, presents a first hand study of the political, social, cultural and economic situation in the country which felt the frightful devastation of the A-bombs in Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August 1945. Cutting through the fog of lies, distortions and misinterpretations, he reveals what the Japanese workers, farmers and intelligentsia really think and feel about U.S. imperialism.

Reference is made to attached newspaper clipping concerning the Department's letter to Robert Welch, requesting that he substantiate his charges of communists in government. The Director indicated we should alert Boston and New York to the possibility Welch might contact them, and instruct that they listen and be most circumspect.

Mr. Yeagley advised us on 11/30/61 that he contemplated writing a letter to Welch, and on 1/29/62 he advised that his letter had been approved, with modifications. A letter to Boston was dictated 1/30/62 and sent through under today's date advising that they should accept any information furnished by Welch, attempt to obtain specifics and sources so that allegations could be checked out, but not to become involved in any discussions concerning the merits of the John Birch Society. In view of the Director's comments Boston was telephonically alerted this morning (1/31/62) that Welch might contact that office. New York was also alerted by phone today, and both offices have been advised to accept such information as Welch might furnish, but to be most circumspect in any conversations with him. A copy of our letter to Boston is also being sent to New York.

Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley has advised that the Department recently sent a letter to Welch referring to a statement attributed to him at a rally in Austin, Texas, on 11/20/61 to the effect that a comparatively few thousand communists concentrated in key departments of the Government have taken the United States steadily down the road to communism. Yeagley advised Welch that the charges made by Welch are not to Yeagley's knowledge supported by material in the investigative files of Government employees. Yeagley requested Welch to turn over to the FBI at once the facts in his possession and the sources thereof which may establish that certain Government employees are members of the Communist Party.

You are instructed that in the event Welch contacts your office as a result of Yeagley's letter to furnish such information, the information should be received in the same manner as from any other private citizen who would appear at your office to furnish information. Welch should be pressed to furnish specifics and not generalities and should be requested to furnish the sources of his information in order that any matters he reports can be followed through to a logical conclusion.

This observation, she felt, indicated that [redacted] is in fact a communist who has infiltrated this group. She said that they were obviously members of the John Birch Society and that the purpose of all of these visits and discussions seemed to be whether or not General Walker should appear before the Senate committee which is inquiring into the restrictions placed upon speeches made by military personnel by the Department of Defense. Typical of their remarks was a comment she heard that Nelson Rockefeller and President Kennedy are organizing their resources to take over the financial interests in the Congo.

SENATE

Page 1141. Senator McGee, (D) Wyoming, requested to have printed in the Record an article from the Washington Post of January 31, 1962, entitled "Welch Is Silent on Call To Back Up Red Charges." The article points out that Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley had asked Robert Welch, of the John Birch Society, to turn over to the FBI any evidence supporting his charges of Communists in Government. The article goes on to state "Yeagley said neither he nor the FBI received acknowledgement of his letter to Welch."

DATE: 2/6/62

FROM : SAC, CHARLOTTE (100-9548)

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING

On 1/17/62, Mr. [redacted] was contacted in connection with existing Bureau program of contacting radio stations and news media outlets at which time he volunteered that in addition to his radio station duties, he is also the [redacted] of the John Birch Society chapter in Edenton, N. C. [redacted] advised that there are currently eleven members of the Edenton chapter and that two additional chapters are being organized in surrounding counties.

[redacted] stated that he feels that the Communists have made serious inroads in the Federal Government and further stated that perhaps the only solution to the Communist threat would be the taking up of arms by conservative groups such as the John Birch Society.

The foregoing is furnished the Bureau for information purposes since Mr. [redacted] may possibly contact the Bureau regarding his activity with John Birch Society.

THE PRESS

Enter the Observer

On newsstands, the new Sunday paper had a clean, uncluttered look (six columns to the page instead of the customary eight), and it was certainly easy to carry home (8 oz. v. the 4 lb. 2 oz. of the New York Times). The pictures were played for dramatic effect: a blast-off shot of Saturn, the U.S.'s largest rocket, soared majestically the length of the page; a glowering portrait of Brigadier General William B. Rosson, the U.S. Army's guerrilla warfare expert, was brutally cropped to eliminate part of the general's brow, all of his hair and his left ear. Even the paper on which the newcomer was printed seemed whiter by several degrees than ordinary oyster-grey newsprint—as indeed it was. Thus last week, after a five-month gestation, was born the National Observer, the U.S.'s first serious try at a national newspaper.

Although billed as a Sunday paper, the Observer bore little resemblance to the laminated bundle of news, features, supplements and comics that characterize the rest of the Sunday press. Vol. I, No. 1 of the Observer was a single section of 32 pages—half of it ads. Of six Page One stories, four datelessly treated trends or events long since dissected by other newspapers, e.g., a lengthy article on police corruption that reprised a Chicago police department scandal (1960) and a similar dustup in Denver.

No Detectable Plan. Inside, the Observer scattered, according to no detectable pattern, a clutch of articles, feature stories, puzzles, pictures, cartoons, weather maps and poetry (including all 60 lines of John Greenleaf Whittier's Barbara Frietchie). Two stories on Pope John XXIII ran on separate pages (4 and 26); an obituary on Violinist Fritz Kreisler appeared on page 8, an obituary on French Artist André Lhote on page 15. Readers anxious to discover how the new paper would deal with U.S. culture were soon disillusioned: the Observer begged the question. Theater and book reviews were shot through with a rehash of newspaper and magazine critics, a technique reminiscent of the defunct Literary Digest.

Among the feature pieces, one quoted an educational consultant's discovery that some Midwest grade school students cannot spell. Another story speculated for Observer readers on what it would be like if Algerian-style plastiqueurs were loose in New York: "On any given Saturday night in Times Square a car would pull up to the curb and spray machinegun bullets into the crowds . . . A bomb would be thrown into New York's Carnegie Hall . . . Taxi drivers, bus drivers and mailmen would be killed in every section of the city. Crowded Harlem tenements would be blown up on an average of one a month."

Wherever a column of print fell short of page length, the Observer dropped in an item whose only visible purpose was to reach the bottom of the page. Sample: "John E. Roberts, editor of Charity and Children, was elected president of the Baptist Public Relations Association last week."

Prenatal Enthusiasm. By no accident, the Observer was at its journalistic best in a brisk fact-filled summary, taking up about half a page, of business trends. Its doting and wealthy parent is Dow Jones & Co.'s Wall Street Journal (circ. 821,401). On the strength of its own success, and with a national news organization ready at hand, the Journal last summer decided to publish a national newspaper whose readership would embrace not just businessmen but "intelligent readers" everywhere.

When word of the venture was released, prenatal public response was so enthusiastic that the Journal had to scrub original plans to print its offspring only in Washington and limit the first press run to 200,000. Last week's Observer, the fruit of twelve dummy issues and of an investment of $1,000,000, was printed (on Saturday) in three of the Journal's seven printing plants—Washington, Chicago and Chicopee Falls, Mass. Of the initial press run of 422,000, some 290,000 copies (25¢) were sold on newsstands or by home delivery. The other 132,000 reached mail subscribers ($10 a year) on Monday or Tuesday. Eventually, the Observer hopes to distribute largely by newsstand or home delivery so that most readers will get their paper on Sunday.

Response from advertisers has also been encouraging. By policy, ads are limited to 50% of available space. The Observer not only reached that 16-page limit in its first issue but also turned down five pages' worth of accounts anxious to get in on the debut.

In charge of the editorial operation are Editor William Giles, 34, a longtime (eleven years) Journal hand whose last job was as a reporter in the Journal's Washington bureau, and Managing Editor Don Carter, 44. Giles presides in the Observer's Washington headquarters over an editorial staff of 29, many of them rewrite men. Until the paper has mustered a reportorial staff of its own, it will rely largely on contributions from some 40 part-time U.S. correspondents and from freelance reporters, does not intend to tap the parent Journal's extensive editorial resources except in emergencies.

Reaction to the Observer's first issue ranged from qualified approval to frank disappointment. "A professional job with excellent writing," said John Stanton, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News. "But it appears to be just a little too formalized." Said a high-ranking editor of the New York Times: "If the National Observer is worth 25¢, the Sunday Times is worth $2.50. I expect the second issue will be a lot different; they'll try to change it while they still have time."

Thunder on the Right

The John Birch Society generally dismisses its critics as Communists, Comsymps or, at best, Communist dupes. Last week a surprising new recruit turned up in the symp-dupe ranks: the ultraconservative National Review.

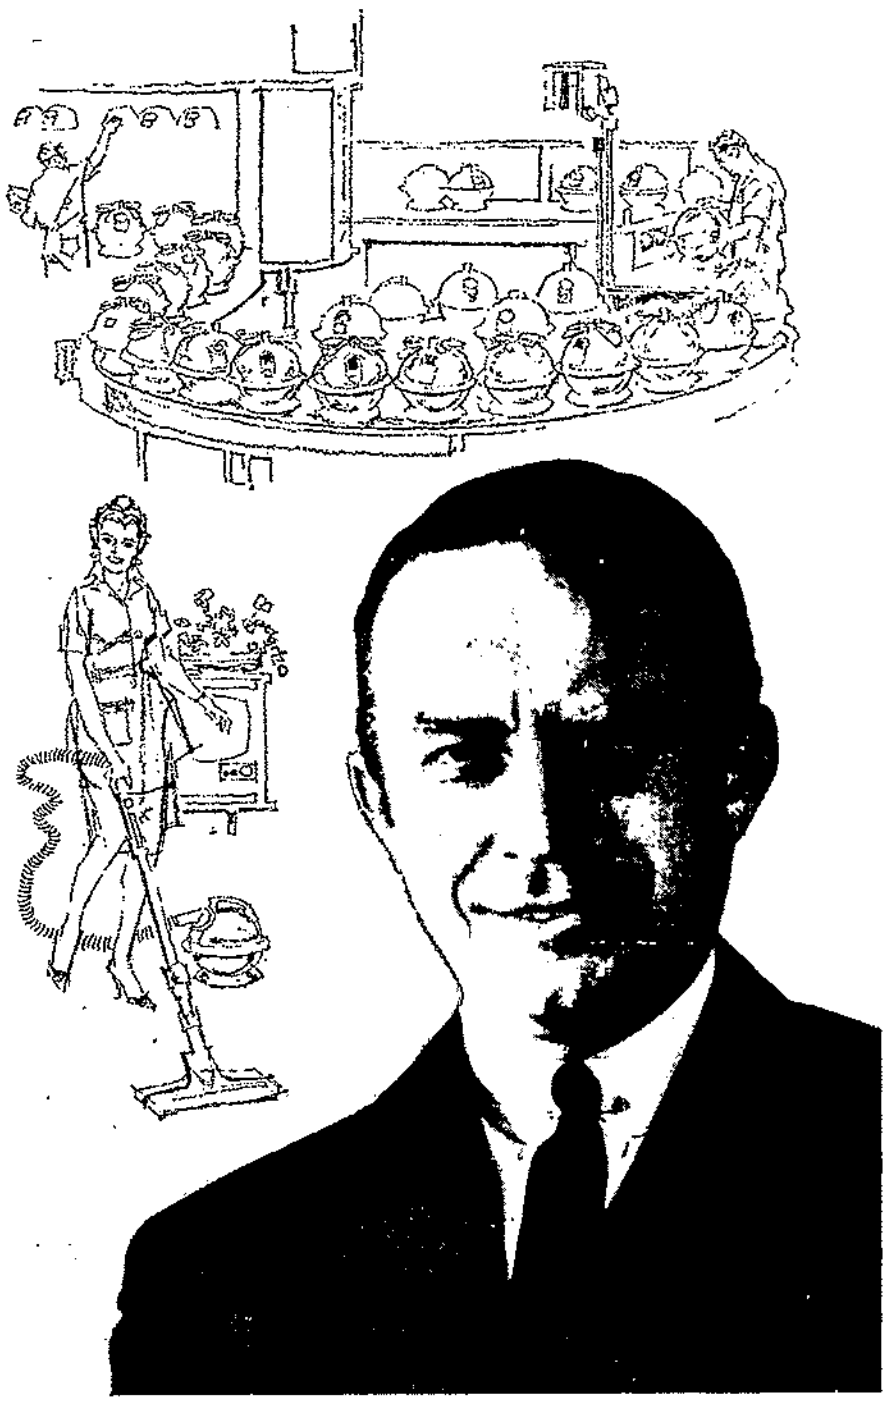
The Review, founded in 1955 by William F. (God and Man at Yale) Buckley Jr., is an increasingly lively, literate journal that is constantly goading the "Liberal Establishment." But many a liberal organ might have envied the Review's devastating analysis of the thinking of the Birch Society's founder, onetime Boston Candymaker Robert Welch.

The Review argued that Welch, far from repenting such absurdities as his 1958 attack on Eisenhower as a Comsymp, is as loose a talker as ever. To Welch, for instance, the Bay of Pigs was a theatrical performance jointly sponsored by Castro and "his friends in the U.S. Government" in order to strengthen the Communist hold on Cuba. Not only the U.S. State Department but also the Central Intelligence Agency is Communist-riddled.

Retired Taffy Puller. Welch's wild assaults on reason, says the Review, menace the solidarity of the entire conservative movement. "He persists in distorting reality . . . By the extravagance of his remarks, he repels rather than attracts a great following . . . Can one endorse the efforts of a man who, in one's judgment, goes about bearing false witness?" The Review says no: "Our opinion is that Robert Welch is damaging the cause of anti-Communism."



Buckley actually approves of the John Birch Society ("I hope it thrives"), but has been more and more bothered by its founder's antics. Last April Buckley said in print that there were "grave differences" between his own conservative creed and that of retired Taffy-Puller Welch. Besides, last week's Review editorial was bound to brew another of the ideological storms on which Buckley and the Review seem to thrive.

Tut-Tutting the Pope. The magazine's brief life has been punctuated by thunderclaps of dissent. Recently, Buckley, who is a Roman Catholic, challenged the papal encyclical Mater et Magistra. This letter from Pope John XXIII to his bishops advocated a measure of "socialization," i.e., government planning and welfare programs, and urged bishops to accommodate to the trend. The Review promptly took the Vatican to task, describing the encyclical as "a venture in triviality."

Buckley's belligerence has manifestly enhanced the fortunes of his magazine. Since late 1960, the Review's circulation has grown from 36,000 to a healthy 65,000.* Advertising revenue has doubled since mid-1960, and the magazine loses only $100,000 a year—a state of affairs that does not particularly bother Bill Buckley. Rich by inheritance (oil), he has both the money and the will to keep the magazine going indefinitely.

Last week's editorial even won praise from Liberal Establishmentarian James Reston, Washington bureau chief of the New York Times, who thought the Review's firm stand might encourage the Republican Party to rusticate Welch and all other extremists of his breed. Such recognition should compensate for the risks in criticizing a man whose flock doubtless numbers some subscribers to the National Review.

* Almost equal to the combined circulation of its opposite numbers on the left, the New Republic (47,617) and the Nation (25,500).

Mr. [redacted] stated he regretted that anyone had so misinterpreted his remarks, and said he has the highest regard and the greatest respect for Mr. HOOVER, whom he considers a man of the highest integrity, and one who has consistently over the years shown so much foresight and dedication in his fight against crime and subversion. He said he regularly recommends the reading of Mr. HOOVER's book "Masters of Deceit," and other publications of Mr. HOOVER, particularly those dealing with Communism and internal security matters.

It was emphatically pointed out to Mr. [redacted] that Mr. HOOVER does not endorse his society and anyone saying that he does so and that he approves of its aims and purposes is speaking without foundation and with utter disregard of facts. [redacted] was severely admonished for making such statements as have been attributed to him, or even indicating that Mr. HOOVER approves of the aims and purposes of the John Birch Society. He was told vehemently and definitely that he should refrain from making such statements in the future.

On 3-16-62 Mr. [redacted] HCUA, advised he had received information from Mr. [redacted] concerning the investigation which had been conducted by the Efficiency Research Bureau. Mr. [redacted] stated the Efficiency Research Bureau originally began an investigation concerning the John Birch Society in the Orange County area for the purpose of preparing an anti-Birch report, but as investigation progressed, the report turned out to be pro-Birch. During the course of the investigation the investigators identified six individuals who attempt to remain secret who were opposed to the Birch Society. The investigators learned that the six individuals (see above) had been meeting secretly twice a month for the past 18 months. Mr. [redacted] stated that the Efficiency Research Bureau intends to hold a press conference on Wednesday, 3-21-62, at the Disneyland Hotel, Anaheim, California. Mr. [redacted] observed that in view of the wide spread interest in the press conference he expects it to be well attended by the news media and it is currently planned to televise the proceedings over KCOP-TV, channel 13, Los Angeles.

The March 13, 1962 issue of "The Register," Santa Ana, California, enclosed herewith, contained additional information concerning the investigation of the John Birch Society by the Efficiency Research Bureau. The article indicates that the Research Bureau was hired by [redacted] to make a study of the Birch activities. In conducting this investigation the article indicates that the investigator came across an anti-anti-communist group headquarters in Orange County with ties to Sacramento and Washington. The article states that the Research Bureau indicates that their client is expected to clear the release of names and documents within ten days.

Bufiles contain no information identifiable with [redacted]

The first paragraph on page three of captioned individual's letter states: "We have devoted Communists in our country right now; unfortunately I have the presence of knowing one, a young person, who lives up the street from me." It is noted that Mr. Yeagley's letter to [redacted] suggests that [redacted] advise the FBI office at Philadelphia of the identity of the "young person" together with evidence establishing his Communist Party membership. You are requested to review your office files to determine if captioned individual has furnished your office the identity of the "young person" mentioned in his letter. In the event he has not, you should have him promptly contacted to ascertain the identity and obtain all pertinent information in his possession concerning the "young person." In view of the tenor of his letter to Mr. Yeagley, the Agent should be most circumspect during the interview.

Their Legion Post has past members of the John Birch Society included in the membership. [redacted]

The unnamed woman has convinced Mrs. [redacted] she is receiving from a Bureau Agent small bits of information. The Agent stopped at their office after he had completed an investigation to tell them they had been completely cleared of all suspicion. The investigation was conducted because their names were turned into the FBI by the John Birch Society as supposedly Communists. The Agent disclosed the cost of investigations already handled in the valley as $1,000.

The unnamed woman then became beside herself with the duty of telling people how needlessly their money was being spent especially on people like her and her husband. Also the members of the Legion who were known to be Birch Society members were taking over.

Re: Mrs. [redacted]

At this point Mr. [redacted] added that other than SA [redacted] the only FBI Agent he had ever talked to was HENRY A. BLASTIC, formerly assigned at Missoula, but who left Missoula nearly 10 years ago. Mr. [redacted] denied that any FBI Agent furnished him information or that he had ever indicated to anyone, including his wife, that he had ever received information from an FBI Agent.

Mrs. [redacted] immediately assumed that her recent conversation with Mrs. [redacted] was the reason Agents had contacted her. She has known Mrs. [redacted] and Mrs. [redacted] and [redacted] Both are extremely active in Legion work, recruiting new members and getting lapsed members paid up. She has always been friendly with Mrs. [redacted] together, but they have had some rather strong differences of opinion about politics. Mrs. [redacted] and a member of the [redacted] Mr. [redacted] is a member of the American Legion, but she has never joined the Auxiliary, although promising to do so for many years, but always putting it off for one reason or another. In late January or early February of this year Mrs. [redacted] called at the office and asked her to join the Auxiliary. She told her she would not join because she had recently read in the local paper that Mrs. [redacted] the local Auxiliary. She told Mrs. [redacted] "You appointed her, what are you trying to do, defy people in the community?" Mrs. [redacted] did not like this. MONT.

BELIEVED TO BE MEMBER - SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

Mrs. [redacted] explained that in the fall of 1960 Mrs. [redacted] had been invited to a meeting [redacted] She did not attend, but from what she heard later she reached the conclusion that it was a JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY (JBS) organizational meeting. From that time on she was of the opinion and still is that Mrs. [redacted] is a member of the JBS.

Her remark to Mrs. [redacted] led them to a discussion of the JBS. Mrs. [redacted] commented that she and her husband, [redacted] were concerned about people in the community saying that many JBS members were also members of the local American Legion. Mrs. [redacted] said, [redacted] are going to get to the bottom of it and he has contacted the FBI about it."

MEMBER - AMERICAN LEGION

MONT.

b6
b7C

Re: Mrs. [redacted]

This led the two of them into a discussion of the rumor which "went all over the valley last summer" that the JBS had a list of several hundred Communists which they had turned over to the FBI and the FBI had cleared everyone on the list after working over 1,000 hours on it. She has heard various numbers concerning the list all the way from 700 to 900 persons. (It is noted Mrs. [redacted] refers to 1,000 hours of investigation whereas Mrs. [redacted] in her comments referred to investigations costing $1,000.)

Mrs. [redacted] said that she had no idea as to the original source of this rumor. It was just a general rumor all over the Valley. She said that there was only one person who supposedly saw the actual list of names. This person told her that she (the unnamed person) and her husband were on the list, as was Mr. [redacted] and presumably Mrs. [redacted]. In talking about this list of names with Mrs. [redacted], she said she told Mrs. [redacted] that if they were in fact on the list she supposed Mr. [redacted] would have been contacted about it after they were cleared. She said this list was somewhat of a joke around [redacted] as many people would comment they knew they were not Communists because they had all been cleared.

Mrs. [redacted] eventually named the one person who supposedly saw the list as [redacted] a [redacted] resident.

Mrs. [redacted] said she feels certain in her mind that she made no comment that an FBI Agent had furnished her any information. The only time the FBI was mentioned was in connection with this list of names supposedly turned over to the FBI by the JBS. She recalled that she did say to Mrs. [redacted] that such an investigation, consuming 1,000 hours, was an awful waste of the FBI's time.

Mrs. [redacted] said she assumed until the time of this interview that there was some truth to this rumor and that the FBI had in fact spent 1,000 hours investigating the alleged list of names. She said she believed this rumor even though she had never met anyone in the entire community who had ever been contacted by the FBI during such an alleged investigation.

Mrs. [redacted] was recontacted and she confirmed what she had said when interviewed on 3/12/62 by SA [redacted]. She did say, however, "It is possible I misunderstood what she (Mrs. [redacted] said about an Agent giving her information."

b6
b7C

Re: Mrs. [redacted]

Mrs. [redacted] was questioned as to anyone else who had ever indicated to her that the FBI had any connection with this alleged list of names that was the subject of so much rumor. She said that [redacted] and his wife, [redacted] had refused to pay their Legion dues because of JBS members being in the American Legion and because this alleged list had been turned over to the FBI. She was asked if there was anyone else she could name who had connected the FBI with this list and she said [redacted] at [redacted] Montana, last summer told her husband, [redacted] that 1,250 names had been turned over to the FBI by the JBS. Mr. [redacted] said his name was included on the list and he was going to sue somebody if he could find two people who had seen his name on the list. MR. & MRS. [redacted]

[redacted] in [redacted] advised that she had heard about a list that was supposed to have been compiled by the JBS and that many residents of the Bitterroot Valley were on the list. She had never heard the FBI connected in any way whatsoever with the list.

[redacted] said that in connection with operating his [redacted] he had heard for sometime talk about the JBS and the fact that some local American Legion officers were reportedly members of the JBS. About January 1, 1962, [redacted] came to collect their yearly American Legion dues from both Mr. and Mrs. [redacted] Mr. [redacted] refused to pay his dues and told [redacted] his reason was because he did not like the JBS association with the American Legion. [redacted] came back to his home about six weeks ago and after a long discussion [redacted] finally paid his dues, principally because he felt sorry for [redacted] told him that there was a list of 1,502 residents of the Bitterroot Valley who supposedly were Communists, which list had been turned over to the FBI. [redacted] said he had never heard the FBI mentioned in connection with this list with the exception of [redacted] mentioning it in their conversation.

[redacted] has never said anything about the FBI being connected in anyway with such a list.

[redacted] Montana, said that last summer he had heard of a list of 1,501

Re: Mrs. [redacted]

Communists supposedly compiled by someone and supposedly he was #2 on this list. He has never seen such a list, has never told anyone that the FBI confirmed this list or that this list was turned over to the FBI. He has never heard the FBI mentioned in connection with the list.

[redacted] advised that last summer she was in Mr. [redacted] office in [redacted] applying for a job as a school teacher. Mr. [redacted] was very upset at the time and referred to a list of 1,502 residents of the Bitterroot Valley who were alleged to be Communists and that Mr. [redacted] was included on the list. She asked him who was on this list and he said everyone of any prominence all up and down the Valley. He then slapped his hand on a piece of paper lying on his desk and she assumed that this was the list he was talking about. He never told her any specific names that were supposed to be on the list with the exception of his own and he never told her that he had such a list in his possession. She has never heard the FBI mentioned in connection with this list and never told anyone that the FBI was in any way connected with the list. b6 b7C

Butte files do not indicate receipt of any list of names that could be identical with the alleged list described herein. Information from Butte Communist Party informants indicates there has been no Communist Party activity in the Stevensville area for several years.

SA [redacted] advised on 2/14/62 that he has a definite recollection of calling at the office of [redacted] in connection with the case entitled "[redacted] ET AL; NBA," (Bufile 49-14303). His recollection is that this contact was during January, 1960. At no time during this contact did Mr. or Mrs. [redacted] mention any list of Communists or any other information not pertinent to SA [redacted] inquiry.

In view of the fact that the original allegation in this matter stemmed from a widely circulated rumor that has been exaggerated and twisted with each telling and as no one interviewed ever personally observed the alleged list, no further action is being taken in this matter, UACB.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

On March 21, 1962, at 4:00 p.m., one Robert Love spoke to a group of 250 to 300 persons at the Student Union Theater, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. The advertised topic of this talk was "The John Birch Society - A Menace to Whom?". Love was further billed as a Wichita, Kansas industrialist and founding member of the John Birch Society. His talk lasted for about one hour, with a question and answer period of equal length following. His talk was sponsored by the Student Union Browsing Library Committee of Kansas State University.

Love set forth a ten point program of the Society directed toward combatting the growth of Communism, which was apparently the general theme of his talk. He touched upon the objective to the Society to cause the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, indicating that Justice Warren's appointment was a political payoff and that he had no judicial experience prior to his appointment.

Love urged his audience to keep informed of the threat of Communism and to see that the circulation of "conservative" periodicals is expanded to insure that "left-wingers" and "liberals" do not gain control through default.

There were no demonstrations at this meeting and it received a minimum of local publicity.

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: MARCH 26, 1962

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Page 4478. The Senate received two resolutions from the House of Representatives of the State of Arizona. One resolution commends Attorney General Kennedy for his action in requesting Mr. Robert Welch to submit evidence of his allegation that a few thousand Communists are concentrated in key departments of the Government. The other resolution requests the Congress to enact a bill to legalize the use of wiretapping evidence in courts. The first resolution stated "A letter was transmitted to Mr. Welch on December 8, 1961, and it was suggested therein that he produce his evidence to the Federal Bureau of Investigation so that they might take necessary measures to prosecute those who are in violation of our laws. The action taken by the U. S. Attorney General is commendable and it is hoped that this initial action is followed up so that any evidence in possession of Mr. Welch becomes available for purposes of prosecution of violators."

[redacted]

[redacted] is reported to have donated $50.00 to a campaign held in New Orleans during the months of December, 1961 and January, 1962 which campaign was known as the "Crusade to Free Cuba". This campaign was originally sponsored by the now defunct Frente Revolucionario Democratico (FRD) (Democratic Revolutionary Front) which was headquartered in Miami. The campaign was actually run by prominent citizens of New Orleans and was opened by a proclamation by Mayor Victor H. Schiro in December, 1961. The campaign was also backed by both the Cuban Revolutionary Council in New Orleans and the Cuban Anti-Communist Revolutionary Unity. b6 b7C

[redacted] there were allegedly 21 persons, mostly men, and a few women, present. Among those present were Dallas Wales, 2437 King's Highway, Shreveport, Louisiana, [redacted] and Jim True, allegedly a Gulfport businessman. Wales was described as a man in his late 40's with black, graying hair, who is allegedly a coordinator of the JBS for five states. Jim True is a white male, 58-62, white hair, 5'10", medium build, and apparently has some connection with the Gulf National Bank in Gulfport, Mississippi.

The principal speaker was Dallas Wales, who decried the alleged corruption of morals in the United States and generally referred to the apathy and corruption in the federal government. A recommendation made by Wales was that people should themselves take an active part in opposition to communism. Wales commented that John Birch Society members should strive to talk to people about communism to awaken them to its danger.

During Wales' talk there were some outbursts from members of the audience to the effect that President Kennedy was a communist. Wales denied these accusations but did state that Kennedy had attended school in England as a young man, which school was at that time run by a communist. Wales made other comments generally referring to the absorption by the federal government of private enterprise and the fact that the USA was becoming a socialist state.

Wales also commented that there should be a JBS member running in every election, no matter how small the post may be. He stated that each member should have at least 100 followers.

SENATE

Pages 7519-7522. Senator Dodd, (D) Connecticut, spoke concerning popular education on communism and the cold war. He included an article from the May 1962 issue of Reader's Digest entitled "The Insidious Campaign To Silence Anti-Communists" written by Colonel William R. Kintner, deputy director of the Foreign Policy Research Institute of the University of Pennsylvania, and an article from the New York Times Sunday Magazine for April 29, 1962, entitled "The Liberals Have Helped the Radical Right" which was written by Mr. Harvey B. Schechter, member of the Anti-Defamation League's Los Angeles office. Mr. Dodd stated "Colonel Kintner is a determined foe of the John Birch Society and of other extremist organizations that have claimed the anti-Communist mantle for themselves. But he is profoundly disturbed by the present campaign against anti-Communist extremism because of the tendency to lump all active expressions of anticommunism together under the label 'extremist.'" Mr. Dodd advised that Mr. Schechter's article "takes the American liberals to task for failing to give leadership to the anti-Communist fight. Mr. Schechter charges that by this failure, the liberals have created a vacuum that has inevitably been filled by rightwing and extremist groups like the John Birch Society." Mr. Dodd went on to state "I have only one minor difference with Mr. Schechter's thesis. I do not believe that anticommunism should be a monopoly of either the liberals or the conservatives. On the contrary, I believe that this is one area where liberals and conservatives can cooperate effectively and must do so in the interests of mutual survival." Colonel Kintner stated in his article "The public's understanding of communism was further sharpened by revelations made in congressional committees. Defectors from Russia's intelligence system appeared before our legislators and explained the Kremlin's sordid techniques of blackmail and murder. The Federal Bureau of Investigation unveiled the plans of the U. S. Communist Party members, obeying Moscow orders, to infiltrate and influence American youth."

By letter dated 4-18-62 Mrs. [redacted] forwarded a paid political advertisement from the 4-17-62 issue of "The Miami News" which carried the heading "Birchites Are Behind The Smear Against Claude Pepper." Mrs. [redacted] who identified herself as the [redacted] of the Biscayne Gardens Civic Association, observed that the use of the Director's name in this ad did not "smack" of good Americanism and requested an expression from the Director on this matter. The statement regarding the Director was as follows: "We ask that you join with President Kennedy, J. Edgar Hoover, editors of our local newspapers and all responsible citizens in a rejection of the smear tactics of these irresponsible fanatics who are the major internal enemies of our country."

By airtel dated 4-20-62 the Miami Office was instructed to personally contact Mrs. [redacted] orally acknowledge her letter and advise her that the Director had nothing to do with the advertisement and that, as a matter of long-standing policy, the FBI does not involve itself in political matters. The Miami Office was advised for its information of the fact that Pepper, during his tenure as Senator, was associated as a sponsor, speaker or member of as many as 32 organizations cited either by the Attorney General or by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

ORIGINAL COPY FILED IN

By airtel dated 4-25-62, the Miami Office advised that Mrs. [redacted] felt highly pleased that she had been contacted personally concerning this matter. She felt Mr. Hoover had nothing to do with this advertisement but wanted him to know his name was mentioned in it.

Pages A3395-A3396. Congressman Thornberry, (D) Texas, extended his remarks to include an article written by Mr. Henry Riley entitled "Behind the Byline" which appeared in the Austin Statesman. Mr. Riley pointed out that "Like a lot of others, I am inundated from time to time by reams of so-called anti-Communist literature of the more fervent or Birch type. - - - When such literature is dumped on my doorsill I have a tendency to see red--but not the type of red Mr. Welch would have me see." He went on to state "Granted, too, that there are Communists operating in this country. I recall even seeing a couple in the past 20 years. But a surge of idiocy is not going to reduce their number by so much as one, and Birchers are not going to catch any red handed. I prefer to leave my spy and red catching where it belongs--to the experts like J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI. Their batting average is considerably higher than the McCarthys and the Birchers. And in this case I'll ride with the pros and the percentages."

as such local enforcement officer of said Communist directives, in connection with the said National Lawyers Guild, until it was identified, publicly, as a Communist front by J. Edgar Hoover and Attorney General Biddle several years after World War II when such information was vital to the security of this country.

Pages 8103-8134. Congressman Hosmer, (R) California, submitted excerpts from an affidavit filed in evidence with the California State Senate Factfinding Committee on Un-American Activities by Mr. Thomas E. Verdel of Bakersfield, California, Attorney-at-Law and former Member of Congress. The affidavit was submitted as the result of a report dated July 7, 1961, on the John Birch Society prepared by Assistant Attorney General Howard Jewell and submitted to the Governor of California, Edmund G. Brown. The affidavit defends the John Birch Society. This affidavit comments on lists of membership pointing out that "If any politician wants to campaign on this subject of asking American anti-Communist organizations to supply their membership lists, we suggest that no double standard apply. The politicians must not discriminate. They will have to ask every organization in the country to make its membership lists public; and list the organizations to which they belong and have belonged." Reference is made that Governor Brown at one time was a member of the National Lawyers Guild. It states "His Excellency, Edmund G. Brown, the present Governor of the sovereign State of California, did not resign his responsibilities

SUBJECT: THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING

On 6/11/62, [redacted] Oklahoma City Police Department, telephonically advised he had in custody one [redacted] charged with assault and battery, and that this individual may possess information of interest to the FBI concerning security matters.

On 6/11/62, SA JAMES E. GARRIS interviewed [redacted] while in the custody of the Oklahoma City Police Department. [redacted] was advised he was not under arrest by the FBI, that he did not have to furnish the FBI any information and any information he did furnish would be free and voluntary on his part.

He stated he "became interested in fighting Communism in a peaceful way" approximately one year ago and soon thereafter joined the John Birch Society (JBS). He said he attends meetings of the JBS regularly in Oklahoma City. [redacted] volunteered no other information in this regard.

[redacted] commented he is not a member of the Minutemen (MM) group, he has no interest in that group and he has no knowledge of MM operations in Oklahoma or elsewhere.

He related he read in a recent issue of "Human Events" that "plans were in the mill" to oust J. EDGAR HOOVER as Director of the FBI sometime in 1962, and he also heard similar remarks from unrecalled sources. He could furnish no details in this regard.

[redacted] opined that the FBI is infiltrated by Communists. He said he and other sources, whom he refused [redacted] was advised that WELCH was attempting to obtain a copy of the newspaper article in question without knowledge of his inquiry getting back to persons of authority at the newspaper.

[redacted] stated she had received a telephone call from a local JBS office asking whether she knew where a copy of the newspaper in question could be located. She stated she was able to locate a copy of the paper among her own clippings, at which time she telephonically advised the JBS office, who in turn placed her in direct contact with Mr. WELCH, who asked her whether she would object to mailing the article to Mr.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Reference is made to your telephonic request of Assistant Director Courtney A. Evans of this Bureau on August 27, 1962, for background information concerning captioned Society.

There is enclosed a typed copy of a memorandum dated April 5, 1961, which was furnished the Attorney General by cover communication of the same date and caption.

In addition to the data set forth in the enclosed memorandum it is noted that on December 8, 1961, Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley, Internal Security Division, directed a letter to Welch referring to a statement made by Welch at a rally in Austin, Texas, on November 20, 1961, that "A comparatively few thousand Communists, concentrated in key departments" of the Government have taken the United States "steadily down the road to Communism by steps supposedly designed and presented to the ... as ways of fighting Communism." Assistant Attorney General Yeagley requested Welch to turn over to this Bureau the facts in his possession and the sources thereof which might establish that certain Government employees are members of the Communist Party. Welch has not communicated with this Bureau to supply the information requested by Assistant Attorney General Yeagley's letter. (62-104401-1597 and 1598)

REC-50 62-104401-1746

With reference to the estimated membership figures of the Society as set forth in the enclosed memorandum, it is noted that, according to a "Washington Capital News Service" release dated August 23, 1962, a representative of the Society in Los Angeles stated on August 23, 1962, that the Society's national membership had more than doubled in the past year. In a statement issued by the above representative it was reported that it was interesting to note that the Society has enjoyed particularly heavy membership increases with "each national setback such as the Cuban situation, Katanga, Laos, the steel mandate, the stock market confusion and when the Society has been publicly attacked." According to the above release, a spokesman at the national headquarters of the Society declined to comment on the reported increase in membership or to state the number of members which the Society now has. THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The following information is set forth concerning the John Birch Society (JBS) and its founder Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.

Background Concerning the Society

The Society was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a wealthy candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts and was assigned Charter Number 624-300. The officers were listed as Robert Welch, President and Treasurer, and [redacted] The Directors were listed as [redacted] Robert Welch and [redacted] The Incorporators were listed as Robert Welch; [redacted] Robert Welch); [redacted] also known as Mrs. [redacted] formerly Mrs. [redacted] All of the aforementioned are residents of the Boston, Massachusetts, area. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of this Society as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

According to recent newspaper accounts, the Society at the beginning of 1961 had chapters in approximately 35 states and it has been estimated that the Society might have 100,000 members at the end of 1961. The most pronounced activity on the part of Welch and the Society in his anti-communist campaign has been charges of communists being in high Government positions, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The most recent major activity in this regard has been the calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past has advised that [redacted] of Dallas, Texas, who has been identified in the past as being a former member of the U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, recently stated he was a member of the JBS and praised the work of the Society. [redacted] stated the Society, without mentioning integration, would only be fighting communism but added that actually communism is the "root of it all" indicating, according to the source, that [redacted] meant fighting communism is also fighting integration. The source advised that [redacted] stated the main work of the Society at the present time is writing letters to Congressmen and other prominent officials, never using the Society's name, and in getting windshield and bumper stickers on as many cars as possible reading "Impeach Earl Warren." b6 b7C

By memorandum from Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley dated August 30, 1960, Yeagley, in referring to the Society, advised that the Department's records contained no Bureau reports on either the Society or Welch and requested this Bureau to conduct an investigation of the Society pursuant to Executive Order 10450. By memorandum dated September 8, 1960, he was advised that no information had been received by this Bureau indicating any subversive elements in the Society and that in view of this, together with the background information concerning the Society and Welch which had previously been furnished the then Attorney General by memoranda dated March 6 and September 11 and 16, 1959, all captioned "Robert H. W. Welch, Jr.," no investigation of the Society would be conducted unless a subsequent request was received from the Department. To date no subsequent request has been received from the Department for an investigation of the Society or Welch.

The Present Controversy

The JBS is probably one of the most controversial organizations in the country today. This controversy stems mainly from the allegations made by Welch and the Society alluding to President Eisenhower being procommunist; the allegations that there are communists in other high Government positions; and calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Warren. This controversy has led to many attacks on Welch and the Society through the newspapers and in some congressional circles, while at the same time other newspapers and congressional circles have defended Welch and the Society. However, to date this controversy has been confined, at least in congressional circles, to the issue of Welch and the Society and not to the issue of Chief Justice Warren's impeachment.

This controversy slowly gathered momentum until it appears to have reached its peak within the past week when some Congressmen and Senators denounced Welch and the Society while others backed Welch and the Society. According to newspaper accounts, both the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (SISS) and the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA) have been requested to hold hearings concerning the Society. According to such accounts, Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Vice Chairman of SISS, has denounced the Society and Welch's attack on President Eisenhower and on March 31, 1961, Dodd stated he would bring up the possibility of investigating the Society at the Subcommittee's next meeting. Also according to newspaper accounts, Congressman Francis Walter, Chairman of the HCUA, has stated that the HCUA has received many letters complaining about the Society but none contained material information indicating the HCUA could or should launch an investigation. Walter has further stated that it is not the function of the HCUA to serve as a sounding board either for an organization against individuals or for individuals against an organization. In addition, Senator John L. McClellan, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, has been quoted in the press as stating on March 31, 1961, that his Committee has no plans to investigate the Society because his Committee has no jurisdiction to do so.

In addition to this controversy splitting congressional circles into those attacking Welch and the Society and those backing Welch and the Society, the controversy has split congressional circles on the issue of whether a congressional hearing or hearings should be conducted of Welch and the Society. Some congressional members are demanding an investigation while others are claiming there is no basis or authority for such an investigation.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Background Concerning Welch

The files of this Bureau disclose that Welch resides at 43 Fletcher Road, Belmont, Massachusetts; has an office at 310 Main Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he is an officer and director of the James O. Welch Company, a candy company; and has an office at 395 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, from which literature of the Society is mailed and distributed. In February, 1959, this Bureau received information indicating that Welch had authored a book entitled "The Politician," which book Welch did not have published but had a limited number of copies printed which he sent to friends and individuals who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed that it was mainly a vicious attack on the political life and beliefs of President Eisenhower. In this book Welch by innuendo alluded to former President Eisenhower as being procommunist. Photostats of the pertinent portion of "The Politician," as well as background information concerning Welch and the Society, were disseminated to the then Attorney General by memoranda dated March 6, 1959, September 11, 1959, and September 16, 1959, all captioned "Robert H. W. Welch, Jr."

Newspaper accounts have quoted Welch as stating that he is the absolute boss of the Society and as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss."

A description of the tactics employed by Welch in carrying on the activities of the Society is seen in the statement of Spruille Braden, the former United States Ambassador and a member of the Society's council, as quoted in an article on the Society which appeared on page six of the March 30, 1961, issue of the "New York Journal-American," a daily New York City newspaper. In this article Braden stated he did not agree with Welch's charge against President Eisenhower; that Welch may exaggerate sometimes; but "When you're in a barroom brawl, no holds are barred. You don't fight by the Marquis of Queensberry rules."

Re SAC letters 59-13 (F) and 61-14 (D).

The aforementioned SAC letter requested that the Bureau be advised of the formation of a branch of the John Birch Society in a field division and instructed that no active investigation of this group be conducted.

[redacted] advised this office on 3/12/62, that he had been invited to attend a meeting of a group early in March 1962 in Buffalo, New York which he believed was a branch of the John Birch Society. He said he would attempt to be invited to further meetings of this group to learn more about its nature.

b6
b7C

[redacted] subsequently reported on 5/21/62, that he had attended several meetings of this club and learned that it is known as the "The Conservative Club" and is actually a local branch of the John Birch Society. It meets monthly on Friday nights in a parlor at the Hotel Buffalo, Buffalo, New York. He reported that the following persons are prominent officials of this club:

[redacted]

2 - Bureau (RM)
1 - Buffalo
CES:jrz
(3)

REC-45

[redacted] further advised that the meetings are attended by 9 to 12 persons. According to its chairman, the club was recently formed and its program basically consists of discussions emphasizing that its members generally are opposed to the foreign policy of the EISENHOWER and KENNEDY Administrations and favor a repeal of the Income Tax. It was openly admitted that this group obtains its literature from the John Birth Society. On one occasion, [redacted] obtained an application blank for John Birch Society membership. During the meeting, various persons and groups were singled out for attack because they were allegedly "soft" toward the Communist menace. Among these were EDWARD R. MURROW, DREW PEARSON, Senator JACOB JAVITS, the United Nations, the American Intellectual Community, the Government of Canada (for sending wheat to Red China) and others. b6 b7C

[redacted] advised this office that he would try to obtain invitations to subsequent meetings of the John Birch Society, but he had expressed some lack of sympathy with the views of members of this club during open discussions after the meeting and he felt that he had become persona non grata with them.

On 8/20/62, Mr. [redacted] stated that he had not been invited to any subsequent meetings of the John Birch Society.

The files of this office reflect no pertinent data concerning the above listed John Birch Society members. Informants and sources have reported no interest on the part of subversive groups in the Buffalo area in this branch of the John Birch Society.

No active investigation has been conducted on the John Birch Society by the Buffalo Office and this file is being placed in a "Closed" status.

INTERNAL SECURITY

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED DATE 6/12/86 BY SP4 Elmore

On 9/18/62 I received a call from the Honorable EZRA TAFT BENSON, former Secretary of Agriculture in the Eisenhower administration, who is one of the Council of Twelve, the governing body of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon). Mr. BENSON requested an appointment with me to discuss the following matter:

He is concerned about Communism and what he terms Socialism in the United States and feels that the American people are not fully aware of its dangers. He feels that the Director of the FBI for many years has been warning the public about the menace of Communism and he believes that the Director is the foremost authority on this menace today.

Mr. BENSON states he has conducted considerable research concerning the John Birch Society and has found nothing actually wrong with its activities and purposes. He mentioned that ROBERT H. WELCH, President of the Society, had made some "foolish" remarks in some letters in the past concerning President EISENHOWER, Dr. MILTON EISENHOWER and one or two other Government officials, but that to a large extent these statements by WELCH had been misconstrued in that WELCH actually meant that President EISENHOWER had been "used" by others in formulating policies that were not severe enough against Communism.

Mr. BENSON stated he knew many leading citizens who were members of the Birch Society and regarded them as patriotic and great Americans. He stated he is aware of the controversies concerning this society, but that he feels most people do not actually know the true aims of the Society in combating Communism and Socialism. He mentioned that even the Deseret News and Telegram (owned by the LDS Church) had published an editorial criticizing the John Birch Society and that he, BENSON, honestly felt the newspaper did not fully understand the purpose of the Society.

BENSON has reached the conclusion the Society is doing a lot of good in combating Communism and feels that it is patriotic in its motives. He related in confidence that [redacted] has been approached by the Birch Society to be their representative in Utah and surrounding states; that the Society has no "coordinator" in Utah and that activities are handled by the coordinator at Denver. [redacted] has been offered the position of "coordinator" in western states, but has not yet discussed his decision with [redacted] Mr. BENSON states he knows that [redacted] will consult with him soon concerning his opinion about becoming affiliated with the Birch Society. BENSON stated he realized the FBI does not sanction or endorse any group, but he wanted to know off-the-record how the FBI feels about the Birch Society and whether or not it has been investigated and any conclusions reached.

I informed Mr. BENSON that of course we were purely a fact-finding agency and that he was correct in his comment that the FBI does not have the authority to comment or evaluate the character or integrity of any person or organization; that the FBI is interested only in subversive elements, particularly those that might attempt to infiltrate or take over some organization purely for subversive purposes. I informed him off-the-record in response to his direct question that to my knowledge the FBI has not investigated the John Birch Society as such in this area, but that of course it would have to be his own decision concerning any affiliation with the Society or any other group. Mr. BENSON stated he realized this but that he appreciated my conferring with him at his request.

It is to be noted that [redacted] is a young man approximately 30 to 32 years of age who was a candidate for the [redacted] and was defeated in the primary last week. [redacted] makes a large number of speeches. I have not heard him but understand that he is a capable speaker and strongly opposes Communism and Socialism in his remarks. The [redacted] is highly regarded in church circles in this area, and [redacted] is one of the highest ranking LDS Church officials. Mr. BENSON had just received from the Publisher a copy of the Director's new book, "A Study of Communism," which he had on his desk and which probably prompted his contacting me about the above matter.

Mr. BENSON mentioned that he would be on a trip in the eastern part of the United States within the next few days, and that he might personally contact the Director to confer with him about the menace of Communism and the role of the Birch Society.

The above is furnished to the Director since he might be contacted in the next few days by Mr. BENSON, who is a strong admirer of the Director's.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 87th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Beliefs and Principles of the John Birch Society

EXTENSION OF REMARKS
OF
HON. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 12, 1962

Mr. ROUSSELOT. Mr. Speaker, many of my colleagues have questioned me concerning the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society. For their benefit, under unanimous consent I insert those beliefs and principles in the Appendix of the RECORD.

GENERAL BELIEFS AND PRINCIPLES OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

I

With very few exceptions the members of the John Birch Society are deeply religious people. A member's particular faith is entirely his own affair. Our hope is to make better Catholics, better Protestants, better Jews—or better Moslems—out of those who belong to the society. Our never-ending concern is with morality, integrity, and purpose. Regardless of the differences between us in creed and dogma, we all believe that man is endowed by a Divine Creator with an innate desire and conscious purpose to improve both his world and himself. We believe that the direction which constitutes improvement is clearly visible and identifiable throughout man's known history, and that this God-given upward reach in the heart of man is a composite conscience to which we all must listen.

II

We believe that the Communists seek to drive their slaves and themselves along exactly the opposite and downward direction, to the Satanic debasement of both man and his universe. We believe that communism is as utterly incompatible with all religion as it is contemptuous of all morality and destructive of all freedom. It is intrinsically evil. It must be opposed, therefore, with equal firmness, on religious grounds, moral grounds, and political grounds. We believe that the continued coexistence of communism and a Christian-style civilization on one planet is impossible. The struggle between them must end with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed. We intend to do our part, therefore, to halt, weaken, rout, and eventually to bury, the whole international Communist conspiracy.

III

We believe that means are as important as ends in any civilized society. Of all the falsehoods that have been so widely and deliberately circulated about us, none is so viciously untrue as the charge that we are willing to condone foul means for the sake of achieving praiseworthy ends. We think that communism as a way of life, for instance, is completely wrong; but our ultimate quarrel with the Communists is that they insist on imposing that way of life on the rest of us by murder, treason, and cruelty rather than by persuasion. Even if our own use of force ever becomes necessary and morally acceptable because it is in self-defense, we must never lose sight of the legal, traditional, and humanitarian considerations of a compassionate civilization. The Communists recognize no such compulsions, but this very ingredient of amoral brutishness will help to destroy them in the end.

IV

We believe in patriotism. Most of us will gladly concede that a parliament of nations, designed for the purpose of increasing the freedom and ease with which individuals, ideals, and goods might cross national boundaries, would be desirable. And we hope that in some future decade we may help to bring about such a step of progress in man's pursuit of peace, prosperity, and happiness. But we feel that the present United Nations was designed by its founders for the exactly opposite purpose of increasing the rigidity of Government controls over the lives and affairs of individual men. We believe it has become, as it was intended to become, a major instrumentality for the establishment of a one-world Communist tyranny over the population of the whole earth. One of our most immediate objectives, therefore, is to get the United States out of the United Nations, and the United Nations out of the United States. We seek thus to save our own country from the gradual and piecemeal surrender of its sovereignty to this Communist-controlled supergovernment, and to stop giving our support to the steady enslavement of other people through the machinations of this Communist agency.

V

We believe that a constitutional Republic, such as our Founding Fathers gave us, is probably the best of all forms of government. We believe that a democracy, which they tried hard to obviate, and into which the liberals have been trying for 50 years to convert our Republic, is one of the worst of all forms of government. We call attention to the fact that up to 1928 the U.S. Army Training Manual still gave our men in uniform the following quite accurate definition, which would have been thoroughly approved by the Constitutional Convention that established our Republic. "Democracy: A Government of the masses. Authority derived through mass meeting or any form of direct expression results in mobocracy. Attitude toward property is communistic—negating property rights. Attitude towards law is that the will of the majority shall regulate, whether it be based upon deliberation or governed by passion, prejudice, and impulse, without restraint or regard to consequences. Results in demagogism, license, agitation, discontent, anarchy." It is because all history proves this to be true that we repeat so emphatically: 'This is a Republic, not a democracy; let's keep it that way."

VI

We are opposed to collectivism as a political and economic system, even when it does not have the police-state features of communism. We are opposed to it no matter whether the collectivism be called socialism or the welfare state or the New Deal or the Fair Deal or the New Frontier, or advanced under some other semantic disguise. And we are opposed to it no matter what may be the framework or form of government under which collectivism is imposed. We believe that increasing the size of government, increasing the centralization of government, and increasing the functions of government all act as brakes on material progress and as destroyers of personal freedom.

VII

We believe that even where the size and functions of government are properly limited, as much of the power and duties of government as possible should be retained in the hands of as small governmental units as possible, as close to the people served by such units as possible. For the tendencies of any governing body to waste, expansion, and despotism all increase with the distance of that body from the people governed; the more closely any governing body can be kept under observation by those who pay its bills and provide its delegated authority, the more honestly responsible it will be. And the diffusion of governmental power and functions is one of the greatest safeguards against tyranny man has yet devised. For this reason it is extremely important in our case to keep our township, city, County and State governments from being bribed and coerced into coming under one direct chain of control from Washington.

VIII

We believe that for any people eternal vigilance is the price of liberty far more as against the insidious encroachment of internal tyranny than against the danger of subjugation from the outside or from the prospect of any sharp and decisive revolution. In a republic we must constantly seek to elect and to keep in power a government we can trust, manned by people we can trust, maintaining a currency we can trust, and working for purposes we can trust (none of which we have today). We think it is even more important for the government to obey the laws than for the people to do so. But for 30 years we have had a steady stream of governments which increasingly have regarded our laws and even our Constitution as mere pieces of paper, which should not be allowed to stand in the way of what they, in their omniscient benevolence, considered to be "for the greatest good of the great number." (Or in their power-seeking pretended so to believe.) We want a restoration of a "government of laws, and not of men" in this country; and if a few impeachments are necessary to bring that about, then we are all for the impeachments.

IX

We believe that in a general way history repeats itself. For any combination of causes, similar to an earlier combination of causes, will lead as a rule to a combination of results somewhat similar to the one produced before. And history is simply a series of causes which produced results, and so on around cycles as clearly discernible as any of the dozens that take place elsewhere in the physical and biological sciences. But we believe that the most important history consists not of the repetitions but of the changes in these recurring links in the series. For the changes mark the extent to which man has either been able to improve himself and his environment, or has allowed both to deteriorate, since the last time around. We think that this true history is largely determined by ambitious individuals (both good and evil) and by small minorities who really know what they want. And in the John Birch Society our sense of gratitude and responsibility (to God and to the noble men of the past), for what we have inherited makes us determined to exert our influence, labor, and sacrifice for changes which we think will constitute improvement.

X

In summary, we are striving, by all honorable means at our disposal and to the limits of our energies and abilities, to bring about less government, more responsibility, and a better world. Because the Communists seek, always and everywhere, to bring about more government, less individual responsibility, and a completely amoral world, we would have to oppose them at every turn, even on the philosophical level. Because are seeking through a gigantically organized conspiracy to destroy all opposition, we must fight them even more aggressively on the plane of action. But our struggle with the Communists, while the most urgent and important task before us today, is basically only incidental to our more important long-range and constructive purposes. For that very reason we are likely to be more effective against the Communists than if we were merely an ad hoc group seeking to expose and destroy so huge and powerful a gang of criminals. In organization, dedication, and purpose we offer a new form of opposition to the Communists which they have not faced in any other country. We have tried to raise a standard to which the wise and the honest can repair. We welcome all honorable allies in this present unceasing war. And we hope that once they and we and millions like us have won a decisive victory at last, many of these same allies will join us in our long look toward the future.

John Birch Society Investigated

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

OF

HON. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 14, 1962

Mr. ROUSSELOT. Mr. Speaker, the Efficiency Research Bureau, a private investigating firm, has completed a thorough investigation of the John Birch Society in Orange County, Calif. Findings of the Bureau are reported in the March 1962, issue of the Santa Ana Register, a newspaper published in Orange County. I believe the findings will be of interest to my colleagues. Under unanimous consent I place the report which appeared in the Register in the Appendix of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The report follows:

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY INVESTIGATED

A private investigating firm, Efficiency Research Bureau, 800 South Harbor Boulevard, Anaheim, conducted a thorough investigation of the John Birch Society in Orange County, Calif. Efficiency Research Bureau was hired by the president of a local manufacturing firm to make an impartial study. A five-man team of investigators, including a Negro clergyman, sat in on numerous Birch meetings and accumulated a wealth of data on the organization and its operation. The following are the 14 conclusions to which the investigating team came, based upon their extensive research:

1. Many of the allegations and rumors against the John Birch Society could not be supported by fact.

2. The John Birch Society is an anti-Communist movement open to anyone interested in joining or attending meetings.

3. It's not a secret organization, but rather groups meeting for discussion of views and ways in which to fight the international Communist conspiracy.

4. The majority of John Birch Society members don't support or agree with many of the statements of Robert Welch, the society's founder; they seldom disagree with him on policy.

5. Each chapter is independent and each member cooperates with chapter, State and national views according to the dictates of his own conscience.

6. Efficiency Research Bureau investigators attending these meetings have found groups as small as 15 and as large as 59 at a single meeting. About 15 seemed to be preferred.

7 All indications show that the John Birch Society anti-Communist movement is growing continuously and steadily.

8. Utilizing both white and colored investigators, it was learned the John Birch Society isn't anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, or anti any religious group. That they, in fact, have chapters comprised entirely of colored membership. Also, it was found John Birch Society has Jewish members on the national advisory council.

9. Investigators found no evidence of violence or unlawful activity engaged in by the John Birch Society.

10. Investigators did learn that there were individuals who carried personal prejudices with them into the organization. It was learned John Birch Society works to isolate persons with such prejudice. If a whole chapter is found to share certain prejudices the area coordinators try to disseminate such groups.

11. Investigators learned there is a John Birch Society major coordinator for Orange, Los Angeles, and San Bernardino Counties and he has two coordinators directly under him.

12. Investigators expected to find a dictatorship and didn't find it.

13. The society as a whole works very hard to make sure that John Birch Society isn't used as a vehicle to promote prejudices.

14. Investigative work included checking out documented information by factfinding groups which is used as a basis for some John Birch Society work.

APPENDIX

ASSOCIATION OF ARKANSAS KLANS
OF THE KU KLUX KLAN (AAK)

A source advised on April 22, 1959, as follows:

AAK was formed on April 21, 1959, at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, for the purpose of promoting white supremacy and segregation of the races but violence was disavowed. Leaders of AAK were previously members of the Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan (OKKKK). [redacted] of OKKKK for the State of Arkansas, was carried over as the Grand Dragon of the new organization, AAK. A source advised that on August 11, 1960, [redacted] disavowed violence. Another source advised that on January 21, 1962, the new [redacted] disavowed violence. [redacted] is the [redacted] of the AAK. Another source stated the ritual used by OKKKK is taken from the "Kloran" of the Association of South Carolina Klans of the Ku Klux Klan (ASCK).

b6
b7C

Regarding the ASCK, the following is noted:

A source advised on September 24, 1956, that the ASCK was organized in the fall of 1955 and is patterned after the Association of Carolina Klans (ACK). The source stated the ASCK is a new organization and not a re-birth of the ACK, although all high-ranking officials of the ASCK had been members of the ACK. The announced purposes of this organization are to promote white supremacy and to combat integration of races; however, the use of violence is disavowed.

A source advised on September 2, 1950, that the ACK was composed of groups formerly members of the Association of Georgia Klans (AGK), and although the ACK severed all connections with the AGK on November 14, 1949, the ideals, purposes and policies of the two organizations remained identical. The ACK became defunct after conviction and imprisonment of its highest official and other members in 1952.

The AGK has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

By letter dated November 1st the captioned individual forwarded material sent to Project Alert, Box 392, Oyster Bay, New York, with a return address on the envelope of K. A. C., Box 3094, Los Angeles 54, California. Correspondent describes this material as hate literature, and it is noted that the Bureau's poster, "What You Can Do To Fight Communism," was included in this literature. The sentence, "Attack bigotry and prejudice wherever they appear; justice for all is the bulwark of democracy," was altered with the words CORE and NAACP written over the words bigotry and prejudice. The correspondent also states he is proud to have sold many, many copies of the Director's book, "Masters of Deceit," and he follows this with the statement he is also proud to be a member of the John Birch Society.

Included among the enclosures was an item from "The Tablet" of 6-2-62 which reported that an anticommunist speaker banned from the campus of State University College at Oyster Bay, had been threatened with a libel suit if he continued to report the fact that he was banned. This article described Mr. [redacted] as this individual whose illustrated anticommunist talk was canceled without good reason. [redacted] penned the notation on this article, "Mr. Hoover, this is for those who do not believe in an internal threat!" b6 b7C

By letter dated October 15th correspondent requested the Director's comments concerning the John Birch Society and was advised that the Bureau does not make evaluations.

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The John Birch Society (JBS) and its founder, Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., have not been investigated by this Bureau. The following information is set forth concerning JBS and Welch.

Background Concerning the Society

The Society was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a wealthy candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts and was assigned Charter Number 624-300. The officers were listed as Robert Welch, President and Treasurer, and Ellen M. Lovett, Clerk (Secretary). The Directors were listed as Mary M. White, Robert Welch and Ellen M. Lovett. The Incorporators were listed as Robert Welch; Marian Probert Welch (wife of Robert Welch); Ellen M. Lovett; Mary M. White; Ellen Douglas Snow, also known as Mrs. Stanley Carman Snow, formerly Mrs. Alexander Gucker; Philip L. Jenkins; and Juliette D. Guild. All of the aforementioned are residents of the Boston, Massachusetts, area. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of this Society as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

According to newspaper accounts, JBS at the beginning of 1961 had chapters in approximately 35 states and it was estimated the Society might have 100,000 members by the end of 1961. According to a press announcement dated

THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

August 23, 1962, a representative of the Society in Los Angeles, California, stated on August 23, 1962, that the Society's national membership had more than doubled in the previous year. In a statement issued by the above representative it was reported that it was interesting to note the Society had enjoyed particularly heavy membership increases with "each national setback such as the Cuban situation, Katanga, Laos, the steel mandate, the stock market confusion and when the Society has been publicly attacked." According to the above release, a spokesman at the national headquarters of the Society declined to comment on the reported increase in membership or to state the number of members which the Society then had. The most pronounced activity on the part of Welch and the Society, in the past, in Welch's anticommunist campaign has been charges of communists being in high Government positions, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. One of the most recent major activities in this regard has been the calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court.

Background Concerning Welch

Information available to this Bureau discloses the last known office address of Welch as being 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, from which literature of the Society is mailed and distributed. Newspaper accounts have quoted Welch as stating that he is the absolute boss of the Society and as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss."

A description of the tactics employed by Welch in carrying on the activities of the Society is seen in the statement of Spruille Braden, the former United States Ambassador and a member of the Society's council, as quoted in an article on the Society which appeared in the press on March 30, 1961. In this article Braden stated he did not agree with Welch's charge against President Eisenhower; that Welch may exaggerate sometimes; but "When you're in a barroom brawl, no holds are barred. You don't fight by the Marquis of Queensberry rules."

On November 20, 1961, Welch made a statement at a rally in Austin, Texas, that "A comparatively few thousand communists, concentrated in key departments" of the Government have taken the United States "steadily down the road to communism...." Welch was called upon to turn over to this Bureau the facts in his possession and the sources thereof which might establish that certain Government employees are members of the Communist Party; however, to date, Welch has not communicated with this Bureau to supply such information.

Dear Ed:

Your book titled "A Study of Communism" was delivered to my office by Mr. Kemp yesterday. Thank you very much, Ed, for the courtesy extended.

I ~~personally~~ John feel that Communism is one of our outstanding problems and I am also interested in the type of internal threat this is presently emanating in the so-called Birch Society. They appear to be gaining in their membership which to me means a rather interesting psychological approach emanating from that group, that is, the creating of psychological distrust of our form of government by alleging that many departments of the government are controlled by Communists or Communist sympathizers. At least the Commies have told us that they intend to absorb us, destroy us, etc., but the Birchites are doing an extremely destructive internal psychological job. I often wonder where they get their funds to prosecute the costly operations they are conducting. I feel sure you and your Bureau are conversant with the entire picture.

I would like an opinion from you pertaining to that organization either officially or unofficially unless you feel it is not within your purview to express your comments pertaining to the Birchites.

Congressman Sheppard wrote January 22nd and thanked the Director for having delivered to his office a copy of "A Study of Communism." He stated that he feels communism is one of our outstanding problems but is also interested in the type of internal threat emanating from the so-called John Birch Society. He wonders where the Birchites get their funds and believes they are doing an extremely destructive internal psychological job. He is sure the Bureau is conversant with the entire picture and would like the Director's opinion pertaining to the organization either officially or unofficially unless the Director feels it is not within his purview to express such comments.

Congressman Sheppard extends his compliments for the wonderful job the Director and the FBI have always done and he extends to the Director best wishes for continued success.

Bufiles indicate that Congressman Sheppard (Democrat-California) was elected to the 75th Congress on 11-3-36, and re-elected to succeeding Congresses. Over the years our contact with him has been somewhat limited. He has expressed on occasion admiration for the FBI and the Director and was sent an autographed copy of "Masters of Deceit" for which he thanked the Director by letter dated 4-4-62. Inspector Edward C. Kemper delivered a copy of "A Study of Communism" to the Congressman on 1-22-63.

To a regular correspondent, we would advise of the confidential nature of FBI files pursuant to Department of Justice regulations and also that the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not make evaluations nor draw conclusions as to the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual.

OBSERVATION:

Since our only reply to inquiries of this type is a negative reply, it is believed it could be handled more diplomatically through personal contact.

Indices of the Miami Division fail to reveal any reference identifiable with captioned individual.

On 2/21/63, Mrs. JOHN H. SCHEIDEGGER was contacted at her residence at Route 2, Box 420-D, Stuart, Fla., by SA [redacted] Her letter of 2/7/63 was acknowledged and she was advised that we regret we are unable to be of assistance in this matter in view of the confidential nature of Bureau files. She was also advised that the FBI does not make evaluations of organizations and that the FBI is not conducting an investigation of the John Birch Society.

Mrs. SCHEIDEGGER was very cordial and expressed appreciation for the prompt acknowledgement of her letter. She stated that she understands the reason that the files of the FBI must be confidential and indicated her respect for the Director and his organization. She said that the district president of the PTA had advised her of the proper manner in which to handle the issue of the John Birch Society should the occasion arise and she now feels that it will not be a problem.

There is enclosed a leaflet entitled "We Are At War With This Sinister Conspiracy," which is the address of the Director of October 9, 1962. The last page of the publication reports that additional copies may be secured from the Citizens Information Center, P. O. Box 1085, Boulder, Colorado. It is noted that copies are being sold, ten copies for $1.00, and at reduced rates for greater number of copies. This leaflet was furnished to SA [redacted] along with a newsletter published by JIM LEOFFLER, Stratton, Colorado. It is noted that LEOFFLER is publicly known as the head of the John Birch Society at Stratton.

LYNN BELL, Post Office Inspector, Denver, Colorado, advised on January 14, 1962, that P. O. Box 1085 was requested on February 7, 1962, by [redacted] Citizens Information Center; 1707 Pearl Street, Boulder, Colorado.

[redacted] advised January 14, 1962, that a telephone was installed at 1707 Pearl Street, Boulder, in May, 1962, and was discontinued in October, 1962, for nonpayment of charges. The Telephone Company records reflect that the following four individuals were connected with this particular phone located at 1707 Pearl in the name of the Citizens Information Center:

Reurlet 1-30-63 regarding the unauthorized publication and sale of my address at Las Vegas, Nevada, October 9, 1962, by the above-captioned organization.

Bufiles contain no record that the Citizens Information Center, Boulder, Colorado, or any of the individuals associated with it, as identified in the reference communication, have received permission to reprint my Las Vegas address of October 9, 1962. Consequently, as indicated in your communication, representatives of your office should immediately contact appropriate officials of the Citizens Information Center and request they desist from selling copies of my address as indicated on the last page of their reprint. They should also be informed that the FBI would appreciate knowing, as a common courtesy, that they are reprinting copies of my addresses. In the past, the FBI has given permission to nonprofit citizen groups to reprint copies of my remarks in connection with their endeavors of public service. However, the FBI has always refrained from extending such cooperation to organizations of a commercial nature.

The results of your inquiry should reach the Bureau prior to 2-15-63.

Mr. McMORRIS stated that the Citizens Information Center was organized by himself and the three men mentioned above for the purpose of acquainting the citizens of Boulder and Colorado with the dangers of Communism. He stated they have the greatest respect for Mr. HOOVER and after they had read his speech given before the American Legion on 10/9/62, it was their belief that the speech should be read by as many Americans as possible. McMORRIS stated that they decided, rather than asking the FBI to provide them with copies of the speech, to reprint the speech and distribute it to as many people as possible. He stated they set forth the price of the speech for the purpose of recovering only that amount which would cover the expenses of printing and distributing the speech. McMORRIS stated that the thought did not occur to them that they should first secure permission from the Director prior to distributing and printing his speech. He stated it was not their intention to sell this particular pamphlet; however, he now realizes that one would get the impression that the speech was being sold. He stated that he, and he is sure his associates, would not do anything which would cause Mr. HOOVER to look with disfavor upon their efforts to enlighten the American people about Communism.

McMORRIS stated that they would immediately desist from selling copies of this address. He stated they have approximately 500 or 600 copies of this leaflet available and that they would neither sell nor distribute the leaflet even free of charge without first contacting the Director and securing his permission for the free distribution of the speech. He stated further that the Citizens Information Center would not distribute any additional speeches of the Director without first securing permission for same.

Mr. McMORRIS was asked if the Citizens Information Center was controlled by the John Birch Society and he replied in the negative. He was not asked whether or not he and his associates were members of the John Birch Society.

It is possible that Mr. McMORRIS will correspond with the Director directly to determine whether or not the Director would give the Citizens Information Center permission to distribute this leaflet free of charge. It is suggested the Bureau may desire to allow the Citizens Information Center to distribute this leaflet free of charge if they indicate on the last page of the leaflet that the leaflet is being distributed free of charge and is not for sale.

SUBJECT: "FULL CIRCLE," NOVEL BY GRACE LUMPKIN

Above captioned novel was sent to the Director from "American Opinion," Belmont 78, Massachusetts. The Editor and Director of "American Opinion" is Robert H. Welch, founder of the John Birch Society. Bufiles contain no record identifiable with either the novel or the publishers, Western Islands Publishers. In 1953 Grace Lumpkin voluntarily advised the New York Division that she had been a communist sympathizer at one time, although never a card-carrying member, and stated that she gave up her communist activities in the late 1930s. No investigation has been conducted regarding Lumpkin.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the fact that the book was forwarded from Robert H. Welch's organization, that it not be acknowledged. The book will be routed to the Central Research Section of the Domestic Intelligence Division for review.

Re Morrell to DeLoach memorandum 3/7/63, concerning captioned book which was sent to the Director from "American Opinion," Belmont 78, Massachusetts. The Editor and Director of "American Opinion" is Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society.

Captioned book was reviewed, and, although its subject matter concerns a fictional story about communist activities, the book contains only one passing reference to the FBI, indicating that the FBI has investigative jurisdiction in subversive matters (p. 26). The book is not critical of the FBI.

Grace Lumpkin - NY

According to the author the characters and incidents in the book are composites created from life and experience; however, "the truth is here for those willing to open their hearts and minds to receive it."

From a technical point of view, the book is well written and is one which will be praised by those who support the author's views or condemned by those holding contrary opinions. Basically, the author's theme is that although America's heritage is one with a theistic orientation, there is a present day trend in our society away from this heritage toward an equalitarian, humanistic view which idolizes man and his social welfare. By use of dialogue, the author uses quotations and ideas from Marx and Lenin to demonstrate that many of the trends of our society are possibly linked to communist ideology. The book points out that while the founding fathers were deeply religious and believed in public acknowledgement of a Creator, the present day trend is to abolish all forms of religion in the public life of the country. The author allows some of the novel's characters to be critical of the United Nations and Supreme Court decisions concerning religious education and prayer.

Re: "FULL CIRCLE," NOVEL BY GRACE LUMPKIN, BOOK REVIEW

According to Bureau files, Grace Lumpkin has publicly acknowledged that she was an active supporter of the Communist Party in the 1930's and subject to communist discipline although not an actual member of the party. She has not been investigated by the FBI although she has been interviewed concerning her knowledge of communist activities. Miss Lumpkin claims she broke with the communists during the period 1939-41.

According to the United States constitution only Congress has the right to declare war. At least that used to be true but not any more. In 1945 the Senate of the United States ratified the United Nations Charter as a treaty obligation. This act deprived all citizens of this nation of all their constitutional rights and privileges. The United States Supreme Court has declared that Treaty Law supersedes Constitutional Law. Thus, American boys were sent to fight in Korea, not under the American flag, but under the United Nations Banner.

After the armistice the red Chinese admitted they still held 988 American soldiers prisoner. Many have died in communist slave camps but 463 of our service men are still there today. What is our government doing to get them released? Nothing! Why not? Because legally these men are no longer American soldiers-- they are United Nations soldiers. As such they have been deprived of the most fundamental right of free men-- the protection of their own constitution.

SA MAURICE E. MURPHY reported that on 3/28/63 he was telephonically contacted by Mr. WOODROW (WOODY) BELL, who operates a TV Service Shop at 1622 Harding Road, Des Moines, Iowa. BELL said that he and ROBERT DILLEY, leader of the John Birch Society in Des Moines, had conferred and had decided to request, by letter, that the Director make a speech before their group at Des Moines on or about 7/4/63. BELL said he had heard the Director make a speech before an insurance group and it was the greatest he had ever heard.

BELL and DILLEY sponsored a meeting addressed by General EDWIN WALKER and Reverend BILLY HARGIS at the Hoyt-Sherman Auditorium in Des Moines on 3/22/63.

BELL has telephoned SA MURPHY consistently during the past two months, usually to report something he had received and read from the John Birch or other right-wing group, warning of general Communist activities.

Files of the Omaha office reflect the following information concerning BELL and DILLEY:

BELL, by letter dated 6/13/62, advised the Omaha office that he was ordering two subscriptions to "The Worker" to be sent to WOODROW P. BELL, 1622 Harding Road, Des Moines, Iowa, and to Iowa for Effective Citizens, 533 6th Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

DILLEY has been prominent in local press since the autumn of 1961 as a spokesman for the John Birch Society and he has claimed to have been instrumental in the formation of two chapters of the Birch Society in Des Moines, being chapter leader of one. He had engaged in debates on subjects of the John Birch Society and Communism and the most

Re: [redacted] b6 b7C

In view of correspondent's opinion that distribution of this book would be all right, I do not desire to encourage his distribution of Bureau literature. You are instructed to have him contacted and his letter orally acknowledged. He should be advised that I am unable to comment concerning "The Politician" since the FBI does not make evaluations nor draw conclusions concerning the character or integrity of any publication. He should be tactfully advised that the material furnished him was that considered most appropriate for reproduction and distribution by private agencies and we regret we are unable to furnish him with additional material.

Results are to be furnished, under above caption, to reach the Bureau by 5-13-63.

NOTE: Bufiles indicate that correspondent was written 8-15-62 and advised that the material listed above would be furnished him under separate cover. Bufiles contain no further identifying information and the literature was sent to him at the request of the Tampa Office who advised that there was no derogatory information concerning correspondent and recommended complying with his request.

ReBuairtel, 5/3/63, advising of [redacted] inquiry concerning "The Politician" by ROBERT WELCH and request for the Director's opinion on the book.

In accordance with Bureau instructions, [redacted] was contacted on 5/9/63, by SA [redacted] and his communication to the Bureau acknowledged. [redacted] was advised the FBI does not evaluate publications and the Director does not comment on the character or integrity of a publication or an author. b6 b7C

[redacted] related he understands the Bureau's position in this regard, but had, in reading a copy of the book, question as to the extreme position taken and hoped he might gain counsel from the Director, whom he admires greatly.

[redacted] stated he has completed the book and will not make any distribution through the bank. He volunteered his opinion that he does not believe ROBERT WELCH could possibly have creditable sources for the statements he makes.

DATE 6/16/86 BY [illegible]

This office received, on 4/26/63, a paper-bound booklet entitled "A STUDY OF SYNANON" by JOHN H. DETAR, M.D., 190 Mill Street, Reno, Nevada, price 50¢ per single copy, 25¢ per copy for three or more. The cover page indicates that this booklet was published in March, 1963.

The booklet traces the history of Synanon with the stated purpose of enabling the reader to understand the purposes, methods, and philosophy behind the Synanon movement. Reference material is limited to publications which have been distributed or published by supporters of Synanon, or Synanon, Inc. Comments about these publications are drawn from official governmental investigating committee reports.

The booklet states that Synanon was established as an organization for the treatment of drug addiction, first in Santa Monica, California, then in Reno, Nevada, and Westport, Connecticut. It adds that it uses a group method, such as has been found therapeutic in treatment of alcoholic addiction, but carried further by encouragement of the member to conform to the abstinence-ideal of his fellows, who are expected to associate with him as much as possible, and to inform the group of any slips by the member subject to censure by the group for failure to so report.

The author points out that the supporters of Synanon and its methods propose to obtain sufficient support from government that in the future, criminals will be forced, in lieu of other punishment by the courts, to join such groups. He adds that they appear to envision the extension, to the entire society, of such group organization to achieve "sociometric re-orientation" of individuals so that a psychiatric empire will emerge gradually and spread over the globe, with "social scientists, psychiatrists, sociatrists and sociometrically oriented socialists" taking the place of politicians.

The author indicates that there is a parallel between (1) the organization and methods of Synanon, and brain-washing techniques of communism. He cites state and Federal investigating committee records to indicate that writers of publications distributed or published by supporters of Synanon are sympathetic to, or connected with the international communist movement.

The author concludes, "That many persons of communist or communist front persuasion have lent their assistance and their names to Synanon is not evidence that Synanon was created by the communist conspiracy. Rather, the evidence indicates that the ...complex can be used and usurped by the communists. It is not the province of this author to perform the functions of a duly consitituted governmental investigating agency...."

"If there is evidence of communist affectation of Synanon, this evidence can by obtained by the appropriate investigative body."

For the information of the Bureau, Dr. DETAR was defeated in a municipal primary election held in Reno, Nevada, during May, 1963.

During and after the campaign Dr. DETAR was accused of, and readily admitted, membership in the John Birch Society.

The above information is furnished for the information of the Bureau. No further action is contemplated, UACB.

Letterhead memorandum captioned as above is enclosed herewith.

The above letterhead memorandum deals with information furnished by U. S. Attorney THOMAS L. ROBINSON, Memphis, Tenn., 6/3/63, about possible demonstrations on the part of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY when U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations ADLAI STEVENSON makes a talk at the Memphis Municipal Airport at 2:30 p.m., 6/7/63. This talk is in connection with ceremonies incident to the opening of the new Memphis Airport.

Mr. ROBINSON wanted to know what action the FBI could take with respect to the demonstrations. He was informed that the FBI could not take any action with respect to the demonstrations. Mr. ROBINSON pointed out that he had discussed this with the U. S. Secret Service representatives and these representatives likewise told him they could not take any action.

Mr. ROBINSON is discussing his information with the Chief of Police, Memphis, Tenn., and with the Sheriff of Shelby County, Memphis.

This is being called to the attention of the Bureau for information in the event the U. S. Attorney should communicate with the Department and the Department in turn should contact the Bureau.

POSSIBLE DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED NATIONS ADLAI STEVENSON, JUNE 7, 1963, AIRPORT, MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE
MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING

United States Attorney THOMAS L. ROBINSON, Memphis, Tennessee, has received information from one of the officials handling the dedication ceremonies at the new Memphis, Tennessee Airport during the week beginning June 3, 1963, and ending June 8, 1963, that there are to be demonstrations against ADLAI STEVENSON, United States Ambassador to the United Nations, when he makes a talk at the Memphis Municipal Airport at 2:30 p.m., June 7, 1963.

The demonstrations allegedly are to be conducted by members of the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY.

United States Attorney ROBINSON has furnished the above information to the Chief of Police, Memphis, Tennessee, and to the Sheriff of Shelby County, Memphis.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

Captioned individual wrote and stated he had visited Cut Bank, Montana, and there had been considerable discussion regarding Harvey Matusow. Matusow has alleged that Senator Mansfield was a communist sympathizer and that Matusow knows of this since he (Matusow) had been a communist at the time. These accusations were allegedly made during one of the Senator's campaigns and Matusow's public accusations were interrupted by his arrest by the FBI. Fred Barrett, Democratic State Chairman, has alleged that [redacted] leader of the John Birch Society in Glacier County, had brought Matusow into the county for the specific purpose of defaming Senator Mansfield. This television station would like to schedule a TV debate on this issue during August and desires any available background material on Matusow.

Bufiles contain no information identifiable with correspondent or his TV station. Our relations with Senator Mansfield have been cordial. He is the Senate Majority Leader and we have no information that he has been sympathetic to communism. [redacted] was a contact of the Butte Office for several years and is past Executive National Committeeman of The American Legion. He has taken a great interest in Americanism and claims to have one of the most complete personal libraries on communism in Montana. During The American Legion Convention at Atlantic City in 1957 he apparently met the Director briefly and shook hands. He has been sent reprint material from time to time and wrote a most complimentary letter to the Director 11-25-62. This letter was acknowledged and he was placed on the Special Correspondents' List. In April, 1963, we received 2 newspaper items which were reprints of the March, 1960, FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin Introduction [redacted] which bore the legend "published through the courtesy of [redacted] Regional Coordinator of the John Birch Society." The Butte Office contacted [redacted] and told him that Bureau reprint material cannot be used to indicate support of any organization. He was apologetic and advised that he had been traveling throughout Montana and Wyoming on behalf of the John Birch Society. He felt the John Birch Society was "best qualified to combat" communism and leftist groups. He has been deleted from the Special Correspondents' List.

The subject of the address was "The John Birch Society Philosophy and Program." Mr. Finder stated "By now it should be clear what is Mr. Welch's purpose: to substitute the John Birch Society for duly elected government, with Welch as the absolute authoritative head. - - - We are not to trust our Armed Forces to defend us from communism abroad; we are not to have confidence in people whose records were scrutinized when they sought election; we are not to rely on the FBI or Senate committees or the local police authorities or others to lick the Communists domestically. The Congressional Record for Thursday, August 15, 1963, has been reviewed and the following items contained therein have been noted for your attention.

HOUSE

The proceedings of the House contain nothing of interest to the Bureau.

Adjournment: Until Monday, August 19, 1963, at 12 noon.

SENATE

Pages 14363-14365. Senator Young, (D) Ohio, spoke concerning the John Birch Society and other such organizations. He stated "I believe that the radical right today is an even deadlier threat to our democratic traditions and institutions than are American adherents to communism. - - - It is estimated that today there are fewer than 10,000 Communist Party members in the Nation. Of this total number—8,000 to 10,000 estimated by Director J. Edgar Hoover—I assert a considerable number are in reality counteragents—loyal Americans—who report regularly to our Nation's FBI or CIA. Although the danger from internal communism has been lessening, the radicals of the right—in Europe they would be called Fascists—now pose a dangerous threat in trying to destroy the civil liberties and institutions which are the foundations of freedom. They accuse everyone who disagrees with their brand of 'Americanism' of being a Communist or Communist sympathizer." Mr. Young also comments on the leaders of these organizations. He went on to state "Speaking of the radical right, J. Edgar Hoover, warned that—'Attributing every adversity to communism

The captioned individual wrote a letter to the editor of "Rockford Morning Star" which appeared on October 5, 1963. It attributed a remark to the Director, "the irresponsible Birch Society hinders our fight against communism." A reader, [redacted] forwarded the published letter to the Director indicating he knew Mr. Hoover never made such a statement. The reader's letter was acknowledged and the SAC, Chicago, was instructed on October 9, 1963, to contact [redacted] to ascertain the source of her quote and to explain to her that the FBI makes no evaluations or draws conclusions concerning the character or integrity of any organization, publication or individual. Chicago advised by airtel 10-11-63, [redacted] on contact, stated she did not believe that the Agents had been instructed by Mr. Hoover to contact her to advise her that she had misquoted him. She was unable to provide the source of her quote and referred to an article written by former Vice President Nixon which appeared in the March 16, 1963, issue of the "Rockford Register-Republic" in which he recalled the Director's statement in the American Bar Association Journal calling for a sane, rational understanding of the facts in the fight against communism. One paragraph in this article reads "The irresponsible tactics of Robert Welch and others like him have hurt the fight against Communism." [redacted] believed that Mr. Nixon's article implied that Mr. Hoover was against the John Birch Society.

She was told that she had misquoted Mr. Hoover and was advised that the FBI, as an investigative agency, makes no such conclusions and that Mr. Hoover did not make any remarks to the effect that he either supports or does not support the John Birch Society.

Still doubtful that Mr. Hoover would have sent Agents to interview her, later that day she telephoned the Rockford, Illinois, Resident Agency to determine if she had actually been contacted by FBI Agents on October 11th and was advised she had.

She telephoned long-distance to Bureau Headquarters on October 14, 1963, and spoke to SA John W. O'Beirne of the Crime Research Section. She wanted to know if the men who visited her concerning her letter to the editor were Special Agents and wondered whether Mr. Hoover would resort to "police-state methods" of this type. that the individuals who contacted her were FBI Agents and that they had called on her upon Mr. Hoover's instructions. She was informed that the statement she made was incorrect and that Mr. Hoover never referred to the John Birch Society, or for that matter to any other organization, publication or individual in the manner in which she quoted him in her letter to the editor. She repeated that she felt Mr. Nixon implied that Mr. Hoover was against the John Birch Society. She was advised that no such implication could be drawn and that Agents had visited her to enlighten her in this regard. Pages A6627 - A6628. Congressman Udall, (D) Arizona, extended his remarks concerning the sale of wheat to Russia. He pointed out that the proposed sale follows a pattern set in 1955 by then Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson who favored increased trade with the Soviet bloc as a means to reduce U. S. farm surpluses. Mr. Udall stated, "Mr. Benson's son, Reed, a John Birch Society official, came to Arizona last month but apparently was unable to refute these facts. Instead he chose to cry, 'treason' because the present administration is going to permit sales." Mr. Udall included two articles from the Arizona Republic, Phoenix morning newspaper, issues of October 16th and 19th. The article entitled "Red Sale Treason, Bircher Declares" states "The sale of U. S. wheat to Russia would be an act of treason because it gives aid and comfort to the enemy, Reed Benson, Utah State coordinator for the John Birch Society, told a Phoenix Press Club forum last night. - - - - In other talks yesterday, Benson told audiences this country is at war with communism and expressed belief this Nation is losing that war. 'J. Edgar Hoover told the Nation that the sooner we wake up the safer we will be,' Benson declared, and he added that the Birch Society is dedicated to hastening that awakening." The article went on to state, "He said that it was when he was considering joining the Birch Society in 1961 that he first met Robert Welch, its founder and director. Before that, he said he obtained a copy of the FBI's report on the society. Benson said he attended one of Welch's 2-day seminars."

Re: Chief Justice Earl Warren,
United States Supreme Court

On October 25, 1963, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that he had learned from a source whom he considers to be reliable, but whom he declined to identify, that a call had gone out to members of the John Birch Society to picket at the New York Bar Association Building, 42 West 44th Street, New York City, at 5:00 p.m., on October 29, 1963, at which time the New York Bar Association will present an award to Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. These pickets will carry placards reading "Impeach Earl Warren," and "Restore the Constitution and Restore Prayer".

The source was unable to furnish any additional information concerning this matter.

By memorandum dated October 25, 1963, information appearing in the Congressional Record for October 24, 1963, was set forth for the attention of the Director. Included were statements made by Congressman Morris K. Udall (D-Arizona) who included in the Record two articles, one of which was entitled "Red Sale Treason, Bircher Declares" which appeared in the "Arizona Republic," October 19, 1963. This article indicates that Reed Benson, Utah State Coordinator for the John Birch Society (JBS), indicated that he obtained a copy of the Bureau's report on the JBS prior to his joining. The Director asked "Did we ever investigate the John Birch Society? Did we ever give Benson anything on J.B. Society?"

We have never investigated the JBS. We have obtained public source material concerning this group and have issued instructions to the field to be alert for the formation of chapters; that the Bureau was particularly interested in efforts by subversive elements to take over or use the JBS or its chapters; and that no investigation should be conducted. We have also furnished information regarding the JBS by letter to the Department in 1959, 1960, 1961, 1962, and the White House in 1959 and 1961. Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley in April, 1961, stated that, in the absence of information indicating that a Federal law or Executive Order has in fact been violated, it would be inappropriate to undertake an investigation of the JBS. No investigative report has ever been written regarding this matter. We are continuing to be alert for any information indicating that an investigation of the JBS is warranted.

A review of Bufiles indicates that Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, advised our Salt Lake City Office on September 18, 1962, that he had conducted considerable research concerning the JBS and had found nothing actually wrong with its activities and purposes. Mr. Benson did state that Robert H. W. Welch, President of the JBS, had made some "foolish" remarks in the past concerning former President Eisenhower and other Government officials but that to a large extent these statements by Welch had been misconstrued. Mr. Benson indicated that his son, Reed A. Benson, had been approached by the JBS to be the JBS representative in Utah and surrounding states. He felt that his son would consult with him concerning his affiliation with the JBS and, although he knew the Bureau does not sanction or endorse any group, he wanted to know "off the record" how the FBI felt about the JBS and whether or not it had been investigated and any conclusions reached. The SAC advised Mr. Benson off the record that to his knowledge the FBI has not investigated the JBS as such and that any affiliation with this group by his son would be his own decision. (77-54679-39)

There is no other information in the Bufiles to indicate that Mr. Benson or his son, Reed A. Benson, have been furnished information regarding the JBS. Both are on the Special Correspondents' List.

It is felt that Reed Benson should be contacted by the SAC, Salt Lake City, regarding his statement that he obtained a copy of the FBI's "report" on the JBS. The exact nature of this "report" should be determined and the exact manner in which he obtained this "report" should be clarified. In the event it is determined that he has not in fact seen such a "report," he should be emphatically advised to cease and desist from making such statements in the future.

The JBS was formed in December, 1958, by candy manufacturer, Robert H. Welch, Jr., and has as its long-range objective "less Government, more responsibility, and a better world."

RECOMMENDATION:

There is attached for your approval a letter to Salt Lake City instructing that Reed Benson be contacted as indicated above. This letter transmits copies of the article reporting Reed Benson's statement.

There are attached two copies of an article which appeared in the October 19, 1963, issue of the "Arizona Republic," page 21, entitled "Red Sale Treason, Bircher Declares." This article reports that, during a speech given by Reed Benson, Utah State Coordinator for the John Birch Society (JBS), he made the statement that he "obtained a copy of the FBI report on the society" before joining the JBS.

Reed A. Benson should be contacted by you regarding his statement which appeared in the above-mentioned article. The exact nature of this so-called report should be determined as well as the manner in which it came into his possession. All available specific data regarding this matter should be obtained.

In the event it is determined that he did not, in fact, obtain such a document, he should be emphatically instructed to cease and desist from making statements in the future indicating that he has obtained FBI documents.

This matter should be handled as soon as possible and results furnished to the Bureau promptly.

Pages 20751-20752. Senator Fulbright, (D) Arkansas, advised that "there has come to my attention an interesting and penetrating analysis of certain aspects of the opinions and principles of Robert Welch and his disciples in the Birch Society. This is in the form of the letter to the editor of the Santa Barbara News-Press, written by a friend of mine and former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, Mr. Harry Ashmore." The text of the letter was included with his remarks. Mr. Ashmore, in his letter, makes reference to a survey published in the Scoreboard of American Opinion magazine, an official publication of the John Birch Society. Ashmore stated "On the Birch scale, the United States is around the bend, with a rating of 50-70 percent Communist total control. American Opinion compares this total control figure with an estimate of actual Communist Party membership in the United States, which it places at a mere 10,000. - - - Such control could only be exercised at the very top echelons of government, by conscious Communist conspirators who have duped virtually the whole of the American people in a series of free elections. It must further be assumed that these conspirators have deluded or subverted the FBI and our other internal security agencies, which have either rejected or are deliberately concealing the facts as revealed by American Opinion to the John Birch membership."

Sunday

At 10:00 A. M. 12/15/63, Supervisor Frank Rock of New York advised Duty Supervisor R. A. Mullins that 12/15/63 issue of "The New York Times" contained a full-page advertisement by the John Birch Society wherein a quote is attributed to the Director.

The advertisement states the Society believes President Kennedy was murdered by a communist and thereafter attributes the following to the Director in a speech on 10/18/60: "We are at war with the Communists, and the sooner each red-blooded American realizes that the better and safer we will be." It states the Director repeated this remark on 12/3/63.

The advertisement calls on those who have the "willingness to learn and the courage to support the disturbing truth" to fill out a coupon to request information about the Society. Contributions are solicited. This obviously is a very expensive advertisement and is typical of the lengths to which the Society will go to trade on the Director's name.

THE TIME HAS COME

We believe that the president of the United States has been murdered by a Communist within the United States.

It has been pointed out by the Hon. Martin Dies, since the assassination, that "Lee Harvey Oswald was a Communist," and that when a Communist commits murder he is acting under orders. The former Congressman, head of the original Dies Committee, is probably second only to J. Edgar Hoover in first-hand knowledge acquired from early and long experience in investigating Communist activities.

The Hon. J. Edgar Hoover said in a speech on October 18, 1960: "We are at war with the Communists, and the sooner each red-blooded American realizes that the better and safer we will be." He emphatically repeated this statement on December 3, 1963 - - ten days after the assassination. And this is none the less war because the Communists conduct it according to their right. We believe that this has now been proved, tragically but conclusively, to the deep sorrow, but also to the profound alarm, of all good Americans. Captioned individual telephonically contacted my office at approximately 10:15 a.m. today and spoke with SA Hanning.

[redacted] advised that he is in the Advertising Acceptability Department of the Times and just wanted to verify a quote by Mr. Hoover. By way of explanation, he advised that the John Birch Society is placing a full-page ad in this coming Sunday's edition of the Times and one place in the ad they quote the Director. This quote is, "The Honorable J. Edgar Hoover on October 18, 1960, stated, 'We are at war with the communists, and the sooner each red-blooded American realizes that the better and safer we will be!'" [redacted] stated that the ad continues saying that the Director reiterated this statement on December 4, 1963. [redacted] was merely asking for verification of the correctness of this quote.

Actually, this is a verbatim quote taken from the Director's address before The American Legion in Miami Beach, Florida, on October 18, 1960. He did reiterate it on December 4, 1963, in his remarks before the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation.

RECOMMENDATION:

While we are certainly most reluctant to have the Director quoted in a John Birch Society advertisement, the quote is correct and was given both times in a public address and, therefore, is in the public domain. Accordingly, it is suggested that [redacted] be telephonically recontacted and merely advised that the quote is correct.

THE TIME HAS COME

The President of the United States has been murdered by a Marxist-Communist within the United States.

It has been pointed out by the Hon. Martin Dies, since the assassination, that "Lee Harvey Oswald was a Communist," and that when a Communist commits murder he is acting under orders. The former Congressman, head of the original Dies Committee, is probably second only to J. The Hon. J. Edgar Hoover said in a speech on October 18, 1960: "We are at war with the Communists, and the sooner each red-blooded American realizes that the better and safer we will be." SUBJECT: THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

The Domestic Intelligence Division states that the Bureau does not have the John Birch Society under investigation and has not placed any undercover informants in the organization. As a matter of fact, the Bureau will not approve any individual for development as a confidential informant if he is a member of the John Birch Society.

No information is available to indicate membership of any Bureau employee in the John Birch Society. All employees are required to list all organizations to which they presently belong on their Personnel Status Forms which are required annually from investigative employees each February 1 and from all other employees each August 1. The organization memberships listed by all field employees must be reviewed by the Special Agents in Charge or their designees, and in the case of SOG employees, by the Administrative Division. With the exception of the Boy Scouts and certain other organizations, no lists are maintained of the names of employees belonging to specific organizations. However, it is felt that any listing by an employee of membership in the John Birch Society would have been noted when the Personnel Status Forms were reviewed and such membership brought to the attention of appropriate Bureau officials. The employees responsible for making such checks have no recollection of any listing by any Bureau employee of membership in the John Birch Society. In addition, the General Indices of the Bureau contain no references to indicate John Birch Society membership on the part of any FBI employee.

The above is submitted for information.

Page A154. Congressman Miller, (D) California, extended his remarks concerning an advertisement of the John Birch Society which appeared in a California newspaper. Mr. Miller included an editorial entitled "A Demonstration of Faultlessly Wretched Taste" from the Morning News of San Leandro, California, analyzing this advertisement. The editorial stated "We did not ever think for a moment that the John Birchers as a society would be willing to stoop to the point of seizing on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy as a means of raising money and increasing memberships. But that is what they have done. In a demonstration of faultlessly wretched taste the John Birch Society has taken, in a series of metropolitan papers, full page advertisements that use the tragedy which befell us all on November 22 as a means of getting people to buy, for $5 or even for $1, packets of John Bircher propaganda, and also to contribute money to pay for even more such advertisements. - - - It goes on from there to erect on a basis of tragic fact a structure of distortions, using quotations from George Washington to J. Edgar Hoover, that leaves no comparison possible other than with the Tower of Babel."

THE TIME HAS COME

The President of the United States has been murdered by a Marxist-Communist within the United States.

It has been pointed out by the Hon. Martin Dies, since the assassination, that "Lee Harvey Oswald was a Communist," and that when a Communist commits murder he is acting under orders. The former Congressman, head of the original Dies Committee, is probably second only to J. Edgar Hoover in first-hand knowledge acquired from early and long experience in investigating Communist activities.

The Hon. J. Edgar Hoover said in a speech on October 18, 1960: "We are at war with the Communists, and the sooner each red-blooded American realizes that the better and safer we will be." He emphatically repeated this statement on December 3, 1963 - - ten days after the assassination. And this is none the less war because the Communists conduct it according to their right. This has now been proved, tragically but conclusively, to the deep sorrow, but also to the profound alarm, of all good Americans. The time has come for those good Americans to join us in this fight against the powerfully organized "masters of deceit." For, as Edmund Burke once wrote: "When bad men combine, the good must associate; else they will fall one by one, an unpitied sacrifice in a contemptible struggle."

The John Birch Society is an educational army, and our only weapon is the truth. But George Washington stated our problem well: "Truth will ultimately prevail where there is pains taken to bring it to light." We take tremendous pains in proportion to our numbers and our strength, and all we need to win is that enough other patriots join us in our determination and our labors. For there is nothing the Communists fear so much in the whole world

Nor is it in character for the Communists to rest on this success. Instead, we can expect them to use the shock, grief, and confusion of the American people, resulting from the assassination of our President, as an opportunity for pushing their own plans faster. Also, we shall be subjected to an ever greater barrage of distortions and falsehoods, aimed at imposing on the nation a completely false picture of the situation and of the forces at work. They have to subvert our minds as well as our institutions.

For five years The John Birch Society has said that, regardless of the external threat, Communism was a serious internal menace in the United States. And we were too soon, the truth about their purposes, their methods, and their progress.

If you oppose the Communist conspiracy by learning and spreading the truth, you may expect to be smeared as viciously as we have been for five years. But you will be helping to save your family and your country from the same cruel tyranny that has already been imposed on a billion human beings.

The time has come for every red-blooded American to react as such. If you have the willingness to learn and the courage to support the disturbing truth, use the coupon below. It will be without any obligation on your part, and we shall not contact you further unless or until you request us to do so.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Enclosed are two copies of a self-explanatory communication prepared by our Dallas Office dated January 28, 1964. Copies of this communication have also been furnished to the following: Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence, Department of the Army; Director of Naval Intelligence, Department of the Navy; Director of Special Investigations, The Inspector General, Department of the Air Force; Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, Department of Justice; Chief, United States Secret Service, Department of the Treasury; and Chief Postal Inspector, Post Office Department.

For your assistance, "American Opinion," was incorporated January 13, 1956, under the laws of the State of Massachusetts, and is edited and published by Robert Welch, Belmont, Massachusetts. On December 9, 1958, Welch founded the John Birch Society in Indianapolis, Indiana. The John Birch Society was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. Welch has summarized the long-range objectives of the Society as "less government, more responsibility and a better world." "American Opinion," the John Birch Society and Welch have not been investigated by this Bureau.

The above is being furnished for your information.

Sincerely yours,

Copies to other Governmental agencies sent by Domestic Intelligence Division. Letterhead memorandum relates to anonymous communication received by our Dallas Office and postmarked at Dallas, Texas, both on 1/23/64 enclosing 16 stickers containing the statement "Communism Killed Kennedy." It was indicated these stickers are available at a price of $1.00 for 12 sheets (912) stickers) and can be obtained from "American Opinion," Belmont, Massachusetts. It is possible these stickers might come to the attention of the President's Commission resulting in a request for Bureau investigation. Therefore, it is felt we should take the initiative and advise the Commission of the above prior to receipt of a request.

Summary

This Bureau has not conducted an investigation of the John Birch Society (JBS) or its founder Robert H. W. Welch, Jr. However, the files of this Bureau disclose the following information.

The JBS was organized in Indianapolis, Indiana, in December, 1958, by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., a candy manufacturer of Belmont, Massachusetts, in order to further Welch's anticommunist campaign. It was incorporated on December 23, 1958, as a nonprofit business organization under the laws of the State of Massachusetts. The aims and purposes of the organization were listed as to promote civic interest in national and international affairs by an educational program and the collection and dissemination of literature for educational purposes. Welch has characterized the long-range objective of the JBS as "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

In an article "The Wrong Way to Fight Reds" by Jack Mabley in the January 30, 1961, issue of the "Chicago Daily News," a Chicago, Illinois, daily newspaper, Mabley comments on Welch and the Society. Mabley states Welch, by his own words, is absolute boss of the Society and quotes Welch as saying the Society must be run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss." Mabley sums up his article by stating the communist threat in this country is real enough; the country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract communist evil; but "the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work."

Welch authored a book entitled "The Politician," which he did not have published but had a limited number of copies printed, which he sent to friends who he believed would be interested in its contents. A review of this book disclosed it was a vicious attack on the political beliefs of former President Eisenhower and, by innuendo, alluded to President Eisenhower as being procommunist.

Welch also publishes a magazine "American Opinion," which was incorporated January 13, 1956, under the laws of the State of Massachusetts, and which he also uses as an outlet for his anticommunist crusade. As an example of the type of material which appears in "American Opinion" an article was published in the October, 1959, edition entitled "A Review of Reviews" written by Revilo P. Oliver, a professor at the University of Illinois. This article contained allegations that between 70 and 80 per cent of the responsible officers in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (DHEW) are members or accomplices of the communist conspiracy. This appears to be a follow-up of a speech made by Oliver in March, 1959, at which time he allegedly stated that one third of the top echelon of the communist conspirators in this country are in the DHEW and stated his source was Herbert Philbrick. Philbrick, a former FBI informant, upon interview has denied giving Oliver any information concerning communist infiltration of the DHEW. Our files disclose that Philbrick never furnished such information to the FBI.

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: Feb. 18, 1964

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

John Birch Society

Pages A717-A718. Congressman Senner, (D) Arizona, extended his remarks regarding a Birch Society article concerning President Kennedy's assassination written by Revilo P. Oliver, professor of classical languages, University of Illinois. Mr. Senner stated "I almost feel safe in saying that Professor Oliver, who has also participated in the activities of such groups as the Christian Crusade and We, the People, has attained an incomparable low with this latest bit of 'Communist conspiracy analysis.' Thanks be to God that the reasonableness of Americans is beginning to manifest itself through such clear expressions as the following article by Arizona's Platt Cline." Mr. Cline stated in his article "The article, 'Marxmanship in Dallas,' by Revilo P. Oliver of the University of Illinois, a despicable and vicious attack on the late President, the Attorney General, the Chief Justice and others, is described as a 'superb commentary' by Robert Welch, founder of the Birchites. Reading this hate-laden, paranoidal, fantastic commentary on the assassination should be enough to disenchant any even slightly reasonable member with the society and its methods." Mr. Cline quoted the following from the Oliver article setting forth the functions of the Warren Commission to investigate President Kennedy's assassination: "To cover up for the Communist conspiracy as much as possible * * * to suppress permanently the report of the FBI which it has already acted to conceal from the American people - - -."

Enclosed herewith for the Bureau are eight copies of letterhead memorandum concerning incidents which have occurred in recent months in Santa Barbara, California, attacking Chief Justice EARL WARREN.

In his letter of February 25, 1964, Mr. [redacted] of the News-Press, Santa Barbara, California, stated that the Chief Justice WARREN and Senator THOMAS KUCHEL, being frequent visitors in the state, have some claim for protection on the part of the FBI. Mr. [redacted] letter has been acknowledged, at which time he was informed that the FBI did not have investigative jurisdiction for protection of Chief Justice WARREN or Senator KUCHEL. He was informed that the information which he furnished was being made available to the U. S. Secret Service, Los Angeles, for possible action and to the Santa Barbara Police Department and Sheriff's Office. In addition, Mr. [redacted] was advised that this information was being furnished to FBI headquarters in Washington, D. C., for referral to Chief Justice WARREN and Senator KUCHEL.

The Bureau is requested to inform Chief Justice WARREN and Senator KUCHEL of the apprehension of Mr. [redacted] for their safety.

ACTIVITY AGAINST

SANTA BARBARA, CALIFORNIA

By letter dated February 25, 1964, [redacted] b6 b7C
[redacted] News-Press, Santa Barbara, California, advised the Los Angeles Office of the FBI, in part, as follows:

"....From time to time, I have received vicious letters, some against the late President but mostly taking the line of the Birch Society in its campaign to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren. Some enclose posters calling the Chief Justice a traitor and otherwise inviting some screwball to attempt assassination. During the past few months the Chief Justice has been hung in effigy four times in prominent places in Santa Barbara. On one occasion I was honored to be hung with him. I enclose clippings from my newspaper giving account of these various incidents.

"These, mostly anonymous, letter writers are apparently creating a 'climate' in Santa Barbara that gives me apprehension that another 'Lee Oswald' might be brought forth and an attempt to make assault on the Chief Justice, should he come to Santa Barbara which he frequently does. I expect him early this summer.

"As you probably know, I have been active against the so-called Birchers and everything they stand for. I have seen my share of insulting letters. These do not give me particular concern, or my family, but I am deeply concerned as to what a campaign of vilification might do to a visit from the Chief Justice or Senator Tommy Kuchel, who is also a frequent visitor to Santa Barbara.

A greater danger emanates from those 'sane' men who would toss aside such accusations, professing illness and then vomit forth a barrage of emotional nonsense.

"Today, when charges of Communism are leveled at men of their party, the liberal 'intellectuals' and other well-meaning, but uninformed citizens (and no one can claim to be completely informed about a government which withholds information from the public) immediately rise with indignation and demand to know how an important public servant could possibly be a Communist.

"I submit that if any person is in agreement with any main concept of Communist doctrine and takes action to propagate that ideology, that person is a Communist, whether or not he is actually a member of the Party, or is even aware that his thoughts and actions are aligned with those of Communist doctrine. Proof cannot be given that President Kennedy was a member of the Communist Party, but who can deny that he promoted socialistic institutions such as an expansion of social security to include medical insurance, the Housing act of 1961, and federal aid to education. Communists have often stated that socialism is the intermediate step between capitalism and Communism. A person promoting socialism is thereby promoting Communism and should be labeled appropriately.

By airtel dated 2/27/64 the Los Angeles Office requested that the Bureau inform Earl Warren, Chief Justice, U. S. Supreme Court, and Senator Thomas Kuchel (D-Calif.) regarding the concern of [redacted] of the "News-Press," Santa Barbara, California, for the safety of Chief Justice Warren and Senator Kuchel.

By letter dated 2/25/64 Mr. [redacted] advised the Los Angeles Office that Chief Justice Warren and Senator Kuchel had been frequent visitors to California and that he felt these individuals "have some claim for protection on the part of the FBI." Los Angeles advised Mr. [redacted] that the Bureau did not have investigative jurisdiction for the protection of the Chief Justice or the Senator. [redacted] was advised that information furnished by him was being made available to the U. S. Memorandum to Mr. W. C. Sullivan
RE: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
62-104401

The John Birch Society, which was formed in December, 1958, by candy manufacturer Robert H. Welch, Jr., has as one of its objectives the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren. It has as its long-range objective "less government, more responsibility and a better world." We have never investigated the organization but have obtained public source material concerning the group and instructions have been issued to the field to be alert for the formation of chapters and instructing that the Bureau be advised regarding efforts by subversive elements to take over the John Birch Society. Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley in April, 1961, stated that in the absence of information indicating that a Federal law or executive order has in fact been violated it would be inappropriate to undertake an investigation of the group.

The letterhead memorandum submitted with the above-mentioned Los Angeles airtel concerning activities against Chief Justice Warren is being disseminated to the Department and Armed Forces intelligence agencies.

In view of the fact that Mr. [redacted] it is recommended that this memorandum be referred to Mr. DeLoach's Office in order that Chief Justice Warren and Senator Kuchel be informed of the apprehension on the part of Mr. [redacted] for their safety and that they also be informed that this information has been made available to the U. SUPPORT YOUR  LOCAL POLICE

They need it. The Communists know, as the American people do not, that the city and community police forces now constitute one of the most important remaining obstacles to the gradual, insidious, and at first invisible, establishment of the mechanics of their Communist police state. The local working police are the best friends everywhere, of anti-Communists like ourselves, because they constantly run up against all of the dirty tactics of the Communists, and of the dupes and allies of the Communists, in their respective areas.

For this reason there has been a subtle, but now increasingly bolder and more extensive effort, to harass and discredit local police forces and their individual members, going on in the country for more than a decade. Just one illustration was the CBS television show, The Biography Of A Bookie Joint, which was designed to make all working "cops" look like grafting bums; and which has been proved by a thorough later investigation to have been basically as phony as was the "interview" with your Founder in Santa Barbara two years ago, that CBS broadcast all over the country. (We revealed the true facts about this incredibly dirty and deliberate distortion in an earlier bulletin, and reprinted those paragraphs in a thin leaflet as The Story Of A Hoax.) And we could fill this bulletin with other illustrations.

This support of their local police by all good citizens everywhere is going to become especially important now that Communist-inspired racial riots are getting to be a regular part of the American scene. The police will be "crucified" by the Liberals, in the press and over the airwaves, for practically everything they do in the line of duty. And this will be true no matter how circumspectly they handle themselves, nor with what careful restraint they use their authority, in connection with every large or small outbreak of civil disorder which the Communist plotters can produce.

Nor will the Communists nor even their Liberal dupes leave to chance the supply of grist for their mills of distortion. The police chief of Birmingham was doing a superb job of maintaining law and order in the midst of a hot situation, while letting thousand of Negroes march and hundreds of white people protest all they wished. He merely set up a line of police, protected by their police dogs, to keep the two groups apart. And peace was maintained day after day, while the level heads of the city, both white and colored, got together and tried to solve the problems underlying the turmoil. But this was the last thing that the instigators of the trouble wanted; and when incidents didn't arise, incidents had to be created. So a carefully planned tableau was enacted. While cameras were poised and ready to catch the show at the right instant, one or more hotheads or dupes among the Negroes went up to the line and deliberately kicked one or more of the dogs. The result was a picture, plastered in the papers all over the United States (and on the front page of the Boston Herald, of course), of a policeman barely holding onto a dog which was straining at the leash to attack a Negro among the Birmingham "civil rights" advocates in Birmingham.

There were no other results of the incident except the picture, which was the glorious piece of propaganda that the Communists wanted. But it shows you what the police will be up against everywhere in simply trying, as calmly as possible under the circumstances, to maintain law and order. The Federal Marshals, for another illustration, not only were not needed in Oxford, Mississippi for that purpose, but actually created most of the rioting -- as they obviously were intended to do. But of course the more the local police, anywhere or everywhere, can be discredited, the more willing the gullible American people will be to accept the entry of Federal troops as necessary to put down rioting.

Among the more carefully plotted schemes for harassing the police, discrediting individual policemen, and discouraging all those who might want to do their duty, has been the setting up of Police Review Boards -- to which many gullible dogooders and bleeding hearts have been giving support. Their chief function, in practice anyway if not in theory, is to make every individual police officer scared to death, as to every action he takes even in dealing with vicious criminals in emergency situations, of being called before some board weeks or months later, and condemned with loss of pay or maybe loss of job, for having been too unkind to the poor wayward unfortunates who were about to shoot him in the back, or stamp in his face, when he tried to interfere with their waywardness.

We shall return to this whole theme in later bulletins. At present we suggest simply that you

(a) Oppose the continuance or establishment of Police Review Boards.

(b) When you come across questionable criticism of your local police by some Liberal editor or nice-Nellie commentator, find out the real facts if you can. Usually the fellow officers of those being criticized will give you the unvarnished truth. Then if you find the criticism to have been unjustified, write and put the record straight.

"The Austin Statesman", Austin, Texas, March 27, 1964, contained the following article:

"BIRCH CHARTER GIVEN; TO OPEN OFFICE HERE

"The John Birch Society Friday held a Texas charter as a non-profit corporation, and will open state headquarters in Austin.

"Secretary of State Crawford Martin announced approval of the charter on application of Charles O. Mann of Odessa, who filed the statutory trust deposit of $50 as registered agent of the new corporation.

"The corporate purpose was stated 'to promote civil interest in national and international affairs by an educational program.'

"National headquarters of the John Birch Society are located in Belmont, Mass., home of its president and founder, the candy manufacturer Robert Welch.

"Membership activities of the society among Texans so far apparently have been carried on by representatives of the national headquarters. There was no indication in the filing of the charter papers of the extent of recruitment plans the Texas unit of the national body may undertake."

The following appeared in the "Austin American Statesman", Austin, Texas, on March 28, 1964:

"BIRCH SOCIETY IS CHARTERED

"For what it's worth, the report comes in that the John Birch Society is now an officially chartered Texas non-profit educational corporation.

"A charter was granted by the state. The new corporation will set up shop in Houston to carry on its declared purpose of 'promoting civil interest in national and international affairs by an educational program.'"

SUBJECT The Congressional Record

Pages A1782-A1784. Congressman Harding, (D) Idaho, extended his remarks concerning John Birch Society activities in Idaho. He included two editorials from the Idaho Evening Statesman and several "Letters to the Editor" with his remarks. Mr. Harding pointed out that "my attempts to warn Idahoans of this extremist group had been ridiculed by the editorial and political writers of Idaho's largest paper until Wednesday, April 1." The April 1st editorial "The Extremists Speak" reversed an earlier editorial and came out in opposition to the John Birch Society. This editorial stated "The avowed purpose of any group to fight communism within the United States is laudable, but only when the fight waged is honest and judiciously waged. The Federal Bureau of Investigation is the responsible, trained agency in this country to so wage the fight--not the John Birch Society - - -." In a letter to the editor from Mary Jane Root, reference is made to the April 1st editorial. Miss Root comments on remarks of former Congressman Rousselot on the civil rights bill. She states "Talks which I have heard by refugees from enslaved countries, as well as talks given by ex-FBI agents on the same subject, corroborate what Mr. Rousselot said about the civil right's bill's being used as a tool by the Communist conspiracy to divide and conquer us. You referred to the FBI yourself as an authority, and Mr. Rousselot quoted J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, in the documentation which he gave."

Page 8207. Senator Church, (D) Idaho, spoke concerning the activities of the John Birch Society in Boise, Idaho. He stated "A chief spokesman of the Birch Society recently invaded the valley to spread their customary smear regarding the pending civil rights measure. The Idaho Daily Statesman rose to the occasion: In an editorial sparkling with the independence of the Western spirit, it debunked the fear-mongering, malignant methods of the society and its leaders." Mr. Church included the newspaper editorial with his remarks. The editorial, in commenting on the war against communism, stated "The Federal Bureau of Investigation is the responsible, trained agency in this country to so wage the fight--not the John Birch Society, which sees a Communist under 'every bed' of political activity in our realm, which splits religious groups, which divides good citizens--those who agree with Birchism and those who do not, with the latter tabbed as 'pinko' or 'red.'"

She further requested a list of extreme right-wing groups. The Chicago Division advised that one [redacted] resides at [redacted] and has a second listing reflecting he is an attorney with offices at [redacted] Chicago indices reflect [redacted] appeared at the Chicago Office on 2-26-63 and stated he had become extremely interested in communist activities and has read many books on the subject including those written by the Director. He stated he felt as an American citizen he would like to help fight communism and his purpose in going to the Chicago Office was to offer his services.

[redacted] advised he was primarily concerned with the large number of groups and organizations which he described as having communistic tendencies in the North Shore area near Chicago. He identified one of these groups as the Human Relations Committee in Glenview. He stated that the Committee had caused a controversy by claiming a real estate "conspiracy" was discriminating against "Jews" buying homes in Glenview. It was his opinion that this Committee might have a subversive element in its membership based on the above.

On reinterview [redacted] reiterated the above claim and expressed a view that organizations like the John Birch Society were doing a good job. He stated he felt that although he was sympathetic he could not join such organizations without endangering his family and future. It is the opinion of the interviewing Agents that [redacted] had strong leanings toward the John Birch Society.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The Congressional Record for Thursday, April 16, 1964, has been reviewed and the following items contained therein have been noted for your attention.

HOUSE

Page 7389. Congressman Waggonner, (D) Louisiana, spoke concerning an article written by Joseph Alsop entitled "An Unhappy Secret" which appeared in the Washington Post on April 15, 1964. Mr. Waggonner stated "In it, he finally admits what many of us have been saying for months and years: that Communists have infiltrated the so-called civil rights movement. He hastens to say that anyone who said so prior to yesterday's Post is a racist, but from yesterday on, it is okay to admit that Communists are in control because he, Alsop, now admits that they are." The text of the article was set forth in the Record.

Adjournment: Until Monday, April 20, 1964, at 12 noon.

SENATE

Pages 7898 - 7899. Senator Kuchel, (R) California, spoke concerning the John Birch Society. He included an article from the Washington Daily News of April 15, 1964, entitled "Birch Bark" written by George Clifford and Tom Kelly, and an editorial from the March 2, 1964, issue of the Fargo (North Dakota) Forum captioned "Birchists Crawl Into Holes; Let's Hope They Stay There." Mr. Kuchel pointed out that this article and editorial "show how low, how vile, how cruel, and how false these extremists are."

The Senate continued debate on H. R. 7152, the proposed Civil Rights Act. Pages 7963 - 7968 contain the remarks of Senator Smathers, (D) Florida.

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
INFORMATION CONCERNING
(INTERNAL SECURITY)

By letter dated 4/10/64 [redacted] "The Sacramento Union," 1910 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento, California, expressed alarm about the progress of the John Birch Society (JBS) in influencing citizens under the possible guise of a conservative movement. [redacted] believes the time has come when the Bureau might have a basis broad enough to investigate this "dangerous plot." He offered to furnish the Bureau data in his possession. He noted that if this matter is outside the Bureau's jurisdiction, he understands our position. [redacted] is on the Special Correspondents' List and has been a strong supporter of the Bureau.

[redacted] was advised a representative from our San Francisco Office would contact him and San Francisco was instructed to immediately contact him for any information he desired to volunteer and to take care not to indicate the FBI is investigating the JBS. [redacted] was interviewed and repeated substantially the same information as set out in his letter 4/10/64; alleged JBS while claiming to be conservative is actually designed to effect a radical change in our philosophy in Government; and stated the JBS operates as an autocratic group with leaders chosen from the top and those who don't agree with its leader, Robert Welch, are forced out of the Society. He discussed various activities of the Society in attempting to show that the organization and its activities should be investigated.

[redacted] expressed the hope the activities of JBS could be completely investigated by the FBI. [redacted] was advised the FBI is strictly an investigative agency, its not an FBI function to evaluate information regarding organizations and such information is furnished to the Department of Justice for consideration.

REC 19

We have never investigated JBS but any information received deemed to be pertinent or of interest to the Department has been disseminated to the Department. In the past, the Department has advised that in the absence of information indicating the activities of JBS are in violation of any Federal statutes over which the Bureau has investigative jurisdiction an investigation of JBS was not desired.

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

[redacted] The Sacramento Union (daily newspaper in Sacramento), 1910 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento, desired to furnish the following information and observations as possibly being indicative of the danger to our present form of government from the John Birch Society.

[redacted] stated that this society is capable of misleading decent conservative Americans into believing that it is conservative, whereas this society is actually designed to effect a radical change in our philosophy in government. [redacted] noted that the Birch Society operates as an autocratic group with leaders and policies selected and promulgated from the top and without regard for the wishes of the membership. Texas Members are allegedly not allowed to repudiate statements expressed by ROBERT WELCH and if they do not indicate full accord with his pronouncements they are forced out of the society. Calif. [redacted] claims that [redacted] a representative of the John Birch Society, admitted in Sacramento that this was the case.

[redacted] in a talk in Sacramento, also said that disarmament was a "KENNEDY plot" and that in keeping with a "3 step KRUSCHEV plan" at the time the third step was reached in disarmament, the United Nations would have control of the only armed forces in the world. [redacted] continued by alleging that the United Nations was definitely a captive of the Communists.

[redacted] reported that the Anti-Defamation League had reportedly quoted ROBERT WELCH as stating that the John Birch Society is currently operating on a budget of $2,000,000 per year and has doubled its number of full time paid organizers. [redacted] noted that this alleged budget figure probably did not include the sponsors of such radio and television programs as that run by DAN SMOOT and others of this type.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

[redacted] said that he had information from a source that he did not wish to identify, to the effect that an acquaintance of ROBERT WELCH, DAN SMOOT, and [redacted] had claimed that he had, approximately three years ago, attended a conference at SMOOT'S place in Texas when WELCH, [redacted] and [redacted] were also in attendance. The main topic for this conference was alleged to be a discussion of whether the John Birch Society would continue its activities as a third party or if they should select a new course within the framework of the Republican Party. It was allegedly decided that they should devote all of their efforts toward capture of the Republican Party. This same source further said that Birch sympathizers were instructed to vote for BROWN for Governor of California, to prevent a Republican moderate such as NIXON from getting this post.

[redacted] noted that the Birch Society "plays the Communist game either intentionally or otherwise" by sowing distrust of national leaders with its ridiculous claims that many of them are pro-Communist.

[redacted] speculated upon the possibility that the Birch Society could even be a "Communist front," and he noted the similarity of organization with cells or groups not knowing the identity of members in other cells, with leaders chosen from above and not by the membership, with policy set by the leadership and no chance of choice or opposition by the membership, with disbursement of funds also determined by the leadership. [redacted] noted that the above similarities are in addition to the undermining of faith in our democratic processes, our foreign relations, and our handling of domestic problems.

[redacted] stated that he was particularly disturbed to note the influence wielded by the John Birch Society as disclosed by an experience reported in the Ladies Home Journal of April, 1964. This magazine ran a story in a prior issue. WELCH in his Birch Society Bulletin allegedly was highly critical of the story. Thereafter, the Ladies Home Journal reported that it received a flood of letters which were analyzed in an article in the April issue. This analysis noted that many of the letter writers admitted that they had not even read the story in the prior issue, however, they frequently used quotations from WELCH'S criticism of the story and were almost all highly critical of the magazine for running the story. [redacted] expressed the opinion that it is time to be concerned about the power of a group, such as the Birch Society, when it can arouse such a volume of pressure mail to a publication over such an insignificant matter as this. He felt that it was safe to assume that the pressure that would be exerted in a more important set of circumstances would be much greater.

b6
b7C

[redacted] said he was submitting the above data and observations with the hope that the activities of the John Birch Society could be completely investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a threat to overthrow our present form of government.

John Birch Society

On May 16, 1964, Detective [redacted] Bureau of Special Services (BSS), New York City Police Department (NYCPD), advised that on that date, approximately one hundred individuals, identified by representatives of BSS to be members of the John Birch Society, picketed the NYCPD headquarters, 240 Centre Street, Manhattan, New York. The demonstration lasted for one hour, beginning at 3:30 PM and terminating at 4:30 PM. Detective [redacted] advised that no reason is yet known why picketing took place but from signs and placards carried by pickets, it appeared that members of Society were pro-Police Department. One sign stated "men in blue are fine" and none of other signs were critical of Police Department.

The pickets peacefully dispersed with no incidents or arrests.

Re SAC lets 59-13(F) and 60-5(C), and mylet, 8/31/62.

The aforementioned SAC lets instructed that the Bureau be advised of the formation of a branch of the John Birch Society in a field division and instructed that no active investigation of this group be conducted:

On 4/29/64, [redacted] (protect with T symbol), an employee of [redacted] residence telephone [redacted] business telephone [redacted] called at the Buffalo Office and was interviewed by SA BIRL WILSON. b6 b7C b7D

[redacted] He advised that during the lunch hour he was in the vicinity of the U.S. Court House during the picket demonstrations against the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA) being carried on by various groups. [redacted] Buffalo, New York, approached him, criticized the demonstrators, and said, "This is why I joined the John Birch Society." [redacted] then gave [redacted] some literature to read and asked him if he would like to attend a meeting of the John Birch Society "to see what it is all about." [redacted] indicated mild interest whereupon [redacted] said he would call [redacted] the next time a meeting was scheduled. [redacted] said that 15 people in the organization meet once a month at different homes.

[redacted] said that [redacted] the Buffalo Bills Booster Club and that [redacted] is a member of the Club. [redacted] mentioned that he felt [redacted] could bring in a lot of other people into the John Birch Society who are affiliated with the Booster Club.

[redacted] advised that out of curiosity he was planning to attend a meeting of the John Birch Society if invited to do so and would report results to the Buffalo Office. [redacted] expressed himself as being a very patriotic person, but stated he is opposed to ultra-right organizations such as the John Birch Society as much as he is opposed to Communism and other isms.

Buffalo files reveal that one [redacted] signed a nominating petition of the Independent-Socialist Party in 1958. It is not known if he is identical with the [redacted] mentioned above.

According to Buffalo files, [redacted] reportedly was a member of the John Birch Society in 1962.

On 5/19/64, Mr. [redacted] telephonically advised SA [redacted] that on that date he was telephonically contacted by [redacted] who invited Mr. [redacted] to attend a meeting of the John Birch Society [redacted] at 8:00 p.m. in a [redacted] New York, at which meeting a filmed speech by ROBERT WELCH, head of the John Birch Society was to be shown. Also to appear on the program were [redacted] each of whom according to [redacted] of the John Birch Society. [redacted] said that he was planning to attend the meeting and would furnish any pertinent information obtained to the Buffalo Office.

On 6/2/64, Mr. [redacted] advised SA WILSON that he attended the aforementioned meeting which started at 8:45 p.m. and terminated at 11:30 p.m.. Following the meeting several of those in attendance had refreshments at [redacted] New York, [redacted] The scheduled filmed talk of ROBERT WELCH was not given. Two 15-minute filmed talks by DAN SMOOT were shown. [redacted] the movie projector. The talks by SMOOT were a condensation of "The Dan Smoot Report" and during his talk SMOOT read frequently from the report. He spoke of the Yalta doublecross and the U.S. Department of State policy with regard to Viet Nam.

Following the films there was a question and answer period, most of the questions being asked by [redacted] learned that [redacted] of the John Birch Society and travels about Western New York in a Volkswagon automobile giving talks and selling John Birch Society literature and records from a mobile library. [redacted] said that the John Birch Society wants only eight or ten persons in the club as a security measure to prevent infiltration. He mentioned that the Society has many groups located throughout the U.S. Membership dues are $24.00 per year and life memberships are also available. Funds for this organization are raised by the sale of literature and donations. It was mentioned that [redacted] following the meeting mentioned to [redacted] In view of this [redacted] place of the John Birch Society group. [redacted] that the next meeting would be held [redacted] but did not mention the meeting place. He also mentioned that 40 persons attended the last meeting. However, [redacted] believes this is probably an exaggeration in view of the fact that attendance at the above meeting was small.

Following the discussion, [redacted] made available John Birch Society literature for sale. Mr. [redacted] purchased a paperback book captioned "None Dare Call it Treason" for 75 cents. [redacted] gave him a copy of the John Birch Society Blue Book. Mrs. [redacted] furnished him several past issues of the Dan Smoot Report and other literature.

Facts of complaint

Mrs. [redacted] described [redacted] at Harlingen for the Caller-Times of Corpus Christi. She said that she had heard hay reports of Anti-Semitic literature being put out in the Rio Grande Valley. She stated that some lecturer, who had been in a Russian concentration camp had been introduced into one of the Valley schools; and she said she understood that this lecturer had been brought into the Valley by a John Birch or other "study group".

Mrs. [redacted] was thanked for her call and was courteously advised that the FBI can furnish no information to the public. She was asked, if she found in her general newspaper inquiries, anything which she felt should be known to the Government, she would call the FBI and make it available. She said she would.

[redacted] gave the impression that she did not know what she was talking about; and was [illegible] fishing expedition.

On October 20, 1963, a meeting of the Young Democrats of Bexar County was held at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio, Texas. The purpose of this meeting was to hear a man named BOB MOORE speak concerning the John Birch Society and also to listen to another speaker give opposing views. There were about seven members of the Young Democrat group present and about 70 other individuals who appeared to be favorable to MOORE's side of the argument.

(U) MOORE said that he was President of the John Birch Society in San Antonio and that he was a retired sergeant from some military branch of the service. His topic was "Is the John Birch Society a Threat or a Help to America," and he talked against communism.

MOORE made the statement that General HESTER, connected with the Defense Department, was a communist. He also said that PIERRE SALINGER's parents were card-carrying Communist Party members. Throughout his talk he called U. S. Attorney General ROBERT KENNEDY by the name of BOOBY KENNEDY and said that the Attorney General was pro-communist and would never bring a communist to trial. MOORE also stated that the Communist Party drafted, supported, and got Senator JAVITTS from New York elected. During his talk MOORE implied that if a person is not for everything the John Birch Society stands for, he is a communist.

TRENT CHEYNEY, a member of the Young Democrat group, was the speaker for the other side of the question. He talked on his ideas of the misconception of the John Birch Society theories, pointing out that group does not believe in a democratic form of government. During MOORE's talk he mentioned there were thousands of communists in the United States. To refute MOORE, CHEYNEY referred to FBI Director J. EDGAR HOOVER's book entitled Masters of Deceit regarding the number of communists in the United States which stated there were many less than the amount MOORE had contended. CHEYNEY said he had great respect for Director HOOVER and believed he knew more about this matter than MOORE did.

Later during the discussion a spectator referred to CHEYNEY as a communist and CHEYNEY emphatically denied that he was one.

During the discussion MOORE said that the Attorney General should see [illegible] all 10,000 communists in the United States and s[illegible]em without trial because they stand for som[illegible] repugn[illegible] to him as a member of the John Birch [illegible]ty.

U. S. Representative from Texas, HENRY B. GONZALES, was present briefly at the first part of this meeting but left before MOORE got into his talk very far.

On 1/27/64 Mr. [redacted] advised that approximately one to two weeks ago, a group of persons, approximately 75, met at the American Legion Hut, San Antonio Highway, Kerrville, to see three films on the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY and to listen to a lecture by its organizer, FNU WELCH. He stated that he attended this meeting and from the lecture and questions discussed from the floor, it appears to him that such a group will prbably be organized in Kerrville.

He said the speaker (probably WELCH) stated that a group now exists at Fredericksburg, Texas, and if it is decided to organize a group in Kerrville, that the leader of the Fredericksburg group will contact those interested and assist in the organization of the Kerrville group. Mr. [redacted] said he did not know the name of the leader at Fredericksburg.

He said he did not know the name of the party that initiated or headed the group that met at the American Legion Hut, but believed it was a woman who works at the Piggly Wiggly Store in Kerrville - possibly a checker or cashier. He said he also felt that probably [redacted] Attorney, Kerrville, Texas (residence [redacted] office, [redacted] would be behind the meeting, since he is well-known as a "fighter against Communism". He said however that [redacted] was not present at the meeting, because of poor health.

He said he probably would be notified if such a group is organized in Kerrville.

In responding to the Commission's requests for copies of reports pertaining to the organizations or individuals concerned, each office should check its indices and files and furnish the Bureau a complete listing of all communications that have been forwarded to the Bureau for the period involved in order that such communications can be located in Bureau files. In addition, each office should forward to the Bureau copies of all communications in its files that are responsive to the instant request of the Commission but which are not currently in the Bureau's possession. These will include inter-office communications, memoranda to the SAC of each office, and correspondence from other agencies and the public.

This matter must be given the immediate attention of each office and data responsive to the Commission's request should reach the Bureau no later than 6-1-64 and earlier if possible.

NOTE:

The Commission by letter 5-20-64 has requested it be furnished reports and summaries of data in possession of the 4 Texas offices. These requests largely pertain to Fair Play for Cuba Committee as well as anti-Castro organizations. Commission is also interested in obtaining data re members active in the Communist Party & Socialist Workers Party in Dallas and Fort Worth along with information regarding individuals active in the John Birch Society or Minutemen in the State of Texas. Inasmuch as some of the data requested may not have been furnished to the Bureau, desirable each of the offices concerned furnish Bureau a complete accounting of all data in files of each responsive to these requests.

[redacted] is staunch supporter of the FBI at the University of Colorado. He has defended the Bureau consistently when critical professors and students at the University have delivered attacks against us. He is a contact of the Denver Office at the University.

[redacted] was in town and came to see me Wednesday. I took him to luncheon and arranged a tour of the FBI. During the course of this tour, he commented most favorably on the work of the Director and the FBI. It is evident he is a very sincere supporter of our efforts.

[redacted] gave a lecture at the "Washington School of Anti-communism," held at the International Inn, while he was in the city. This school is connected with the Dr. Fred C. Schwartz movement. However, [redacted] is not in any way a political extremist. While he is definitely a conservative, he is a scholarly one and should not be identified with extremism. As a matter of fact, he was critical of such activities to me during our luncheon conversation.

[redacted] did have some interesting comments to make to me about Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch movement. He told me he knew Mr. Welch when he was at Harvard University and has talked to him on different occasions in some detail. He said Welch was very embittered at the death of Joseph McCarthy and blamed ex-President Eisenhower and his policy for this. Further, Welch told [redacted] he intended to start a movement which would result in his being elected to the U. S. Senate, where he would carry on the work of Joseph McCarthy. Following this, he would expand his activities and launch a campaign for the Presidency of the U. S. Welch said to [redacted] he believed the only way communism could be stopped in this country was for himself or somebody like him to be elected President of this country, and he thought he had a good chance to be elected following a Senatorial career. [redacted] pointed out Welch was dreaming very badly on this matter and, of course, he never did get started in this direction, meeting one rebuff after another.

He further said he will reply to this [redacted] Press Attache, who says he will be going to Colorado this summer, and will arrange to meet him and draw him out to see what it is he desires of [redacted] will then promptly advise the Bureau of what transpires.

[redacted] also asked me to extend his personal best wishes to the Director. He said he has always greatly admired Mr. Hoover and some day he hopes he will have a chance to at least shake hands with him and tell him so personally. I might add that if [redacted] had not been lecturing at the Schwartz-connected school of anticommunism, I would have sent through a memorandum suggesting the Director give consideration to shaking hands with him while he was in the city. However, because of this connection, I thought it would be well to pass over this matter at this time.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 87th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Beliefs and Principles of the John Birch Society

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

OF

HON. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 12, 1962

Mr. ROUSSELOT. Mr. Speaker, many of my colleagues have questioned me concerning the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society. For their benefit, under unanimous consent I insert those beliefs and principles in the Appendix of the RECORD.

GENERAL BELIEFS AND PRINCIPLES OF THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

I

With very few exceptions the members of the John Birch Society are deeply religious people. A member's particular faith is entirely his own affair. Our hope is to make better Catholics, better Protestants, better Jews—or better Moslems—out of those who belong to the society. Our never-ending concern is with morality, integrity, and purpose. Regardless of the differences between us in creed and dogma, we all believe that man is endowed by a Divine Creator with an innate desire and conscious purpose to improve both his world and himself. We believe that the direction which constitutes improvement is clearly visible and identifiable throughout man's known history, and that this God-given upward reach in the heart of man is a composite conscience to which we all must listen.

II

We believe that the Communists seek to drive their slaves and themselves along exactly the opposite and downward direction, to the Satanic debasement of both man and his universe. We believe that communism is as utterly incompatible with all religion as it is contemptuous of all morality and destructive of all freedom. It is intrinsically evil. It must be opposed, therefore, with equal firmness, on religious grounds, moral grounds, and political grounds. We believe that the continued coexistence of communism and a Christian-style civilization on one planet is impossible. The struggle between them must end with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed. We intend to do our part, therefore, to halt, weaken, rout, and eventually to bury, the whole international Communist conspiracy.

III

We believe that means are as important as ends in any civilized society. Of all the falsehoods that have been so widely and deliberately circulated about us, none is so viciously untrue as the charge that we are willing to condone foul means for the sake of achieving praiseworthy ends. We think that communism as a way of life, for instance, is completely wrong; but our ultimate quarrel with the Communists is that they insist on imposing that way of life on the rest of us by murder, treason, and cruelty rather than by persuasion. Even if our own use of force ever becomes necessary and morally acceptable because it is in self-defense, we must never lose sight of the legal, traditional, and humanitarian considerations of a compassionate civilization. The Communists recognize no such compulsions, but this very ingredient of amoral brutishness will help to destroy them in the end.

IV

We believe in patriotism. Most of us will gladly concede that a parliament of nations, designed for the purpose of increasing the freedom and ease with which individuals, ideals, and goods might cross national boundaries, would be desirable. And we hope that in some future decade we may help to bring about such a step of progress in man's pursuit of peace, prosperity, and happiness. But we feel that the present United Nations was designed by its founders for the exactly opposite purpose of increasing the rigidity of Government controls over the lives and affairs of individual men. We believe it has become, as it was intended to become, a major instrumentality for the establishment of a one-world Communist tyranny over the population of the whole earth. One of our most immediate objectives, therefore, is to get the United States out of the United Nations, and the United Nations out of the United States. We seek thus to save our own country from the gradual and piecemeal surrender of its sovereignty to this Communist-controlled supergovernment, and to stop giving our support to the steady enslavement of other people through the machinations of this Communist agency.

V

We believe that a constitutional Republic, such as our Founding Fathers gave us, is probably the best of all forms of government. We believe that a democracy, which they tried hard to obviate, and into which the liberals have been trying for 50 years to convert our Republic, is one of the worst of all forms of government. We call attention to the fact that up to 1928 the U.S. Army Training Manual still gave our men in uniform the following quite accurate definition, which would have been thoroughly approved by the Constitutional Convention that established our Republic. "Democracy: A Government of the masses. Authority derived through mass meeting or any form of direct expression results in mobocracy. Attitude toward property is communistic—negating property rights. Attitude towards law is that the will of the majority shall regulate, whether it be based upon deliberation or governed by passion, prejudice, and impulse, without restraint or regard to consequences. Results in demagogism, license, agitation, discontent, anarchy." It is because all history proves this to be true that we repeat so emphatically: 'This is a Republic, not a democracy; let's keep it that way."

VI

We are opposed to collectivism as a political and economic system, even when it does not have the police-state features of communism. We are opposed to it no matter whether the collectivism be called socialism or the welfare state or the New Deal or the Fair Deal or the New Frontier, or advanced under some other semantic disguise. And we are opposed to it no matter what may be the framework or form of government under which collectivism is imposed. We believe that increasing the size of government, increasing the centralization of government, and increasing the functions of government all act as brakes on material progress and as destroyers of personal freedom.

VII

We believe that even where the size and functions of government are properly limited, as much of the power and duties of government as possible should be retained in the hands of as small governmental units as possible, as close to the people served by such units as possible. For the tendencies of any governing body to waste, expansion, and despotism all increase with the distance of that body from the people governed; the more closely any governing body can be kept under observation by those who pay its bills and provide its delegated authority, the more honestly responsible it will be. And the diffusion of governmental power and functions is one of the greatest safeguards against tyranny man has yet devised. For this reason it is extremely important in our case to keep our township, city, County and State governments from being bribed and coerced into coming under one direct chain of control from Washington.

VIII

We believe that for any people eternal vigilance is the price of liberty far more as against the insidious encroachment of internal tyranny than against the danger of subjugation from the outside or from the prospect of any sharp and decisive revolution. In a republic we must constantly seek to elect and to keep in power a government we can trust, manned by people we can trust, maintaining a currency we can trust, and working for purposes we can trust (none of which we have today). We think it is even more important for the government to obey the laws than for the people to do so. But for 30 years we have had a steady stream of governments which increasingly have regarded our laws and even our Constitution as mere pieces of paper, which should not be allowed to stand in the way of what they, in their omniscient benevolence, considered to be "for the greatest good of the greatest number." (Or in their power-seeking plans pretended so to believe.) We want a restoration of a "government of laws, and not of men" in this country; and if a few impeachments are necessary to bring that about, then we are all for the impeachments.

IX

We believe that in a general way history repeats itself. For any combination of causes, similar to an earlier combination of causes, will lead as a rule to a combination of results somewhat similar to the one produced before. And history is simply a series of causes which produced results, and so on around cycles as clearly discernible as any of the dozens that take place elsewhere in the physical and biological sciences. But we believe that the most important history consists not of the repetitions but of the changes in these recurring links in the series. For the changes mark the extent to which man has either been able to improve himself and his environment, or has allowed both to deteriorate, since the last time around. We think that this true history is largely determined by ambitious individuals (both good and evil) and by small minorities who really know what they want. And in the John Birch Society our sense of gratitude and responsibility (to God and to the noble men of the past), for what we have inherited makes us determined to exert our influence, labor, and sacrifice for changes which we think will constitute improvement.

X

In summary, we are striving, by all honorable means at our disposal and to the limits of our energies and abilities, to bring about less government, more responsibility, and a better world. Because the Communists seek, always and everywhere, to bring about more government, less individual responsibility, and a completely amoral world, we would have to oppose them at every turn, even on the philosophical level. Because they are seeking through a gigantically organized conspiracy to destroy all opposition, we must fight them even more aggressively on the plane of action. But our struggle with the Communists, while the most urgent and important task before us today, is basically only incidental to our more important long-range and constructive purposes. For that very reason we are likely to be more effective against the Communists than if we were merely an ad hoc group seeking to expose and destroy so huge and powerful a gang of criminals. In organization, dedication, and purpose we offer a new form of opposition to the Communists which they have not faced in any other country. We have tried to raise a standard to which the wise and the honest can repair. We welcome all honorable allies in this present unceasing war. And we hope that once they and we and millions like us have won a decisive victory at last, many of these same allies will join us in our long look toward the future.

John Birch Society Investigated

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

OF

HON. JOHN H. ROUSSELOT

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 14, 1962

Mr. ROUSSELOT. Mr. Speaker, the Efficiency Research Bureau, a private investigating firm, has completed a thorough investigation of the John Birch Society in Orange County, Calif. Findings of the Bureau are reported in the March 1962, issue of the Santa Ana Register, a newspaper published in Orange County. I believe the findings will be of interest to my colleagues. Under unanimous consent I place the report which appeared in the Register in the Appendix of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The report follows:

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY INVESTIGATED

A private investigating firm, Efficiency Research Bureau, 800 South Harbor Boulevard, Anaheim, conducted a thorough investigation of the John Birch Society in Orange County, Calif. Efficiency Research Bureau was hired by the president of a local manufacturing firm to make an impartial study. A five-man team of investigators, including a Negro clergyman, sat in on numerous Birch meetings and accumulated a wealth of data on the organization and its operation. The following are the 14 conclusions to which the investigating team came, based upon their extensive research:

1. Many of the allegations and rumors against the John Birch Society could not be supported by fact.

2. The John Birch Society is an anti-Communist movement open to anyone interested in joining or attending meetings.

3. It's not a secret organization, but rather groups meeting for discussion of views and ways in which to fight the international Communist conspiracy.

4. The majority of John Birch Society members don't support or agree with many of the statements of Robert Welch, the society's founder; they seldom disagree with him on policy.

5. Each chapter is independent and each member cooperates with chapter, State and national views according to the dictates of his own conscience.

6. Efficiency Research Bureau investigators attending these meetings have found groups as small as 15 and as large as 59 at a single meeting. About 15 seemed to be preferred.

7 All indications show that the John Birch Society anti-Communist movement is growing continuously and steadily.

8. Utilizing both white and colored investigators, it was learned the John Birch Society isn't anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, or anti any religious group. That they, in fact, have chapters comprised entirely of colored membership. Also, it was found John Birch Society has Jewish members on the national advisory council.

9. Investigators found no evidence of violence or unlawful activity engaged in by the John Birch Society.

10. Investigators did learn that there were individuals who carried personal prejudices with them into the organization. It was learned John Birch Society works to isolate persons with such prejudice. If a whole chapter is found to share certain prejudices the area coordinators try to disseminate such groups.

11. Investigators learned there is a John Birch Society major coordinator for Orange, Los Angeles, and San Bernardino Counties and he has two coordinators directly under him.

12. Investigators expected to find a dictatorship and didn't find it.

13. The society as a whole works very hard to make sure that John Birch Society isn't used as a vehicle to promote prejudices.

14. Investigative work included checking out documented information by factfinding groups which is used as a basis for some John Birch Society work.

The letterhead memorandum enclosed herewith containing a summary of activities of JURE, DRE, Alpha 66, 30th of November Movement and FPCC is classified "Secret" as the letterhead memorandum contains information from CIA, Miami, Florida, (T-3 in letterhead memorandum) received in CIA memo as noted herein, which memo was marked ~~"Secret"~~.

(C) Three copies of a listing of material for the year 1963 pertaining to persons believed active in the Communist Party.

(D) Three copies of a listing of material for the year 1963 pertaining to persons believed active in the SWP.

The search of Dallas files and indices revealed no investigations conducted of persons residing in the Dallas Division believed active in the SWP, and nothing was located to indicate the SWP has any members or was organizationally active in the Division during 1963.

A review of the indices and files of the Dallas Office revealed no investigations conducted by Dallas in 1963 arising out of activities of the John Birch Society and there would thus appear to be no information available responsive to the request of the Commission in this regard. Similarly, the review revealed no investigations in 1963 relating to members of this organization engaged in "subversive" activities.

The review of Dallas indices and files with respect to the Minute Men revealed no investigations in the Dallas Division during 1963 arising out of the activities of this organization, or investigations relating to members of this organization engaged in "subversive" activities; however, the Bureau may wish to refer to and consider the following, all in Dallas file 105-1280, and Bureau file 62-107261:

Philadelphia letter to Bureau captioned "Minutemen, Civilian Guerilla Corps, Information Concerning (Internal Security)," dated ~~11/8/63.~~ 1/18/63.

Bureau letter to Philadelphia captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning (Internal Security)," dated 1/31/63.

Denver letter to Bureau dated 2/5/63, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning."

Oklahoma City letter to Bureau dated 7/5/63, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning," with enclosed letterhead memorandum.

Oklahoma City letter to Bureau dated 8/8/63, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning," dated 8/8/63.

Dallas letter to Bureau dated 9/18/63, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning."

Dallas letter to Bureau dated 2/14/64, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning."

Dallas report dated 5/13/64, captioned "Minutemen, Information Concerning (Internal Security)."

No mention is made in the enclosed listings of the following cases, initiated in 1963, since the Commission presumably already had the results of the investigations, and, further, these investigations were not conducted on the basis of a belief the subjects were active in any of the groups or organizations mentioned by the Commission and thus would not logically be responsive to its requests:

Not included in the enclosed listings are the letterhead memoranda prepared for Secret Service under the program initiated by the Bureau following the assassination of President KENNEDY under the caption "Travel of the President in the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico" (TROPUS) since all of these have been sent to the Bureau under the TROPUS caption.

The Bureau's attention is called to the fact the enclosed listings contain no information relating to informants of the Dallas Division, and they are sometimes mentioned by name in reports as being in contact with certain communist figures, or as being at some meeting. No investigative reports have, of course, been prepared on these informants. They are:

In late [redacted] an individual whom the above source considers reliable and who the above source stated is [redacted] furnish reliable and factual information concerning political matters in British Guiana informed the source that Premier CHEDDI JAGAN of the governing People's Progressive Party (PPP) in British Guiana, has sources in the United States Department of State, Washington, D.C., and through these State Department sources is immediately informed of any developments in the State Department relative to British Guiana. b6 b7C b7D

This individual in late [redacted] informed the above source that there was at that time in British Guiana three men who were there to assassinate JAGAN. According to the above source this individual's exact words were "the man sent by CIA to Vietnam to assassinate DIEM is now in British Guiana to assassinate JAGAN". This individual said the other two men were sent to British Guiana by the John Birch Society, and that the "CIA man" was operating alone and independent of them. According to this individual the "CIA man" and the two John Birch Society men were then staying at the Hotel Tower, Georgetown, British Guiana.

The individual told the above source that these three men were white Americans and that before they actually left Washington, D.C. for British Guiana, JAGAN through his State Department sources was informed of their coming to British Guiana to assassinate JAGAN. The individual did not furnish any information as to when the above three men left Washington, D.C. for British Guiana. This individual further informed the above source that JAGAN is heavily protected and that as soon as any of these three individuals, who are under constant surveillance, make a move to assassinate JAGAN, they will be seized and immediately thrown out of British Guiana.

According to the above source, this individual added that JAGAN would not have learned of the above assassination plot from his State Department sources if the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) had not informed the State Department of this operation. This individual commented that if CIA had not notified the State Department of this development that there would not have been a leak.

On 9/12/57, Walter Wuerdeman, [redacted] Williamson Heater Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, furnished the following information regarding the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists (NTS) (105-10164).

b6
b7C

Wuerdeman wrote to Robert H.W. Welch of Cambridge, Mass., who was engaged in fighting communism, requesting information concerning the NTS. Welch answered that to the best of his knowledge, NTS was originally bona fide but had been infiltrated by international communists. He attributed his comments to certain publications of P.J. Huxley-Blythe, editor of "World Survey" a journal of intelligence service emanating from Lancashire, England. Welch stated that he had written to Blythe relative to Wuerdeman's inquiry. On [redacted] the Multi-Colortype Company, Cincinnati, and [redacted] the son of an old friend of [redacted] went to see Wuerdeman and informed him that Welch would be in Cincinnati for a dinner on that day and requested Wuerdeman to attend. A small selected group attended this dinner and Welch spoke on the communist issue. Subsequently on [redacted] had a private interview with Welch at his hotel room concerning the NTS and it was Welch's opinion at that time that he considered the NTS at best an opportionist organization.

John A. Despol, Administrator of Local 2058, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO (100-62018), prepared for distribution to the membership of Local 2058 a leaflet, primarily for the information of the members who were absent from the union membership meeting held on 1/24/62. In this bulletin Despol stated that it was important for those who were absent to be aware of the main issues discussed at this meeting. One of the issues discussed was Despol's invitation to Robert Welch, head of the JBS, to contribute to a special Defense of Freedom Fund of Local 2058. Despol stated that Welch claimed to be fighting communism and he was alleged to have been collecting money through the instrumentality of the JBS to oppose the CP. Despol stated that inasmuch as the local union had been placed in financial distress, it did not seem unreasonable to request financial aid from Welch. (Copy of leaflet furnished by Thomas E. (Ted) Nelson, 1439 Orange Ave., La Puente, Calif.)

News items from the "Los Angeles Times," 2/15/62 and 3/3/62; the Huntington Park "Daily Signal," 3/3/62 and "The Militant," 3/5/62, particularly commented concerning the invitation extended to Robert Welch to contribute to the aforementioned fund.

SUBJECT: ROBERT WELCH
APPEARANCE ON "MEET THE PRESS"
WRC-TV
9-6-64, 6 p. m.

Captioned individual, who is President and founder of the John Birch Society, appeared on "Meet the Press" and was questioned concerning his allegations that former President Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles and others were "communist agents." Although Welch refused to modify these statements, he said that they had been taken out of context and it would be necessary for him to take several minutes to fully explain the background behind his allegations. Welch said he would not comment regarding President Johnson or Senator Goldwater because his Society had never taken a position in a political campaign. He said he felt the success of the John Birch Society was assured because he and his associates had already succeeded in convincing thousands of people that the United States was a "republic" and not a "democracy."

REFERENCE TO THE DIRECTOR:

Welch said that 98 percent of all Government employees were loyal American citizens. Very few are disloyal, he said, but we must remember that the actual number of these disloyal citizens is not important. He said that "What is important is where they are placed. J. Edgar Hoover himself has said this many times."

He said this is a three hour film which previously has been endorsed by various outstanding people, both lay and clergy, and he desired to have an endorsement concerning this film by Mr. Hoover. He was advised that the FBI had not been involved in the preparation of the film nor in the subsequent use of it. He was further advised that it was a policy of Mr. Hoover and the FBI that no endorsements are made in material which we had no control over. At this point, [redacted] asked about the film operation abolition and in response to his inquiry he was advised that this was a film prepared by the Un-American Activities Committee, and the FBI had nothing to do with the preparation thereof, nor was it endorsed by Mr. Hoover.

(INFORMATION CONCERNING)

Enclosed for the Bureau are Xerox copies of an envelope and letter addressed to Mr. [redacted] WCKT-TV, Miami, Fla.

[redacted] WCKT-TV, Miami, Fla., on 9/4/64, advised that WCKT had produced a documentary program called "The Patriots," which was broadcast by that station sometime during 7/64. "The Patriots" dealt with extremists of both the ultra-right and ultra-left. Following the broadcast, [redacted] advised he received a number of uncomplimentary letters, the tenor of which indicated that the authors were "Birchites," or far-right-thinking individuals.

One of these uncomplimentary letters arrived in an envelope postmarked 8/3/64 at Miami, Fla. This envelope contained a sticker which carried a printed quote of the Director. The sticker was a fluorescent orange-color, containing black print. (See enclosure.)

The envelope contained a return address "1468 N. W. 36th Street, Miami, Fla." This address is a business establishment occupied by the Economy Printing Company. [redacted] stated that the individuals associated with the

BACKGROUND:

By letter dated August 19th, Mrs. [redacted] requested material on communism in volume to be sent to her to be used by the American Opinion Bookstore in Birmingham. Mrs. [redacted] was advised by letter dated August 26, 1964, that it would not be possible to send her material in volume due to budgetary limitations and she was advised there were no provisions whereby publications could be purchased. This reply was given inasmuch as American Opinion Libraries have been founded throughout the United States which are closely allied with the John Birch Society. It should be noted the publication of the Society is entitled "American Opinion." Because these libraries are affiliated with the Society, requests for publications in volume have been refused on budgetary limitations.

A letter dated September 17th has been received from Mrs. [redacted] stating she is deeply disappointed that she cannot get material in volume since the Freedom Educational Foundation in Birmingham "does receive this material." Since she cannot receive material in volume for the bookstore, she requests to be sent personally a few copies of "Communism And The College Student." She further states the Freedom Educational Foundation has had this publication but has none at the present time. Bufile 94-58569 reflects cordial correspondence with Mrs. [redacted] the Freedom Educational Foundation. The stated purpose of this Foundation is to educate the public in the conflict between freedom and communism. Mrs. [redacted] the Special Correspondents' List and she has been sent material in volume as well as being granted permission to reprint material.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record — John Birch Society

Page 22248. Senator McGovern, (D) South Dakota, spoke concerning the newly formed council to combat the Birch Society and related extremists. He stated "I have been pleased and proud of the courageous manner in which my distinguished South Dakotan, Dr. Arthur Larson, has spoken out against extremism in our national life. - - - He has also taken the lead in heading a group of distinguished Americans who have set out to combat the growing power of radical, rightwing groups that have been saturating the radio and TV airwaves with extremist propaganda." Mr. McGovern included an article from the New York Times of September 23 written by Martin Gansberg entitled "Civic Leaders Form Anti-Birch Council." The article states "Mr. Larson named the following organizations as being part of the major radical reactionary structure: Americans for Constitutional Action, America's Future, Christian Crusade, Christian Freedom Foundation, Church League of America, Citizens Foreign Aid Committee, Conservative Society of America, Liberty Lobby, Manion Forum, National Economic Council, Dan Smoot Reports, and We the People." (Howard D. Smoot, author of the Dan Smoot Reports, was employed by the Bureau as an Agent from March 23, 1942, until June 15, 1951. He resigned following censure, probation and transfer due to several unfounded charges made by him against his SAC, and due to his dereliction in not apprising the Bureau of certain matters. He was not recommended for reinstatement.)

Reference Bureau letter dated 9/30/64 by HELEN W. GANDY to Mr. California.

Enclosed herewith for the Bureau is one copy of an article entitled "The John Birch Society, a Report" which appeared as a 16-page advertising supplement to the "Los Angeles Times" issue of Sunday, September 27, 1964. NICK B. WILLIAMS is the editor of the "Los Angeles Times." b6 b7C

Los Angeles file 100-57962 reflects that in 1959, the Office of Special Investigations, District 18, Maywood, California, conducted an investigation on the Kaynar Manufacturing Company, Inc., 7875 Telegraph Road, Rivera, California, and requested any information in the files of the Los Angeles Office. The Office of Special Investigations (OSI) records reflected that was a member of the National Lawyers Guild in 1949 and was then living in New York. This information was originally furnished to OSI by the Bureau. The OSI investigation developed no additional subversive information and files of the Los Angeles Office contain no subversive information concerning

GERALDINE ROBBINS DREYFUSS, was the subject of Los Angeles file 100-63056, Bureau file 100-437952. A summary of the information in the Los Angeles files concerning GERALDINE DREYFUSS is set forth in Los Angeles letter and letterhead-memorandum captioned "GERALDINE DREYFUSS" dated July 10, 1962. Neither have been the subjects of an active investigation by the Los Angeles Office and neither of them are on the Security Index or the Reserve Index.

During the last week of September and the first week of October, 1964, the Director received several letters from individuals residing in the Los Angeles, California, area regarding an advertisement appearing in the "Los Angeles Times" on 9-27-64. Most interpreted the photograph of the Director and quoted statement to be an implied endorsement of the John Birch Society by Mr. Hoover. Appropriate answers were prepared and sent to these individuals setting forth the Bureau's position. Los Angeles was instructed to obtain a copy of this advertisement for the Bureau's information. By letter dated 10-2-64 Los Angeles forwarded a copy of the sixteen page, color advertising supplement to the "Los Angeles Times" for 9-27-64.

A review of the supplement shows a color photograph of Captain John Birch of the United States Army for whom the society was named. Thereafter for several pages both statements and photographs are set forth depicting the history and nature of this organization. Action programs are described and a page is devoted to the communist attack against this group. Also a page is set out reporting the findings of the California Senate investigation. On page fourteen the theme is: National Leaders Say: and photographs of former President Eisenhower, former Agricultural Secretary Benson, Senator Thurmond, Negro minister Ward, former FBI Agent Skousen and statements attributed to them are set out. The first photograph is that of the Director and a two sentence quotation from his remarks before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on 3-26-47 is accurately printed. The supplement also has an application blank to apply to become a member of this group.

Re: John Birch Society

OBSERVATION:

The method in which the Director's photograph is set out can be construed by individuals to be an implied clearance of this group by the Director; however, the Director does not name the John Birch Society and his statement is accurately quoted, although out of context, and properly identified as to time and place. In effect, they quoted from a statement of Mr. Hoover's which is a matter of public record. Other national leaders quoted actually used the name of the John Birch Society in their comments.

SUBJECT: JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY
ARTICLE BY FORMER AGENT
W. CLEON SKOUSEN

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 7-21-86 BY SP4 [redacted]

b6
b7C

BACKGROUND:

We have received the September, 1964, issue of "American Opinion," the monthly publication by Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society. Inside the back cover is printed an article by W. Cleon Skousen entitled "J. Edgar Hoover." The Director's picture is carried on the front cover. Skousen's article is entirely highly favorable about the Director. It is in essence a thumbnail sketch of Mr. Hoover's 40-year career as Director of the FBI. It ends with reference to the President's order exempting the Director from the compulsory retirement rule age 70.

The Director's picture which is carried on the front cover appears to be a painting, probably based on a photograph, and bears what appears to be the name of its artist, Daniel Michael Canavan.

INFORMATION IN BUREAU FILES:

EOI-X3 REC- 16 62-104401-2280

The activities of Skousen are well known to the Bureau. He Entered on Duty with the FBI as a clerk on October 24, 1935, in which capacity he served until June 17, 1940, when he became a Special Agent. He voluntarily resigned the latter position on October, 5, 1951. In recent years he has been aligned closely with the extreme right-wing such as the John Birch Society and has been characterized as an "unprincipled racketeer in anticommunism" who is "money mad" and who is doing everything and anything to exploit the subject of anticommunism.

Bureau files reveal Skousen has always been a strong supporter of the Bureau and the Director; however, he has not hesitated to trade on his former association with the Bureau in order to achieve stature as a writer and lecturer on anticommunism. In view of this, it is not felt we should acknowledge his favorable comments about Mr. Hoover.

Mr. CLAUDE D. BORING of Lake Placid, Florida (telephone Homestead 5-4691), telephonically contacted me on 11/2/64 advising that he is the Florida State coordinator of the captioned society. He made reference to a document which was partly reprinted in the "St. Petersburg Times" on October 29, which article indicated that the document in question was being distributed at a John Birch Society meeting. The document in question apparently advised men, women and children to buy high-powered rifles and shotguns against the event of a GOLDWATER defeat. BORING said he was quite alarmed by the story and that he had received quite a number of calls from individuals saying that they wanted to join the John Birch Society on the strong stand shown in this document.

BORING said that the John Birch Society did not distribute such a document and that as far as he can determine from the chapter presidents in the state, none of the chapters are distributing such a document. He said that the document does not represent the policy of the John Birch Society and he resented the inference that it did. He further advised that he traced this document to the Minute Men, Box 68, Norbourne, Missouri, and that it was taken from that group's April 1, 1964, bulletin. He requested advice as to what to do in the matter. I told him I was not in any position to advise him in the matter.

In this connection, transmitted herewith are an editorial appearing in the "Tampa Tribune" 11/2/64 captioned "Looking for Doomsday" and an article appearing in the 11/3/64 issue of the "Tampa Tribune" captioned "Birch Society Disclaims 'Call to Arms' Document."

Bureau's attention is likewise directed to Tampa airtel and letterhead memorandum, both dated 11/3/64, captioned "Minute Men; Information Concerning; IS-C."

By letter dated 10/9/64, captioned individual, who is on the Special Correspondents' List, forwarded a copy of the "American Opinion," upon which cover appears a photograph of the Director; the color advertising supplement to the "Los Angeles Times" for 9/27/64; a copy of an article appearing in the "Times" on 10/1/64 wherein General Eisenhower repudiated his statement appearing in connection with the John Birch Society (JBS) advertisement and an alleged call to FBI Headquarters wherein the FBI disclaimed any authorization for Mr. Hoover's photograph in this advertising supplement; and a circular apparently being passed around by the American Medical Association (AMA) in this area urging political awareness for their better interests.

Ridder notes that the JBS has long used Mr. Hoover in a similar capacity and wondered whether it was being employed with the Director's consent. Ridder shared the Director's concern about the menace of communism but did not believe that "Fascist-Nazi" methods are the only way to fight communism. Ridder then asked what could be considered a rhetorical question by wondering whether Mr. Hoover would do an article for his newspapers or a major national magazine which would show that Mr. Hoover believes all of the leaders of the western world in the last 30 years have been communists or fellow travelers and whether Mr. Hoover agreed the best way to fight communism is to attack our government, courts and freedoms as they exist. Ridder also refers to contacts with the California State Attorney General Stanley Mosk and his article in the "Look" magazine on extremists. Ridder also offers to furnish us data about these matters.

The 9/27/64 advertising supplement of the JBS published by the "Los Angeles Times" has been brought to our attention previously, along with the known efforts on the part of the JBS to frequently quote the Director. The book, "None Dare Call It Treason," mentioned by the AMA is known in Bufiles as a right- and wing attack on all segments of our society. All of these issues, namely the JBS, AMA Stormer's book figure in the current presidential campaign as allegedly supporters of Senator Goldwater's views.

OBSERVATIONS:

To answer Ridder's concern about authorization of the use of the Director's photo and statements by the JBS can be handled with no difficulty. However, his request for an article going right to the heart of the controversial issues raised would inject the FBI and the Director into the political campaigns and issues facing the Nation. Actually, the articles and speeches of the Director have already answered the very questions Ridder poses. In view of our cordial relations with Ridder and his paper, it is felt a declination to furnish such an article could best be handled by an Agent contact. His offer to furnish data should be accepted in general terms.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached airtel be directed to Los Angeles instructing the SAC to furnish Ridder the Bureau's position concerning the JBS and advertisements published by this group and instructing him to decline on behalf of the Director the invitation to write an article such as he mentioned. In addition, Ridder's offer to furnish data should be accepted in general terms.

IS IT A CRIME FOR POLICEMEN TO BELONG TO THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY?

The Philadelphia Inquirer yesterday revealed that the Philadelphia Police Department is investigating policemen who are members of the John Birch Society. The newspaper reports that two cells of Birch Society members, involving at least 14 policemen, have been uncovered. WIBG sees no reason at all for this investigation. The policemen have done nothing unlawful. The Birch Society has been thoroughly investigated in Washington, and has not been placed on any subversive list.

The morale of the Philadelphia police department is already too low. Such investigations will accomplish nothing except to lower morale even further.

The Inquirer story disclosed the names of four policemen who have acknowledged that they are members of the John Birch Society. Yet, when policemen were interviewed, their superiors promised that their names would not be made public. Policemen were told that there is nothing wrong with belonging to the Society as long as it does not interfer with the officer's performance of his duty.

WIBG is not interested in defending or condemning the John Birch Society, BUT we are deeply interested in seeing that the policemen involved ... and their families ... get a fair deal. It's obvious that they have not been treated fairly by the release of their names, and the resultant publicity.

Among the proudest possessions we have in America are the right of free speech and the right to hold opposing political viewpoints. Is our society now so perfect that we can afford to withdraw those rights?

Let's drop this investigation now. Let's turn the Police Department's undercover investigators loose on other more important matters...such as halting the serious and mounting crime wave in Philadelphia.

For record purposes, John H. Rousselot in California, called the Director's Office at 10:30 a. m. today. He was transferred to Special Agent Adcock in my office. He is the former California Congressman who is now the public relations director for the John Birch Society.

Rousselot told Mr. Adcock, he had heard a television commentator announce the Director had stated yesterday he has no respect for Robert Welch, President of the Birch Society. He asked for comment. Adcock told him, it would not be possible to comment on his question. Rousselot then asked if he could speak with the Director. He was told that Mr. Hoover was not in his office. b6 b7C

Mr. Rousselot said he wanted to get confirmation of this report so that the Birch people would know where they stand with the Director. He then asked if Mr. Hoover would see a telegram if one was sent in. On being told that the Director would see it, Rousselot said he would send one. Has been received.

Mr. Rousselot specifically stated that he did not really care whether the Director did or did not like Welch, but he was merely interested in finding out just what opinion, if any, Mr. Hoover had expressed concerning Welch.

SUBJECT: JOHN H. ROUSSELOT
JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

At 10:30 a.m., 11-19-64, John H. Rousselot called the Director's office from California. He was transferred to Special Agent H. H. Adcock in your office. As you know, Rousselot is the former California Congressman who is now the public relations director for the John Birch Society.

Rousselot told Adcock he had heard a television commentator announce the Director had stated on 11-18-64 he had no respect for Robert Welch, President of the Birch Society, and Rousselot asked for comments. Adcock told him he had no comment to make and Rousselot then asked if he could speak to Mr. Hoover. He was told the Director was not in his office.

Rousselot said he wanted to get confirmation of the report so that the Birch people would know where they stand with the Director. He asked if Mr. Hoover would see a telegram if one was sent in and upon being told the Director would see it, Rousselot said he would send one. Rousselot specifically stated he did not really care whether the Director did or did not like Welch; he was merely interested in finding out just what opinion, if any, Mr. Hoover had expressed concerning Welch.

Rousselot's telegram of 11-19-64 has been received. He stated a television news commentator in Los Angeles reported that Mr. Hoover said he had absolutely no use for Mr. Robert Welch; that Rousselot called Director's office to have the statement confirmed or denied; that Mr. Adcock asked Rousselot to make inquiry by telegram and that Director's response would be greatly appreciated.

OBSERVATIONS AND RECOMMENDATION:

Mr. Rousselot is not quite accurate in indicating Special Agent Adcock asked for telegram as Adcock only stated in answer to response that if Rousselot sent telegram in Mr. Hoover would see it. The Director has seen the telegram, Rousselot has heard the news report of the Director's statement and there is nothing to be gained by making any additional comment to him.

Accordingly, it is recommended that Rousselot's telegram be ignored.

JEWISH COMMUNITY RELATIONS COUNCIL OF GREATER PHILADELPHIA

FELLOWSHIP COMMISSION BLDG. • 260 S. 15TH ST. • PHILADELPHIA, PA., 19102 • KI 5-8430

November 18, 1964

Hon. James H. J. Tate
Mayor, City of Philadelphia
City Hall
Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania

Dear Mayor Tate:

The Jewish Community Relations Council of Greater Philadelphia commends you for your forthright condemnation of the John Birch Society, and Police Commissioner Leary for his investigation which resulted in the disclosure of John Birch Society cells in the Police Department. The investigation and your statement take on added meaning because of the sensitive nature and key role of the Police Department in city government.

Our deep concern about the John Birch Society is rooted in the commitment of the JCRC to American constitutional government; to the fostering, through democratic means, of equality of rights and opportunities without regard to race, religion, ethnic origin or nativity; of freedom of religious thought and practice, of freedom of opinion, expression and association; and of amicable relationships among groups on a basis of mutual acceptance with respect for difference.

The John Birch Society is a monolithically structured, semi-secret, authoritarian organization, which is avowedly anti-democratic and which, in the name of anti-Communism, organizes itself by cells and emulates the entire gamut of Communist techniques of economic pressures, infiltration and domination of organizations.

The Society has demonstrated its capacity for organizing campaigns of social action. It has produced a heavy volume of demand from many parts of the nation for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. It has conducted organized attacks on schools, church associations and libraries in many communities. It has waged an intensive campaign of pressure against desegregation. The Society is an ultra-reactionary group and there is disturbing evidence of a coalescence of extremist groups around it, including professional hate-mongers and bigots.

1 ENCLOSURE 62-104401-2343

The organization has insidious appeal because it offers scapegoats for vast world problems in a time of frustration, uncertainty, fear and tension resulting from the international situation. The Society is dangerous because it threatens the American political pattern. Like Communism, it is totalitarian in philosophy and its solutions to our problems lie in curtailment of individual liberty - economic, social and political.

The Society has attracted a growing membership, including past members of Congress, industrial leaders and military officers of high rank. Many have joined under the mistaken impression that the John Birch Society effectively attacks Communism.

The threat of Communism is real. Americans must ever remain alert against subversion in our land. But, the real threat of Communism is from abroad. While we must guard against internal threats, too great a preoccupation with that aspect of Communism diverts us from the essential menace having its centers in the Kremlin and in Peking.

The John Birch Society is a confusing and divisive force. The program of the Society constitutes a disservice to the true interests of the nation. The policies and methods of the organization are antithetical to the principles of freedom and justice to which the JCRC and its member agencies are committed.

Constitutional civil liberties are the best safeguards for the security of all religious, racial and ethnic groups. These freedoms and the Constitution itself are under attack by the John Birch Society.

We urge the Police Department, for as long as may be necessary, to continue with its investigation and exposure of the number of police officers who are members of the John Birch Society; to review frequently and periodically the records of such police officers to insure that their activities as members of the Society do not conflict with their responsibilities as members of the police force. Prompt and appropriate action should be taken against any such police officers who fail properly to perform their duties in all respects. The administrators of the Philadelphia Police Department are charged with the duty of providing the City with a police force that can effectively and, at all times, enforce the law. They must not permit membership in the John Birch Society of police personnel to threaten or undermine the effectiveness of the Police Department.

Sincerely,

ROBERT K. GREENFIELD,

1. The JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY was founded by one Robert H. WELCH, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts in Indianapolis, Indiana on 9 December 1958, for the avowed purpose of combatting Communism. Two membership drive meetings were held at Knoxville, Tennessee during October 1959, and enclosures (1) through (8) inclusive, with the following quoted excerpts from a report by a confidential reliable source who attended the second meeting, 21 October 1959, are forwarded to assist in providing a characterization of the Subject society.

The tapes played at the first meeting concerned the growth of Communism in Europe, Asia and the United States.

7. Source's Comments. "The organization's objectives as presented do not appear to be questionable but the structure of the organization and its leadership appear to warrant closer scrutiny. Mr. WELCH, in his talk, revealed a dictatorial mien along with certain possible Fascist leanings. Mr. WELCH, during his speech, indicated that he would not be opposed to, in fact would favor, strong militant methods to obtain his objective. This, combined with the organization's method of operations, i.e. no questioning of orders received, could lend itself to a Fascist type organization. Mr. WELCH also stated that he had access to the files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation through a life-time friend who was acting as an advisor to the Bureau.

Mr. WELCH, in his talk, stated that he was the only one in the country capable of leading such an organization. The purpose of the organization is "less government and more responsibility." Mr. Trevor Griffey
[redacted]

Dear Mr. Griffey:

This responds to your electronic Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request of September 16, 2012, to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), requesting information pertaining to Mr. Robert Welch before 1975. The FBI, on August 1, 2013, forwarded your request along with Army-originated records retrieved from their files, for a releasability determination. This correspondence was received in this office on August 16, 2013.

As a result of our review, it has been determined that the information is partially releasable to you and enclosed for your use.

Since the release of some of the information deleted from the records would result in an unwarranted invasion of the privacy rights of the individuals concerned, this information is exempt from the public disclosure provisions of the FOIA per Title 5 U.S. Code 552 (b)(6).

Information has been sanitized and nine pages are withheld from the records as the release of the information would reveal sensitive intelligence methods. This information is exempt from public disclosure pursuant to Title 5 U.S. Code 552 (b)(7)(E) of the FOIA. The significant and legitimate governmental purpose to be served by withholding is that a viable and effective intelligence investigative capability is dependent upon protection of sensitive investigative methodologies. It is not possible to reasonably segregate meaningful portions of the withheld pages for release.

The withholding of the information described above is a partial denial of your request. This denial is made on behalf of Major General Stephen G. Fogarty, Commander, U.S. Army Intelligence and Security Command, who is the Initial Denial Authority for Army intelligence investigative and security records under the FOIA. You have the right to appeal this decision to the Secretary of the Army. Your appeal must be postmarked no later than 60 calendar days from the date of this letter. After the 60-day period, the case may be considered closed; however, such closure does not preclude you from filing litigation in the courts. You should state the basis of your disagreement with the response and provide justification for a reconsideration of the denial. An appeal may not serve as a request for additional or new information. An appeal may only address information denied in this response. Your appeal is to be made to this office, for forwarding, as appropriate to the Secretary of the Army, Office of the General Counsel.

There are no assessable FOIA fees.

We are forwarding a copy of this letter to the FBI (FBI FOI/PA #1189082-002).

If you have any questions regarding this action, feel free to contact this office at 1-866-548-5651, or email the INSCOM FOIA office at: usarmy.meade.902-mi-grp.mbx.inscom-foia-service-center@mail.mil and refer to case #3671F-13.

2. DATE SUBMITTED

(b)(7)(E)

4. REPORT OF INVESTIGATION

On 2 December 1959, b6 b6 b6 b6 Boston University, Boston, was interviewed, at her request, at Headquarters, Region III, 108th CIC Group, Boston Army Base, Boston, concerning information which she felt would be of interest to the United States Government. Source stated substantially as follows:

In June 1959, shortly after her arrival in the United States from her native Germany, Source visited the German Consulate, 162 Boylston Street, Boston, in an effort to gain assistance in obtaining employment in Boston. Source spoke with a b6 a member of the Economic Section of the Consulate. She outlined her considerable journalistic experience in b6 and b6 suggested that she contact Mr. Robert Welch, who maintains offices at 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Massachusetts, under the name of ROBERT WELCH, INCORPORATED. b6 stated that Welch is the editor of American Opinion, a monthly publication which is delivered, gratis, monthly, to the Consulate.

Source reported to Welch and after a brief discussion, during which he ascertained her b6 experience and satisfied himself that she was not a Communist, Source was assigned to the office maintained by the John Birch Society. As concerns her attitude towards Communism, Welch opined that all Germans are still Nazis at heart and, therefore, anti-Communist. Welch informed Source that the John Birch Society was founded in 1953, but had been relatively inactive until January 1959, when he started to devote more time to it. Source was taken downstairs to the office of the Society, which is located in the basement at 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont. Source spent approximately four weeks in this office, about half of which time was spent reading material published by Welch, by way of indoctrination into the office. The remainder of the time was spent in doing routine clerical work. During her short stay in this office, Source ascertained the following, from personal observation and from conversations with other Society employees:

The Society did not become really active until January 1959, when Welch held a meeting at a country club, name unknown, in Belmont. Approximately 200 persons were invited to this meeting, all of whom were approved by Welch prior to the actual invitation. Welch was the sole speaker for this occasion. His speech lasted for eight hours and was Welch's evaluation of the Communist threat to the United States, and the need for an organization to awaken and protect the United States from this menace. Source has heard a taped recording of the speech, but could recall few specifics, since the length of the tape, six hours, made it too long and boring for easy assimilation. This meeting was a bid for membership into the John Birch Society, and those present were given membership blanks to complete and submit, if interested. The membership gained from this meeting is unknown to Source. All files concerning membership, finances, correspondence, and research material pertaining to the Society is maintained in the Society office at 385 Concord Avenue, Belmont. Employees of the office, as of 20 September 1959, were:

b6 b6 second only to Welch in authority. He is extremely intelligent and a persuasive speaker. b6 is presently employed by the New England Mutual Insurance Company, Boston, as Assistant Medical Director. He is also in charge of the Belmont Chapter of the Society. b6 holds a commission in the b6 and attends reserve meetings regularly.

b6 wife of b6 employed as a part-time clerical assistant.

b6 address unknown, who packs publications for delivery and carries mail to the Post Office. He is not a member of the Society and receives a salary of $75 per week.

b6 (phonetic) residing at an unknown address in Boston, 22 years of age, and a graduate of an unknown Jesuit college in the vicinity of Boston, where he majored in Economics. He has many acquaintances in Catholic religious circles in Boston and vicinity and is active in Society work among these groups. He receives $75 per week salary.

b6 (lnu) address unknown, who returned from Germany just prior to his employment in September 1959. He alleges to have been employed by an investment firm in Garwisch, Germany. He is being groomed for a responsible position within the Society. He was a member of the U. S. Army Air Force during World War II, but his present military activity, if any, is unknown.

b6 b6 a local high school girl, who types correspondence for the Society. She obtained her position through her father, who became acquainted with Welch when Welch delivered a lecture at an unknown Protestant church in Belmont.

b6 b6 b6 who handles finances, to include payrolls and probably knows more concerning the Society than any person other than Welch. She works to support a sick husband; is not in sympathy with the Society, and would probably be happy to provide a government agency with any desired information. b6 has frequently expressed to Source her dislike for the Society, and she has never become a Society member.

ROBERT WELCH, INCORPORATED Belmont 78, Massachusetts	16 December 1959 (b)(7)(E)

b6 address unknown, who occupied the position now held by b6 until his release, by Welch, in August 1959, for reasons unknown to Source. b6 was connected with an organization called the Liberty Lobby, and Source recalls reading material written by him and published in the name of the Liberty Lobby, San Francisco, California, which was extremely vitriolic in its criticism of President Eisenhower for his alleged pro-Negro and pro-Semitism.

The John Birch Society was named in honor of John Birch, an American Baptish missionary, who was killed, according to Welch, by the Chinese Communists, on 25 August 1945. A book, entitled, "The Life of John Birch", written by Welch, was published in 1958 by the Henry Regnery Company.

The ultimate aim of the Society is to become a third political party in the United States and, eventually, rule of the country. This is to be accomplished by uniting all anti-Communist organizations and individuals under the leadership of the John Birch Society. Source could not cite specifics as concerns the program of evolution into a political force.

According to b6 the Society is presently organized into approximately 38 separate chapters, with a total membership of 1200 persons. Source is personally aware of the existence of chapters in Belmont and Boston, but has seen correspondence from chapters in Chicago, Illinois; New York City, and unknown cities in California and Florida.

Each chapter is required to have a weekly meeting, which is held in the home of the chapter leader. In Belmont, the meeting is on Thursday, in the home of b6 Discussion is supposed to center around the Weekly Bulletin, which is written and edited by Welch, personally, and mailed to each chapter. A taped reproduction of the speech made by Welch, at the organization meeting in January 1959, is on hand in each chapter. This tape, six hours in length, is used whenever the chapter receives a request for a speaker. Normal procedure is to divide the speech into three sessions of two hours each. The taped speech is used because Welch does not desire individual Society members to make speeches; they only make introductory remarks and answer questions after the tape has been heard. Society members are to be alert to opportunities to present the taped lectures, through normal social, church, and business contacts. Welch stresses contact with Catholic organizations because, although a Protestant himself, he feels that the Catholic church is more militant in its stand against Communism. The decision to present the taped speech is made only by the chapter leader, who personally makes the presentation. A party of interested persons is usually held at the home of one of the contacts and, after a brief discussion, the taped speech is presented. b6 of the Boston chapter, is particularly active in organizing these meetings. Response to the initial two-hour session determines whether meetings will be held to present the two remaining two-hour sessions. No notes or other method of reproduction are permitted at these meetings. Source is unaware of any presentations being made to members of the military, either individually or in groups; however, in August or September 1959, Welch spoke at the Harvard Club, New York City, and Source recalls typing invitations to two retired and one active duty U. S. Army general officers, names not recalled. Source does not know whether they attended or not. SUBJECT made at least one previous speaking appearance at the Harvard Club in New York City, details unknown.

Persons who show interest in taking active participation in anti-Communist activity, after attending a taped session, are given the opportunity to join the Society. Source is unaware of any specific investigations conducted on new members, but is aware that inquiries are made, on a personal basis, through social contacts. A new member is given a membership card and signs a request for membership. Members pay $2 per month dues; however, those who can afford to, pay more. Each chapter leader is required to submit a monthly report to Society Headquarters, covering meetings, membership, and activities. These reports are all maintained by b6 who acts as coordinator, and reports all pertinent information to Welch.

Welch has prepared a so-called "Blue Book" which is an outline of his taped speech, but which is much more moderate in its approach, to the extent of the Communist penetration of the United States Government, since it is intended for sale to the general public. As of September 1959, this book had not been printed.

At the time of the visit to the United States by Soviet Premier Khrushchev, instructions as to how Society members should act, specifics unknown, were sent out by Welch, together with black armband, which were to be worn by Society members for the duration of Khrushchev's visit. Source heard discussions as to the possibility of shooting Khrushchev, but doesn't believe that the conversants were actually serious in their intent.

It is planned that a moving picture of Welch, presenting his speech, will be made and utilized in lieu of the taped version. Welch has stated that $20,000 has been pledged for this purpose. Future plans also call for the establishment of reading rooms containing anti-Communist literature to be open to the general public. All chapters have been required to submit names of potential recipients of written material from the Society.

Other than activities outlined above, Source is unaware of any specific activities undertaken by the John Birch Society. Source provided b6 b6 b6 a local high school girl who types correspondence for the Corporation. Owens gained employment, after George, by answering a newspaper advertisement for clerical help which was placed by Welch.

Mrs. (fnu) Welch, wife of Robert Welch, who does clerical work afternoons.

Other persons known to be associated with ROBERT WELCH, INCORPORATED are:

b6 a former news commentator on a radio station located in the Springfield-Holyoke area of Massachusetts. b6 receives a salary, believed to be approximately $20,000 per year, from Welch, in addition to Welch sponsoring b6 news program. These news commentaries were dictated by written instructions from Welch. The fact that Welch was his sponsor was not aired by b6 b6 also writes articles for Welch's publication American Opinion.

William R. Schlamm, formerly employed by Time and Life magazines is on Welch's payroll as a regular contributor of material for American Opinion. Schlamm, a former Communist, fled Czechoslovakia when the German army occupied that country. Schlamm spends much of his time in Europe and his articles which appear in American Opinion are entitled, "European Survey".

An unknown retired U. S. Army general, who acts as a lobby at Congress, representing Welch's views. This general resides in Washington and is on Welch's payroll.

The remainder are mailed to persons who may be interested. A small number are distributed by b6 to various drug stores and other stores where magazines are sold for general sale to the public. Issues are mailed to prospective customers whose names are obtained through the John Birch Society, other Welch sympathizers, and exchange of mailing lists with other anti-Communist publications, details unknown. In addition to articles written by b6 and Welch, Welch receives material from b6 a former member of the staff of the late U. S. Senator Joseph McCarthy, Albert C. Wedemeyer, General, USA (retired) and frequently receives material from the office of U. S. Senator Barry Goldwater. Source believes that b6 is on Welch's payroll.

Welch edits all material appearing in the magazine and writes many articles himself. In addition to the magazine, Welch published many pamphlets which are distributed free and sold through advertisements in American Opinion. Source can recall two: "Report of American Bar Association" and "Why People Become Communists". Source particularly recalls the latter because, in the Welch files, she saw a magazine published by a Jesuit publishing house, from which Welch copies his pamphlet. The Welch pamphlet does not indicate its source.

b6 was assigned by Welch to organize his files. They are not maintained in a conventional manner, but are divided into categories as directed by Welch. Included in the breakdown are [redacted] files on Communism, divided into sections such as Communism in: Government, Churches, Education, Labor, etc. These files are also divided into geographical breakdowns to include most of the countries of the world and many organizations in this country and throughout the world.

Extensive files are maintained on leading political, military, and business leaders of the world. Typical selections under this section of Communists are: U. S. Senator John Kennedy, General of the Army George C. Marshall, deceased, former President Harry S. Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, as well as the United States Supreme Court and the American Bar Association.

The material for these files is selected by Welch from newspapers and material received from various sources, to include subscriptions to innumerable newspapers, both domestic and foreign. A large segment of the files is devoted to anti-Communist organizations and personalities such as J. Edgar Hoover, Herbert Hoover, Herbert Philbrick and George Meaney. Welch uses the files for research material when preparing a speech or writing an article.

4 REPORT OF PERSONS

Money for ROBERT WELCH, INCORPORATED, is obtained from contributions. Source heard SUBJECT soliciting funds from acquaintances to support the activity by telephone, to assist him to combat the coming visit of Khrushchev to the United States. Source heard Welch comment that he had received pledges of $100,000. This money was spent by the Committee Against Summit Entanglements, which, if not operated entirely by Welch, is certainly [illegible] by him. Much of this money was spent in full-page newspaper advertisements agitating against the visit of Khrushchev and urging the public to contact their congressmen. Source believes that Welch received money from his brother, name unknown, who operates the James O. Welch Candy Company, 810 Main Street, Cambridge.

b6 told Source that Welch left the business just prior to January 19[illegible], because of his brother's insistence that he not get the candy business involved in his anti-Communist activities. At the same time, Welch was told, by his brother, to establish a bank account separate from that maintained in the name of the candy company.

In September 1959, Source quit her position with Welch because of a distaste for the type of work being conducted by him, which seemed to Source to be strikingly similar to the activities of Hitler prior to his rise to power.

Source stated that she told much of the foregoing to b6 of the German Consulate and, in reply to her query, he advised Source not to report this information to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Dear Mr. Griffey:

The processing of your request for information pertaining to Robert H. W. Welch (prior to 1975) which was referred to this office by the Federal Bureau of Investigation via the Chief of Naval Operations along with three pages of information has been completed. Our review of the documents/information reveals they contain personal identifiers (such as names and social security numbers) of third parties, the release of which would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Accordingly, we must partially deny your request and withhold this information pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) provisions 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6) and (b)(7)(C). All releasable information is provided to you at enclosure (1).

As the official responsible for the partial denial of your request, I am advising you of your right to appeal this determination. Your appeal must be postmarked within 60 calendar days from the date of this letter and should be addressed to the Secretary of the Navy's designee: Office of the Judge Advocate General, (Code 14), 1322 Patterson Avenue, S.E., Suite 3000, Washington Navy Yard, D.C. 20374-5066. The envelope and letter should bear the annotation "FOIA Appeal." Please include a copy of your original request with your appeal letter.

There are no assessable fees associated with the processing of your request.

Sincerely,

[redacted] is a member of the John Birch Society and advocated a government structural change. [redacted] believed Congress's legislative powers should be eliminated but, could continue to exist for protocol reasons. This, he felt would abolish red tape and would allow quick governmental action. He advocated individual control power and felt force would be utilized to bring about these governmental structural changes, if necessary. Subject brought out that [redacted] was a member of the John Birch Society, however, it was felt subject was aware [redacted] were of the Catholic faith. Through [redacted], [redacted] attempted to solicit [redacted] and fellow USMC officers' views concerning Laos and the Cuban situation. It was apparent to [redacted], [redacted] was attempting to solicit the [redacted] for possible membership in the John Birch Society. When asked by [redacted] what [redacted] thought of their discussion, she asked if he were serious, to which he replied, "yes" he was serious, and then she told him, it was a act. To this he took offense and, as of this date, has not tried to contact [redacted] or his wife.

REC-85

FEAR, HATRED, SUSPICION AT HOME

U.S. AWAKE TO FASCIST DANGER

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—How dangerous to the wellbeing of the U.S., and to its position as leader of the free world, are the radicals of the right?

This is a question being asked in Washington seriously as these radicals increasingly resort to the tactics of the Communists and the crypto-Communists of the thirties.

MARQUIS CHILDS

They practise character assassination without regard for the truth. They spread fear, hatred and suspicion. They advocate infiltration of non-political U.S. organizations such as the Parent-Teacher Association and the taking over of those organizations.

In some respects these radicals on the extreme right more nearly resemble the fanatical subverters of Germany and Italy who brought nazism and fascism into being.

They are often allied with the white citizens councils, identifying integration with communism.

And at the extreme end of the spectrum they are openly anti-Semitic, often referring in propaganda leaflets to the Jewish-Communist conspiracy.

A few years ago, this would have been dismissed as merely another manifestation of what Theodore Roosevelt so aptly called the lunatic fringe—this time on the right rather than the left.

But with the rise of the John Birch Society and its intrusion into politics that is not so easy to do.

Drive for Power

Founded by Robert Welch, a former Massachusetts candy manufacturer, the Birch Society now claims nearly 100,000 members with chapters in most states and a goal of a million members paying dues of $12 for women and $24 for men.

They are pledged to accept the discipline of Welch, and many of their operations are secret.

Welch's secretly-circulated book, "The Politician"—now reportedly withdrawn because it alarmed some members—has been compared to "Mein Kampf" if only in the Hitlerian view that the greater the lie the more likely that simple minds will fall victim to it.

He calls every president beginning with Franklin Roosevelt a Communist.

Of the Eisenhower brothers he writes: "While I, too, think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

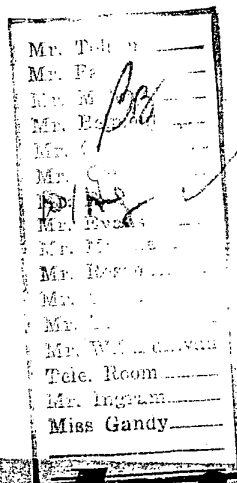
"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

Both the late John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, are called Communists, with the latter ranking next to former president Eisenhower in his power of concealment.



Birch Society members have used their pressure techniques to force the showing of the House un-American activities film, "Operation Abolition." And they have denounced as Communists anyone questioning its accuracy or daring to suggest that the committee may have exceeded its rights.

Weapon of Fear

For popular U.S. officeholders this is perhaps no more than a nuisance.

But for citizens—professors, clergymen and others—with a conviction of their right to speak critical and unpopular views, it can mean community distrust, a small business harmed, or even a job lost.

The silence of fear is the alternate penalty the radicals of the right try to impose.

Group Assailed in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. UPI — The John Birch Society was the target of both the executive and legislative branches of the California government today.

The California Attorney General's office was reported to be making an investigation of the society, and one lawmaker testified it "reminds us very much" of the Hitler organization in Germany before World War II.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk warned in a speech before the Tuolumne County Chamber of Commerce that "fanatical" groups on the "extreme right" must be as closely checked as the Communists, for they are "equally dangerous to democracy."

He gave six tests by which he said people could determine whether an organization advocated an extremist doctrine.

1. Does the organization attack churches and schools with blanket accusations.

2. Does it attack other traditional American institutions with wild, unsupported charges.

3. Does it label everyone with whom it disagrees politically as un-American or subversive?

4. Does it try to rewrite modern history by blaming American statesmen for wars, communism, depression and other world ills?

5. Does it resort to crude pressure tactics such as anonymous phone calls and letter-writing.

6. Do the spokesmen of the group appear more interested in the size of their money collections than in the principles they purport to espouse.

"Apply these six tests," he said, "and you will avoid entangling memberships with such groups as the American Nazi Party, the Communists, the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society, the Cinema Education Guild, the Muslims and others of that type."

Report Ready on Birch Quiz

By PETER TRIMBLE

Attorney General Stanley Mosk will give Governor Edmund G. Brown a secret report on the activities of the extreme conservative John Birch Society before the end of this week, The Examiner learned yesterday.

Mosk, who has been investigating the group's activities in California since March 21, refused to disclose his findings or even hint at the conclusions he will present to the Governor.

Extremist

The Attorney General however already has publicly grouped the Birch Society with such extremist organizations as the American Nazi Party, Communists, the Ku Klux Klan, the Cinema Educational Guild and the Black Muslim movement.

As Mosk prepared his report to Brown, the society—dedicated to fighting what it believes is Communist influence on persons in high places—was attacked by a legislator in Sacramento.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton, Democrat of Merced, declared the group "reminds me very much" of the Hitler organization in Germany before World War II.

The statement was made as the Assembly Rules Committee opened hearings on Winton's proposal asking that U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy investigate the society.

"This is an organization to fight Communists," said Winton. "The Hitler organization started out the same way and attracted some very respectable businessmen. But it resulted in something even worse than Communism or at least as bad."

The lawmaker said the Birch Society was "genuinely dangerous" because it "can easily step over the bounds of saying things and move into the ground of overt activities."

Assemblyman Richard Hanna, Democrat of Fullerton, indicated that when the committee has a full dress hearing on the Winton proposal scheduled for Thursday he will oppose the resolution.

IN OPPOSITION

"I cannot see us as playing our proper role in reproaching these people on what they believe unless they have committed some overt act," Hanna told the committee. "We have to say that all voices must be heard."

Hanna predicted the society eventually would disband. "It will have broken its stick on the basic fairness of the people of the United States," he said.

Committee Chairman Augustus Hawkins, Democrat of Los Angeles, set the Thursday hearing and said consideration will be given at the same time to a resolution by Assemblyman John A. O'Connell, Democrat of San Francisco, denouncing the society.

IN 34 STATES

The society, which has its most active California chapters in Santa Barbara and Orange Counties, claims to have similar organizations in 34 States.

While it has been in existence since 1958, it drew little attention until recently when its attacks on leaders in government and religion — some of whom were termed Communist dupes — brought it nationwide publicity.

The society's two chief current targets are Chief Justice Earl Warren and the National Council of Churches.

The John Birch Society was formed on Dec. 8, 1958, by Robert Welch, a retired Boston candy manufacturer in a speech before 11 business leaders in Indianapolis.

Welch, in what has been published as the organization's "Blue Book," declared the United States was in danger of being turned over to "collectivism" and called for an organization dedicated to "less government and more responsibility to build a better world."

Toward that end he preached, the United States was originally established as a republic, not as a democracy. Since it has become a democracy there must be restraints imposed on the ability of the people to rule themselves or it will run wild.

As examples of what he thinks is happening to the country, Welch has listed persons who, he says, may be unwittingly aiding the Communist conspiracy. They are virtually a "Who's Who in Government."

MEN AT TOP

In addition to Warren, those blasted include President Eisenhower, Milton Eisenhower, the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Gen. George C. Marshall.

Welch borrowed his name for the activist group from John Birch, a fundamentalist Baptist missionary who was a wartime military intelligence captain with Gen. Claire Chennault, a charter member of the society.

Birch was killed by Chinese 10 days after V-J Day, and with his death, Welch said "the battle lines were drawn in a struggle from which either Communism or Christian-style civilization must emerge with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed."

While the membership of the Birch Society is not known, one of the places where the members can be counted on the fingers of one hand is San Francisco.

Welch attempted to organize a chapter here in 1959.

during a two-day seminar at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. The meeting, coincidentally, was called to order as Nikita Khrushchev was leaving the same hotel following his visit here.

Some 30 persons attended the meeting, including retired Air Force Lt. Gen. Charles B. Stone. But the movement did not catch on here and Stone moved to Los Angeles, where Welch's theories found a more enthusiastic welcome.

One of those at the original meeting here was Mrs. Dorothy Schoonmaker, a housewife and mother of two children, who has known Welch personally since 1955 and has been an ardent follower of his since the society was founded.

She said she knows of only two or three friends here who are members of the organization. The Police Department Intelligence Unit estimates there may be five or six members here and eight or 10 in Berkeley.

Mrs. Schoonmaker is appalled to find the Birch group linked with extremist movements.

"To have people call you ultra-conservative and right-wing just because you are for individual freedom is terrible," she said yesterday. "Anti-Communism is not the ultimate aim of the Birch Society. It is less government."

Admitting that Welch "is wordy" and that some of the things he says could best be left unsaid, Mrs. Schoonmaker declared, "I haven't found anything wrong with what he has said.

"We aren't advocating the overthrow of the Government," she added, "we are supporting it."

Regarding Welch's charges against Warren, she said Welch "does not feel that Warren is a Communist. He feels that some of the Supreme Court decisions have broken the meaning of the law as outlined by the Constitution."

On Eisenhower — "He is nice person who shouldn't have been the leader of our country."

Mrs. Schoonmaker admitted that some of the tactics advocated by Welch were similar to the infiltration tactics and use of front groups used by the Communists.

"But what we have been doing in the past hasn't worked with the Communists. We join the P-TA and similar organizations. We support any good organization, such as the Christian Anti - Communist Crusade.

AMERICAN WAY

"We work through letter writing," said Mrs. Schoonmaker. "That is the American way."

Bombarding congressman and senators, with letters appears to be one of the Birch Society's main activities, directed by Welch from his Belmont, Mass., headquarters, and by a 26-member national council of the organization.

In Washington, Senator Milton R. Young of North Dakota told the Senate he had received "many requests" for information regarding the Birch Society and also some demands for a Senate investigation of it.

WHISPERS

Senator Gale McGee of Wyoming said that during a recent visit to Phoenix, Ariz., he found that city "torn badly within because of agitation and whispers stirred up in the name of this society." McGee declared it is "time the searchlight of truth" be turned on the group.

In Beverly Hills, Paul H. Talbert, a member of the Birch Society's National Council, assailed what he termed the "gratuitous and unsolicited concern" of the American Civil Liberties Union, which has declared its opposition to a proposed State Senate probe of the organization.

Talbert said the society would "welcome" an investigation and added, "We will not invoke the constitutional provision against self-incrimination as so many of the clients of the ACLU are prone to do."

Many conservatives who might otherwise share Welch's political and economic views have criticized him for apparently believing that everything he personally considers wrong is a Communist plot.

They cite, for example, a 1958 Welch article in his magazine, "American Opinion," asserting that among pro-Communist activities was the "snatching of the Republican nomination" from the late Senator Robert Taft in 1952. Thsi, Welch claimed, was accomplished "by purchase, theft, secret deals and other tactics more foul than had ever before appeared in American politics."

KENNEDY HIT

In a later article, his views on President John F. Kennedy — before his election — were reflected when he wrote about what he characterized as "an amoral man." Without mentioning the then Senator Kennedy by name, Welch wrote:

"You will usually find him in church on Sunday morning, maybe even a Catholic church. But, as a member of the United States Senate, running for the presidency and smart enough to know the strong Communist support behind-the-scenes which he will have to get in order to have any chance of being nominated in 1960, such an amoral man can do a tremendous amoun of ball-carrying on behalf of the Communist aims here.

"And any similarity of characters in this story to any living persons is not coincidental."

A drive to obtain the impeachment of Chief Justice Warren is the biggest of the current Birch Society projects. In the latest issue of his periodical, Welch, a native of the South, aims a heavy blast at the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision. He contends this stepped up Dixieland's racial disorders, which he says stem from Communist planning, and Welch writes:

"There is plenty of evidence that we already have the pot of the Warren impeachment boiling."

California's U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel reported he has received some 200 "impeach Warren" letters. Kuchel has denounced the society's drive as "contemptible and vicious."

ANNUAL DUES

How does the Birch Society finance itself? Its male members pay dues of $24 a year and the woman pay $12, with life memberships available for $1,000. It also solicits contributions, particularly from members or sympathizers who are wealthy or prominent.

ULTRACONSERVATIV GROUP ASSAILE

Birch Society Called Ike, Dulles

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
By United Press International

Residents of Santa Barbara, Calif., were in for a surprise when they stepped out into the bright and blowy morning of Feb. 26 to pick up their Sunday newspapers. In that quiet and beautiful city of about 60,000, a respected fellow citizen had discovered what he felt was an outrage.

"The editor and publisher of the News-Press is in his 85th year," began a two-column editorial on the front page.

"His entire life has been spent in this community . . . he lived when conditions were rugged. When West was West and men were men.

"He lived during periods when if a man or a group of men openly by word of mouth, or the printed word, called our President . . . and others at the head of our government, traitors, they were made to answer. Such slanders often called for a visit from a courageous and irate group which brought with them a barrel of tar and a few feathers. . . ."

THOMAS MORE STORKE, rancher and citrus grower, owner of a newspaper since 1900, briefly a United States senator, regent of the University of California, was taking a stand against the John Birch Society and its founder and leader, Robert Welch, 61, of Belmont, Mass.

In a letter written before he set up the society late in 1958 and still in limited circulation, Mr. Welch told friends that President Eisenhower, his brother, Milton, the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, were members of the Communist underground.

In Santa Barbara itself, blessed as few communities in the nation with the comforts of both nature and material wealth wealth, several active chapters of the semi-secret society were studying Communism at private meetings and looking around town for "Communists" to expose.

"The secret Communist looks and acts just like anybody else, only more so," Mr. Welch had instructed them in the society's "Blue Book." He could be anybody you know. In fact, Mr. Welch said, one of his prime suspects is "one of the nicest men you ever met. Most of them are."

Holds Democracy Political Fraud

The society is, in itself, an authoritarian society. Editor Storke's adjective was "totalitarian". Mr. Welch is far from completely sold on the form of government we now have.

As for the political concept of a democracy, he regards it frankly as a "weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

Birch Group Called 'Fanatic Rightists'

Special to the N. Y. Journal-American

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 29.—California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, who is probing The John Birch Society under orders of Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, this week called the organization a "fanatic group of the extreme right."

The Society, a right-wing, strongly anti-Communist group, has come under sweeping attack in many parts of the State during the past few months—particularly in Southern California.

Gov. Brown ordered the probe, he said, "because fascism is just as dangerous as communism."

Mr. Mosk declined to give any indication of what his probe was seeking until he reports to the Governor. "That will be within 10 days," he said.

EXTREMELY ACTIVE

He did say, however, the Society has been extremely active in the areas of Santa Barbara, San Diego, Santa Ana, Orange and Los Angeles counties.

In Santa Barbara, wealthy residents reportedly are providing strong backing for the Society. A storm of controversy has arisen in both church and educational circles in the community.

On the religious front, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated this "suspect" category:

1. Does it attack churches and schools with blanket accusations?

2. Does it attack other traditional American institutions with wild, unsupported charges?

3. Does it label everyone Un-American or subversive with whom it disagrees politically?

4. Does it try to rewrite modern history by blaming American statesmen for wars, communism, depressions and all other ills of the world?

6. Do the spokesmen for the pressure tactics by such means as anonymous phone calls and letter-writing campaigns?

6. Do the spokesman for the group appear more interested in the size of their money collections than in the principals they purport to espouse?

"Apply these six tests," said Mr. Mosk, "and you will avoid entangling yourself in memberships and contributions to such groups."

By Mr. Welch's political standards, Dwight Eisenhower is a Communist, and so are many others in high government places, past and present. These are standards not everyone accepts.

The U.S. Senate on March 8 heard Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, declare that Mr. Welch's accusations against Mr. Eisenhower and others had gone "beyond anything the late Joe McCarthy ever thought of."

A little over three weeks after Mr. Storke's editorial, Chancellor Samuel B. Gould of the University of California at Santa Barbara, speaking at a university banquet, said a "new type" of secret student organization had been set up on the campus whihc encourages students to become informers and take on the tasks of security agencies." It is understood he referred to the Birch Society.

An issue between the society and many who might otherwise share Mr. Welch's conservative political and economic views is his persistent reasoning that everything he personally considers wrong is a Communist plot.

John Birch had nothing to do with the group. He was a young fundamentalist Baptist missionary from Georgia who served as an intelligence officer in China during World War II and was killed 10 days after V-J Day by Chinese Communists. He was 27 when he died.

In Mr. Birch's name members of the society are asked to write letters to congressmen and others, operate in "front" organizations and through established community groups such as PTAs and chambers of commerce to push campaigns conceived by Welch as anti-Communist.

These include movements to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, to repeal the income tax law, to rout the social gospel from the churches, to oppose the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, foreign aid, the United Nations and cultural, or any other, exchanges with Russia.

Mr. Welch was born in North Carolina, Dec. 1, 1899. He was reared in what he now calls "the intellectually restricting bonds of the unusually narrow Southern Baptist fundamentalism."

He spent four years at the University of North Carolina, two at the Naval Academy and two at Harvard Law School before going into the candy business. He was for years vice president of the James A. Welch Co., headed by his brother, which has factories in Massachusetts and in Los Angeles.

Founded Group In December '58

He was a director of the National Assn. of Manufacturers for seven years, serving also as a vice president of the organization, and three former presidents of the NAM are to have been on the Birch Society's council.

On Jan. 1, 1957, his biography says, he "gave up most of his business responsibilities and most of his income, in order to devote practically all of his time and energy to the anti-Communist cause."

The John Birch Society was founded almost two years later, on Dec. 9, 1958, at Indianapolis. A two-day speech which Mr. Welch delivered, is today the "Blue Book" of the society, the official statement of its aims and methods.

It is supplemented by monthly bulletins to members and the magazine, "American Opinion," which Mr. Welch founded before the society and of which he is editor.

The message and aim is: "Less government, more responsibility and a better world."

All Opponents In "Conspiracy"

Mr. Welch quite literally wants to repeal the 20th century.

But unlike many who share his desire, either politically or nostalgically, he views its trend toward "collectivism" not simply as a mistake but as a sinister conspiracy.

It would, he claims, change the economic and political structure of the United States so that this nation can be merged with the Soviet Union without a fight.

"The danger is almost entirely internal," Mr. Welch said. "from Communist influences right in our midst and treason right in our government."

The idea that the nation must mobilize its resources to combat the external danger of Soviet military might and Soviet diplomacy is, in Mr. Welch's view, a part of the Communist plot.

"In other words, under the guise of fighting Communism we are being stamped into the biggest jump ever towards, and perhaps the final jump right into, socialism and then the Communist camp."

The conservative Los Angeles Times, in an editorial signed by publisher Otis Chandler on March 12, saw an implication of sedition in Mr. Welch's statements.

The editorial said:

"The Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won—and we do believe it can be won—by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometimes disagree."

Nature of Red Threat to U.S Outlined by Lee in Address

By JOHN THOMPSON
Of The Commercial Staff

William L. (Jerry) Lee of Amarillo, Tex., a retired Air Force general outlined the nature of the Communist threat to America last night in a free public lecture sponsored by the Pine Bluff Citizens Council.

Lee explained that communism is "revolutionary and dictatorial socialism" aimed at the elimination of individual freedom and dignity on which America is founded. He stated that the essence of the movement is ever-increasing state power.

"Communism advocates state ownership of property, state planning, the determination of wages and the elimination of personal income," he said.

Lee expressed the opinion that communism is especially attractive to intellectuals because of its promise of a classless society. He said social science teachers, for example, turn to communism because they envy the financial success of others.

After giving a brief historical review of the Communist movement, in which he traced the roots of Russian Bolshevism back to the United States of 1872, he outlined the methods by which communism is seeking power today in Asia, Europe and the United States.

"For 15½ years," he said, "the Communists have enslaved 7,000 subjects every hour. They have taken over one third of the world and of its population."

Among those whom Lee associated with the Communist movement abroad were India's Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, Egyptian President Gamal Abdul Nassar and Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

"The opinion molders would have you believe Nehru is a dynamic neutralist, Nasser an Arab nationalist and Castro an agrarian reformer. They would have had you believe the same thing about Mao Tse Tung 20 years ago," he commented.

Lee said the Communist Party in the United States has plans to divide the country into four police states at an early date.

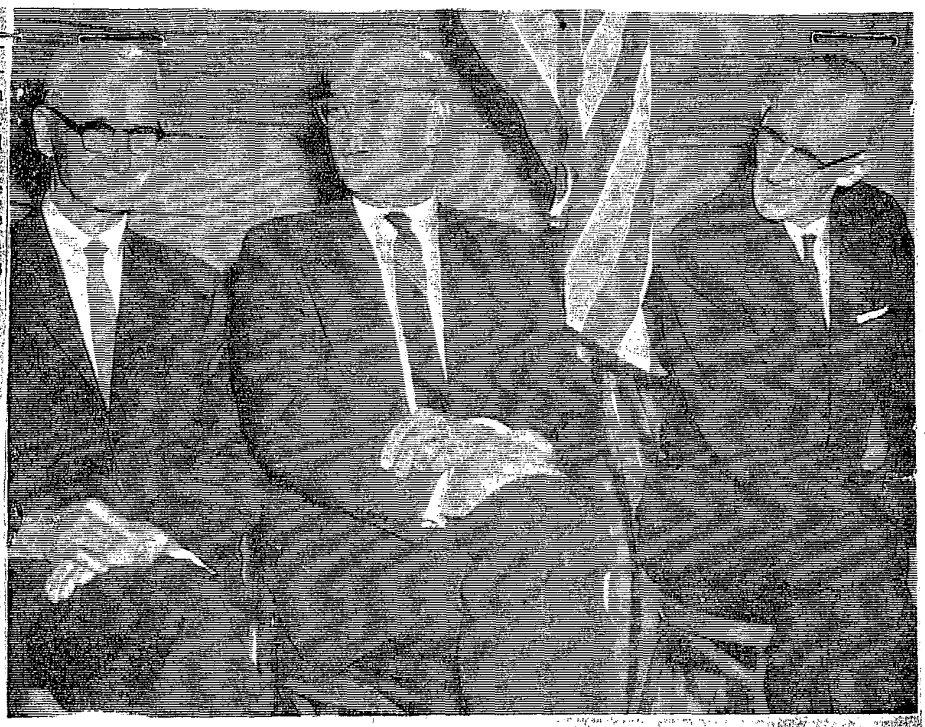
"This may happen before Kennedy completes his first administration, and 1960 may have been our last free election" said Lee. "Already one fourth of the United States has been taken over."

Lee mentioned a number of factors that lead him to believe communism is on the rise in America: Labor, which controls the nation's communications system—including lines to Air Force bases—are infiltrated by Communists; textbooks fail to report America's history in a true light; many newspapers are largely controlled by Communists: the United Nations is a haven for Communist agents; and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is a Communist organization attempting to initiate conflict between white and Negro.

"Not until the infamous decision by the Warren cesspool court did they (the NAACP) have a tool to work with," Lee said.



In this connection, Lee suggested that United States Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter be impeached. Frankfurter, he said, "was helping the Communists way back in 1909."

The John Birch Society, an anti-Communist organization of which Lee is West Texas coordinator, favors the impeachment of Warren.

Lee remarked that the early career of President John F. Kennedy, as well as his recent cabinet appointments, indicated that Kennedy had "helped the Communist cause."

Asked to explain this statement, Lee cited Kennedy's opposition to student loyalty oaths and his appointment of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, whom Lee said had aided the Communists when he was assistant secretary of state in the Truman administration.

Lee was introduced by Citizens Council President L. D. Poynter. There were several estimates on the attendance. A reporter guessed 120. Hendrix Rowell, the man who arranged the meeting for the council, said an actual count revealed 258, and Lee himself estimated the crowd at about 100.

Headquarters Churns Controversy On a Quiet Suburban Avenue

Belmont Man's Society Stirs U.S. Furor

ON A QUIET STREET in Belmont, opposite the town swimming and play area, is the national headquarters of the John Birch Society, a semi-secret group dedicated to exterminating communism, but whose extreme methods have provoked controversy in many United States cities.

BIRCH SOCIETY

Thomas More Storke, rancher and citrus grower, owner of a newspaper since 1900, briefly by interim a U.S. senator, regent of the University of California, was taking a stand against the John Birch Society and its founder and leader, Robert H. W. Welch Jr. of Belmont, Mass.

Welch, 61, retired from a candy firm four years ago to devote his life to fighting communism. What bothered Storke was the way Welch was fighting it.

In a letter written before he set up the society late in 1958 and still in limited circulation, Welch told friends that President Eisenhower, his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen Dulles, then and now head of the Central Intelligence Agency, were members of the Communist underground.

But the statement about Eisenhower wasn't all Storke had on his mind. In Santa Barbara itself, blessed as few communities in the nation with the comforts of both nature and material wealth, lives a member of the society's 26-man council, Dr. Granville Knight, a physician. Several active chapters of the semi-secret society were studying communism at private meetings and looking around town for Communists to expose.

EDITOR DARES SOCIETY TO SUE

"The secret Communist looks and acts just like anybody else, only more so," Welch had instructed them in the society's "Blue Book." He could be anybody you know. In fact, Welch said, one of his prime suspects is "one of the nicest men you ever met. Most of them are."

Exposure of such persons, even through "mean and dirty" techniques, Welch said, is one of the most effective means of shocking the American people awake in time to save themselves from communism. He also advises members to set up front groups, to infiltrate community organizations and to engage in directed letter writing to promote specific campaigns of his ultra-conservative society.

It was to protest what these tactics were doing to Santa Barbara that editor Storke raised his editorial voice.

"The News-Press condemns the tactics that have brought anonymous telephone calls of denunciation to Santa Barbarans in recent weeks from members of the John Birch Society or their sympathizers," Storke's editorial said.

"The News-Press condemns the pressures on wealthy residents who fear and abhor communism, to contribute money to an organization whose leader has said that 'for reasons you will understand, there can be no accounting of funds.' . . .

"The John Birch Society already has done a grave disservice to Santa Barbara by arousing suspicions and a mutual distrust among men of good will. The organization's adherents, sincere in their opposition to communism, do not seem to understand the dangers of the totalitarian dynamite with which they are tampering.

"The News-Press challenges them: Come up from underground.

"And if they believe that in being challenged they have grounds for suit—let them sue. The News-Press would welcome a suit as a means of shedding more light on the John Birch Society."

WELCH NOT SURE OF DEMOCRACY

What is the real nature of this relatively new group on the American political scene? Political scientists would classify it as ultra-conservative. It is and will remain a subject of controversy, however, over whether its tactics are compatible with American democratic principles as they are most popularly understood.

It is, in itself, an authoritarian society. (Editor Storke's adjective was "totalitarian"). Welch does not say the United States should have a similarly authoritarian form of government.

But he is far from completely sold on the form we now have. And as for the political concept of a democracy, he regards it frankly as a "weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

By Welch's political standards, Dwight Eisenhower is a Communist, and so are many others in high government places, past and present. These are standards not everyone accepts. The U.S. Senate on Mar. 8 heard Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, declare that Welch's accusations against Eisenhower and others had gone "beyond anything the late Joe McCarthy ever thought of." On the other hand a Senate Internal Affairs subcommittee has described Welch's John Birch Society as a "patriotic organization."

And because there is evidence to support the society's claim that it is growing, the controversy around it is also bound to grow in the months ahead.

CONTROVERSY SPREADS FAR

Santa Barbara was not the first or the last—although it would seem among the most unlikely—community to have been torn by the society's activities nor to have seen it assailed by its newspapers. The organization has become embroiled in controversy in many states, including Wisconsin, Texas, Ohio, Kansas, California and North Dakota.

The amount of secrecy surrounding its operations has varied considerably from community to community, and Welch has given up his fight to avoid publicity about the group.

At issue between the society and many who might otherwise share Welch's conservative political and economic views is his persistent reasoning that everything he personally considers wrong is a Communist plot.

At issue between the society and those who condemn it is the tendency of its activities to suppress, if not the right, at least the respectability of, dissent.

This question has split the Supreme Court itself in decisions which have qualified the First Amendment rights of witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Inhibition of free speech caused by such private organizations as the Birch Society, have had no judicial rule. Editor Storke's statement of principles, said: "We believe . . . that traitors should be dealt with by the courts, not by vigilante groups."

BIRCH KILLED BY CHINA REDS

John Birch had nothing to do with the group which bears his name. He was a young Fundamentalist Baptist missionary from Georgia, who served as an intelligence officer in China during World War II, and was killed 10 days after V.J. Day by Chinese Communists. He was 27 when he died.

Robert Welch never heard of Birch until after his death, but he has researched and written his life story. Welch has memorialized Birch as "probably the first American casualty in that Third World War, between communists and the ever-shrinking 'free world,' which is still being waged against us." And when he came to found a communist-fighting organization, he called it the John Birch Society.

In Birch's name, members of the society are asked to write letters to congressmen and others, operate in "front" organizations and through established community groups such as P.T.A.'s and chambers of commerce to push campaigns conceived by Welch as anti-communist.

These include movements to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, to repeal the income tax law, to rout the social gospel from the churches, to oppose the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, foreign aid, the United Nations and cultural, or any other, exchanges with Russia.

At her farm home near Macon, Ga., Birch's mother, Mrs. George S. Birch, said she and her husband are "heartily in accord" with Welch's organization "and we are proud for it to bear our son's name."

Welch quite literally wants to repeal the 20th century. But unlike many who share this desire, either politically or nostalgically, he views its trend toward "collectivism" not simply as a mistake but as a sinister conspiracy to change the economic and political structure of the United States so that this nation can be merged with the Soviet Union without a fight.

"You have only a few more years," he told his listeners at Indianapolis. "We are living . . . in such a fool's paradise as the people of China lived in 20 years ago."

"The danger is almost entirely internal," Welch said, "from Communist influences right in our midst and treason right in our government."

The idea that the nation must mobilize its resources to combat the external danger of Soviet military might and Sputnik supremacy is, in Welch's view, a part of the Communist plot. "In other words, under the guise of fighting communism, we are being stamped into the biggest jump ever towards, and perhaps the final jump right into, socialism and then the Communist camp."

WOULD REPEAL SOCIAL MEASURES

Welch would repeal virtually all of the social and economic legislation of the last 30 years.

He warned that communism is being slipped over on the American people so gradually and insidiously that before long "they can no longer resist the Communist conspiracy as free citizens, but can resist the Communist tyranny only by themselves becoming conspirators against established government."

Birch Society Does 'Nicely' in State, Says Member Here

REC-76

By MARSHALL WILSON

How is the John Birch Society doing in Washington State?

"Very nicely," according to P. C. (Cap) Beezley, 2749 60th Av. S. E., Mercer Island.

Beezley, volunteer organizer for the society in Washington, is convinced his organization is the "most efficient in America in the fight against Communism."

"HOW MANY members of the society are there in Washington?" Beezley was asked.

"No comment," Beezley replied. "Do the Communists tell you how many members they have? I think they would like nothing better than to know our strength."

Beezley has been collecting and reading volumes of anti-Communist literature and stacks of congressional reports for 12 years. He joined the John Birch Society when Robert Welch, society founder, conducted a two-day seminar in Seattle in September, 195[illegible].

BEEZLEY SAID he joined the society because it had "professional direction, and that is what is necessary to stop the Communists."

Although Beezley downgrades the importance of the number of members, the society has set a national goal of 1,000,000 members.

"Not everybody belongs in the organization," he said. "Some people are not in the position to take the smears we know we will have to take."

Time for extensive reading is one of the major qualifications for a prospective member of the John Birch Society.

"We want factual, documented information," Beezley said.

"HOW DO YOU pass on the information you find?" he was asked.

"Through meetings of the individual members," Beezley said.

Beezley added that pertinent facts then are called to the attention of the lawmakers," he answered.

The organization hopes for the day when 100,000 or 200,000 letters, on any subject, can flood the desks of congressmen within 48 hours.

THE SOCIETY follows a pattern of the Communist Party it hates in organizing along cell units. Each cell will be broken up into other units when membership passes 20.

"Where do you meet?" Beezley was asked.

"Each chapter meets a minimum of once a month," he answered. "Some are meeting more often. We meet in homes or offices—wherever is convenient."

At meetings, members are given their assignments—primarily letter-writing. One requirement is to read at least one book a month on the Communist peril.

BEEZLEY AGAIN and again emphasized that the aim of the society is "less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Beezley was asked about reports that there is no accounting of society funds.

"I can't say specifically, but I'll bet money it isn't true," he said.

Beezley denied that the society is secret and said the whole story is set out in the Blue Book, the organization's Bible, for sale to anyone for $2.

Beezley denied reports that some children are asked to "snitch" on their teachers, but said:

"I don't see anything wrong in asking children to report if their teachers are teaching Communism."

Beezley is a retired Seattle businessman. He was employed by an investment-security company 20 years and was president of an asphalt company when he retired in 1954.

The John Birch Society is opposed to water fluoridation.

"It's mass medication, isn't it?" Beezley asked.

He said the enemy could easily put poison or nerve drugs in a city's water system.

DESPITE HIS hatred for the Communists, Beezley is not fearful of a thermonuclear war, but fears invasion from within.

"The Soviets don't want this tremendous industrial plant a pile of contaminated cinders—and they want the people who know how to run it."

Beezley acknowledged a connection between the John Birch Society and the films, "Communism on the Map" and "Operation Abolition."

"The films were financed by the National Education Program," he said. Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding College in Searcy, Ark., is also president of that program.

"They did use some of Bob Welch's material—why shouldn't they?" he concluded.

Birch Group Called 'Fanatic Rightists'

Special to the N. Y. Journal-American

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 29.—California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, who is probing The John Birch Society under orders of Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, this week called the organization a "fanatic group of the extreme right."

The Society, a right-wing, strongly anti-Communist group, has come under sweeping attack in many parts of the State during the past few months—particularly in Southern California.

Gov. Brown ordered the probe, he said, "because fascism is just as dangerous as communism."

Mr. Mosk declined to give any indication of what his probe was seeking until he reports to the Governor. "That will be within 10 days," he said.

EXTREMELY ACTIVE

He did say, however, the Society has been extremely active in the areas of Santa Barbara, San Diego, Santa Ana, Orange and Los Angeles counties.

In Santa Barbara, wealthy residents reportedly are providing strong backing for the Society. A storm of controversy has arisen in both church and educational circles in the community.

On the religious front, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church and past-president of the National and World Councils of Churches declared the organization's manifesto is "fascist."

Calling on Presbyterians to wake up to what is happening to you under the guise of anti-communism," he charged the society is conducting a "campaign of false witness" against the church and its leaders.

ASK U.S. PROBE

In addition to the Governor's probe, a June hearing has been set by the State Senate Un-American Activities Committee. Its chairman, Sen. Hugh Burns, of Fresno, said the Society's founder, Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., will be asked to testify, adding:

"Any movement, from the unbalanced Right or the unbalanced Left, which tears the country apart by rumor, slander, fear and doubt, must necessarily be suspect."

The Assembly Rules Committee will vote tomorrow on a resolution urging a nation-wide investigation of the Birch Society by U.S. Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy. The committee heard testimony urging the resolution be passed yesterday.

Mr. Mosk classified the Birch Society as an organization which "is extremist and should be suspect by loyal Americans."

He included, along with the Society, the American Nazi Party, the Communist Party, the Ku Klux Klan, the Cinema Education Guild, the Muslims and other groups.

Mr. Mosk gave a six-point check list to help persons determine if organizations fall into wing "suspect" category:

1. Does it attack churches and schools with blanket accusations?

2. Does it attack othe traditional American institutions with wild unsupported charges?

3. Does it label everyone Un-American or subversive with whom it disagrees politically?

4. Does it try to rewrite modern history by blaming American statesmen for wars, communism, depressions and all other ills of the world?

6. Do the spokesmen for the pressure tactics by such means as anonymous phone calls and letter-writing campaigns?

6. Do the spokesman for the group appear more interested in the size of their money collections than in the principals they purport to espouse?

"Apply these six tests," said Mr. Mosk, "and you will avoid entangling yourself in memberships and contributions to such groups."

ULTRACONSERVATIVE GROUP ASSAILED

Birch Society Called Ike, Dulles Reds

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
By United Press International

Residents of Santa Barbara, Calif., were in for a surprise when they stepped out into the bright and blowy morning of Feb. 26 to pick up their Sunday newspapers. In that quiet and beautiful city of about 60,000, a respected fellow citizen had discovered what he felt was an outrage.

"The editor and publisher of the News-Press is in his 85th year," began a two-column editorial on the front page.

"His entire life has been spent in this community...he lived when conditions were rugged. When West was West and men were men.

"He lived during periods when if a man or a group of men openly by word of mouth, or the printed word, called our President...and others at the head of our government, traitors, they were made to answer. Such slanders often called for a visit from a courageous and irate group which brought with them a barrel of tar and a few feathers...."

THOMAS MORE STORKE, rancher and citrus grower, owner of a newspaper since 1900, briefly a United States senator, regent of the University of California, was taking a stand against the John Birch Society and its founder and leader, Robert Welch, 61, of Belmont, Mass.

In a letter written before he set up the society late in 1958 and still in limited circulation, Mr. Welch told friends that President Eisenhower, his brother, Milton, the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, were members of the Communist underground.

In Santa Barbara itself, blessed as few communities in the nation with the comforts of both nature and material wealth wealth, several active chapters of the semi-secret society were studying Communism at private meetings and looking around town for "Communists" to expose.

"The secret Communist looks and acts just like anybody else, only more so," Mr. Welch had instructed them in the society's "Blue Book." He could be anybody you know. In fact Mr. Welch said, one of his prime suspects is "one of the nicest men you ever met. Most of them are."

Holds Democracy Political Fraud

The society is, in itself, an authoritarian society. Editor Storke's adjective was "totalitarian"). Mr. Welch is far from completely sold on the form of government we now have.

As for the political concept of a democracy, he regards it frankly as a "weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

By Mr. Welch's political standards, Dwight Eisenhower is a Communist, and so are many others in high government places, past and present. These are standards not everyone accepts.

The U.S. Senate on March 8 heard Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, declare that Mr. Welch's accusations against Mr. Eisenhower and others had gone "beyond anything the late Joe McCarthy ever thought of."

A little over three weeks after Mr. Storke's editorial, Chancellor Samuel B. Gould of the University of California at Santa Barbara, speaking at a university banquet, said a "new type" of secret student organization had been set up on the campus whihc encourages students to become informers and "take on the tasks of security agencies." It is understood he referred to the Birch Society.

An issue between the society and many who might otherwise share Mr. Welch's conservative political and economic views is his persistent reasoning that everything he personally considers wrong is a Communist plot.

John Birch had nothing to do with the group. He was a young fundamentalist Baptist missionary from Georgia who served as an intelligence officer in China during World War II and was killed 10 days after V-J Day by Chinese Communists. He was 27 when he died.

In Mr. Birch's name, members of the society are asked to write letters to congressmen and others, operate in "front" organizations and through established community groups such as PTAs and chambers of commerce to push campaigns conceived by Welch as anti-Communist.

These include movements to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, to repeal the income tax law, to rout the social gospel from the churches, to oppose the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, foreign aid, the United Nations and cultural, or any other, exchanges with Russia.

Mr. Welch was born in North Carolina, Dec. 1, 1899. He was reared, in what he now calls "the intellectually restricting bonds of the unusually narrow Southern Baptist fundamentalism."

He spent four years at the University of North Carolina, two at the Naval Academy and two at Harvard Law School before going into the candy business. He was for years vice president of the James A. Welch Co., headed by his brother, which has factories in Massachusetts and in Los Angeles.

Founded Group In December '58

He was a director of the National Assn. of Manufacturers for seven years, serving also as a vice president of the organization, and three former presidents of the NAM are or have been on the Birch Society's council.

On Jan. 1, 1957, his biography says, he "gave up most of his business responsibilities—and most of his income—in order to devote practically all of his time and energy to the anti-Communist cause."

The John Birch Society was founded almost two years later on Dec. 9, 1958, at Indianapolis. A two-day speech, which Mr. Welch delivered, is today the "Blue Book" of the society, the official statement of its aims and methods.

It is supplemented by monthly bulletins to members and the magazine, "American Opinion," which Mr. Welch founded before the society and of which he is editor.

The message and aim is: "Less government, more responsibility and a better world."

All Opponents In "Conspiracy"

Mr. Welch quite literally wants to repeal the 20th century.

But unlike many who share this desire, either politically or ostalgically, he views its trend toward "collectivism" not simply as a mistake but as a sinister conspiracy.

It would, he claims, change the economic and political structure of the United States so that this nation can be merged with the Soviet Union without a fight.

"The danger is almost entirely internal," Mr. Welch said, "from Communist influence right in our midst and treason right in our government."

The idea that the nation must mobilize its resources to combat the external danger of Soviet military might and Sputnik supremacy is, in Mr. Welch's view, a part of the Communist plot.

"In other words, under the guise of fighting Communism we are being stamped into the biggest jump ever towards, and perhaps the final jump right into,into, socialism and then the Communist camp."

The conservative Los Angeles Times, in an editorial signed by publisher Otis Chandler on March 12, saw an implication of sedition in Mr. Welch's statements.

The editorial said:

"The Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won—and we do believ it can be won by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometimes disagree."

John Birch Society:

Alarmist Order

A semi-secret society which has begun to appear in the news throughout the nation largely because of its extremism in its fight against communism and its shocking characterization of many national leaders as Communists is the John Birch Society. This is the first of a series of articles on the goals, the organization, leadership and plan of action of this organization.

BY BARRY FARRELL
Post-Intelligencer Staff Reporter

TWO years ago, a retired candy manufacturer called a meeting of a dozen men. The men came to Indianapolis in mid-winter, drawn there by the heat of the cold war. After a two-day monologue delivered by Robert Welch, the candy maker and the founder of the John Birch Society, 12 men were forged together in a common aim: The defeat, at all costs, of international communism.

Since then the John Birch Society has spread to every state in the union. There are chapters in 35 states and scores of "home chapter" members in the others. By year's end, the society expects 100,000 members. Its goal is one million. Its size increases at a rate that doubles the total membership every four months.

Chapters Here

Seattle has several chapters and there are chapters in Kent and in Renton, in Edmonds, Bellingham, Tacoma, Burlington, Sunnydale, Bellevue and other cities in the state. New chapters form almost monthly, dividing themselves like amoebae from one chapter into two whenever the membership of a chapter grows beyond 20.

The John Birch Society is on the move.

The society's members are locked together by "completely authoritative controls at all levels" in hopes of presenting a strong and militant front to advance the two aims of the society: Fight communism and work for less government, more individual responsibility and a better world.

The membership, according to P. C. Beezley of Mercer Island, volunteer coordinator of John Birch activities in Washington State, runs the gamut of society—the young and old, Republican and Democrat, rich man and poor. The one thing the members have in common, Beezley has said, is fear.

"We're looking for members sufficiently aware of things to be frightened and sufficiently frightened to want to work. As soon as people talk together and get afraid, they'll start working with us."

The theme of fear runs through all the books, magazines and statements the society issues. In "The Blue Book of the John Birch Society," a primer of ultra-conservatism drawn from tape recordings made at Welch's Indianapolis convention, many pages are devoted to the importance of "shock technique" in awakening Americans to the menace of communism.

Grave Accusations

And, as Welch interprets it, the menace of communism is truly fearful. The past three American presidents, he has written, were either Communists or tools of the Communists.

To Welch, President Eisenhower was a "dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy." He also wrote of Eisenhower that "... there is only one word to describe his purposes and actions. That word is treason."

He describes President Kennedy as "the amoral man ... smart enough to know the strong Communist support behind the scenes which he will have to get ..." and a man who "can do a tremendous amount of ball-carrying on behalf of the Communist aims here in the United States."

Welch has called both the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, tools of the Communists. Another "Communist dupe," Welch charges, is Chief Justice Earl Warren and Welch has made it a cardinal ambition of his society to see the day when Warren is impeached.

"The Blue Book" and Welch's own credo, a confidential book distributed to a limited number of followers called "The Politician," draw the battle lines against communism right through the heart of American society. Communists control the press, the United Nations, high posts in the government and the armed forces, leading positions in the schools and universities, at least one of every three Protestant churches and most civic organizations, Welch argues.

"The Politician" has brought considerable discomfort to many John Birch members and to Welch, himself, who argues that it has nothing to do with the society. But the tenor of its charges is found everywhere in the literature of the society and in "American Opinion," its monthly magazine.

The John Birch Society has been attacked by many national leaders for its authoritarian organization, its reckless charges against the most august and influential Americans and its plan of operations for the future. Last week former Vice President Richard Nixon warned Americans against adopting the tactics of communism to fight subversion in this country.

Warning From Nixon

"It may at times seem unrealistic and naive to follow the rules of the game when our opponents are so unscrupulous and completely devoid of morality," Nixon wrote. "But in the end, refusing to resort to methods that are wrong not only is right, but in the long run it is the most effective way to combat an evil doctrine like communism."

But to Welch, such charges are simply part of the expected "smear," the result of what he considers the decay of Americanism in both the leaders who denounce his society and the press which broadcasts the attacks.

"When we get smeared," Beezley said the other day, "it means we're beginning to be noticed. We're beginning to hurt them (the Communists) and the smear has always been their counterattack. It's perfectly all right with us it's a sign of our strength."

(Tomorrow: The John Birch Society—A Portrait of its Leaders.)

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

Groups Scorn Democracy, U.S. Leaders

The John Birch Society, a strange product of strange times, was born a little more than two years ago.

A semi-secret society, it grew out of infancy known only to a few. It burst into public prominence only in the past month or so.

Now, as if by magic, the John Birch Society is discussed and debated in churches, in schools, in the press, in Congress.

The society says it now has thousands of members across the nation, organized chapters in 34 states including Texas, and a growing reservoir of money and power.

HOUSTON IS described by the society as one of its strongest bulwarks. Its members here are said to number in the hundreds.

The society also has a leader who once branded President Eisenhower as a traitor and a Communist.

"Shocking and irresponsible," the society was called by Congressman J. T. Rutherford of Odessa in a newsletter to his constitutents.

Sen James O. Eastland, D-Miss, chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, describes it in a form letter used to answer queries as:

"A CONSERVATIVE anti-Communist organization . . . It seems to me, from our records, a patriotic organization."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on the other hand, warned that the society operates on the "dangerous fallacy" that the end justifies the means.

Nixon condemned the society in a letter to the Los Angeles Times, a newspaper which had itself condemned the society in a front-page editorial.

'Subversion . . . Is Still Subversion'

"Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion," the Times said.

WHAT IS THIS society that provoked all the uproar? Who runs it? How powerful is it? How does it operate? What are its goals?

Because of the society's semi-secret nature, not all of these questions have been fully answered.

The best answers available come from the society's own publications — mainly its bible, the so-called Blue Book.

The 182-page Blue Book, printed by offset press with a loose-leaf binding, was written by Robert Welch, 61, the society's founder.

In a foreword to the book, Welch tells this story of how the society was born.

IT BEGAN AT a two-day meeting in Indianapolis on Dec 8-9, 1958.

Eleven friends of Welch's, all described as influential businessmen but never named, assembled at Welch's request without knowing why.

There was one man apiece from Oregon, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Virginia. There were two men apiece from Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

Welch himself is a former executive of a Massachusetts candy company.

For two days and nights, stopping only for meals and coffee breaks, the 11 men listened to Welch unfold his plan. Welch never says how many of the 11 were converted to his cause.

Socialism, Communism Are Same

BUT HE DOES say that the Blue Book is "simply a transcript, practically verbatim, of that presentation."

The Blue Book first traces the history of Communism and its successes around the world. And to Welch, socialism and Communism are the same.

He says Norway is under the Communist thumb "for all practical purposes," while Iceland and Finland are completely so. Even Hawaii, he says, is Communist-controlled.

He broadly implies that Nehru of India, Nasser of Egypt and Sukarno of Indonesia are Communists.

TURNING TO the United States, Welch is just as jolting. Without benefit of documentation, he sees Communists everywhere.

He sees a gigantic conspiracy of Communists in high places, slyly softening the American people for eventual bloodless conquest.

"This door of betrayal is known to be wide open," he says in the Blue Book, "and nobody—in Congress, in the executive branch, in the Pentagon itself — nobody even dares try to close it."

He says a Communist-controlled communications union can tap "75 vital links in the most secret communications of our government itself."

"THE BEST informed authorities (not named) say that there are at least 30 huge Communist espionage rings operating in this country today," Welch writes, "against the only two or three that have been only partly exposed."

He says the nation's press, radio and television for the most part are controlled by Communists.

A Plot To Suppress Literature

These news media, he says, take part in a conspiracy to suppress books written by the few patriots who try to expose the menace.

WELCH SAID one such suppressed book was "The Struggle for the A-Bomb" by Dr Medford Evans, a onetime chief of security training for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The book convinced Welch, at least, that up until that time (1952) Soviet Russia had never built an A-Bomb of its own.

"Their agents had simply walked off from our plants with the necessary separate parts," Welch said, "which had then been assembled in Russia and exploded whenever it best suited the Soviets' pretenses."

YET, WELCH continued, this story of treason that "should have rocked the nation" sold only 2,600 copies. Why?

Welch says press reviewers ignore such books, their publishers are intimidated, and the few copies which get printed are slowly stolen from library shelves by Communist agents.

Getting more specific, the Blue Book on Page 99 accuses the late President Roosevelt and the late Gen George C. Marshall of "plain unadulterated treason" for their roles in Pearl Harbor.

Moving toward the present, Welch sits his sights on "the amoral man who has no slightest inner concern with right or wrong."

WELCH NAMES no name, but he apparently is talking of the then Sen John F. Kennedy.

"You will usually find him in church on Sunday morning," Welch writes, "maybe even a Catholic church.

"But as a member of the United States Senate, running for the presidency, and smart enough to know the strong Communist support behind-the-scenes which he will have to get in order to have any chance of being nominated in 1960, such an amoral man can do a tremendous amount of ball-carrying on behalf of the Communist aims here in the United States."

IN HIS Blue Book, Welch also has a few words to say about then Vice President Nixon, who was a presidential possibility at that time.

An Appraisal of Richard Nixon

"One of the ablest, shrewdest, most disingenuous and slipperiest politicians that ever showed up on the American scene," Welch said.

Welch accused Nixon of trumpeting his "highly cautious part" in the Alger Hiss case, while at the same time courting the left "by quietly knifing McCarthy."

IN 1952, Welch wrote, Nixon aided in or perhaps engineered "the dirtiest deal in American political history."

Welch said Nixon deserted the late Sen Robert A. Taft "to make himself vice president (and to put Warren on the Supreme Court as part of that deal)."

"I don't think Nixon," Welch said, "is committed to anything other than the career of Richard Nixon."

WELCH WAS even blunter in another book he wrote sometime earlier, apparently about 1956.

That book, "The Politician," was distributed privately by Welch to a few close friends. Copies of it have since been recalled. It was never registered in the Library of Congress.

In that book, Welch labeled former President Eisenhower and high members of his administration as Communists or traitors.

In "The Politician," Welch said of Mr Eisenhower:

"THERE IS only one possible word to describe his purposes and actions. That word is treason."

At another point in the book:

"In my opinion the chances are very strong that Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist Party. For one thing, he is obviously a great deal smarter."

Others described in the book as "Communist agents" include the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

THESE CHARGES are not mentioned in the Blue Book and are not official doctrine of the John Birch Society.

Many society members, in fact, believe "The Politician" is a myth, planted by their enemies to discredit them.

A Member in Houston Agrees

But here in Houston, on a television debate only last Saturday, one society member agreed with Welch's charge.

Robert V. Gray, a salesman and unsuccessful candidate for Republican county chairman in 1960, said Mr Eisenhower is "a Red to me."

WHAT IS Welch's answer to this Communist conspiracy?

It is the John Birch Society, named after a Baptist missionary who became an Army intelligence officer and was killed by the Chinese Communists late in World War II.

Welch uses the last half of the Blue Book to detail the society's philosophy and program.

And to a lot of readers, the last part of the book is no less frightening than the first.

WELCH'S PLAN — now in action — is to fight the Communists with some of their own weapons: An unquestioned central leader, chapters working unknown to each other, infiltration of existing organizations, the use of fronts, the personal attack.

Welch gets down to the bedrock of his philosophy on Page 155 of the Blue Book.

"Democracy," he writes, "is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

In the same vein, he says republican government has its attractions and advantages under certain favorable circumstances.

"BUT UNDER less happy circumstances," he goes on, "it lends itself too readily to infiltration, distortion and disruption."

Welch makes plain that his organization will not tumble into these pitfalls.

"The John Birch Society is to be a monolithic 'body,'" he writes. "... The John Birch Society will operate under completely authoritative control at all levels."

Welch elaborates on his theme in the ensuing pages. Some excerpts:

"WE CANNOT stop for parliamentary procedures or a lot of arguments among ourselves."

'Business Every Step of the Way'

"We are not going to have factions developing on the two-sides-to-every-question theme . . ."

"We can allow for differences of opinion . . . But whenever differences of opinion become translated into a lack of loyal support, we shall have short cuts for eliminating both without going through any congress of so-called democratic processes . . ."

ONLY BY SUCH tactics, Welch contends, can the society combat Communism effectively. And he adds repeatedly:

"We mean business every step of the way."

At another point, the Blue Book proposes that suspected Communists be exposed by articles in conservative magazines. The articles would consist entirely of questions.

"The question technique, when skillfully used in this way, is mean and dirty," Welch admits.

"BUT THE Communists we are after are meaner and dirtier, and too slippery for you to put your fingers on them in the ordinary way."

Welch points out that this technique was used effectively by the late Sen Joseph McCarthy.

This, however, is only one facet of a 10-point plan of action which Welch lays out for his society:

1) The setting up of reading rooms, similar to a religious sect's reading rooms, in towns and villages everwhere, with rental libraries of approved conservative books not otherwise obtainable.

2) A WIDER distribution of such conservative periodicals as Welch's own American Opinion, a monthly review of current events.

Welch urges that American Opinion and Human Events be put in barber shops, the Dan Smoot Report in doctors and dentists' offices, the National Review in every college library and fraternity house.

Letters, Committees, Exposes

3) The support of such conservative radio commentators as Fulton Lewis and Clarence Manion through letters of approval to sponsors, stations and networks.

ALSO, THE development and support of local commentators with similar views.

4) The organized and controlled use of "the powerful letter-writing weapon" on legislators, government executives, newspapers, politicians and anybody else in sight.

As an example, Welch says, United Air Lines dropped a plan to put the United Nations insignia with the words "We Believe" on all its planes. He credited a flood of letters to the airline directors.

5) The organization of fronts — "little fronts, big fronts, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kinds of fronts."

SOME SUGGESTED by Welch: Committee for Withdrawal of Recognition (of Soviet Russia), Committee to Protest the Firing of Medford Evans, A Petition to Impeach Earl Warren and a Committee to Investigate Communist Influences at Vassar College ("headed by Vassar graduates, of course").

6) The shocking of the American peope by the exposure of highly-placed educators, government officials and others suspected by the society of being Communists.

Welch says that even after spending $100,000 on detectives to investigate a suspect, "I doubt if we could prove it on him."

BUT HE ADDS that a f

thousands spent for careful research would provide "all the material needed for quite a shock."

7) The heckling and harassing of "slimy characters" who falsely pose as anti-Communists while making speeches and broadcasts or writing books.

8) The creation of a list of approved speakers to appear before church clubs, P-TA groups and other organizations of all sizes for small fees or no fees.

9) Action on the international front, including help for anti-Communist refugees in setting up governments in exile.

10 "FINALLY, and probably most important of all these courses of action, we would put our weight into the political scales in this country just as fast and far as we could."

Leader Can't Be a Politician

Having laid out his goals at the Indianapolis meeting, Welch next turned to the question of a leader for the John Birch Society.

He brought up the name of Sen Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz, praising him as a superb political organizer "absolutely sound in his Americanism."

BUT WHILE Welch favored Goldwater over any other established leader in sight, he reasoned that Goldwater had one fatal flaw. He was a politician.

Welch decided that Goldwater could not supply the dynamic overall leadership needed because he will inevitably think and move in terms of political warfare.

Driven by "the imminence and horror of this (Communist) danger," Welch then took the "desperate course" of offering himself as the society's leader.

"IT IS NOT because I want so frightening a responsibility ," Welch said. "It is simply that, under the pressure of time and the exigencies of our need, you have no other choice, and neither do I."

One of Welch's critics, Sen Milton R. Young, R-ND, questioned the mental balance of the self-chosen leader of the society in a speech on the Senate floor on March 8. Referring to the accusation that Mr Eisenhower was a Communist, Sen Young said:

"It is unbelievable that any sane person would make such accusations."

What sort of person is Welch? What is his background?

IN A BRIEF biography in the Blue Book, Welch says he was born on a farm in Chowan County in North Carolina.

His Welsh ancestry was heavy with farmers and Baptist preachers.

He spent four years at the University of North Carolina, two at the U. S. Naval Academy and two at the Harvard Law School.

Welch moved from North Carolina to Boston in 1919. He has spent most of his adult life with the James O. Welch Company, run by his brother.

UNTIL HIS retirement in 1957 to become a professional anti-Communist, Welch was vice president in charge of sales and advertising for the candy company.

Air of Conviction, Sheer Stamina

Welch was on the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers for seven years. For three years, he was a regional vice president of the NAM, and he also was once chairman of its educational advisory committee.

Welch, who fancies himself as a public speaker, has taken his message to many business and civic groups in recent years.

A TWO-HOUR filmed speech by Welch is used to recruit new members to the society. Welch spends the two hours covering the main points in the Blue Book, often in the same words.

He is a balding man with faintly pouched eyes.

His chief assets as a speaker are an air of conviction and sheer stamina. In the film, he is not a shouter or a podium pounder. He appears to possess little of that peculiar personal magnetism the late Sen McCarthy had.

Between trips to Europe, Asia and South America, Welch has lived for 22 years in Belmont, Mass.

USING BELMONT as his headquarters, Welch has organized the John Birch Society along the lines first laid out in the Blue Book.

The society is built around small local chapters, usually of 10 to 20 members, but sometimes larger. When a chapter grows too large, it splits into a new chapter.

Each chapter has a leader appointed by Welch. The chapter leader's main job is to collect the members' dues and forward them to Belmont.

In line with Welch's concept of authority from the top, society members get their orders in a monthly bulletin sent out from Belmont. The chain of command skips over chapter leaders.

THE CHAPTERS normally meet once a month, in the home of the chapter leader or a member.

In areas with a number of chapters, Welch names co-ordinators to supervise the existing chapters and recruit new ones. Some co-ordinators draw a salary. Some are volunteers.

Over the co-ordinators, Welch has now named major co-ordinators in several areas. He says more will be added as the society grows.

In areas where there are no local chapters, new members are enrolled in a so-called home chapter at Belmont.

FROM THE first, Welch's goal has been a million members.

How well has he done? That is a society secret. As Welch says in a pamphlet given to prospective members:

"Neither the list of our members, of either local chapters or the home chapter, nor their number, is ever given out to anybody."

In the same pamphlet, however, Welch says the society as of last Jan 31 had one to 100 chapters in each of 34 states and the District of Columbia.

HE LISTED these states then still unorganized by the society: Alabama, Alaska, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah and Vermont.

The Los Angeles Times, in a recent series on the society, said the society expects to have 100,000 members by the end of this year.

One Southern California leader of the society told the Times there are several thousand members in that area.

WELCH HIMSELF says Greater Los Angeles and Greater Houston are two of the society's strongholds.

One Houston official of the society says there are hundreds of members in the Houston area.

The society is frankly out for all the money it can muster to pursue its campaigns.

The basic annual dues are $24 for men, $12 for women. But all members are invited to pay larger dues, if they can, "to support the society's work." The dues are payable monthly.

A LIFE membership costs $1,000, payable in two consecutive annual installments of $500 each.

At the meeting in Indianapolis Welch, also invited his 11 businessmen friends to contribute to the society as heavily as they could.

Other revenue comes from the sale of Blue Books (price, $2), Welch's monthly American Opinion, and other pamphlets.

During the national election last fall, one of the society's monthly pamphlets told readers how to order campaign buttons reading: "Goldwater Says: Don't Dodge — Vote for Nixon and Lodge."

THE QUOTED price was $1 apiece for up to 20 buttons, 50 cents apiece for more than that.

How the money is spent is another of Welch's secrets. He does not have to account to members for it.

In a Feb 26 editorial criticizing the society, the Santa Barbara (Calif) News-Press observed:

"One million members, divided equally between men and women, would bring him $18 Million a year. Quite a sum to play with without accountability."

ALTHOUGH HE is the society's absolute leader, Welch has set up a council to guide and advise him. The council members include:

Cola G. Parker and William J. Grede, Wisconsin industrialists, and both former presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers; Clarence Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School; Spruille Braden, a former U. S. diplomat; T. Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of internal revenue, and Col Laurence E. Banker, former personal aide to Gen Douglas MacArthur.

The council also has another assignment: To appoint Welch's successor as head of the society.

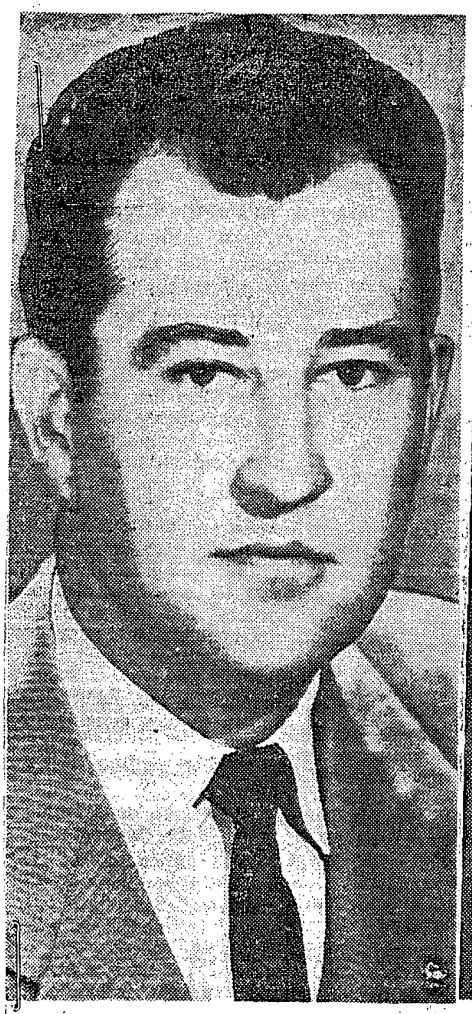
"IF AND WHEN" an accident, suicide, or anything sufficiently fatal is arranged for me by the Communists," Welch explains, "or I simply die in bed of old age and a cantankerous disposition."

Critics of Welch have focused their fire on his apparent contempt for democracy, his disbelief in democratic processes as a match for Communism.

Welch replies that his society could never become the seed of a dictatorship because membership is strictly voluntary.

IN REPLY TO growing criticism in California, Welch last week asked for an investigation of his society by that state's Senate Un-American Activities Committee.

Welch pledged that no society member would take the Fifth Amendment.



The California investigation is tentatively set for next summer.

In Washington, there has been talk of similar hearings by the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate internal security subcommittee.

WELCH HIMSELF was asked recently by a Boston Herald reporter if he still believed his earlier charge that Mr Eisenhower was a Communist.

"Now I don't know what I think," Welch was quoted as replying. "Eisenhower may be too dumb to be a Communist."

Some critics have accused Welch of using the very tool employed by the Coommunists in taking over a country — hate, fear, distrust and contempt for the duly constituted government.

U. S. EXTREMISM: Birch Society Invokes Name of Slain Baptist Missionary

By United Press International

John Birch had nothing to do with the controversial right-wing group that bears his name.

Birch was a young, fundamentalist Baptist missionary from Georgia who served as an intelligence officer in China in the Second World War. He was killed ten days after V-J Day by Chinese Communists. He was 27 when he died.

Robert Welch, the Boston industrialist who is the power behind the Birch Society, never heard of Birch until after his death. Welch has researched and whitten his life story.

Welch has memorialized Birch as "probably the first American casualty in that third world war between Communists and the ever shrinking 'free world' which is still being waged against us." And when he came to found a Communist-fighting organization he called it the John Birch Society.

In Birch's name, members of the society are asked to write letters to congressmen and others, operate in "front" organizations and through established community groups such as P. T. A.'s and Chambers of Commerce to push campaigns conceived by Welch as anti-Communist.

These campaigns include movements to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, to repeal the income tax law, to rout the social gospel from the churches, to oppose the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, foreign aid, the United Nations and cultural, or any other, exchanges with Russia.

AT HER FARM home near Macon, Ga., Birch's mother, Mrs. George S. Birch, said she and her husband are "heartily in accord" with Welch's organization "and we are proud for it to bear our son's name."

Welch also is a native Southerner, born in North Carolina, December 1, 1899. He was reared in what he now calls "the intellectually restricting bonds of the unusually narrow Southern Baptist fundamentalism."

Welch spent four years at the University of North Carolina, two at the Naval Academy and two at Harvard Law School before going into the candy business. He was for years vice president of the James O. Welch Co. headed by his brother, which has factories in Massachusetts and in Los Angeles.

IN HIS OWN words—a biographical sketch Welch wrote in the third person for society members—he has one wife, two sons, a Golden Retriever dog, and fourteen golf clubs—none of which he understands, but all of which he loves.

Welch is an affable man who exhibits in his writings a sense of humor, love of poetry and wide knowledge of history and literature.

Welch was a director of the National Association of Manufacturers for seven years, serving also as a vice president of the organization. Three former presidents of the N. A. M. are or have been on the Birch Society's council.

On January 1, 1957, Welch's biography says, he "gave up most of his business responsibilties—and most of his income—in order to devote practically all of his time and energy to the anti-Communist cause."

THE JOHN BIRCH Society was founded almost two years later, on December 9, 1958, at Indianapolis, after Welch delivered a two-day speech to 11 men he had invited to hear it.

That speech is today the "Blue Book" of the society, the official statement of its aims and methods. It is supplemented by monthly bulletins to members and the magazine American Opinion, which Birch founded before the society, and of which he is editor.

The message and aim is: "Less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Welch quite literally wants to repeal the 20th Century. He views its trend toward "collectivism" not simply as a mistake but as a sinister conspiracy to change the economic and political structure of the United States so that this nation can be merged with the Soviet Union without a fight.

"YOU HAVE ONLY a few more years," Welch told his listeners at Indianapolis. "We are living . . . in such a fool's paradise as the people of China lived in 20 years ago."

"The danger is almost entirely internal," Welch said, "from Communist influences right in our midst and treason right in our government."

The idea that the nation must mobilize its resources to combat the external danger of Soviet might is, in Welch's view, a part of the Communist plot.

"In other words, under the guise of fighting Communism, we are being stampeded into the biggest jump ever toward, and perhaps the final jump right into, socialism and then the Communist camp."

Welch would repeal virtually all of the social and economic legislation of the past 30 years.

"THE GREATEST enemy of man is, and always has been, government," Welch said.

"We are not beginning any revolution, nor even a counter-revolution, in any technical sense," Welch said. "Yet our determination to overthrow an entrenched tyranny is the very stuff of which revolutions are made."

Welch warned that Communism is being slipped over on the American people so gradually and insidiously that before long "they can no longer resist the Communist conspiracy as free citizens, but can resist the Communist tyranny only by themselves becoming conspirators against established government."

The Los Angeles Times, in an editorial signed by Otis Chandler, publisher, on March 12, saw an implication of sedition in Welch's statements. And, like many others, it deplored the identification of conservatism with extremism.

"THE TIMES believes implicitly in the conservative philosophy," the editorial said. "It has challenged all these men and most of these institutions (which Welch attacks) on the soundness of one or more issues. But the Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won—and we do believe it can be won—by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometimes disagree."

"Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion."

Criticism from the press is not likely to disturb Welch. He has already told his followers that "the domination of our press, television and radio by Communist influences is now so great that you simply are not allowed to learn or be reminded of the real nature of the beasts to whom we are losing."

AN EDITORIAL in American Opinion for February said the long-insolvent Communist newspaper, The Daily Worker, quit publication because "the line taken by The (New York) Times long ago made it unnecessary, superfluous and probably embarrassing to The Times."

"When you hear Welch's charges out of context . . . their absurdity is plain enough," the Rev. John A. Crane told his congregation at Santa Barbara's Unitarian Church one February Sunday.

"But when you come upon them in the publications of the society, surrounded and supported by Welch's rich, flowing language and ideas, their absurdity is well concealed.

"The man is a marvelously gifted demogogue . . .

"There is another factor, apart from the magic of Robert Welch, that lends power to the movement . . . Both Welch and his people are genuinely afraid . . . driven by an almost wild fear of a persistent and pervasive sort. Because of the peculiar nature of their understanding of what it means to be an American everywhere they look, in our society, they see signs of an incredibly devious subversion . . ."

Rightists Threaten "Silence of Fear"

By Marquis Childs

HOW DANGEROUS to the well-being of this Nation and to America's position as leader of the free world are the radicals of the right?

This is a question being asked here seriously today as these radicals increasingly resort to the tactics of the Communists and the cryto-Communists of the thirties. They practice character assassination without regard for the truth. They spread fear, hatred and suspicion. They advocate infiltration of nonpolitical organizations such as the Parent-Teachers Association and the taking over of those organizations.

In some respects these radicals on the extreme right more nearly resemble the fanatical subverters of Germany and Italy who brought nazism and fascism into being. They are often allied with the White Citizens Councils, identifying integration with communism. And at the extreme end of the spectrum they are openly anti-Semitic, often referring in propaganda leaflets to the "Jewish-Communist conspiracy."

A few years ago this would have been dismissed as merely another manifestation of what Theodore Roosevelt so aptly called the lunatic fringe—this time on the right rather than the left. But with the rise of the John Birch Society and its intrusion into politics that is not so easy to do. Founded by Robert Welch, a former Massachusetts candy manufacturer, the Birch society now claims nearly a hundred thousand members with chapters in most states.

WELCH'S secretly circulated book, The Politician—now reportedly withdrawn because it alarmed some members—has been compared to Mein Kampf, if only in the Hitlerian view that the greater the lie the more likely that simple minds will fall victim to it. He calls every President beginning with Franklin Roosevelt a Communist. Of the Eisenhower brothers he writes:

"While I, too, think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

Both the late John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, are called Communists, with the latter ranking next to former President Eisenhower in his power of concealment. A signed editorial following a series of articles revealing the activities of the John Birch Society in one of the most conservative newspapers in the country concluded:

ONE of the recent political targets of the organization was Sen. Milton Young, Republican of North Dakota. Members of the four Birch societies in Bismarck, the state capital, were pushing in the legislature a proposal for a constitutional convention to act on an amendment abolishing the Federal income tax, liquidating 700 Government agencies and greatly restricting the Government's treaty-making power.

The House had already approved the proposal when Senator Young sent a telegram urging the Senate to defeat it and pointing out that it would mean killing the Garrison dam irrigation diversion project in North Dakota. Thereupon the Birchists came down on Young with their letter-writing and telephone technique seeking to put the Communist label on one whose record has on the whole been conservative.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, a moderate Republican, has also been under fire. One of the main goals of the Birch letter-writing blitz is to bring about the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren who was Kuchel's sponsor in politics. Asked about this at a press conference, he called it a "contemptible and vicious thing" to suggest the impeachment of "one of the great men of our time."

Birch Society members have used their pressure techniques to force the showing of the House Un-American Activities film, Operation Abolition. And they have denounced as Communists anyone questioning its accuracy or daring to suggest that the committee may have exceeded its rights.

For popular officeholders such as Kuchel and Young this is perhaps no more than a nuisance, even though they are both up for reelection next year. But for citizens—professors, clergymen and others—with a conviction of their right to speak critical and unpopular views, it can mean community distrust, a small business harmed or even a job lost. The silence of fear is the alternate penalty the radicals of the right try to impose.

'VICIOUS, CRUDE'

John Birchers' Mail Swamps Rutherford

POST WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON — Rep J. T. Rutherford of Odessa has been under heavy return fire from Houstonians and other Texans who are members of the controversial John Birch Society.

Rutherford a week ago labeled the society "potentially subversive" in a newsletter to his constituents, and urged them to be wary of the organization, which says its aim is to fight Communism.

MORE THAN A hundred letters from Houston, some from both husbands and wives, have poured into the congressman's office in protest.

"They have expressed doubt on my belief in God, in my country, questioned every organization to which I belong, wondered in print about my birth and every act of every day since," Rutherfor said Monday.

"I have gotten some of the most vicious, crude and objectionable mail I have received in years of public life," Rutherford added.

"Their letters are alleging that the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of which I was state commander, is questionable. Yet the VFW, in 1924, became the first organization to pass a resolution against Communism and has renewed it every year since. The letters urge investigations of the Knights of Columbus, the Masonic Lodge, B'nai B'rith and the NAACP. They even question the American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"FOR THE information of those Houstonians who are writing these letters, I am a World War II Marine Corps veteran wounded in action, and a Marine Corps captain in a reserve group that is cleared by the FBI and the Pentagon to meet each Thursday to be briefed on top secret material," Rutherford said.

"I am also a Baptist," he added.

"If I ever had any doubt about this organization, the results of my first statement, and the viciousness of the mail have confermed my opposition," the congressman added.

The Abhorrent Doctrine Of the Birch Society

THIS EARLY in the John Birch Society's search for recruits in Arkansas, there is evidence that this semi-secret society has two general classes of members: Those who know what they are getting into and those who don't. The uninformed members had better take a second look.

The organization's spread into Arkansas was reported Sunday by the Gazette's Roy Reed in an exhaustive study of the organization, its purposes—and its methods. Mr. Reed's report included an interview with a Birch chapter leader in Little Rock who avowed that if there was anything controversial about the organization he was ready to get out of it. This statement was proof enough he had no real understanding of the Society's nature.

"Controversial," indeed, is the most charitable word for describing the Birch movement. It is authoritarian in philosophy and dedicated to the proposition that Communist methods are to be used in the fight against Communism. The Founder and head, Robert H. Welch has laid out the pattern only too clearly in the Society's Blue Book: He calls democracy a "perennial fraud." He advocates the formation of Front organizations to achieve specific aims. He baldly calls for use of "mean and dirty" tactics in programs of "exposure."

In private papers circulated earlier, Mr. Welch challenged the loyalty of the last three presidents—Eisenhower, Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. He described Milton Eisenhower as Dwight Eisenhower's "superior and boss within the Communist Party."

SUCH IS the nature of Birchism and its founder, a man whose extremes surpass those of the late Senator Joe McCarthy. It is not merely charitable, it is realistic, to conclude that there are people in this Society who were drawn in casually, almost inadvertently, as it used to be in the case of the innocents in the Communist front organizations.

In Franklin, Tennessee, an entire chapter of the Society resigned when the scales of their naivete fell from their eyes. Inevitably there will be resignations in Arkansas as individual members realize the anti-democratic identity of the Society. For members who examine Birchism closely, and still belong, it may not matter greatly whether they resign or not.

BIRCHISM'S degree of success, and now its notoriety, rests upon two main supports: (1.) the idea of fighting Communism, and (2.) some 19th Century economic doctrine. The whole nation loathes Communism; the economic philosophy, while remote from reality, still has appeal in some substantial quarters. In any case the Society has recruited enough members to stir warnings from respected conservatives and from some well-known Communist fighters, whose credentials are far more impressive than those of the Massachusetts candy-maker, Robert Welch.

We commend to the 100 or so Birch members in Arkansas, and to any prospective members who may be dallying with the idea of joining, the words of no less a Communist-fighter than Richard Nixon. Mr. Nixon wrote a letter to the Los Angeles Times recommending as "required reading" a front page editorial condemning the Birch Society. The former vice president's clincher:

> "What we must never forget is that one of the most cherished American ideals is that we must fight with proper methods for those things in which we believe."

The editorial itself was written by Otis Chandler, Times publisher, and put the case in somewhat more explicit terms. Mr. Chandler declared that "the Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometime disagree."

These are timely and sound admonitions from some celebrated conservative quarters. In the full disclosure about Birchism which are now emerging, it seems a tenable conclusion that genuine conservatives, interested in conserving American principles, would not be caught dead in the John Birch Society.

We're Growing Fast in State, John Birch Member Claims

By ERNEST DUMAS
Of the Gazette Staff

An East Arkansas planter who calls himself one of the original founders as well as a friend of the top man of The John Birch Society said yesterday the ultra-conservative organization was growing like wildfire" in his part of the state.

Robert B. Snowden of Hughes, a farmer and Memphis businessman, said he didn't know how many chapters East Arkansas had but "I hope that soon there will be one in every community."

A Nashville, Tenn., automobile salesman now working for the Society at Memphis told the Memphis Commercial Appeal that the Society had six chapters in the Eastern half of Arkansas and seven in Northern Mississippi. The salesman, who identified Snowden as a member, said it had five chapters in Memphis.

The Gazette learned last week that there were three chapters at Little Rock and several in other towns around the state including Searcy and Nashville.

The semi-secret Society is run by Robert H. W. Welch Jr. of Belmont, Mass., a former candy manufacturer. He boasts that it fights communism with communism's own methods including "exposure" of persons he considers Communists, the establishment of fronts such as the Committee for the Impeachment of Earl Warren and unquestioning acceptance of his one-man control.

'Whale of a Group'

Snowden said the Society was "a whale of a good organization" but he criticized Welch on one key point: Calling former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a Communist. He said he and other Society leaders had urged Welch not to do it.

Welch has been quoted as writing, "Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist Party."

Snowden said Welch wasn't representing the Society when he said that.

Another Group

An organization akin to the Society in some respects cropped up over the week end at North Little Rock.

The Arkansas Laymen, Inc., headed by Doyle K. Venable, a Levy businessman, revealed that it was circulating a petition urging that impeachment proceedings be brought against Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Ouster of Warren is one of the chief objectives of the Birch Society.

Venable said yesterday the Laymen had 160 members in five Arkansas cities—Little Rock, North Little Rock, Hazen, Star City and Malvern—but the North Little Rock chapter still was the only one in existence. It has been meeting for about one and one-half years.

He said the Laymen had revised the charter several months ago to allow other chapters to be formed over the state. He said he expected others to organize shortly.

Venable insisted that the Laymen was not a front organization for the Birch Society and that he was not a member of the Society.

He said he had read some of the Society's literature and that from what he had read he approved of the Society wholeheartedly.

He observed that the Laymen and the Birch Society coincided in their views on Warren, but he said that a great many persons disliked Warren.

Alford's Sympathy

Venable said the Laymen had asked Representative Dale Alford to start proceedings against Warren and that Alford had replied that he was in sympathy with the organization's objectives.

Venable said Alford wrote that he had been getting mail from all over the country urging Warren's impeachment and the outlawing of the Communist Party.

He said the Laymen would hold a public meeting in April.

'We Aren't Radical'

Venable insisted that the Laymen was not a radical organization.

"Those who have known me out here know that I would never be attached to a radical group," he said.

"We are a conservative group who believe only in government help where the people cannot help themselves."

The reason the Laymen wanted to impeach Warren, he said, was "not only because he has voted (in our belief) in favor of the Communist cause 90 per cent of the time, but because he was never qualified in the first place. He never had any judicial experience. That alone is enough to disqualify Earl Warren." The parentheses are Venable's.

Birch Society's Rolls?

Snowden wouldn't say how how many chapters of the Birch Society were in Arkansas, but he estimated about 4,000 in the country, each with about 20 members.

He said that the Society so far had been very effective.

"It's getting so big that it's getting to hurt the left wing. The left wing is beginning to squel."

Snowden insisted there was nothing fascist about the Society and that it was not a McCarthy-like organization.

The reason it had been secret he said, was that the members were "hard-working people" who didn't want to get involved in ~~a controversy~~.

"But I'll defend it ~~until hell~~ freezes over," he declared.

He said Welch had visited East Arkansas a number of times. He said he was a personal friend of Welch and that Welch was a "very fine person."

Welch's condemnation of former President Eisenhower and his brother Milton was unfortunate and did not express the views of the organization, Snowden said.

"He said that in a series of letters he wrote to his friends," Snowden explained. "We found-ers called his attention to it, but he was bullheaded and went ahead and said it."

Snowden called the Society "the one great hope of the country."

By James E. Clayton

THREE MONTHS AGO, the John Birch Society had been heard of only in a few scattered areas of the country. Its desire to operate quietly and behind the scenes was generally being fulfilled.

But almost overnight, the Society has become an organization of national interest. Newspapers on both coasts have denounced it. Two United States Senators have spoken against it on the Senate floor. Former Vice President Nixon has joined the protests. Time magazine has given the Society a critical analysis.

The Society has attracted this attention because of:

• Its strong views on many topics. It thinks that everything from increased spending for defense to Federal aid to education is part of a Communist plot.

• The attacks made by its leader, Robert Welch, on the loyalty of America's leaders. These include former President Eisenhower, Chief Justice Warren, former Secretary of State Dulles and CIA director Allen Dulles, all of whom Welch says are Communist agents or sympathizers.

• The secrecy which surrounds the Society and the amount of money which it apparently has to spend.

Conservative Complaints

TWO WEEKS AGO, the Los Angeles Times, a conservative newspaper, said editorially: "If the John Birchers follow the program of their leader, they will bring our institutions into question exactly as the Communists try to do. They will sow distrust, and aggravate disputes, and they will weaken the very strong case for conservatism."

The same day, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States, told a church group in Santa Barbara that the Society was waging a "campaign of falsehoods" against that church.

On March 8, on the Senate floor, Sen. Milton J. Young (R-N. D.) said, "It is unbelievable that any sane person would make such accusations" (as the Society's leader has made against former President Eisenhower).

Other Senators have also expressed concern about the power of the Society. Sen. Young, a conservative Republican, says he has been attacked as being a helper of the Communists. The same attack has been mounted against Sen. Mike Mansfield, a liberal Democrat from Montana, and Sen. Thomas C. Kuchel, a liberal Republican from California. The attack against Kuchel and Young has been particularly vigorous, apparently because they are up for re-election in 1962.

But not a great deal is known here about the Society. It has not been particularly active in the Washington area although it apparently has at least one chapter here. Sen. Mansfield said that he had been unable to find out much about it although he tried to get information from "various committees (on Capitol Hill) or the agencies downtown."

On March 20, the United Press International reported that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is telling inquirers that the Society "seems to be, from our records, a patriotic organization." The Los Angeles Times, however, implied that the group was subversive—from the right instead of from the left.

Last Tuesday, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-S. C.) came to the Society's defense. It is a "Nation-wide organization of patriotic Americans," he said in a statement in the Congressional Record. The source of the charges which smear the organization, he said, is a publication of the Communist Party.

This is a report on the Society and what it believes and does.

The Founding Dozen

WHAT IS the Society? How is it organized?

The John Birch Society is the creation of Robert Welch, 61, a former candy company executive who lives in Belmont, Mass. It was organized in Indianapolis in December, 1958, at a meeting of 12 men who have never been publicly identified.

That meeting was a two-day affair devoted largely to speeches by Welch. Most of what he said was later published in the Blue Book of the Society, copyrighted by Welch.

That book says the Society is to have small local chapters, usually of 10 to 20 "dedicated patriots." Each chapter should have a leader appointed by Welch or one of his officers. Sen. Young called these groups "cells" but received a heated protest from the Society. Cells is the term applied to similar units of the Communist Party organization.

The Society is "a monolithic body" operating under "complete authoritarian control at all levels." A republican form of government or organization has advantages, the book says, under favorable circumstances. "But under less happy circumstances," it goes on, "it lends itself too readily to infiltration, distortion and disruption. And democracy, of course, in government or organization, as the Greeks and Romans both found out, and as I believe every man in this room recognizes—democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery and a perennial fraud."

Newspapers which have written about the Society have quoted these statements to show that it is ruled by Welch and is opposed to democracy.

In a letter printed in the Congressional Record last week, Robert D. Love, a Wichita businessman and Society member, said, "These statements have been pulled completely out of context and made to smear something which could help to inform people of the true dangers of communism."

'Believe in Me'

WELCH ALSO told the Indianapolis meeting that those who join the Society "are going to be doing so primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership. And we are going to use that loyalty, like any other resource, to the fullest possible advantage that we can . . . Those members who cease to feel the necessary degree of loyalty can either resign or will be put out . . ."

Welch said then that he hoped to have 30,000 members by the end of 1959. Interviewed last summer by Stanley Eames of the Boston Herald, Welch said there were chapters in 20 states, including 25 chapters near Boston.

Gene Blake of the Los Angeles Times reported early this month that Paul H. (Tex) Talbert, a Beverly Hills insurance executive and a member of the Society's national council, said there were several thousand members in scores of chapters in California. Blake says there are chapters in 34 states and members in all 50 states.

As of last summer, the Society had 52 employes, Eames reported. He added that Welch told him there was an effort to get several chapters in each city. In one Texas city, Welch said, there are three chapters—one for financial people, one for carpenters and one for Negroes.

Membership costs at least $24 a year for men and $12 for women. Fund-raising outside of dues has apparently been successful since the Society appears to spend large sums on staff and publications. Some of the members are wealthy conservatives who apparently believe in the Society's goals if not in all of Welch's personal ideas.

A list of members of the Society's national council was put into the Congressional Record by Rep. Rivers. It contains 25 names, many those of leading businessmen. Among them:

Cola G. Parker and William J. Grede, Wisconsin industrialists, and Ernest G. Swigert, Oregon manufacturer, all past presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers; T. Coleman Andrews, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue; Spruille Braden, former diplomat; Clarence Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School; M. T. Phelps, former Chief Justice of the Arizona Supreme Court; F. Gano Chance, former president of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce; Louis Ruthenburg, former president of Servel, Inc., and Fred C. Koch, president of the Rock Island Oil & Refining Co.

Welch has given these men the job of showing the stature of the organization, of advising him and of selecting "a successor to myself as head . . . if and when an accident, 'suicide' or anything sufficiently fatal is arranged for me by the Communists—or I simply die in bed . . ."

'Communist Line'

WHAT DOES the John Birch Society stand for? It's objective, Welch told the Indianapolis meeting, is simply "less government and more responsibility."

This, however, is tied closely with a drive against international communism. The Communists are rapidly taking over the United States, the Society thinks, and must be stopped. The Communist method of taking over, it says, is to increase government.

Thus, the things which international communism wants the United States to do are these:

- Increase defense and foreign aid spending, making higher taxes, an unbalanced budget and inflation possible.
- Increase governmental controls over prices, wages and material so that power will be centralized in Washington.
- Worry about the horror of modern warfare so that the beauties of peace become attractive and lead the Nation to appeasement of the Communists.

Those who favor these ideas are either Communists or dupes of the Communists, the Society says. Into these categories it puts most recent Secretaries of State and Defense. This is where Welch's personal views come into play, particularly since he is the absolute master of the Society.

At the Indianapolis meeting, he attacked both President Kennedy and former Vice President Nixon. Never naming Mr. Kennedy, Welch made it clear that he thinks the President is an "amoral man" who can do "a tremendous amount of ball carrying on the behalf of the Communist aims here in the United States."

Nixon, Welch said, would be a patriotic anti-Communist only if it fit his political career. Nixon pulled off "the dirtiest deal in American political history," Welch said, by upsetting the Taft bandwagon in the 1952 Republican convention. If Taft had been President,

Welch said, the Communists would have been routed from government and the Nation would not be in "this mess" today.

IN A BOOK called "The Politician," circulated to only a few selected leaders of the Society, Welch really lets down his views. When Jack Mabley of the Chicago Daily News came across a copy last summer, he asked a chapter leader if it was given to all Society members.

Mabley says the response was that giving the book to members before they became "qualified" would be like telling a first-year medical student to go out and cure cancer.

In the book, Welch accuses former President Eisenhower, most of his chief aides and many other Government leaders of being a part of the international Communist conspiracy.

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct," it says. "But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to me to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

WHEN ASKED about this book by reporter Eames, Welch said, "Four-fifths of our members never have seen it and most of those who have don't agree with it."

When he asked Welch flatly if former President Eisenhower was a Communist, Eames reports that Welch said, "I never felt that way enough to say it in print. Now I don't know what I think. Eisenhower may be too dumb to be a Communist."

Eames notes that a Jan. 1, 1960, footnote to "The Politician" says, "A huge majority of Eisenhower's appointments during the past year make no sense whatever except as a part of a plan to help the Communists."

WELCH ALSO runs a yearly chart in American Opinion, a magazine he edits, on how much of the world is Communist controlled. He listed the United States as 20 to 40 per cent Communist controlled in 1958 and 30 to 50 per cent by mid-1959.

On other topics, Welch has said:

American churches: "One-third of the ministers are not true belivers in the Divine names or the Divine history and Divine teachings to which they give lip service . . ." Some, he says, preach communism from their pulpits.

The Marshall Plan: "A brilliant scheme of the Communists to get the United States to do exactly what the Communists wanted us to do."

Desegregation: "The trouble in our Southern states has been fomented almost entirely by the Communists for this purpose (civil war) . . . . The whole slogan of 'civil,' as used to make trouble in the South today, is an exact parallel to the slogan of 'agrarian reform' which they used in China."

The United Nations: Part of a plan to "induce the gradual surrender of American sovereignty."

His own movement: "We are not beginning any revolution, nor even a counter-revolution, in any technical sense, because we are opposing a conspiracy, yet we are not ourselves making use of conspiratorial methods. Yet our determination to overthrow an entrenched tyranny is the very stuff out of which revolutions are made."

HOW DOES the John Birch Society work? Its problem in Indianapolis was to select a leader. Welch rejected Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

He said he thought Goldwater was totally loyal and would make a fine President. But, he added, "Does anybody in this room think there is any slightest chance of Barry Goldwater supplying the dynamic overall leadership needed to save this country for anybody to be President of? If so, I think he is still not fully aware of the nature and totality of the forces at work. For Goldwater . . . will inevitably think and move in terms of political warfare."

Then Welch suggested himself:

"It is not because I want so frightening a responsibility and it is certainly not because I think that you gentlemen . . . . recognize any such quality of leadership in me as would make me a happy choice for the role.

"It's just that I don't know where you, or all of us, are going to find anybody else to undertake the job."

WITH THAT out of the way, Welch outlined the action program for the Society.

First, he said, it must set up reading rooms in as many cities and towns as possible. It now has such rooms in, at least, California and Florida.

Second, it must get the "truth about recent history and current events into as many hands and heads as possible." It should put the National Review into college libraries, the Dan Smoot Review into doctors' and dentists' offices and Human Events and American Opinion into barbershops.

Third, it should help in crease the audience of such radio programs as those of Fulton Lewis jr. and Clarence Manion.

Fourth, it should organize letter writing campaigns. Some Senators think they are now receiving some of this mail.

Fifth, it "should organize fronts — little fronts, big fronts, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kinds of fronts." He suggested A Petition to Impeach Earl Warren (this is now being circulated), A Petition headed Please, Mr. President, Don't Go (this was circulated just before last spring's abortive summit meeting) and a Committee to Investigate Communist Influences at Vassar College.

Sixth, other suggestions included exposing why the Communists "just had to get rid of McCarthy, and went to such extreme lengths to do so"; heckling speakers who urge programs the Society disagrees with (this happened in Cincinnati recently); lining up speakers all over the country, and getting into political action.

ERIC SEVAREID recently wrote what all this means in a small Midwestern city he visited:

"On a street in Kansas, my host stopped his car to point to a new office building. 'He owns that, and a lot else besides,' my host explained. 'He's got money and influence. He couldn't tell a Communist from Robert A. Taft, but he's trying to get his crackpots onto the school board and a lot of us are worried.'

"'He' is the local boss of the John Birch Society . . . 'They organize in task forces,' my host went on. 'They call school teachers and local college professors in the middle of the night and denounce them as Communists. They recruit kids as spies to take down classroom remarks of their teachers.

"'They plant people in public lectures to ask loaded questions. They try to get their idiotic films and maps used in high schools. Maybe it's hard these days to get a man smeared in Washington or even in Hollywood, but in a small city like this . . . it can still be done.'"

WHO WAS John Birch? A native of Georgia, Birch was a missionary to China who joined Gen. Clare Chennault's forces there in 1942. He was killed 10 days after V-J Day by, Welch says, the Chinese Communists.

His death, Welch says, was "the first casualty in the third world war, between the Communists and the ever-shrinking free world."

BIRCH GROUP STIRS WIDER COAST SPLIT

Right-Wing Society Drawing Sharper Criticism—Inquiry Ordered in California

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, March 25—The John Birch Society received sharp scrutiny and criticism this week in California.

Legislators and educators spoke out against the Right-Wing, anti-Communist organization that has gained adherents in Southern California and elsewhere.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, said the society's motives should be ascertained "because fascism is just as dangerous as Communism." He ordered State Attorney General Stanley Mosk to investigate the group's operations.

Earlier, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said that he opposed the society's political techniques. Some observers contend that it uses tactics similar to those employed by the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin. The society was named for an American missionary executed as a spy by the Chinese Communists.

There future occurrences promise to heighten the controversy.

¶In Sacramento Tuesday, the State Assembly Rules Committee will hear a resolution asking Robert F. Kennedy, Attorney General of the United States, to investigate the society nationally.

¶The society's founder, Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., is scheduled to speak April 12 at a high school in Santa Barbara on April 12.

¶A hearing has been set for June by the State Senate Un-American Activities Committee. The chairman, Senator Hugh Burns, a Fresno Democrat, sent a wire to Mr. Welch asking him to "keep us posted as to your whereabouts and activities."

Senator Burns commented, "Any movement, from the unbalanced Right or the unbalanced Left, which tears the country apart by rumor, slander, fear and doubt, must necessarily be suspect."

Paul H. Talbert of Beverly Hills, a member of the society's national council, countered with a demand for an immediate investigation.

"A dozen, or a hundred, or a thousand of our members in California will gladly testify," Mr. Welch said in a supporting telegram. "We can assure you that, unlike our Communist enemies, none of our members will take the Fifth Amendment."

Mr. Talbert added, "This goes to prove how deadly our enemy is—to be able to pull off this concentrated attack on the John Birch Society."

He criticized Governor Brown for refusing to ban a speech on the University of California's Berkeley campus by Frank Wilkinson. Mr. Wilkinson recently lost his appeal to the United States Supreme Court for failing to cooperate with the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The attack by educators and clergy was centered on the society's activities in Santa Barbara.

Dr. Samuel B. Gould, chancellor of the University of California at Santa Barbara, decried a student group that he said was "being encouraged to be informers" against the faculty.

He said that he and other university officials had been "vilified in whispering campaigns, all purporting to prove that we are not only less than loyal to America, but are downright subversive."

Officials attempted to connect the student with the Birch society, which reportedly has been strongly backed by wealthy Santa Barbarans.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, the stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church, in the United States, called the society's manifesto "fascist." He urged Presbyterians to "wake up to what is happening to you under the guse of anti-communism."

Dr. Blake accused the society of conducting "a campaign of false witness" against the church and its leaders.

"Don't let your Americanism and your Presbyterianism be corrupted by those who would substitute a Fuehrer principle for our free society," Dr. Blake said.

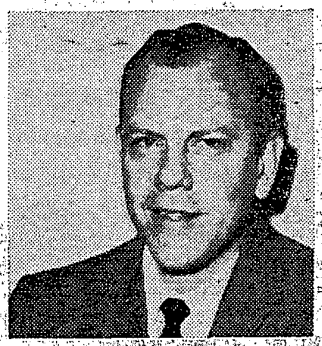
Oil Geologist Serving As Unofficial Chairman In N.D.

J. Blaine Miller, Bismarck geologist, serves as unofficial "state chairman" for the John Birch Society in North Dakota.



Actually, there is no chairmanship position. Miller is a "voluntary coordinator" for some of the Birch chapters in the state.

Miller is co-chairman in North Dakota, with Brooks Keogh of Keene, of the Committee for Economic Freedom, which advocates a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

This is the proposal to repeal the federal income tax and "get government out of business" which caused an uproar during the last session of the North Dakota legislature. A resolution passed the House, but was killed in the Senate.

However, Miller emphasizes, the Committee for Economic Freedom is not a "front" of the Birch group.

Miller is a tall, blonde, handsome, 35-year-old ex-Oklahoman, who moved to Bismarck six years ago.

Miller

Employed by an oil company, he is scheduled to be transferred to Oklahoma City on June 1.

Politically, Miller, a Republican, considers himself "middle of the road" or one who "believes in the Constitution of the United States as the supreme law of the land."

He defines a left-winger as an individual who wants to "completely socialize" the country and a right-winger as one who wants to "return to the days of debtor's prisons."

Miller became alarmed at the Communist threat after reading several books, including "Wedemeyer Reports," by A. C. Wedemeyer; "Masters of Deceit," by J. Edgar Hoover; "I Saw Roland Betrayed," by Arthur Bliss Lane; "The Naked Communist," by W. Cleon Skousen; "From Major Jordan's Diaries," by George R. Jordan; and "Keynes at Harvard," by the Veritas Foundation.

He grew interested in the John Birch Society after visiting with a Texas friend, and helped organize the first chapter in Bismarck.

Miller was an Army paratrooper from 1944-46. He served with the occupation forces in Japan.

Miller is a 1950 graduate of Tulsa University, with a bachelor of science degree in engineering.

He is married and the father of three children.

Miller also is a much better than average golfer. He carded a 32 one Sunday last summer to tie the course record at Apple Creek Country Club in Bismarck.

"I just got lucky," he said.

Not Backing Birch Group, Hoover Says

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover has informed U. S. Sen. Milton R. Young that he does not endorse the John Birch Society, a right-wing political action group, the North Dakota senator disclosed today.

Hoover's letter to Young read: "I have been advised of your call to my office regarding the John Birch Society, and in response to your inquiry regarding this organization, I wish to advise that I have not endorsed this group or its activities in any fashion whatsoever.

"You also made inquiry regarding a statement which has been erroneously attributed to me to the effect that up to 80 per cent of the top officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are Communists or are under Communist infuence. This is, of course, a completely ridiculous assertion and when a report of this matter was brought to my attention recently it was promptly and emphatically denied as a fabrication.

"Your interest in contacting me regarding this situation is very much appreciated, and I assure you we are aways happy to be of any possible service or assistance."

Young has exchanged broadsides recently with members of the society and has termed "vicious" charges of the society's founder against former President Eisenhower.

Critics Lash At 'Vicious' Charges

By DICK DOBSON
Of The News State Capitol Bureau

BISMARCK—What is the John Birch Society? Why was it organized? What are its methods of operation?

These are questions that are being asked today by thousands, if not millions, of Americans.

Formed in late 1958, the society worked in semi-secrecy for about two years, until rocketing to national prominence almost overnight.

The issue exploded when it was revealed that the society's founder had, in 1954, accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of being a Communist.

Robert Welch, a retired Belmont, Mass., businessman, and boss of the Birchians, made the allegation against Eisenhower.

He also said that ex-President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman were used by the Reds for their purposes.

The upshot, in the last month, has been a flood of newspaper editorials, magazine articles and congressional statements angrily denouncing the John Birch Society.

Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota replied to the "vicious charges" by remarking, "To label some of our most loyal and dedicated people as Communists plays right into the hands of the Communist movement."

Two North Dakota members of the Society deplore the "national effort to discredit it."

They are J. Blaine Miller, Bismarck geologist, and Martin Vaaler, president of the state Public Service Commission.

"The most vehement criticism" commented Miller, "is coming from those who are least informed."

Vaaler described the organization as a "patriotic group whose central idea is for less government interference and more individuality."

First, explains Miller, the charge that Ike is a Communist "has nothing to do whatsoever with the society."

The accusation was contained in a so-called "book" entitled "The Politician," which was written by Welch four years before he started organizing the John Birch Society.

Actually, the "book" is a voluminous letter sent by Welch to a few "intimate friends."

It was eventually expanded to 302 pages, but never published or distributed, according to Miller.

Members of the anti-Communist brotherhood may, at their individual discretion, accept or reject the premises of "The Politician," stated Miller.

"It is a misunderstanding," contends Miller, to confuse "The Politician" of 1954 with the John Birch Society of 1961.

"Our critics have not taken the time to learn our objectives and principles," said Miller.

Welch organized the John Birch Society on Dec. 8-9, 1958, at Indianapolis, Ind.

He called together 11 "patriotic and public-spirited" men and lectured them for two days on the threat of the "International Communist Conspiracy."

Welch, 61, is a retired candy manufacturer. He was a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers for seven years.

His biography reads, "Educated at the University of North Carolina (four years), U. S. Naval Academy (two years), Harvard Law School (two years), and school of hard knocks (about forty years)."

According to his admirers, he is a persuasive speaker and a prolific writer.

At the conclusion of the Indianapolis session, Welch suggested the formation of a society dedicated first to "destroying the Communist tyranny" and then driving on "towards an era of less government and more responsibility, in which we can create a better world."

Welch proposed naming the new society in honor of John Birch, an Army captain murdered by Chinese communists on Aug. 25, 1945.

Birch was a young Christian missionary, who voluntarily joined Gen. Claire Chennault's forces in China on July 4, 1942.

Ten days after V-J day, he became "probably the first American casualty in that third World War, between the Communists and the ever-shrinking 'free world,' which is still being waged . . ."

The text of Welch's address has been reproduced in the Blue Book, a document of about 200 pages, which is a guide to the society's actions.

The Birchians call themselves "americanists," a word defined as the antithesis of "communists."

In 28 months, the John Birch Society has acquired members in every state. Its goal is to enroll a million members.

The group has organized local chapters, usually consisting of 10 to 20 members each, in 34 states and the District of Columbia.

Except for a few leaders, the number and names of members are held in strict secrecy because, said Miller, "It would serve no useful purpose to reveal them."

Miller did say that Rep. R. Fay Brown of Bismarck, speaker of the North Dakota House of Representatives, "is not now nor has he ever been a John Birch Society member," as charged in a Jamestown Sun article.)

However, the society-sponsored publications, including the Blue Book, the Life of John Birch, and American Opinion magazine, are "available to anyone," noted Miller.

A dozen chapters have been set up in North Dakota since last September, according to Miller.

There are four in Bismarck, three in Williston, and one each in Fargo, Braddock, Washburn, Watford City and rural McKenzie County.

Members include businessmen, doctors, dentists, geologists, public officials, lawyers, farmers and housewives, said Miller.

Sen. Young observed that the society "has among its members some of the most able and influential people in each community."

On April 13-14, Don Rueber of Milwaukee, a "major coordinator" for the society, will visit North Dakota in search of more membership.

Rueber, a salaried Birch employe, will be showing a two-hour movie of a Welch speech to select audiences in various cities.

Annual society dues are $24 for men and $12 for women. Life memberships cost $1,000.

Time magazine reported that the Birch "cells" (or chapters) "take orders from society headquarters (and) promote Communist-style front organizations that do not use the John Birch name.

"Carefully avoiding normal channels of political action, the society accepts the hard-boiled, dictatorial direction of one man."

Miller's and Vaaler's description differs with Time's.

The basic unit of organization, the chapter, meets about once a month, usually in a private home, to discuss "suggested, coordinated action" proposed in bulletins mailed periodically from society headquarters, located in Belmont, Mass.

"There always are some disagreements among individual members," maintained Miller.

However, the advantage of the John Birch Society over a proliferation of other anti-communist organizations, he said, is that it is "an action group, and not a debating club."

"That is why I joined the society," intoned Vaaler.

Other anti-Red groups, such as the Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation, the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, and Moral Rearmament "publicize the problem, but offer no solution," claimed Miller.

"Khrushchev was not kidding when he said our children would live under socialism," commented Miller, who believes the United States may reach the "point of no return in two or three years.'

Communist forces are on the march around the globe. In addition, he thinks the country is socializing itself from within.

Welch has mapped a ten-point "action program" for the "defeat of the Communist conspiracy:"

1. Dissemination of Americanist books and pamphlets, such as J. Edgar Hoover's "Masters of Deceit," as widely as possible.

2. Increasing the readership of Americanist periodicals, such as American Opinion, National Review, Human Events and Dan Smoot Report.

3. Enlarging the audiences of Americanist commentators and newscasters, like Fulton Lewis Jr. and Dean Clarence Manion.

4. Making some effective use of the weapon of letter writing.

5. Organizing Americanist fronts, such as the Movement To Impeach Earl Warren and the Committee Against Summit Entanglements.

6. Waking up the American people to the seriousness of the danger of exposing, wherever possible, pro-Communist activities.

7. Making it more difficult for "dozens of slimy characters" to appear before unsuspecting audiences.

8. Making Americanist speakers available.

9. Supplying encouragement to anti-Communist refugee groups throughout the country.

10. Carrying on an educational campaign on the political front.

One of the foremost projects undertaken by the Birchians has been the demand for the impeachment of Earl Warren, chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

(Impeachment does not constitute removal from office. It is "the arraignment of a public officer for malfeasance.")

Welch charges that the Supreme Court has "become one of the most important agencies of the Communist Global Conquest."

Warren, he said, "is powerfully entrenched at the very heart of the Establishment that has been running the Roosevelt-Truman-Eisenhower - Kennedy Administrations."

Welch concedes that "dislodging Warren from Washington could be as difficult as kicking Khrushchev out of the Kremlin."

Another society project is to support a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution to repeal the 16th amendment (individual income tax) and to force the federal government to dispose of all its holdings, except as constitutionally specified.

The Birchians also back up the House Committee on Un-American Activities against Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) and others who want to abolish it.

A fourth major project is the "continuing drive against the sale in this country of goods made by slave labor in Communist nations."

These items, mostly made in eastern Europe, range from wooden coat hangers to canned hams.

In the political sphere, the Birch "partisans have made their anonymous and unsettling presence felt in scores of U. S. communities," reported Time.

According to Welch, "In the 1960 campaigns the John Birch Society, as an organization, took no part. Our official job was to supply our members more information about, and a better understanding of, both men and issues."

Each individual Birchian "then worked and voted entirely according to his own judgment and conscience," said Welch, who "personally supported Goldwater for the Republican nomination."

However, reports that Birchians were using various arm-bending tactics, such as economic coercion, came from Wichita, Kan., and elsewhere.

Sen. Young claimed, "They have accused me of being about every kind of a scoundrel, including a Communist or pro-Communist."

Miller emphatically denied that any underhanded methods were used by North Dakota members last fall.

He also said it was "insane" and "absolutely not true" to assume that the society considers all its opponents to be pro-Communists.

In North Dakota, society members are simply urged to play an active role, as individuals, in political affairs, he maintained.

As Welch is the self-anointed leader of the Birchians, his opinions presumably reflect the general thinking of the members, although there may exist shades or outright disagreements.

In the Blue Book, Welch left little or no room for dissent by saying, "We are not going to have factions developing on the two-sides-to-every question theme."

Later, however, in a monthly bulletin, he wrote that it was not "necessary" or "desirable" that all members always think alike.

"One of the very things we are trying to prevent is the conversion of our civilization into a collection of standardized robots," Welch pointed out.

What does Welch believe?

Many of his current ideas are found in a booklet called "A World Gone Crazy," in which he surveys the degree of Communist influence in each of 107 countries.

From his "scoreboard," he concludes "that the Communists have now covered well over two-thirds of the total distance to their final goal of world-wide dominion."

The United States, he figured, was 40-to-60 per cent Communist-controlled, as of June 1, 1960, compared with 20-to-40 in 1958 and 30-to-50 in 1959.

Only five countries are "relatively safe," with 0-to-20 per cent Communist control. They are Australia, Ireland, New Zealand, Portugal and Spain.

Welch listed 29 countries "in danger" (but still less than 50 per cent); 13 "teetering on the edge" (40-to-60); 28 "sliding into the abyss (definitely over 50); and 32 "under Communist slavery."

The boxscore on some other nations are: Canada, 40-to-60; France 30-to-50; Great Britain, 50-to-70; India, 60-to-80; Israel, 40-to-60; Sweden, 20-to-40; Thailand, 50-to-70; United Arab Republic, 80-to-100; and South Vietnam, 70-to-90.

Welch also contended that "all available evidence" indicates that U-2 pilot Gary Powers "must have purposely landed his plane in Russia" last May 1.

The "objectives of those who planned the incident," said Welch, "must have been: (1) to give the Soviet a model to duplicate; (2) to provide the American Communists with an excuse for getting reconnaissance over Russia suspended; and (3) to postpone the 'Summit Conference' with a maximum of public disgrace to the United States."

Other Welchian statements, appearing in the Blue Book, are just as provocative. For example, Welch also believes:

1. The so-called "International Communist Conspiracy" now reaches "into all of the legislative halls, all of the union labor meetings, a majority of the religious gatherings, and most of the schools of the whole world."

2. Indian Prime Minister Nehru and Egyptian President Nasser are puppets of the Kremlin.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

3. The United States' foreign aid program was planned by Communists to weaken our economy.

4. Stalin, an amoral man, was "infinitely worse" than Hitler, an immoral man, because when they liquidated people, Hitler's conscience bothered him, while Stalin "simply wiped out his conscience."

5. President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gen. George C. Marshall were responsible for getting the United States into World War II.

6. "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud." (Welch favors a republic form of government.)

7. Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is a Communist. (Welch wrote this a month before Castro overthrew the regime of Fulgencio Bastista.)

Anyone who expresses opinions as strongly as Welch does is certain to eventually create a storm of controversy about himself and the society he organized.

Sen. Young remarked, "My mail is heavy but I am pleased to note that about 95 per cent of the letters are favorable" (to the stand taken by Young).

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic floor leader, said "something is wrong somewhere" when "any organization accuses a President of the United States" of being a Communist.

The Chicago Daily News termed the John Birch Society a "strange threat to democracy."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon warned Americans against adopting Communist tactics to fight subversives in this country.

"It may at times seem unrealistic and naive to follow the rules of the game when our opponents are so unscrupulous and completely devoid of morality," said Nixon.

"But in the end, refusing to resort to methods that are wrong not only is right, but in the long run it is the most effective way to combat an evil doctrine like communism."

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church, stated the society is waging "campaigns of falsehoods" against the church.

Hans Engh of the Santa Barbara News-Press, writing in the Nation magazine, said the Birchians represent "that regressive force which, under one guise or another, seems to pop up whenever the country as a whole seems destined to move into a more progressive era."

A front-page editorial in the Los Angeles Times called the Birch group a "peril to conservatives."

"If the John Birchers follow the program of their leader," the

Times said, "they will sow distrust, and aggravate disputes, and they will weaken the very strong case for conservatism."

Otis Chandler, publisher of the Times, concludes, "Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion." Sen. Young said he agreed with this viewpoint.

Conservative columnist George Sokolsky noted the "country is developing a large number of peculiar and subversive organizations, many of them in the guise of anti-communistic, some representing a pseudo - conservatism, some pursuing purposes which, if carried through, could damage this country."

Sokolsky suggested that a congressional investigation of "these new efforts to mobilize persons in activities designed to unsettle and disturb this country" might be warranted.

"That would be welcome," observed Miller, "because nothing could be more beneficial to the John Birch Society."

Miller also flatly rejected accusations that the society was "neo-facist" and "would substitute a fuhrer principle for our free society."

Most of the criticism of the society, Miller contended, is based on "misunderstanding" and "distortions" in Time's article.

He pointed out that the Cardina

Mindszenty Foundation lists one of the Communist objectives for 1961 as "infiltration and smearing of anti-Communist groups by paid crackpots and hired disseminators of 'hate' literature."

Vaaler said if Sen. Young visited a chapter meeting, he would "never find a more dedicated and sincere group of Americans."

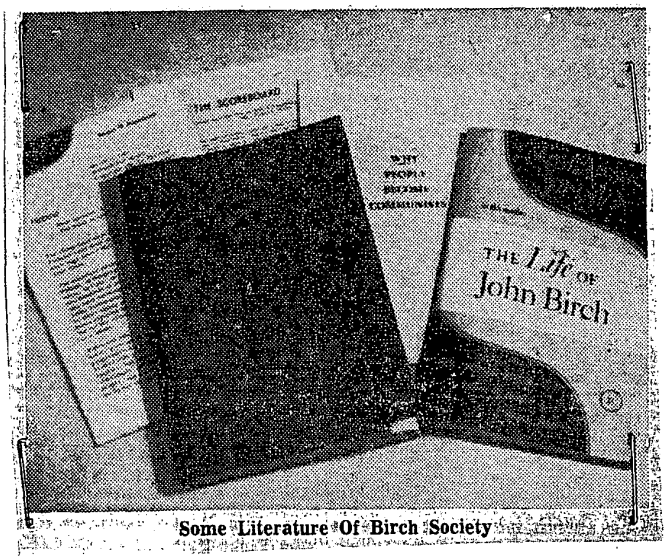
Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, endorsed the society a year ago. In answer to an inquiry, he replied, "I do not know of any more dedicated anti-communist in the country than Robert Welch. I unhesitatingly recommend him to you and endorse his John Birch Society."

George Todt, columnist for the Los Angeles Herald-Express, wrote he was "impressed" with the "dedication to anti-Communism and constitutional Americanism" of the Birchians.

The Arizona Republic, published in Phoenix, labeled the Birch group as "freedom's missionaries."

Most Rev. Mark K. Carroll, bishop of Wichita, decided the "principles describing the philosophy of the society are nothing more than the Ten Commandments of God in modern language."

Welch presides over the 25-man national council of the John Birch Society, much as a president with his cabinet.



Council members include William J. Grede, Cola G. Parker and Ernest G. Swigert, all past presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Others are Thomas J. Anderson, publisher of Farm and Ranch paper; T. Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of Internal Revenue; Spruille Braden, former assistant secretary of state; Col. Laurence E. Bunker, former personal aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur; Clarence Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame law school; and Lt. Gen. Charles B. Stone III, retired Air Force officer.

Whether one joins the John Birch Society or not depends to a great extent on the individual's estimation of "the seriousness and imminence of the threat from the International Communist Criminal Conspiracy," noted Miller.

Truman Wold, chapter leader in Fargo, remarked, "Anyone who attempts to do anything positive against communism is accused of being an under-the-bed looker."

Said Wold, "You don't have to look under the bed, just look around and they (the Communists) are all over the place."

Member of John Birch Society Here Tells How It Operates

By BARNEY SCOFIELD
Press Staff Writer

Among Texans identified in the Congressional Record as members of the "Committee of Endorsers" of the controversial "anti-Communist" John Birch Society is Mrs. Walter L. Goldston of 5 Briarwood, Houston.

Her name, along with six other Texans, was placed in the record by Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., in a defense of the Conservative organization under fire as a secret society.

Terming charges against the society "ridiculous," Mrs. Goldston, the 61-year-old widow of an independent oil operator and grandmother of two, told The Press:

"We're very conservative in our thinking and we believe in less government and more responsibility for individuals.

"But our main objective is the same as most patriotic Americans—to fight communism."

Mrs. Goldston said she became a member of the John Birch Society about a year ago after viewing a film at a friend's house. The film, she said, was against Communism and narrated by Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., the society's controversial founder.

Members of the society form discussion groups, never more than 15 to 20 in number, and meet once a month in each other's home, Mrs. Goldston said.

Annual dues, she said, are $12 for women and $24 for men.

The funds are unaccounted for, she said, but go to Belmont where a monthly bulletin and magazine, "The American Opinion," are published.

Said Mrs. Goldston:

"I'm sure there are thousands of members in Houston, but I don't know who they are or where they meet.

"Local organization is kept se-

Birch Group Promised State Probe

SACRAMENTO, March 24—(AP)—The State Senate Un-American Activities Committee has announced it will hold hearings on the John Birch Society after the Legislature adjourns—if the society's founder agrees to appear.

Chairman Hugh Burns (D., Fresno) disclosed the plans yesterday in a wire to Robert Welch in Belmont, Mass., who had "urgently demanded" committee investigation because of complains about the right-wing society by state officials and legislators.

He said his members would "gladly testify" before the committee.

"We have been aware of your society's existence and have made some investigation of its activities," Burns wired. "In the normal course of events we would expect to continue this investigation at the conclusion of the current session of the Legislature.

"At that time you will be beyond the jurisdiction of a California legislative committee. However, if you are still willing to appear before our committee, we will arrange such a hearing."

cret to make it more difficult for the Communists to infiltrate."

The small groups of "friends" hold their meetings and work under a Houston area co-ordinator, Akard Bell, 2576 N. MacGregor, she said.

Mrs. Goldston told The Press meetings are devoted to issues reported in the society's bulletin and discussion of their work.

Work, she said, included letters to congressmen and newspapers.

Mrs. Goldston added:

"We write for and against legislation in Congress and the state Legislature."

Mrs. Goldston said she thought the organization had accomplished a great deal through its work. She said:

"I know, for instance, several bills in Congress we supported went through. Some we were against didn't go through."

Asked if she thought the society had enough members throughout the country to affect legislation in Congress directly, she said:

"I don't know how many members we have, but I understand the society is active in all but about four states.

"I think we have the power to influence legislation."

Although Mrs. Goldston doesn't know Robert Welch, the society's founder, she said her late husband went to school with him at the University of South Carolina. She concluded:

"I think his objectives are the same as ours.

"I think he's a patriotic American or I wouldn't have joined the group."

Demands Probe, Would 'Gladly Testify'

Birch Group 'Calls' Gov. Brown on Quiz

Officials of the John Birch Society joined today in demands for investigation of their patriotic organization, and told Governor Edmund G. Brown their members would "gladly testify" without resort to the Fifth Amendment.

In a telegram to the governor Robert Welch, wealthy retired candy manufacturer who is founder and head of the patriotic group said:

"We respectfully, and, in view of statements made to the press by officials of your state, urgently demand the proposed investigation of the John Birch Society by the California State Senate Committee on Un-American Activities.

"A dozen, or a hundred or a thousand of our members in California will gladly testify and we can assure you that, unlike our Communist enemies, none of our members will take the Fifth Amendment. We will gladly co-operate with the committee in every way we can."

COPY SENT TO MOSK

Copies of the wire were sent to Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk and to State Sen. Hugh Burns of Fresno, Senate president pro-tem and chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

Paul H. Talbert, Beverly Hills insurance broker and a member of the John Birch Society, commented on Mosk's statement that he would ask the United States attorney general to "look into" the patriotic organization if the Legislature wants me to do it."

Talbert said that if any members take the Fifth Amendment, it will be all right because we would love to find out who the infiltrators are so we can get rid of them."

He explained that it was "possible some left-wing sympathizers may have infiltrated" the society and "their refuge in the Fifth Amendment would, of course, unmask them," adding:

"We, the John Birch Society, will not picket any investigating committee that might see fit to investigate us.

"All this points up the fact that good Americans everywhere should wake up. This goes to prove how deadly our enemy is—to be able to pull off this concentrated national attack on the John Birch Society."

BELIEFS STATED

The Beverly Hills civic leader pointed out the society "believes in less government, more responsibility, more individual freedom and preservation and protection of our constitution and our glorious heritage."

66 APR 3 1961

Furthermore, he said, "all believe in loyalty oaths, preservation of the Connally Amendment, restoration of the investigative powers of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and any other government committee for the investigation of subversion."

Is it possible that we have been so deeply infiltrated that our enemy is now strong enough to try to shift the word 'subversion' from themselves over to us?" Talbert asked.

PROTEST BROWN'S ACTION

Talbert was the latest to add his voice to a growing wave of protest over Governor Brown's refusal to ban a University of California at Berkeley speech by a man accused of Communist front activity while calling for a probe of the John Birchers, described by United States Senator James Eastland of Mississippi as "a patriotic organization."

The protests point out the drive by California Democratic Council and others to abolish loyalty oaths, the House Committee on Un-American Activities and to secure early recognition and admission to the United Nations of Red China.

County Republican Chairman Julius A. (Jud) Leetham pointed out that storm is not a partisan dispute, but added: "It should be a subject for thoughtful contemplation that the Democratic Party, and particularly its leader in California, Governor Brown, has been in the forefront to attack either individuals or organizations whose 'conservative' views are fundamentally cast in support of our existing order.

CITES EXAMPLE

"A new example of this is the hue and cry regarding the John Birch Society, which one United States senator has described as a patriotic organization.

"Democratic, and some other cries, for investigation fill the land.

"On the other hand, we see the tragically humorous example of Governor Brown refusing to utilize his executive authority to prevent the propaganda effort of a convicted and known associate in subversive organizations from conducting propaganda meetings and directed toward [illegible] our youth, on state property (the UCB campus) supported in part by funds extracted from the citizens, including the so-called conservatives."

Promises 'No Fifth-Amendments'

John Birch Society Demands It Be Probed

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 23 (UPI)—The founder of the John Birch Society today not only would welcome but demands an investigation of the ultra-conservative group.

Robert Welch, in a telegram to Gov Edmund C Brown, promised none of the members of the nationwide group whose avowed purpose is to fight Communism would take the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying.

Welch said the society urgently demanded the California State Senate Un-American Activities Committee make the investigation. (The committee, however, said it had no plans presently for such a probe.)

Welch's telegram came yesterday after a recent flood of criticism had been leveled against the group climaxed in Gov. Brown's order Tuesday for the State Attorney General to make a report of the society.

Welch's Telegram

Welch, founder and president of the group, sent from his home in Belmont, Mass., the following telegram:

"We respectfully and, in view of statements made to press by officials of your state, we urgently demand the proposed investigation of the John Birch Society by the California State Senate UN-American Activities Committee. A dozen or a hundred or a thousand of our members in California will gladly testify and we can assure you that, unlike our Communist enemies, none of our members will take the Fifth Amendment. We will gladly cooperate with the committee in every way that we can."

The telegram was addressed to Gov. Brown in the State Capitol at Sacramento and copies also were released to State Attorney General Stanley Mosk, Sen. Hugh M. Burns, chairman of the State Senate Committee on Un-American Activities, and to Paul H. Talbert, a member of the Birch Society's National Council.

Cites Aims

Talbert, a Beverly Hills insurance broker, made a copy of the telegram available to UPI along with a prepared statement of his own.

Talbert's statement said any member of the society, who would refuse to testify before an investigating committee, would be expelled. Said the statement in part:

"The John Birch society believes in less government, more responsibility, more individual freedom preserving and protecting our Constitution and our glorious heritage.

"What is happening to cause supposedly reputable newspapers to refer to us as Fascists, Neo-Fascists, Silver Shirts, red shirts, black shirts, subversives, and even to compare us with the Ku Klux Klan?

"Who is responsible for leading this attack and who is keeping it alive?

"I will close with the words of J. Edgar Hoover. We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing."

Sen. Burns of Fresno, the Un-American Activities Committee chairman, said his group had the society under surveillance for several weeks but no irregularities had been discovered.

The society was openly criticized in the California Assembly yesterday in a resolution introduced by Assemblyman John A. O'Connell, D., San Francisco.

The resolution specifically referred to a document written by Welch in which he called former President Eisenhower "a dedicated Communist agent."

The final clause of the resolution said:

"Resolved, that the members (of the assembly) denounce the divisive, coercive and un-American activities employed by the John Birch Society and its adherents."

The resolution was referred to the committee on rules for a later hearing.

Object to Methods

The society also was believed to be subject of a strong denunciations voiced Tuesday night by Chancellor Samuel B. Gould of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

He warned at a charter day banquet that a "new type" of secret student organization had been set up on the campus which, unless it is checked, can destroy the university. He said:

"It claims to promote Americanism while it uses thoroughly un-American methods."

Although Gould was unavailable for further comment, one university official who asked not to be identified said it was his understanding Gould was referring to the John Birch Society.

SEN. HUGH M. BURNS, D-FRESNO, SAID IN A WIRE TO ROBERT WELCH, THE FOUNDER OF THE SOCIETY, THAT "THE COMMITTEE WILL BE GLAD TO SCHEDULE A HEARING AFTER THE ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATIVE-SESSION AT WHICH TIME HE (WELCH) WILL BE INVITED TO APPEAR.

"I DO NOT BELIEVE IT WOULD BE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST TO EMBARK ON AN EXTENSIVE INVESTIGATION OF THIS ORGANIZATION WHILE THE LEGISLATURE IS IN SESSION," BURNS SAID. "IT WOULD HAVE A DISRUPTIVE EFFECT ON OUR LEGISLATIVE DUTIES."

WELCH DEMANDED LAST NIGHT, IN A TELEGRAM TO GOV. EDMUND G. BROWN, THAT THE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATE HIS GROUP. "WE CAN ASSURE YOU THAT, UNLIKE OUR COMMUNIST ENEMIES, NONE OF OUR MEMBERS WILL TAKE THE FIFTH AMENDMENT," WELCH SAID.

"THERE HAVE BEEN ALLEGATIONS THAT THE SOCIETY IS OR COULD BECOME SUBVERSIVE," BURNS SAID. "OUR INVESTIGATION HAS NOT PROGRESSED TO THE STAGE WHERE A CONCLUSIVE JUDGMENT ON THIS SUBJECT COULD BE MADE."

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: MARCH 21, 1961

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages 4017-4028. Senator Young, (R) North Dakota, spoke concerning material he had included in previous Records in connection with the John Birch Society. Mr. Young pointed out that the Los Angeles Times and the Santa Barbara (California) News-Press had made an investigation of this society. Mr. Young included the articles and editorials from these newspapers. Included was an article from the Los Angeles Times of March 7, 1961, entitled "Birch Program in Los Angeles Outlined--Thousands Reportedly Belong to Chapters in Southland." The article quotes Paul H. Talbert, a council member from southern California, regarding the riots in San Francisco during hearings by the House Un-American Activities Committee. The article stated "He said the FBI has developed incontrovertible proof the riot was inspired, directed, and participated in by known Communists." The article goes on to state "In line with Welch's Blue Book instructions, the society is working to broaden the audience of such communistors as Manion, Dan Smoot and, locally, Ed Dulaney. Smoot, a former FBI agent with headquarters in Dallas, also publishes weekly reports which are circulated by society members in support of the rightwing viewpoints." The article points out that Robert Welch is the founder of the John Birch Society. Mr. Young also included a letter from Mr. Robert D. Love, a Wichita, Kansas, businessman, to Mrs. George Angle, in which Mr. Love outlined his views as a member of the John Birch Society. Mr. Love stated "I have known Mr. Robert Welch for 8 years. I have more confidence in his knowledge and ability than any man in the United States, with the exception of J. Edgar Hoover. Of course, Mr. Hoover is not available for consultation." Howard D. Smoot was employed with the Bureau as an Agent from March 23, 1942, to June 16, 1951. Shortly before Smoot's resignation, he was censured, placed on probation and transferred due to several unfounded charges against his SAC. His attitude before and after resignation was extremely antagonistic, and he was not recommended for reinstatement. He is the author of the "Dan Smoot Report" a weekly publication which deals with highly controversial topics. By SAC Letter dated March 24, 1955, it is noted that inquiries as to his former employment in this Bureau should be handled in a most circumspect manner and should be answered by merely giving the dates of his employment and no additional comment should be made.

Original filed in: 62-104401-1

In the original of a memorandum captioned and dated as above, the Congressional Record for MARCH 20, 1961 was reviewed and pertinent items were marked for the Director's attention. This form has been prepared in order that portions of a copy of the original memorandum may be clipped, mounted, and placed in appropriate Bureau case or subject matter files.

WASHINGTON--THE SENATE INTERNAL SECURITY SUBCOMMITTEE IS ANSWERING QUERIES ABOUT THE CONTROVERSIAL JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, SEMI-SECRET ANTI-COMMUNIST ORGANIZATION, BY DESCRIBING IT AS APPARENTLY "A PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATION," IT WAS LEARNED TODAY.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE'S EVALUATION IS BEING SENT OUT IN A FORM LETTER OVE THE SIGNATURE OF CHAIRMAN JAMES O. EASTLAND, D-MISS., WHICH READS:

"THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, ABOUT WHICH YOU ASKED IS KNOWN TO BE A CONSERVATIVE ANTI-COMMUNIST ORGANIZATION. WE ARE HAPPY TO STATE THAT IT SEEMS TO BE, FROM OUR RECORDS, A PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATION."

MEANWIME, SEN. MILTON R. YOUNG, R-N.D., ARISE IN THE SENATE FOR THE SECOND TIME IN TWO WEEKS TO INSERT INTO THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD NEWSPAPER STORIES ABOUT THE SOCIETY'S ACTIVITIES AND EDITORIALS CRITICIZING IT.

YOUNG SAID HE WAS SORRY HE REFERRED TO LOCAL UNITS OF THE ORGANIZATION AS "CELLS" IN HIS FIRST SPEECH MARCH 8. BUT HE SAID "THIS IS ONE OF THE PROBLEMS ONE ENCOUNTERS WITH AN ORGANIZATION OPERATING IN A SECRET MANNER."

YOUNG ALSO INSERTED A PHOTOSTATIC COPY OF A NOV. 1 LETTER FROM ROBERT D. LOVE, WICHITA, KAN., REPUBLICAN BUSINESSMAN, TO MRS. GEORGE ANGLE OF WICHITA DISCUSSING THE SOCIETY'S OBJECTIVES.

"SOME DAY THERE WILL BE A GOOD MANY PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY TRIED FOR TREASON--IF WE STILL HAVE COURTS BY THAT TIME," LOVE SAID. "THE SUPREME COURT HAS RIDDLED OUR INTERNAL SECURITY LAWS TO THE POINT THAT YOU CANNOT CONVICT A MAN OF BEING A COMMUNIST. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE."

Birch Society Loudly Praised

Mr. Editor:

Thank you so much for the fine article on Anti-Communism Groups in Abilene appearing in Friday afternoon's paper and written by your very good reporter Dick Tarpley.

It is a public service on the part of your paper to carry this information on these fine groups of American Patriots working to the best of their abilities to preserve our American freedom. I commend you on this wide publicity given these groups and say a sincere thank you for the many new members I'm sure we shall gain. As for the six separate groups listed. May their tribe increase.

I have gained the idea that the National Council of Churches is heavily infiltrated. This idea was formed from following carefully the decisions and publications of their last joint meeting in California a few months back. However, all of the articles I read were carried in the Abilene Reporter-News.

I have seen the 3½ hour film presentation by Robert Welch of the John Birch Society. It is most interesting. I must agree with some of those you interviewed that I, too, was not keenly impressed with the society as presented by the area coordinator locally. However, I bought and read the books and did further research. And I found I believed in the same things in which Mr. Welch believes: AN AMERICA FOR AMERICANS.

I find Mr. C. G. Whitten's statement rather amusing when he says: "It is hard for me to understand how a well - educated and well - read person living in this country today could embrace such a program. I predict that the responsible conservative element in our community will reject it totally." This statement grows doubly amusing when to the list of those well - read and well-learned local citizens, I add the names of Tom Anderson, Editor and Publisher of Farm and Ranch; Dean Clarence Manion, Former Dean of Notre Dame; Hon. M. T. Phelps, Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona; N. Floyd McGowin, President, W. T. Smith Lumber Co., Alabama; Cola G. Parker, President of the Kimberley - Clark Company; T. Coleman Andrews, Former Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the U.S.; Dr. N. E. Adamson Jr., a Boston surgeon; Hon. Spruille Braden, former Ambassador to several countries and former Assistant Secetary of State; Col. Laurence E. Bunker, former Personal Aide to General MacArthur; S. J. Conner, Chicago business man; Fred C. Koch, president, Rock Island Oil and Refining Company, and many, many others which room will not permit the listing.

And knowing the works and contributions to society of these fellow Americans, I would say to Mr. Whitten that I am persuaded that the brains and the patriotism is all on the side of the John Birch members and I should like to become one of them.

Mr. Whitten also mentioned Christianity in his statement to which I must answer: I believe the John Birch members have won on that count, too.

I really believe the truth of the matter is that Abilene has been "shook to its roots" by a handful of citizens taking a firm stand as Christians and true American citizens.

Birch Society Formula: 'Drastic, United Action'

By DICK TARPLEY
Reporter-News News Editor

(Another in a Series.)

Who was John Birch? How was the John Birch Society formed? And what does its founder hope to do about halting the advance of communism and bringing about a more conservative United States government?

Some of this information reached national prominence in a Time Magazine article March 10 about the society's founder, Robert Welch, who resigned as an executive of his brother's candy-making firm to devote fulltime to his project.

Greatest reaction to the Time article came from its discussion of "The Politician," a book which Time called Welch's "Mein Kampf." The book, known originally only to close friends, has been withdrawn from circulation because of violent reaction to Welch's judgments on contemporary leaders, according to Time.

For instance, both the Milwaukee Journal and Boston Herald printed stories purportedly quoting from page 268 of the book in which Welch is quoted expressing extreme opinions questioning the loyalty of President Eisenhower and his brother, Milton.

Time Story 'Biased'

Abilene members of the Birch Society contacted by the Reporter-News said they had not seen the book. Generally they tended to discount the Time Magazine report as biased, or slanted.

In his "Blue Book," which may be purchased by writing the society at Belmont 78, Mass., Welch recounts the two-day organization meeting of the society at Indianapolis in December, 1958.

Welch said he met with 11 men—two each from Wisconsin and Massachusetts and one each from Oregon, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Virginia. He spent two days going over his reasons for recommending formation of the John Birch Society, and a year later, he reported that there were working chapters in 16 states—New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Louisiana, Texas, California and Washington — and Home Chapter members in about 40 states.

Prominent among its Council are physicians, industrialists, retired military men, writers and an oilman, as well as actor Adolphe Menjou, attorney and former Notre Dame law school dean Clarence Manion, former ambassador and assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden, former Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, and retired Lt. Gen. Charles B. Stone III who succeeded Gen. Claire Chennault as commander of the 14th Air Force.

Named for Missionary

The society was named for John Birch, "a Christian missionary in China at the beginning of World War II, (who) organized Gen. Chennault's intelligence service, rose to the rank of Captain in the U. S. Army, served with distinction, and 10 days after V-J day, while in uniform, on a peaceful mission for his government, was brutally murdered by Chinese Communists.

"Few people recognized the name, because the Communists had planned it that way. It required five years of persistent effort by his parents, aided by Sen. William F. Knowland and other patriots, to pierce the blanket of oblivion brazenly obscuring the facts thrown over the affair by Red sympathizers in our government."

The Saturday Evening Post, in an editorial Jan. 22, 1955, said: "Amazingly, there were in Washington responsible officials who were willing to suppress news of the murder of an American officer, apparently to prevent the American people from rising up in their wrath and vetoing further appeasement of communism."

Welch said he realized the necessity for drastic, united action to combat Communism as he noticed the development of the strategy announced by Lenin before he died in 1924. Welch paraphrased the Lenin plan in this way:

"First, we will take Eastern Europe. Next, the masses of Asia. Then we shall encircle that last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack; it will fall like overripe fruit into our hands." Welch said the strategy also stated that "for the Communists, the road to Paris led through Pekin and Calcutta. Today you can easily see how that road to Paris is leading back from Peking through Calcutta, Cairo, Damascus, Bagdad, and Algiers."

Welch in Control

Welch is in absolute control of the John Birch Society, and he stressed that dictatorial control was necessary for the society to succeed. He pointed out that he had wholeheartedly backed Sen. Robert Taft even though he disagreed with three of the ten points in Taft's platform. He did not combat those three points, he said, because he felt this would have divided the effort at the overall goal and might have helped defeat Taft in his bid for the presidency.

Members of the society are encouraged to write in suggestions, but Welch makes the decisons and if a person feels he cannot abide by those decisions he is asked to leave the society.

Welch outlined 10 methods in his "Blue Book" by which the society hopes to achieve its purposes:

1. Establish reading rooms and encourage people to read anti-communist, right wing government books.

2. Circulate conservative periodicals, including "American Opinion," which Welch himself edits. Arrange to get "National Review" in every college library in the U.S. and the "Dan Smoot Report" in doctors' and dentists' waiting rooms.

3. Support, maintain and encourage listening to right wing broadcasters such as Fulton Lewis Jr., and Clarence Manion.

4. Make full and effectively-coordinated use of "the powerful letter-writing weapon that lies so ready at hand." Welch said the "Communists boast they can now land 40,000 individually written letters in Washington, on either side of any subject, within 72 hours." Welch stressed that the letter writing must be "definitely planned, ORDERED, and the amount and promptness of participation constantly checked and evaluated by a central headquarters or director."

Shock the People

5. Organize fronts — "little fronts, big fronts, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kind of fronts." They should be aimed "to accomplish, or at least publicize, one particular purpose." The most active front so far established by Welch is the "Petition to Impeach Earl Warren."

6. "Start shocking the American People...into a realization of what is happening." Welch lauds the work of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy along those lines. Ferreting out information to expose high-placed individuals as Communists is one means advocated.

7. Place society members in the audience to ask pointed questions of people who make speeches to civic, church, P-TA and other groups who vary their line to appeal to each different group in different localities. Welch says many such Communist "agents provocateur" roam the country making such speeches to tear down the capitalist system and gain backing for projects by appealing to special interests.

8. Line up ~~speakers~~ all over the country to speak to similar small audiences—"not on Communism or anti-Communism in general, but on specific subjects which could still carry a strong anti-Communist message."

9. Start extending "our body into other countries, as soon as there (are) energy and resources which could properly be spared for that purpose." Welch stressed that the society is a body "(such as the Catholic Church or Communist Party), and not an organization (such as the Republican Party).

10. "Put our weight into the political scales in this country just as fast and far as we could." Welch emphasized Barry Goldwater was the type of man needed to be President, and also praised William Knowland of California. He expressed little favor for Richard Nixon (and his "Blue Book" was written over two years ago), and he strongly opposed Nelson Rockefeller. He declared that "I don't think Nixon is committed to anything other than the career of Richard Nixon."

Welch said the 10 points are only a partial list and that other ideas would be tried. He expressed the feeling that the Communist menace could be halted and that America could win out, but he indicated that the John Birch Society is the main hope for achieving this. Nixon Scores Birch-Style Fight on Reds

LOS ANGELES, March 18 (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he opposes the political techniques of the John Birch Society.

In a letter to the Los Angeles Times yesterday, Nixon endorsed the newspaper's editorial stand against the society and added:

"One of the most indelible lessons of human history is that those who adopt the doctrine that the end justifies the means inevitably find the means become the end."

The Times printed two pages of pro and con letters of reaction to its front-page editorial March 12 by publisher Otis Chandler. The Times criticized what it termed the Society's methods "to fight Communists in Communist fashion."

The editorial described the Society's leader, Robert Welch, as the group's "absolute master." The Times said quotations from Welch and supporters "nail down the treacherous fallacy that an honorable or noble objective justifies any means to achieve it."

Reached at his home in Belmont, Mass., Welch said he had not yet seen Nixon's comments, but said he had no comment anyway.

Agreeing with the newspaper, Nixon added in his letter:

"It may at times seem unrealistic and naive to follow the rules of the game when our opponents are so unscrupulous and completely devoid of morality. But, in the end refusing to resort to methods that are wrong not only is right but in the long run it is the most effective way to combat an evil doctrine like communism."

The Society is named after an American priest executed as a spy a few years ago by the Red Chinese. The Society, which says it seeks to stop the spread of communism, has attracted some adherents of the Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-

Nixon Assails Birch Society

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 18 (AP).—Former Vice President Nixon, in a letter to the Los Angeles Times, has indorsed the newspaper's editorial stand against political techniques advocated by the John Birch Society, an anti-Communist organization.

Mr. Nixon wrote in part:

"I can well understand how many well-intentioned people, who are justifiably concerned about the threat which subversive groups present to our free institutions, tend to reach the conclusion that the only effective way to fight such organizations is to use the same evil methods they employ. . . .

"But there could be no more dangerous fallacy. One of the most indelible lessons of human history is that those who adopt the doctrine that the end justifies the means inevitably finds the means become the end."

The Times, in a front-page editorial March 12, said, "Every loyal American must agree devoutly with the (John Birch) society's immediate intention of 'stopping the Communists and destroying their conspiracy, or at least breaking its grip on our government and shattering its power within the United States.'"

But, the Times said, it could not go along with methods of the society . . . "to fight Communists in Communist fashion."

The editorial described Robert Welch as the society's "absolute master" and said quotations from Mr. Welch and his lieutenants "nail down the treacherous fallacy that an honorable or noble objective justifies any means to achieve it."

Birch Society Keeps Names Secret to Help Find Reds

By DICK TARPLEY
Reporter-News News Editor
(Second of a series)

"Somebody is feeling the effects of the John Birch Society," an Abilene member of the ultra-conservative, anti-communist organization surmised this week in explaining a recent Time Magazine article about the nationwide group.

Dr. J. A. Wolfe, a chiropractor, said the society's local organizations are not called "cells," however, as the Time article reported, but are "chapters."

Oilman Frank J. King, who paid his dues as a member of the Home Chapter of the Society but says he does not belong to a local chapter (and didn't even know any were organized here as chapters), was not fazed by the Time article.

Fear Power Plot

"My reaction was no different than it was to lots of things I read in Time Magazine," he grimaced. "My impression was that they (Time) were attacking him (national Birch Society Founder Joseph Wolfe of Massachusetts) because they fear he is seeking power personally. They fear the society was formed for the purpose of making him powerful." He added that he does not believe Welch is "in as much of a dictatorial role in the Birch Society as Time asserted in its article.

Dr. J. Ray Fox, physician, said he is a member (but not active in a chapter) of the John Birch Society whose present national aim is the impeachment of Earl Warren as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Fox said he knows there is more than one chapter of the Birch group here, but he's not sure if more than two have been formed. And none of the local members contacted by The Reporter-News would estimate the number of members in Abilene.

Dr. Wolfe and Elvin Allen, a radio and television repairman, each reported his chapter meets once a month. Neither would disclose where meetings are held nor who the officers of the chapter or chapters are. They were interviewed separately and it was not known if they are even in the same chapter.

Inspired by Speech

Allen said he had been a member about a month, but that he joined after long thought which began when Actor Ronald Reagan made a stirring Abilene Chamber of Commerce speech in 1959 about the dangers of communism and socialism and the loss of individual freedoms in the United States. Both Allen and his wife are active. They live at 757 Elm St.

Allen said the Birch chapter does not have formal programs or speakers, but the group discusses issues and projects.

Why the secrecy?

There is no secrecy, local members said, except in the names of the members. Purposes, plans, etc. all may be obtained by writing the society at Belmont, Mass. In return, Welch will send his "Blue Boook" which outlines the reason the society was started, ways it can fight communism and socialism and big government, rules of the society which require members to resign if they decide they can't follow the decisions of retired candymaker Welch, and some of the plans for society action.

Ferret Out Communists

But names can't be generally released, Dr. Wolfe said. "To publicize our membership would destroy our ability to ferret out communists in our society."

Allen said if everyone "knew of our activities," the enemy (communists and their supporters) would "work against us."

Fox said it is up to each individual as to whether he objected to it being known that he was a member of the society. Fox and Allen each agreed to call their chapter president and ask him if he objected to his position being known and, if not, to have him call the reporter. But no call was forthcoming and the names of chapter presidents or other officials here are still a secret.

Allen said that following the Ronald Reagan speech, he began to read patriotic and conservative material, listened to "Life Line," the conservative, anti-big government, anti-communist radio program with Wayne Poucher, a radio minister, and finally heard about the John Birch Society.

He said he made inquiries, got the "Blue Book" from Welch and decided a month ago to join. Society dues are $12 a year for women and $24 a year for men, with the society sending a bulletin each month about society activities, letters, etc.

"I wouldn't belong to anything I thought was bad," Allen said.

Much Reading

He said that before the Reagan speech, he used to read just the comics and sports pages. Now he said he stays up until midnight reading anti-communist books, material on "returning to the Constitution" and elimination of excessive government.

Allen stressed that he and his wife are against anything that is "against the Constitution."

He said a member does not have to write a letter or "participate" unless he wants to. Allen has written two letters to the Reporter-News urging impeachment of Earl Warren, the first of which was printed. This is based on his leadership of the Supreme Court during the past eight years and his vote 36 out of 39 times (according to material supplied in a Welch publication) in support of the liberal side in matters involving communism, or greater federal government control.

Allen said the Birch society uses only constitutional means in seeking to achieve its goals—primarily writing congressmen.

While Allen has been a member only a month, King got his start in the society last summer, when he called a group of friends together at Foremost Dairies Auditorium to see the lengthy (3 1-2 hour) film in which Welch gives a series of speeches along the same lines as his "Blue Book."

King disagreed with a Time Magazine charge that "the society accepts the hard-boiled, dictatorial direction of one man."

"While it's inherent in every man to want power and influence," King said, "I don't think there's any desire on his (Welch's) part to become a dictator of these United States. I haven't had such an impression and neither have any people in the Society (from Dallas) with whom I've talked."

Film Shown

King said he did not know any members of the society in Abilene, that he first learned of its existence when talking with friends in Dallas. As a result of these talks, he later was contacted by Buck Mann of Odessa, area coordinator for the John Birch Society. Thus the film was arranged and shown here. No chapter was formed as a result of that meeting, however, King said.

Robert J. Tiffany, insurance executive, who said he attended this recruiting meeting, reported that he arrived late after returning from Dallas, saw only about two hours of the film and personally objected to the recruiter's pressure that a society be formed. He said the recruiter (Tiffany thought he was from Dallas) said each member of the society was required to send letters "when we tell you to." Tiffany said he wanted to be his own judge as to when to write letters and as to what stand he wanted to take.

"I made a motion that the society not be formed at that time," Tiffany added. He said he bought $2 worth of books the recruiter had for sale (others also bought the books) and left the meeting. He said he's heard nothing more about the society and has made no further inquiries about it.

Declined to Join

Attorney C. G. Whitten said he also attended the meeting and declined to join, although he bought some literature.

"Based on my limited experience with the John Birch Society," Whitten said, "it would appear to me that the organization is one that uses totalitarian methods to accomplish its ends, and that the program of the society itself is based upon an abounding ignorance of our American heritage of civil liberties and freedom of thought, and totally lacking in the Christian attitude of charity toward the disadvantaged and weak.

"It is hard for me to understand how a well-educated and well-read person living in this country today could embrace such a program. I predict that the responsible conservative element in our community will reject it totally."

Mabley's Report

How Jack Lifted Lid on Hate Society

BY JACK MABLEY

The public exposure of the John Birch society, a national anti-communist, anti-democracy organization, began with a phone call to this columnist last July.

JACK MABLEY

The exposure was climaxed last Wednesday in the United States Senate when Sen. Young of North Dakota denounced the organization, and put into the Congressional Record this reporter's original exposure.

The call in July was from a man who had been persuaded to attend a meeting of a suburban "cell." He had stood up in the meeting and asked about a book written by the society's leader, Robert Welch, of Boston.

In the book, Welch charged that President Eisenhower and most of the top officials around him were Communists. He described Eisenhower's action as "treason."

THE MAN WHO stood up was derided and scorned. He was told he had no business seeing the book, that for anyone other than a leader of the society to have the book was "like telling a first year medical student to go out and cure cancer."

I conducted an investigation of this secret society. It was ascertained that Welch was a fanatical retired Boston candy manufacturer.

He was so persuasive that he talked three former presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers into serving on the society's board.

I wrote two articles which were published, not by coincidence, on the opening days of the Republican national convention, when most of the nation's conservative leaders were in Chicago. I was then working for the Daily News.

IMMEDIATELY ALL copies of Welch's book, titled "The Politician," were taken out of circulation.

When questioned, Welch insisted that if it existed, it was merely a long letter to friends. He neglected to note this long letter had a title, was printed, had hard covers, and was 302 pages long. Some letter.

The Milwaukee Journal, with help from this reporter, was next to print an exposure of the Birch group. The publicity, however, did not stop its growth.

It thrived in the west and southwest. It was in these areas that attacks on responsible leaders were most vicious and harmful. To oppose the society was to invite smearing as a "Communist."

• • •

THE SOCIETY WAS condemned almost without exception by newspapers in the west and southwest. The fight attracted nationwide attention. The sordid story of Welch and the growth of his group was detailed last week in Time magazine.

Sen. Young, in putting into the Congressional Record the column of July 26, told the Senate:

"I hesitated to give further publicity to this dastardly attack [on the President].

"It is unbelievable that any sane person would make such accusations against President Eisenhower, who has devoted his life to the service of this country and who led all of the allied forces in the European theater during World War II.

"The only reason why I am reluctantly giving publicity to the vicious charges made by the leaders of this society is that I believe it will serve to give needed information to people in my state and elsewhere who may be influenced by this organization."

It must now be determined whether further exposure is necessary, or whether the society will sink to the oblivion it deserves.

Lists Two Rhode Island Backers

Birch Society a National Irritant

By LEWIS W. WOLFSON

Richard Cardinal Cushing, Catholic Archbishop of Boston, confirmed today that he had written a letter endorsing the John Birch Society, an extreme right wing group, but said he intended to look into the society's operation further.

The letter was reproduced in a booklet issued by the society, based in Belmont, Mass.

The society's agitation for causes on the extreme right has begun to be felt throughout the country, causing considerable discussion of its operation and investigation of its strength.

Two Rhode Islanders, Robert B. Dresser, of Providence and Norman D. MacLeod of Kenyon, who are listed on the Committee of Endorsers, today confirmed that they are backers.

The Birch Society was denounced on the floor of the U.S. Senate last week by Sen. Milton R. Young, a notably conservative North Dakota Republican. He was joined in the denunciation by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

Cardinal Cushing told the Journal-Bulletin this morning that he had only met Robert H. W. Welch Jr., the society's founder, "once or twice a few years ago" and "didn't know anything about his society."

He said that he was impressed with Mr. Welch's anti-communist attitude and endorsed the society "as part of his program. I thought it undoubtedly reflected his own anti-communist attitude and thinking."

The Cardinal added that "if he's going to be attacking people, I'm just going to withdraw my name."

Cardinal Cushing said he felt that any stir that might be raised about his letter was "a lot of nonsense." He thought that the society might well be "one of those things that have gone to the extreme right just as some go to the extreme left."

He said he would look into it after he returns from a projected trip to Ireland.

The letter is reproduced in one of the latest of the society's publications, a compilation of its supporters and endorses with a statement of aims, which was shown to the Journal-Bulletin last night.

It was dated April 28, 1960, and addressed to a Mr. C. M. Crawford, Los Angeles, Calif. It read:

"Dear Mr. Crawford:

"Replying to your recent letter, I beg to advise you that I do not know of any more dedicated anti-communist in the country than Robert Welch.

"I unhesitatingly recommend him to you and endorse his John Birch Society.

"Under separate cover I am sending you some literature that may be of interest to you."

Mr. Dresser reached by telephone in Sarasota, Fla. said that he is an endorser of the society but refused to make any further comment.

Birch Society a National Irritant

Mr. MacLeod said he had been a member of the society since it started. "I have known Bob Welch a great many years. He and I had often talked about communism and subversion." He said that "eventually he (Mr. Welch) thought up this plan" to fight communism.

He said that there are two or three persons in Rhode Island in the "Home Chapter," the group's members-by-mail unit. He said he had talked with Mr. Dresser about the Birch Society.

He thought the society had tried to start a "cell" in the state "some little time ago but I don't know what came of it."

He has not been asked directly to do any particular work for the society but "they would like me to do what I've been doing for quite a while."

Founded in 1958

The John Birch Society was founded in December, 1958, by Mr. Welch, retired executive of the James O. Welch Candy Company in Cambridge.

In the two years since, Mr. Welch has privately published two major tracts outlining a militant anti-communist movement; claimed the organization of cells in 34 states; built the membership to a figure variously estimated between 100,000 and 200,000 persons; launched a campaign to propagandize, and to influence teaching methods and the choice and writing of textbooks, and energized various causes such as those to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court, abolish foreign aid, denounce NATO and summit meetings—particularly through front groups.

In his manifesto, "The Politician," which he claims is not necessarily a bible for the Birch Society, Mr. Welch dropped a couple of bombshells that in recent weeks have exploded into the headlines: He has labeled as Communist agents, former President Eisenhower, his brother, Milton, the late John Foster Dulles, and his brother, Allen, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Milton Eisenhower is supposed to be his brother's "superior and boss within the Communist Party" and "treason" is cited as the only word for the former president's "purposes and actions."

FDR, Truman Named

Also, either "knowingly" or "unknowingly" used by the Communists were former Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

"The Politician" and the "Blue Book," a handbook for society members, have gradually leaked out to the press, in addition to Welch bulletins to chapters and his longtime monthly "American Opinion."

Mr. Dresser, an attorney who has been associated with the National Economic Council, the Committee for Constitutional Government and other ultra right wing groups, led the successful fight against fair housing legislation in Rhode Island. Recently, he has campaigned in support of the work of the House committee on un-American activities which has come under fire.

Mr. MacLeod also was an opponent of fair housing bills.

Gordon D. Hall of Boston, a writer and lecturer, conducted a personal probe of right wing groups for 15 years, says he has no knowledge of any John Birch cells yet in operation in Rhode Island.

He told an audience at the First Unitarian Church, Providence, last night, that "to the best of my knowledge there are no organized hate groups in Providence or in any other large city in the state."

He praised Mr. Dresser for taking a stand and sticking by it, but noted that from his past writings, "the Dresser role here is very obvious."

Mr. Hall felt that Mr. Dresser "fails to distinguish between a really legitimate conservative cause and one that spills into the extremist areas."

Mr. Hall felt that the reason for the exposure of the John Birch movement is that it has begun to make itself felt all over the country, with its harassing of school officials, lectures, textbook writers and the like.

Although no "cells" apparently have been organized here, Mr. Welch in his latest pamphlet notes there are members of the "Home Chapter," or mail correspondents, in every state.

'Volunteer Coordinators'

He says that many members first come in through the Home Chapter and later are transferred to local chapters as they are formed. He said there are now "Volunteer Coordinators" in 30 states and they will be appointed in other states. The ultimate aim is a million members, "of fervent patriotism and unassailable character."

John Birch was a Navy captain who, while doing intelligence work in the Orient during World War II, became a missionary for his strong fundamentalist faith. He was killed in cold blood by the Chinese Communists a few days after the war ended.

Society dues are $24 a year for men, $12 for women and $1,000 for a life membership. The home office is at 395 Concord Ave., Belmont, Mass.

The John Birch Society

Readers are well acquainted by now with the John Birch Society. The principles of the society, which describes itself as dedicated to combatting Communism, and of its founder, Robert Welch, who has accused such Americans as Dwight Eisenhower, Milton Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles, Allen Dulles and General George C. Marshall of being Communists, have been set forth in some detail in this newspaper. We have touched in a previous editorial on the kind of thinking organizations like this represent. Pros and cons on the subject have been extensively set forth in letters to the editor.

Members of the John Birch Society have characterized as lies and distortions factual reports concerning their organization that are based on direct quotations from their own publications. They claim their only purpose is to fight Communists and to promote conservatism—less government, more responsibility, a better world.

While few of us could quarrel with such aims, they do not, in themselves, sanctify the society. The German-American Bund was against Communism. So was Hitler. We don't seek to compare this group with any of this sorry lot, but it is pointed out to demonstrate again that to be against Communism does not necessarily give one an Olympian status. And we think there are ways to fight Communism and ways not to.

No one in his right mind can deny that the threat is real both internally and externally. A careful and thorough treatment of the internal threat has been given by J. Edgar Hoover in "Masters of Deceit," a book we commend to your attention. But the John Birchers, while they make this book a text of their own, don't seem to have absorbed some of Mr. Hoover's sound advice about witch hunts.

Says Mr. Hoover:

"Smears, character assassination, and the scattering of irresponsible charges have no place in this nation. They create division, suspicion, and distrust among loyal Americans—just what the Communists want—and hinder rather than aid the fight against Communism."

Such disruptive influence has been felt already in some neighboring communities. A disgraceful whispering campaign was directed against a number of candidates in a nearby school board election. There has been harassment by phone. One of the stated aims of the John Birch Society is to drive hundreds so-called pro-Communist speakers from the lecture platforms of the nation, by heckling and other pressure, to pave the way for their own "Americanist" speakers.

But Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, more or less set the pace for smearing and character assassination in his private bill of goods called "The Politician." Some John Birch leaders deny with some violence that they agree that the Eisenhower brothers, the Dulles brothers or Marshall were Communist traitors, while others seem to evade the issue. All seek to separate the John Birch Society from this book, however, and with a peculiar sense of logic.

They point out that it was written years ago. It was started, in truth, in 1954, and supplemented up through 1958, the year the Society was formed, and printed by photo offset that year for distribution to Mr. Welch's friends and the leaders of the Society.

Mr. Welch, in his "Blue Book," says he has a nose for Communists. We will wonder, in view of these loony charges, just what kind of nose. We would think that the more responsible John Birch Society members who can't swallow these charges of high treason might wonder about Mr. Welch as an authority on anything else having to do with Communism.

We can't think, as a matter of fact, of anything the Communists themselves could enjoy more. The fear and hysteria created by the extremists of the John Birch group probably delight them. What better for them than to divide good Americans, to make neighbor view neighbor with suspicion? What better smoke screen for their own foul activities could they design?

We feel that the vast majority of John Birch members are decent, honest, patriotic Americans, but we feel they have been misled and carried away, by an admittedly dynamic and hypnotic leader, in their legitimate anxieties about our growing welfare state and the Communist conspiracy against us.

Peril to Conservatives

(An Editorial)

The Times published last week a heavily documented series of articles which defined the nature and methods of the John Birch Society in the words of its absolute master.

The quotations from Robert Welch, and from some of his lieutenants, nail down the treacherous fallacy that an honorable or noble objective justifies any means to achieve it.

Our fear of the John Birch Society is based on our own findings, on the meticulously researched articles written by Gene Blake. In them it can be read, within quotation marks, that Communists must be fought with their own weapons, smear for smear. Even—and the quotations are brutal—with sedition.

Every conservative must adhere to the general purpose of the society as it is stated by Robert Welch: "to promote less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Every loyal American must agree devoutly with the society's immediate intention of "stopping the Communists and destroying their conspiracy, or at least breaking its grip on our government and shattering its power within the United States."

And every informed American must agree with the society's tenet that the United States is actually now engaged with Soviet Russia in a struggle for the survival of our system.

With all honorable Americans, this newspaper looks with disgust and dread upon the godless materialism and blood-soaked tyranny of the Communist conspiracy. It is because of our people's disgust and dread that the Communists must seek their ends by secret subversion, by seducing officials, by discrediting our institutions, sowing distrust among us, aggravating union and racial disputes, entering without conscience into any course that will serve the purpose of Moscow.

Then what is likely to happen to the member of the John Birch Society who abandons all the rules by which he has lived his decent life, and adopts instead the techniques and the rules of conspiracy to fight Communists in Communist fashion?

If the John Birchers follow the program of their leader, they will bring our institutions into question exactly as the Communists try to do. They will sow distrust, and aggravate disputes, and they will weaken the very strong case for conservatism.

What are we to think when our last three Presidents, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower, are accused either of being Communists or Communist dupes?

What are we to think when these charges are leveled against Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, against his brother Allen who heads our vital Central Intelligence Agency, against the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court?

What are we to think when the honor and integrity of the Vice President of the United States, the Republican Party's nominee for President, are questioned?

What are we to think when we are told that our nation's press almost without exception is Communist infiltrated and inspired?

What are we to think when we are told that our churches almost without exception are corroded with active agents of Moscow?

What is happening to us when all loyal Americans are accused of being Communist dupes unless they subscribe to the radical and dictatorial direction of one self-chosen man?

All sincere conservatives must ask themselves these questions. And they must answer them.

The Times believes implicitly in the conservative philosophy. It has challenged all these men and most of these institutions on the soundness of one or more issues. But The Times does not believe that the argument for conservatism can be won—and we do believe it can be won—by smearing as enemies and traitors those with whom we sometimes disagree.

Subversion, whether of the left or the right, is still subversion.

Editor denounces secret hate group

REC 22

LOS ANGELES

Fires are being kindled by believers in old-fashioned American democracy under the John Birch society and the "cells" of this semi-secret hate group which has gained a foothold in the Southland.

Biggest blast was leveled at the society recently in the News-Press of Santa Barbara, where the society seems to have made the greatest headway in this area. The News-Press took after the society in a front page editorial, a "statement of principles" and a foreword by Thomas M. Storke, editor of the paper.

Two of the inside editorial pages were taken up largely by a verbatim report of a sermon preached by John K. Crane, minister of the Santa Barbara Unitarian church, against the society.

What seems to have aroused Editor Storke, in the first instance, is a movement instigated by the founder of the society, Robert Welch, a retired Massachusetts candy manufacturer, to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren as a "traitor."

PRINCIPLES STATED

Aside from being a fellow Republican, Storke is said to have formed close personal association with the Chief Justice during the years he was Governor of California. But Storke's concern became more than one for the integrity of a personal friend.

This was made plain in the statement of principles, which declared:

- That democratic institutions can be endangered as much by the extremists of the right as those of the left.
- That Democracy can be strengthened only through open discussion of issues, in the spirit of the Constitution and Bill of Rights — that secret or semi-secret political organizations have no place in our society.
- That our democratic institutions are sound enough to withstand the give and take of open political discussion and examination of all ideological beliefs.
- That Democracy suffers when fear of Communism leads to irresponsible, unsubstantiated charges of treason or evil connivance against our political, religious, educational or cultural leaders.
- That traitors should be dealt with by the courts, not vigilante groups.

The editorial condemned "the dictatorial, undemocratic structure" of the John Birch society. It revealed Santa Barbarans who had the temerity to question the society's purposes had been subjected to anonymous telephone calls from members and sympathizers of the society.

Bible of the society is its "Blue Book," in which founder Welch announced a goal of 1 million members at a minimum of $24 a year for men and $12 a year for women and he was quoted as saying that "for reasons you will understand, there can be no accounting of funds."

Figuring that if men and women joined in equal numbers, Welch with 1 million members would have an $18-million kitty for his use, the News-Press added, "Quite a sum to play with without accountability."

THEORY CHALLENGED

In his sermon, Rev. Crane hit at the theoretical premise on which the John Birch society operates. This, he said, is that as the government has intervened in more and more areas of the nation's life, it has moved inevitably "down the road toward collectivism and Communism."

Given this premise, "every act of the federal government carries with it the menacing threat of Communism," said Rev. Crane. "When the government forced integration in the South, this was clearly Communism at work. Or consider the Social Security system — obviously Communist. Likewise the income tax."

MEMBERS LEAVE

But the storm raging in Santa Barbara was evidence that this conservative haven of the well-to-do was not accepting the Welch brand of McCarthyism.

Some members of the John Birch society are reported to have resigned. The News-Press front paged a news story that a member of the society from nearby Goleta had asked Welch to explain his charge that former President Eisenhower was guilty of "treasonable acts."

This is another member of the society on his way out. Welch has set it down as the first principle of organization that he, as leader, will not tolerate dissent and/or questioning of his actions on the pain of expulsion.

Welch has boasted his society has organized in some 20 states with 25 "cells" in the Boston area alone with membership strongest in Tennessee, Texas and Southern California. Somewhat the same kind of storm, as in Santa Barbara, has been raised in Pasadena over the society. More may be on the way.

Here's Proof Welch DID Call Ike 'Red'

This column today offers documented proof that Robert Welch, leader of the John Birch society, has accused President Eisenhower of being a Communist, and of treason.

JACK MABLEY

These despicable allegations are made in the suppressed book, "The Politician," written by Welch.

Since the John Birch society was exposed by this writer last July 25, Welch has called in all copies of the book, and has virtually denied its existence.

Reproduced above is a section of the book which contains the most scurrilous statements. The book itself is 302 pages long, with offset type, and hard covers. It was circulated only among the top lieutenants in Welch's society.

THE JOHN BIRCH society is an "anti-communist" organization. Welch is the absolute dictator. The society is gaining a foothold in most large cities. In Chicago and suburbs there are believed to be thousands of members in various "cells."

They have adopted many communist techniques. They form front organizations, using different names. They infiltrate clubs and school groups and similar organizations. They organize letter-writing campaigns.

They are responsible for vicious attacks on patriotic citizens who dare disagree with their methods.

Sen. Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, Wednesday placed in the Congressional Record two columns by this writer, then with the Daily News, from last July 25 and 26.

Said Sen. Young:

"Welch has made accusations against the President of the United States and other top officers far beyond anything the late Senator Joe McCarthy even thought of.

"To label some of our most loyal and dedicated people as communists plays right into the hands of communists."

The Senate majority leader, Mike Mansfield, praised Sen. Young for denouncing the Birch society.

HERE ARE SOME other statements by Welch, who, incidentally, will be in Chicago Sunday on a mission for his society.

"Communist influences are now in almost complete control of our federal government.

"I am proposing the formation of the John Birch society . . . under completely authoritative controls at all levels . . . we mean business every step of the way."

Welch formed the society in a private meeting in an Indianapolis club in December, 1958. He told the businessmen he called together from all parts of the country, "Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

WELCH WAS SO irrational that responsible leaders who watched his organization believed it would wither as members became aware of their leader's fanatacism.

However, Welch toned down after being exposed by this column after he called in all copies of "The Politician," members refused to acknowledge that such a book even existed.

Welch has continued to persuade well-meaning citizens to join the society.

HE NO LONGER can be ignored. His capacity for undermining government authority and the democratic processes is growing. He can do grave damage to the country, and serve the communists well under his "anti-communist" guise.

More documentation will appear in these columns.

Group Lists Eisenhower As Red, Senate Is Told

By the Associated Press

Senator Milton R. Young, Republican of North Dakota, said in the Senate yesterday that leaders of an ultra-conservative and semi-secret group operating in many States have falsely accused former President Eisenhower of being a Communist.

Senator Young said the organization is known as the John Birch Society, claims to be fighting communism and has accused Senator Young himself of "being about every kind of scoundrel, including a Communist or pro-Communist."

Names Leader

He said the leader of the Birch Society is Robert Welch, a retired business executive of Belmont, Mass.

Democratic Leader Mansfield of Montant lauded Senator Young for his denunciation of the society. He said he has heard of the group in his own State and "something is wrong somewhere."

Senator Young said the society has organized cells in North Dakota among "some of the most able and influential people in each community."

He said Mr. Welch has "made accusations against the President of the United States and other top officials far beyond anything the late Senator Joe McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, even thought of."

"To label some of our most loyal and dedicated people as Communists plays right into the hands of the Communists," he added.

Cites Reports on Society

Senator Young placed in the Congressional Record articles from the Chicago Daily News of last July 26 and the current edition of Time magazine dealing with the Birch Society and Mr. Welch.

The News story said Mr. Welch is author of a book, "The Politician," which tries to prove that former President Eisenhower was a dedicated Communist and his brother, Milton R. Eisenhower, was Ike's superior in the Communist Party."

The Time article told of society activities in several States and Mr. Welch as a former prominent Boston businessman who regards the income tax and social security as moves toward communism.

It said John Birch was a United States Navy captain who was killed by Chinese Communist guerrillas after V.J. Day.

Senator Scores Extremist Unit That Views Eisenhower as Red

Young Deplores Expansion of John Birch Society—Mansfield Joins Attack

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Senator Milton R. Young said today that leaders of an ultra-conservative, semi-secret group operating in many states had falsely accused former President Eisenhower of being a Communist.

The North Dakota Republican, on the Senate floor, said the organization was known as the John Birch Society. It contends to be fighting communism, he said, and has accused him [Mr. Young] of "being about every kind of a scoundrel, including a Communist or pro-Communist."

He identified the leader as Robert Welch, a retired business executive of Belmont, Mass.

Senator Mike Mansfield, majority leader, praised Mr. Young for his denunciation of the group. The Montanan said he had heard of it in his state and "something is wrong somewhere."

Influence Is Cited

Mr. Young said the society had cells in North Dakota among 'some of the most able and influential people in each community."

He said Mr. Welch had "made accusations against the President of the United States and other top officers far beyond anything the late Senator Joe McCarthy [of Wisconsin] even thought of."

"To label some of our most loyal and dedicated people as Communists plays right into the hands of the Communists," he declared.

He placed in the Congressional Record articles from The Chicago Daily News of last July 26 and the current edition of Time magazine dealing with the society and Welch.

The News article said Mr. Welch was the author of a book, "The Politician," which tries to prove that General Eisenhower is a dedicated Communist and that his brother, Dr. Milton R. Eisenhower, is "Ike's superior in the Communist party."

The Time article told of society activities in several states. It said Mr. Welch was a former prominent Boston business man who regarded the income tax and Social Security as moves toward communism.

Associated Press

Senator Milton R. Young

It explained that John Birch was a Navy captain who had been killed by Chinese Communist guerrillas after the surrender of Japan. Mr. Young said most of the group's criticism "is leveled not against liberal public officials, but against the more middle-of-the-road and even conservative Republicans."

"From a practical political point of view," he said, "such charges actually are of some help. It is sort of a medicine to some liberal-thinking people who often have accused me of being a reactionary conservative."

Membership Unknown

The society was founded, according to Mr. Welch, to fight communism and work for less government and more individual responsibility.

It first came into the limelight last summer. The society's home office is at 395 Concord Avenue, Belmont, Mass., a suburb of Boston. Its annual dues are $24 for men and $12 for women. A life membership coots $1,000. The number of members is not known.

(BIRCH SOCIETY)

WASHINGTON--SEN. MILTON R. YOUNG, R-N.D., AND SENATE DEMOCRATIC LEADER MIKE MANSFIELD, MONT., TODAY SOUGHT TO RALLY PUBLIC OPINION AGAINST THE ULTRA-CONSERVATIVE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, WHOSE TOP OFFICIAL ACCUSED FORMER PRESIDENT EISENHOWER OF BEING A COMMUNIST AGENT.

IN SEPARATE SENATE SPEECHES, YOUNG AND MANSFIELD DEPLORED THE ORGANIZATION'S GROWING MEMBERSHIP IN THE DAKOTAS AND MONTANA, ALTHOUGH YOUNG QUOTED A (TIME) MAGAZINE ARTICLE AS REPORTING IT HAS ACTIVE "CELLS" IN MORE THAN 35 STATES. ONE NORTH DAKOTA CITY ALONE HAS FOUR CELLS, YOUNG SAID.

HE SAID THE SOCIETY'S MEMBERSHIP INCLUDES "SOME OF THE MOST ABLE AND INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN EACH COMMUNITY." ITS CRITICISM, HE SAID, IS LEVELED "NOT AGAINST LIBERAL PUBLIC OFFICIALS, BUT AGAINST MORE MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD, AND EVEN CONSERVATIVE, REPUBLICANS."

SOCIETY PRESIDENT ROBERT WELCH "HAS MADE ACCUSATIONS AGAINST THE PRESIDENT AND OTHER TOP OFFICIALS FAR BEYOND ANYTHING THE LATE SEN. JOE MCCARTHY EVER THOUGHT OF," YOUNG SAID.

HE SUBMITTED AN ARTICLE FROM A CHICAGO NEWSPAPER (NEWS) IN WHICH WELCH'S BOOK, "THE POLITICIAN," WAS SAID TO HAVE TRIED TO PROVE THAT EISENHOWER "IS A CONSCIOUS, DEDICATED AGENT OF THE COMMUNISTS," AND HIS ADMINISTRATION "CONTROLLED BY THE COMMUNIST PARTY."

MANSFIELD JOINED IN CRITICIZING THE ATTACK ON EISENHOWER, AND IN URGING THE PUBLIC TO "JUDGE THIS ORGANIZATION FOR WHAT IT IS."

YOUNG SAID THE SOCIETY HAS ACCUSED HIM "OF BEING ABOUT EVERY KIND OF SCOUNDREL, INCLUDING A COMMUNIST OR PRO-COMMUNIST."

Birch Society Denies Commie List

By THOMAS THOMPSON
and DON BOYETT

An Amarillo official of the John Birch Society today denied any connection between that organization and an alleged list of at least five Amarillo men accused of being Communists or leaning toward communism.

Brig. Gen. (Ret.) William L. (Jerry) Lee, volunteer co-ordinator for the society, told The Globe-Times if such a list of alleged fellow travelers does exist, it is not a product of the John Birch Society. "And as far as I know none of our people had anything to do with it," he added.

"As far as I know there are no Communists in Amarillo," the retired commander of Amarillo Air Force Base said, though he did add that some people in Amarillo may be unknowingly used as dupes of communism.

The rumored list includes the names of two ministers, a candidate for the City Commission, an attorney and a City of Amarillo department head. Some of the men on the list say they have been told that such a list exists and that their names are on it, though none have seen it.

Gen. Lee blamed the rumor on possible Communist tactics. "The Communists would like nothing better than for us to be divided and fighting among ourselves," he said.

The rumored list climaxes several weeks of edginess built up here by clashes between John Birch members and others who consider the society is too extreme in its method of fighting communism. A few crises have built up in Amarillo churches over the issues and some ministers fear serious splits will develop in their churches.

Gen. Lee says friction in the churches is caused by the ministers defending the National Council of Churches, which he says is Communist infiltrated. "We have documented proof that the National Council has been infiltrated by Communists," he said, "and some of these ministers just won't listen to us.

"Until we can convince them that the National Council has some Communist followers in it there is going to be some friction," he added.

The retired general said that not long ago he had been accused of calling a minister here a Communist. He said that this is a false accusation.

"Preachers don't become Communists; Communists become preachers," he said.

He went on to say that singling out prominent local people could be the handiwork of "fellow travelers. That's a prime technique of the Communists."

The John Birch Society is a nationwide organization dedicated to fighting the spread of communism. It was started in 1958 by a Boston candy maker, Robert Welch, who is the self-appointed head of the organization. International headquarters of the society are at Belmont, Mass.

The first chapter was organized here last August by Lee, who had been a member of the home chapter at Belmont. Since his retirement from the Air Force Gen. Lee has dedicated his life to the fight against communism and has selected the John Birch Society as his primary vehicle in that fight.

Lee estimates there are now some 16 chapters in Amarillo, each with from 12 to 20 members. Many other chapters are located in other Panhandle and South Plains cities and he figures there are as many as 60 chapters in Houston alone.

Lee says the main credo of the organization is "less government, more individual responsibility and a better world."

In contacts with the public, he said, the members speak only as individuals and never sign their name in letters as members of the John Birch Society. Members of the chapters band together to study the spread of communism and the workings of their own government.

Most of their activities consist of writing letters to editors, as well as to congressmen and senators concerning national issues. One goal of the society as set forth in its "Blue Book" is the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, a point referred to in many letters to the editor here.

Members of the Birch Society were instrumental in asking the Amarillo City Commission recently to ban a "Great Decisions" discussion series from being held at Mary E. Bivins Memorial Library.

Citing a booklet prepared by an American Legion Post in Atlanta, Ga., the opponents of the program contended it was left-inspired.

The discussion series is sponsored in a number of U. S. public libraries by the 42-year-old Foreign Policy Association, an educational institution supported by foundation grants, individuals and subscriptions, and claiming endorsements of President Kennedy, former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman, former Vice President Richard Nixon and all former American presidents to Woodrow Wilson.

The city commission refused to bar the discussion series from the library.

Lee said most of the Birch Society members are people who have only recently become aware of the spread of communism and must be educated to the fact.

The society also has fostered a large number of splinter groups here, which possibly include even more members. Most of these groups were started after some people attended John Birch Society meetings, but felt the authoritarian type organization was not the answer.

Many of these groups are now conducting their own study courses for informative purposes, but are not tied to any formal organization.

The bulk of John Birch Society membership here is composed of doctors, dentists, insurance men and realtors, though by all means not all in these professions and businesses subscribe to the movement. Few if any attorneys are members.

Lee spends most of his time making speeches against communism and showing the John Birch Society information film. This film is a speech by Robert Welch which gives the background of the organization, along with a running history on the spread of communism over the world.

In recent months the society has made rapid advances all over the United States. Lee says it's "growing like toadstools" in all parts of the country and the founders hope it will live for hundreds of years.

It has remained out of the limelight, primarily through efforts of Welch and most of its members. This is probably because what publicity has been given the society has not all been favorable.

Most damaging of this publicity has been stories in several newspapers which quoted from a book which Welch printed and distributed to a selected few members. In the book, "The Politician," Welch, according to the Milwaukee Journal and Boston Herald, tried to prove that former President Eisenhower is a dedicated conscientious agent of the Communist Party.

It claims that Mr. Eisenhower's brother, Milton, is the former president's superior in the party and that a dozen other highly placed former government men are either outright Communists or tools of the party.

Congressman Walter Rogers told The Globe-Times today that he had written Welch several months ago and asked for a copy of the book. "Welch wrote back that he couldn't let me see it," Congressman Rogers said.

"He said it was extended for his helpers, that he was calling them in because the Communists were using it against him."

Rogers said he told Welch that he was against communism, too, but "I wanted to oppose it according to the Constitution. What the Communists want most is for us to abandon our Constitutional way of doing things."

Rogers indicated he hadn't taken a position against the John Birch Society, but he told Welch that "people are entitled to know both sides."

The Pampa congressman said he had become very interested in the organization. He said he has had mail from people who identified themselves as members of the society, and much mail from people in his district who don't say so, but who obviously are members.

Also, he has had anti-John Birch Society mail, he said.

Members of the Texas Legislature have not been the target of John Birch mail or anti-John Birch mail, they report. The assumption is that most of the letters attacking alleged fellow travelers are going to Washington.

However, Rep. Ted Springer of Amarillo said this morning that he received more than 400 letters over the weekend on a variety of issues, mostly opposed to pari-mutuel horse racing.

Film On Red Riots Viewed In Jackson

A film on the Communist-led student riots in San Francisco against the House Un-American Activities Committee was the spark-plug of a drive today for Jackson members of the John Birch Society.

Titled "The San Francisco Story", it was shown to an audience at the King Edward Hotel Wednesday night with a lively panel discussion afterward.

In the opening the film carried an introduction from Dick Morphew, staff member of the Citizens Councils' Jackson headquarters.

On the panel were Dr. Medford Evans of Natchitoches, La., area coordinator for the John Birch Society; Dr. Curtis W. Caine of Jackson, and Louis W. Hollis, executive director of the Jackson Citizens Council.

Both Dr. Caine and Hollis belong to the John Birch Society, an anti-Communist organization allied with right-wing causes.

The Jackson chapter of the John Birch Society, headed by roofing executive William T. Clark, announced it was enlisting members in the Society's national drive to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court.

Dr. Caine spoke up for the proposed 23rd Amendment which he said would force the federal government out of private enterprise. The Washington government runs about 700 unconstitutional corporations, he declared.

"Uncle Sam holds a gun in your back, while he has his hand in your pocket," Dr. Caine said.

Dr. Caine urged that Mississippians get behind the legislature next year to endorse the 23rd Amendment resolution which died on the calendar of the 1960 session.

Evans declared that the Warren impeachment drive "is not in order to attack the institutions of government, but to restore constitutional government."

Formerly chief of security for the Atomic Energy Commission, Evans branded "peaceful co-existence" as part of the Communist Party line. Other parts he said, are to halt nuclear tests, integrate public schools and recognize Red China.

He charged that the National Council of Churches has followed the Communist Party line "on all its major points."

Sumner's Report

Ike a Red, John Birch Leader Says

By BILL SUMNER

It is difficult to quarrel with the stated aim of the John Birch Society.

"Our dedicated purpose," states one of its manifestos, "is to alert persons of good character—regardless of race, color or creed—to the dangers of Communism, and to point out by means of films, tapes, books and pamphlets, documentary evidence of Socialist and/or Communist advances within this country."

Some of the many hundreds of well meaning people who have been attracted to the Society in this area might be interested in just how far the founder and boss of this organization feels the Communist conspiracy has gone.

Robert Welch, 71, the founder of the John Birch Society, stated flatly in a booklet he had printed in 1958, that President Eisenhower is a Communist.

He wrote, in "The Politician":

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct. But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to me to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

★ ★ ★

COPIES OF this book were given to the leaders of the movement, but efforts are being made now to withdraw it from circulation.

Evidently, there is disagreement in the organization on the infallibility of Founder Welch in at least this one instance.

Dr. Granville Knight, Santa Barbara physician, and a member of the national Council of the John Birch Society, described it as a confidential document containing Welch's personal opinions.

Welch is the man, at any rate, who directs the team in such activities as letter writing, school book censorship and political action. He is the man who has urged his members to take over the PTAs to "make such groups the instrument of conservative purposes, with the same vigor and determination that the liberals have used the opposite aims."

AND HE has the backing of a group of considerable importance in this country, members of his Council, which includes Dean Clarence Manion, T. Coleman Andrews, Adolph Menjou and Spruille Braden.

Locally, and in this area, the Society seems to be attracting men and women of some substance. It would not pay to dismiss them as a group of fanatics and crackpots worthy only of a passing snort.

Two candidates in the recent La Canada school board election, for example, one of them successful, feel that the Society had some influence in that election. How much, it would be difficult to say, but both candidates seemed to regard the Society as faintly menacing and potentially dangerous.

MENACE? A danger? I think at the moment that may be reaching. But there is a feeling of some discomfort I have the feeling that here is a group of dedicated men and women, with some potential for power, who do not believe in the democratic form of government.

I may be wrong in this conclusion but there is nothing to suggest that I am. This, I guess, is the season for understatement.

Sumner's Report

Introducing the John Birch Group

By BILL SUMNER

We have in our midst a growing, increasing active group of ultra conservatives doing business as the John Birch Society. More than likely this is the first time that many of you will have heard of it. It is not a secret organization, but it has avoided publicity while gaining strength.

It is a national organization dedicated to the destruction of communism in this country and a rebuilding of this nation in the conservative image. It seeks to educate the public, as with some local sponsorship of documentary films and aims at local political influence.

Until recently, the members of its cells have sought to influence with letter writing campaigns, such as that demanding the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, but now has a record of influence in at least one school board campaign, that of La Canada, and has as a target the defeat of so-called left-wing elements in the PTA.

It is a dedicated, disciplined group which probably numbers in the hundreds in this area. The objective in the United States is a membership of a million.

THE SOCIETY was founded in Indianapolis on Dec. 9, 1958, by Robert Welch, 74, formerly the head of the candy company which bears his name. It was named for a John Birch, a captain in the U.S. Army who, it is said, was murdered by Chinese Communists 10 days after VJ Day.

Welch is a well-educated man. He is a native of North Carolina and graduated from the university there. He attended Annapolis Naval Academy, Harvard Law School for two more, and has lived in Boston since 1919.

He is not only the founder of the organization, but its absolute boss as well. No bones are made about this. Potential recruits are told frankly at organization meetings that Welch will do their thinking. Such is the nature of the emergency in regard to the Communist conspiracy that there is no place for dissent within the ranks.

Welch, in fact, has been quoted as saying:

"Democracy is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud."

LOCALLY, recruiting efforts are staged in homes and consist mainly of a four-hour movie in which Welch explains the aims and methods of his group. Welch is the sole occupant of the screen, and it is understood that this is merely a segment of a 12-hour-long movie also of Welch.

After explaining the origins of the Society, he goes on to say that there must be complete obedience within the group. He states that Communists would infiltrate with any other process and make their work useless.

He explains that the Society is organized on a cell theory of operations. Each cell director attends monthly meetings to get directions from a district director and then reports back to his own group.

A DIRECTOR is responsible for his group's cooperation. Anyone who does not cooperate faces immediate expulsion.

Assignments also come in the monthly John Birch Bulletin, edited by Welch.

What is not discussed at this preliminary meeting is a booklet written by Welch, called "The Politician," which identifies former President Eisenhower, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and others of the Eisenhower administration as Communists.

We'll go further into this one on Monday.

The Wrong Way To Fight Reds

Birch Society Is Recruiting

BY JACK MABLEY

THE John Birch Society is going to Chicago area churches chambers of commerce and civic organizations, to recruit members.

"Come, join us in the fight against Communists," members plead.

Jack Mabley's Story

Inasmuch as 99.9999 per cent of us are anti-Communist, they obviously have something to sell. But the conscientious citizens asks, "Is this the best way to fight communism? What is the John Birch Society?"

Since I am asked this often, because I wrote two columns about it last July, I will tell what I know about the society.

Group Founded In Indianapolis

It was founded in Indianapolis in 1958 by a group of businessmen led by Robert Welch, a former candy manufacturer of Boston.

Welch, by his own words, is the absolute boss of the society, which was named after a U.S. Army captain murdered by Chinese Reds.

This organization, run by a "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss," says Welch, [illegible] it

WELCH HAS written a privately printed book called "The Politician." It was circulated only among the top, trusted leaders of the John Birch Society.

It is impossible for an ordinary member to see a copy of the book, or even get acknowledgment that it exists. I have read it, and will vouch that it exists.

In the book, Welch calls Dwight D. Eisenhower a traitor and a Communist.

He says that John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Chief Justice Earl Warren and former defense secretary Neil McElroy and most of the leaders of the Eisenhower administration, are or were part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

Some Excerpts From the Book

This is from Welch's book: "While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct.

"But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems ti put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

He says of Mr. Eisenhower: "... there is only one possible word to describe his purpose and actions. That word is treason."

* * *

WE REPRINT these words only because they are totally idiotic and because people who are asked to follow Welch are not aware of what really is in his mind.

The Communist threat in this country is real enough. The country needs the energy and interest of every citizen who will work to counteract the Communist evil.

But the unbelievable irresponsibility espoused secretly by Welch can bring only scorn and harm to real anti-Communist work.

Even though Dr. Granville Knight, Santa Barbara member of the 28-man national council of the John Birch Society, declined to divulge the identity of the local leader as well as other society members, some of the members themselves discussed their participation in its activities.

Mrs. Rose H. Bradbury, 2 Rosemary Ln., said: "I think it's a very fine organization. I've never missed a meeting." The first local chapter was formed a little over a year ago after Robert Welch, founder and president of the national organization, spoke at a meeting for specially invited persons at the Biltmore Hotel.

A NEWS-PRESS SPECIAL REPORT

Mrs. Bernard R. Foy of San Marcos Trout Club said that she is a member. Asked whether she had been informed that the soceity is secret, she answered "no," but that it is "not too public either."

'EXCELLENT PLAN'

Saying that she highly approves of the society, Miss M. B. Phillips, 209 W. Micheltorena St., said that she has been a member for nearly a year. She said that she believes that Welch has an excellent plan, but that she does not necessarily agree with every statement he has made.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Goodnow, 700 Park Ln., said that they are proud to be associated with such an organization. Asked if they subscribe to Welch's opinion that President Eisenhower is a dedicated agent of international Communism, they said that they would not call him (the President) a Communist. "If he is one, he doesn't know it," they said.

Kirke Connor, 4395 Via Esperanza, also said that he is a member, describing the society as a "fine movement." However, he said that he could hardly believe that Welch had called Eisenhower a Communist, and that he would not agree with that sort of statement. When contacted, other persons believed to be active in the society said that they had no comment to make.

STRUCTURE SHOWN

The semi-secret structure of the society is shown in one instance by a San Marcos High School teacher who is known to have passed around among other teachers a question-and-answer letter on "why the John Birch Society is what responsible citizens have been waiting for. Yet when asked about his interest in the society, he said that he had no comments about it. He said that he had been to one meeting and that he was planning to attend another.

Dr. Knight said that the society has not sought publicity, and that membership is by invitation only. In addition, since study groups are part of the organization's setup, the presence of antagonistic members could completely disrupt such meetings, he said. "The society has been criticized for not making public the names of members," he said. "This is to protect those who do not wish to be disturbed by nuisance tactics." He said that the membership here runs into "the hundreds."

In his Blue Book, the society's "bible," Welch not only discusses what he believes are Communistic leanings of high government officials. Writing about the nation's clergy, he says that "one-third of the ministers are not true believers in the Divine names or the Divine history and Divine teachings to which they give lip service as they go through their conventional motions on Sunday morning." He claims that some of them are using their pulpits to preach outright Communism.

WORD ABOUT PRESS

He also has a word or two about the press, saying in one of his Bulletins, circulated among society members, that "a well-intentioned management has no conception of how far the termites have crept into the solid-looking framework of their news gathering and news writing."

Welch told the men attending the organizational meeting in Indianapolis two years ago that the time had come for this country to get out of the bed of a Europe that is dying with the cancer of collectivism, and breathe "our own healthful air of opportunity, freedom and enterprise." Then, he said, the cancer that we already have, even though it is of considerable growth, can be cut out.

He told the group that his society would operate under complete, authoritative control at all levels. Describing himself as a hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss, Welch said that "the men who join the society are going to do so because they believe in me and are willing to accept my leadership." He said:

"Whenever differences of opinion become translated into a lack of loyal support, we shall have shortcuts for eliminating both without going through any congress of so-called democratic processes."

COUNCIL MEMBERS

In addition to Dr. Knight, the following are some of the members of the national council: Dr. N. E. Adamson Jr., a Boston surgeon; Thomas Anderson, editor and publisher of Farm and Ranch; Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of internal revenue; Spruille Braden, former U.S. ambassador; Col. Lawrence E. Bunker, former personal aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur; James Simpson Jr., former congressman, several businessmen, and Adolphe Menjou, the actor.

The purpose of the council is to give "your founder the benefit of the council's advice and guidance, both in procedural and organizational matters, and in substantive matters of policy" and "to select with absolute and final authority, a successor to myself as head of the John Birch Society, if, and when, an accident, 'suicide' or anything sufficiently fatal is arranged for me by the Communists, or I simply die in bed of old age and a cantankerous disposition."

Regarding the organization of local chapters, Welch says in the Blue Book that each shall have a chapter leader, appointed by headquarters, which is in Belmont, Mass., or appointed through officers of the society, in the field, who have themselves been duly appointed by headquarters.

Stressing that it takes money "to do wonders in adding new courage and new confidence to the anti-Communist fight," and that $1,000,000 and 1,000,000 members are needed, Welch said that the dues are "whatever the member wants to make them, with a minimum of $24 per year for men and $12 for women." A life membership may be bought for $1,000, which may be paid in two installments of $500.

These Days

Jumping Jupiter!

By George E. Sokolsky

NOW ALONG comes a very sure person, Robert Welch, of The John Birch Society of Massachusetts, who wishes to impeach Earl Warren, Chief Justice of the United States. One may disagree with, dislike, oppose Earl Warren, but impeachment is another matter. It involves a bill of particulars, specific, clear-cut, subject to evidence and analysis. Welch does not provide that. He says:

Sokolsky

"... we believe that the impeachment of Warren would dramatize and crystallize the whole basic question of whether the United States remains an independent republic, or gradually becomes transformed into a province of the world-wide Soviet system."

But this is not the issue at all. This is a private opinion, not a fact. What is necessary is to indict Earl Warren for high crimes and misdemeanors that will stand up in a trial. Thus far, only one President of the United States has been impeached, and unsuccessfully, and no Chief Justice of the United States has been impeached. That does not mean that none ever should be. It does, however, mean that this is not a simple process for indicating opposition. Under our system, it is extremely difficult. Robert Welch thinks otherwise:

"We further believe that it is entirely possible to bring about that impeachment in the present House of Representatives, through insistent enough demand by the American people, if even one-half of the known present conservative leaders will give their energetic support to this undertaking ..."

APPARENTLY, Welch has no conception of the procedure involved in an impeachment.

Certainly in the present composition of our Congress, there is no possibility that the time will be allotted by the leadership of either party for such an impeachment. For what would have to be proved? The indictment could not show that the Chief Justice's views were unpleasant, for there are eight other Justices who could have voted him down. It would have to be shown that he was corrupt, that he accepted bribes, that he was subversive, that his conduct was opprobrious to the United States and the Court.

No matter what can be said of Earl Warren, it cannot be said that he has been corrupt, which means accepting bribes, or that he has been subversive, which means, in this context, that he is engaged in transactions to damage the United States in the interest of a foreign foe. No bill of particulars can be brought forth to prove such charges. Therefore to talk of impeachment is nonsense.

I CALL attention to this not because it is of any significance of itself but because conservatives need to use common sense in their agitations. There are things to be said and to be done but these need to be focused on ideas, not on impractical proposals to impeach the Chief Justice because there is disagreement about his views or to discover an invisible government which has controlled all the administrations from Herbert Hoover to John Kennedy.

The conservatives of this country are numerous but not always coherent. Unless they find intelligent leadership that relates what they do and say to the realities of American life, they will make no greater progress in the new Democratic Administration than was made in the old Eisenhower Administration.

One of the first points of a conservative program must be that the United States cannot tolerate the cost of unemployment or racial or creedal battles while this country is engaged in a life struggle against the Soviet universal state. And the one absolute essential is that the American dollar should again become hard money, well secured and safe. The conservatives need to decide whether they prefer to fight against Communism or against each other.

Not a 'Hate' Society

Anti-Red Group Weakest in N.E.

By STANLEY EAMES

(Third of three stories)

Is the John Birch Society a "hate" organization?

Robert H. W. Welch Jr. of Belmont, its 60-year-old founder and boss, who once termed President Eisenhower a Communist agent subject to the orders of his brother (and alleged superior in the Party), Milton, denies it forcefully.

"We haven't got a 'hater' anywhere in our membership. And our membership reaches into about 20 states, with about 25 chapters in Greater Boston alone," he says.

Welch insists the organization is no more nor less than a society dedicated to the eradication of Communism and the substitution of less, and better, government for big, bad government.

Although he says time and again the group is not a secret society, Welch is vague about its size and the degree of its influence on national affairs.

Organized by Welch in 1958 before what he terms a meeting of top U. S. industrialist, it has mushroomed into all parts of the nation. He says it is strongest in Tennessee, Texas and Southern California—strongholds respectively of arch-conservatism and various kinds of fanaticism.

Hardest Area

"We're not too strong in New England," he admitted. "This is the hardest part of the country in which to wake up people against

His periodically-in lists one to 20 10 to 20 persons each New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, California, Oregon and Washington. This would imply a membership somewhere in the thousands, possibly in the low hundreds of thousands.

"We went out for a million members, but that may have been the result of talking before experience," he said. "We find that getting the solid, dedicated members that we want —not just anti-Communists— is a slower process than we expected. We have also found out," he said," that what we can accomplish through small chapters is immensely greater than we thought."

Named for a U. S. missionary-chaplain murdered by Chinese Communists, the Society now has 17 home-office and 35 field employes.

Welch works through an organization of "coordinators", who organize chapters with the help of movies of Welch' delivering speeches, one of which lasts six hours with a coffee-break.

McCarthy Admirers

Ninety-five per cent of the Society's membership, he says, are admirers of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, with whom Welch once shared a platform here. But members "are all kinds of people," he said, "ranging in age from 16 to 90.

"In one large Texas city we have two or three chapters. One is made up of top financial people, another of carpenters who worked for our coordinator, another of Negroes, mostly servants." The Society is bitterly against "forced integration" as a violation of state's right. Some college chapters are being launched, but with "adult leaders," Welch revealed.

The Society levies dues of $24 annually for men and $12 for women: a life membership costs $1000. It has been in the black at all times "because we don't grow until we can afford it," he said. Although details of the Society's finances are secret, he once launched a drive "to raise an additional $1,000,000 a year." Coordinators are paid, chapter leaders—and the top leader, Welch are not.

Every member signs a pledge to agree that he or she can be fired from the Society without reason at any time, but Welch says it has not been used.

"I lean on my Council, but I have to take the ultimate responsibility," he told The Herald. On occasion he will admit in his bulletin that members have criticised slogans (to Ike, on the summit conference: "If you go, don't come back!") as being in bad taste. On those occasions, he reminds members that nobody is forcing them to stay.

"Democracy," he told this reporter, "is desirable in small organizations. In larger ones you need a republic, the best of all possible forms of government." Some members have muttered that Welch is running a dictatorship.

Not Bound

Welch periodically issues "assignments" to members, although they are not bouund to carry them out. A recent list included writing to discourage Rep. Walter from leaving the House un-American Activities subcommittee; and starting a drive to abolish foreign aid. Another such list urged the support of an anti - Communist school in Illinois; read a book on Welch's "proved" list; send anti-Castro postcards to Secretary of State Herter (who somehow has miraculously escaped Welch's charge of Communism); fight the import of foreign nails; heckle speakers at United World Federalists' meetings; don't believe — and do promptly report—rumors about Welch.

The founder's philosophy of government is simpel: the less the better.

"If we can stimulate enough against the Communists," he said, "we will become as strong force of individuals working very hard to bring about an era of less government and more individual responsibility."

What, he was asked, would be done about the sick and the poor under the kind of government he envisions?

People Sounder

"If you could keep Social Security out of business," Welch replied, "with charitableness in the American heart, you would see the best pension plans the world has ever known. You've got a demagogic leadership telling the American people they want this and that. The people are sounder than their government. Bellboys and cab drivers are more alert to the Communist menace than bankers." The burden of his philosophy appeared to be that people will take care of their own better than government—if government doesn't do the job for them.

What will be the future of his Society?

"That depends on how fast the Communists win." Welch said. "They're taking the world pretty dam fast. Just look at the scoreca'. We are in danger."

In "The Life of John Birch," one of several books by Welch, the Belmont crusader uses the story of a Georgia farm boy-turned-missionary to point up what he considers "the ordeal of this age."

MISSIONARY WORK

Birch, a descendant of John Alden, volunteered for missionary work in China; what he did was intelligence work, for the most part, and according to the late Gen. Claire Chennault he was extremely good at it. Becoming an Army captain, he saved many downed fliers, set up radio networks, penetrated enemy lines, supervised the building of airfields, and through it all found the time and will to preach the Gospel.

He was a missionary-spy with courage, dash and humor, and sufficiently dedicated to break off an engagement to a Red Cross girl when it seemed his life would be too rough for a woman to share.

At the war's end Birch was singled out from a party of Chinese and Americans, and was shot and bayoneted by Chinese Communists—a fact, according to Welch, that the War Department kept buried as long and as deep as it could.

In Birch's death, Welch sees the whole capitalist-communist issue symbolized and dramatized. His book, after dealing with Birch's life and death, goes on to allege that the U.S. government is Communist-riddled, and says his purpose is to make sure that "John Birch did not die in vain."

It is climaxed by Welch's bald statement that Christianity or Communism "must be completely destroyed."

The John Birch Society, with its intemperate viewpoint and its founder's shotgun-accusations, is his vehicle for fighting his own private war against Communism.

Belmont Seat of Birch Society

Extreme Rights Take Aim at Lefts

By STANLEY EAMES

(This is the first of three stories.)

Extremists in search of a political home never have lacked for strange places to rest their heads. This year, with a moderate government in prospect regardless of the election's outcome, disciples of the Far Right are being offered a haven in the John Birch Society.

The Society is the creation of Robert H. W. Welch Jr., ultra-conservative, retired Cambridge candy manufacturer. It might have remained a behind-the-scenes organization, as Welch intended it to be, had it not been for its founder's 100,000-word "letter to a friend," titled "The Politician."

In "The Politician," Welch charged that President Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious Communist agent, answerable to his brother Milton (Ike's alleged boss in the Party), and for whose actions "there is only one word—treason."

Extreme Rights Take Aim at Lefts

"The Politician" also described fromer Presidents Truman and Roosevelt as tools of international Communism, along with the Dulles brothers and various other high government officials.

Written in 1954 and added to from time to time, "The Politician" was intended as a semi-secret document outlining the progress of Communism, and particularly in the United States.

In the black-bound tome Welch describes the contents as "completely private and confidential" but in the midwest, where the John Birch Society is perhaps at its strongest, a copy leaked to a newspaper, together with the implication that it is the society's bible.

Welch this week heatedly denied any connection between the society and his hand book.

NOT FOR PRINT

"Four-fifths of our members never have seen it and most of those who have don't agree with it," he said in an interview in his Belmont office.

"Do you still think Eisenhower is a Communist?" he was asked.

"I never felt that way enough to say it in print," Welch replied. "Now I don't know what I think. Eisenhower may be too dumb to be a Communist".

(On Jan. 1, 1960, Welch added as a footnote to "The Politician": "A huge majority of Eisenhower's appointments during the past year make no sense whatever except as a part of a plan to help the Communists".)

"The Politician" grew like Topsy; Welch is a prolific and persuasive writer; years ago he also wrote with wit and charm. After the first copy, intended to go to "one friend" and expanded to a few more, he says the demand for it grew.

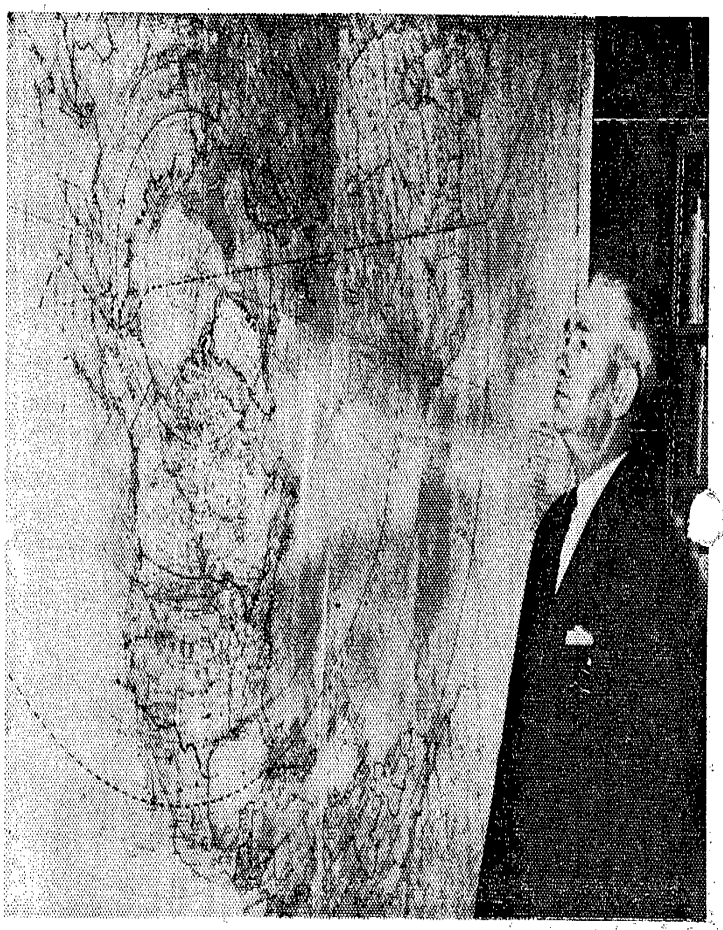
"I added to it every time I got requests for it," he said. "By 1956 it had grown to 6,000 words. By 1958, it was up to 80,000. At that point I decided to reproduce it by offset — but it's still just a long letter to a friend."

He declined to reveal how many copies are out, except to say it is "in the low hundreds". Its major purpose, he insists, is simply to alert its readers to "the incredible pattern of help to Communism by our government."

SEEKS WITHDRAWAL

Nevertheless, he added, he now intends to try to withdraw each copy, and get it out of circulation as quickly a spossible.

If he suspected President Eisenhower of Communist leanings, Welch was asked, how about the four Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates?



"I don't think any one is a Communist," he said, "or favorable to Communist aims. But every one of the four is willing to be soft on Communism and to be blind to the fact that their actions help the Communist purpose — to get the left-wing support needed for election."

What will the John Birch Society, which Welch bosses almost completely, do in the coming election?

"I have to let the members know in September what I'm going to do," he said, "we were all set for a write-in drive for Goldwater, but he doesn't want it. I do know that I can't vote for Nixon and Lodge."

The John Birch Society is not essentially political, he said: "We are not out to start a third party, but we can be a strong force behind a third party, if that's the only way. The society didn't for the Presidential nomination, but a lot of the members did as individuals." Welch himself was a prime organizer of the abortive Goldwater rally at the Republican national convention.

In fact, when Welch was outlining the formation of the society at a meeting in Indianapolis on Dec. 9, 1958, he briefly considered

A COMMUNIST WORLD?—Fear of spread of Red influence has moved Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, who once called President Eisenhower a Communist, to form the John Birth Society, a controversial organization with which he opposes Communism and welfare state.

Goldwater as its leader, but found several reasons why it wouldn't do. He considered even more briefly Vice-President Nixon ("one of the ablest, shrewdest and slipperiest politicians on the American scene, but not a leader").

He concluded, not surprisingly, that he was the man for the job. And he laid down some tough requirements for membership, chief among which was something approaching unquestioning obedience.

In his "Blue Book", consisting of the 174-page speech he delivered in several marathon sessions at Indianapolis, Welch said the society "is to be a monolithic body.

"Democracy," he declared, "is merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, a perennial fraud." He spoke of the "advantages of firm and positive direction of the society's energies", and pledged:

"We are going to cut through the red tape and parliamentary briar patches and roadblocks of confused purpose with direct authority at every turn. The men who join the John Birch Society . . . are going to be doing so primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership anyway.

"And we are going to use that loyalty, like every other resource, to the fullest possible advantage.

MUM ON SIZE

"Those members who cease to feel the necessary degree of loyalty can either resign or will be put out before they build up any splintering following of their own inside the society".

Welch this week said this position was taken to avoid Communist infiltration within the society.

Apparently, although Welch refuses to give figures on the size of the society, it has a substantial membership willing to adhere to these conditions.

Society publications, including the magazine "American Opinion", give the Belmont post office its largest single source of revenue, approaching $25,000 a year.

Probe John Birch Group in Wisconsin

A Wisconsin newspaper has begun an investigation of the John Birch Society in that state.

The society, which accuses President Eisenhower of treason and brands him a Communist, has grown to 10 chapters in Wisconsin during the past year, according to the Milwaukee Journal.

Two articles concerning the society appeared in the Daily News in Jack Mabley's column last week.

* * *

THE OSTENSIBLE purpose of the organization is to fight communism and influence American politics.

The society was founded by Robert H. W. Welch Jr., 61, of Belmont, Mass., described by the Journal as "a persuasive speaker, conservative and the author of 'The Politician.'"

The 302-page privately reproduced volume which Welch has sent to leaders of the society says former President Franklin D. Roosevelt was used unknowingly by the Communist party and ex-President Truman was knowingly used.

Bares Secrets Of 'Red-Haters'

They Think Ike Is a Communist

BY JACK MABLEY

THE John Birch Society is an organization of ultra-conservatives, banded together to fight communism in America.

It is not a secret society in the normal sense of the word, but it tries to avoid publicity. Until this moment, it has been successful.

Jack Mabley's Story

The head — and absolute head—of the John Birch Society is Robert Welch, of Boston. The society has members in every state and active chapters in half the states. There are 10 chapters in the Chicago area.

The goal is a million active members.

* * *

WITH ITS announced program of fighting communism, the society has attracted thousands of well-meaning, conscientious men and women throughout the country.

It was founded Dec. 9, 1958, in Indianapolis, and named for John Birch, a captain in the U.S. Army, allegedly murdered in cold blood by Chinese Communists 10 days after VJ Day.

Welch gave up his career as a candy company executive to lead the society.

He was educated for four years at the University of North Carolina, two years at the U.S. Naval Academy and two years at Harvard law school. He was a director of the National Association of Manufacturers for several years.

Rich Businessmen Support the Society

The society has the backing of wealthy conservative businessmen. Three former presidents of the National Association of Manufacturers are listed by Welch as members of the "council" of the society.

I have seen the appeal of this society in my own suburban community of 18,000. There are four active units in the village. At a meeting two weeks ago tonight, more than 200 persons turned out.

The organization is monolithic, or, to use another word which Welch himself introduced, dictatorial. He is the absolute and unquestioned head, the "hard-boiled, dictatorial and dynamic boss" needed to run such an organization. The quotes are his.

* * *

THE ABOVE facts relate closely to the following. I have obtained a copy of a book written by Welch intended for secret distribution only to the leaders of the society.

It is a 302-page, black paperbound book, reproduced by the photo-offset process, with looseleaf binders. The title is "The Politician." The book accuses President Eisenhower of treason.

It flatly calls him a Communist, and for 302 pages attempts to document the charge.

It accuses most of his aides —John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Defense Secretary Neil McElroy and dozens of others, of being a part of a Communist conspiracy to take over this nation.

Attacks Ike as 'A Dedicated Red'

Here is an exact quote from the book:

"While I too think that Milton Eisenhower is a Communist, and has been for 30 years, this opinion is based largely on general circumstances of his conduct. But my firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to me to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

He also says of the President: ". . . there is only one possible word to describe his purposes and actions. That word is treason."

The immediate reaction on confronting this writing is to dismiss it as the work of a crackpot. However, the circumstances of Welch's position and influence dictate further examination.

* * *

WHEN I phoned Welch in Boston and asked him about "The Politician," he stated, "That cannot be mentioned." I told him I had read the book. I asked if it accurately reflected his views.

"I have absolutely no comment," he replied.

This will be discussed further tomorrow.
